Western Group Finals Unfinished

Hazed exchanges, frayed tempers and finally a couple of stand-up battles led to the enmeshment of spectators and the abandonment of the divisional junior hurling semi-finals which came up for decision at Lismore and Dungarvan on Sunday last.

An incident which sparked off a free for all in which players and followers were involved, caused referee Miss Pollard to call a day after fifty five minutes of the Castle Farm. At the premature end, Ballyduff the favourites, led Tourin by five points.

Last time was in progress and Colman Rockies advance to the group final all but assured when the "fatal" flare up occurred at the Old Borough venue. The time by popular reckoning, was thirty-four minutes after the commencement of the final half an hour.

As the matter is still sub judice at the time of writing, I do not propose to comment further at this stage. By it said, though that Jamie Maloney and his fellow officers will see to it with-out fail that justice prevails.

The Lismore "battles" for hattie it was - was characterised by more brawn than brain, a fact that was largely responsible for the very disappointing quality of the hurling. Of two moderate sides, Ballyduff looked that little bit more accomplished, but their advance to the final was still largely problematical when the wholesale warfare that was witnessed all through became the reality.

Conditions at Dungarvan made hurling well nigh impossible. The hot was treacherous, and the later half played weirdly.

SUNDAY'S GAMES

Although the county senior hurling semi-final, which involves Abbeyside and Faugh a Ballagh, is a major attraction in its own right, not a few of the hundreds who will head for the Frabur Field, on Sunday next, will be attracted by the speculation of the battle of neighbours Colligan Emmetts and Kilgobinet, who meet in the semi-final of the divisional junior football championship has aroused.

In fact, the feeling prevails that the big ball test - it has all the trimmings of a battle royal will provide the game of the day up West.

Matty Lonergan Emigrates

Waterford football took a body blow on Monday last when Matt Lonergan sailed aboard the Greek Line vessel New York en route to the U.S.A. and a new life. The Kilrossanty man, at twenty-five regarded as one of the finest full-backs in foot ball, was accompanied by his girl friend, Miss Helen Beatty, of Kilmacthomas.

Among those who travelled to Cobh and subsequently chartered a local fishing boat in which they rowed out to bid the young couple a last farewell were several of Matty's old Kilrossanty team mates.

Matty intends to settle down in New York, where a lucrative position in the building industry awaits him.

The loss of full-back Lonergan will, it goes without saying, be severely felt by both club and county, to whom he rendered sterling service over the past ten dozen years.

Matty Lonergan's outstanding characteristics - his great physique, shrewd football brain, safe fetch and grand sportsmanship - are almost legendary. As a full-back they come to no better. His departure creates a gap that both Kilrossanty and County mentors will experience difficulty in filling, for on both sides he has been an automatic choice since 1953. He was first called to the Portlairge colours as full-back for a championship game against Tipperary - while still in his club's first fifteen.

Matty's souvenirs include 3 senior football awards and a string of tournament and other medals. At twenty-five he has years of first class football ahead of him.

Certain it is that Kilrossanty and the county's loss is the gain of our New York based exiles. This commentator wishes Mr. Lonergan and Miss Beatty God speed in the great republic of the West.

Stradbally-born Priest's Fine Gesture

A lovable Ecclesiastic who first saw the light of day at Durrus Stradbally and who always retains a deep affection for the fair and fertile Deise country is Very Rev. Fr. Thomas Halpin P.P. Boise City, Idaho, U.S.A. and during the coming week he will be resuming his sacred duties over there, following a few months stay in his native place.

It is learned that his reverence has presented a valuable set of medals to Waterford Co. Board, G.A.A. to be competed for in a special competition confined to senior football teams in the city and county affiliated with the Board.

Fr. Halpin was guest of honour at a pleasant function sponsored by Stradbally Football Club and held in Whelan's Hotel Stradbally one night last week under the Chairmanship of Mr. David Power who voiced a most cordial welcome to his reverence whose kindly interest in the welfare of the club at all times was greatly appreciated by the members, he said.

Ken Murphy skipper of the 1957 County J.F. Champions expressed the hope that Fr. Halpin would be with them again in the not distant future to make the presentation of a Co. Board set of medals to the team taking to Stradbally its sixth Co. Senior Football Championship title. The clubs sterling Hon. Secretary Mr. Michael Dunphy associated himself with the previous speakers remarks and concluded by wishing Fr. Halpin continued happiness and fruitfulness in the conduct of his sacred ministry in the Great Western Republic.

Having suitably acknowledged the tributes and good wishes expressed Fr. Halpin went on to say that it was a source of immense pleasure to him to note the strength in active membership of the club and the earnest enthusiasm of officials and players alike - so clearly evincing a distinctly lively unit of the patriotic parent body, the Gaelic Athletic Association 'May the good feelings existing between you never be obliterated an may God bless you', concluded his reverence amidst applause.

New Fire Station for Kilmac

Kilmacthomas is to get its new £1,600 fire-station after all. This was decided at a meeting of the Co. Council in Durrus when Capt. Maguire County Fire Chief stressed the urgent need for a proper building in the area. As matters stood, he stated, the old building was nothing more than a make-shift job. The fire engine could not drive in there with the ladder resting on top it had to be removed - and last winter, the chamber of the trailer or pump was frozen solid. I was shocked at the realization of what could have happened had there been a fire' said the Fire chief, 'and I decided I could not take responsibility for maintaining equipment in proper fighting trim in Kilmacthomas under existing conditions. A proper building is essential. He is getting it.

The Freedom of the Road

God let us give them a place to go to. Aid. Wm. Kennedy, T.D. said that the Co. Council did not wish to do these people an injustice and it was possible that some arrangement could be 'hammered out' between all concerned. Mr. Browne intervened to say that if Waterford Co. Council adopted a suggestion on the lines as mentioned by him they would be giving a lead to the rest of the country in a matter of tremendous importance. 'I hope that the Co. Council will be most sensible. The Co. Manager, Mr. S. Moyhinan agreed that when Mr. Butler and Mr. H.R. Dewey made the suggestion concerning the provision of a proper camp site the last day, they made the most sensible move of the day. Now, perhaps the deputations would help the council in getting such a site and going about its establishment.

Mr. Browne agreed it could be made a success with the co-operation of all concerned. Mr. M. Harty stated that something should be done to provide the itinerants with a place to live in as good citizens. The Chairman agreed adding that the council were sensible men, many of whom had families of their own and clearly understood the difficulties of life. If a satisfactory arrangement could be reached, he felt the council would do their best to meet the wishes of all. Finally, when the order to ban the itinerants was placed before the meeting, Mr. Butler proposed an amendment that no order should be made until the council would provide a proper camp site with facilities for them. He was seconded by Mr. R. Keane. The adoption of the order was proposed by Mr. Curran seconded by Mr. Lynch on the understanding that it would be put into effect in a humanitarian and Christian spirit. The Chairman pointed out that once the order was made they could not make provision for the establishment of temporary sites. On a division 5 voted for the provision of a camp site and 7 against it. Then the order was moved and on a vote seven voted each way. The Chairman then gave his casting vote against the order. 'And now', stated Aid. Kyne, T.D. 'we are right back where we started.'

Mr. Cronin also spoke in support of his colleagues stating that where the itinerants were at present they were near church and school. Mr. C. Curran said that while the councilors appreciated the interest displayed by members of the deputations they had to take into account the welfare of the county as a whole. A big concentration of itinerants in an area was a menace to the community as a whole. Mr. Seamus Lynch agreed with this view and added that it was undesirable to have them in any area.

Mr. R. Keane stated that it would be very wrong to shut these people. They were part of the Irish country life and were looked forward to by tourists. He agreed that some camp site should be provided for them together with proper sanitation and other facilities which would not cost very much. 'These are Irish people', he added, 'and they deserve the same consideration as any other Irish citizen.'

Mr. Curran - And they have the same duties too. Mr. Keane - I know and some of them keep their caravans in a better condition than some citizens keep their homes. Mr. Jack Butler stated that the main point made by the deputations was what he stated at the last meeting. 'If we are going to disturb these people', he added, 'some then for the love of Bridgequarter, Cappagh. The death of Mr. John O'Donnell, Bridgequarter, Cappagh which took place in the Bon Secours Home, Cork after an illness of short duration has caused deep regret. The deceased gentleman who had reached an advanced age, was a prominent member of the farming community and was held in much esteem and regard. Of a quiet retiring disposition he was widely read and his culture was shown in his ability to converse on many subjects. Public sympathy on his passing was shown by the very large attendance when on Monday afternoon the remains were removed to Ballinacorney church where they were received by Very Rev. M. Hackett P.P. and Rev. J. Callanan, C.C. Following Solemn Office and Requiem High Mass Rev. Fr. Callanan celebrant and nine priests in the choir, the funeral took place to the parish cemetery, Dungarvan on Wednesday. The large cortege included representatives of all sections of the community.

MINOR HURLING GAME POSTPONED

The Minor hurling match between Tallow and Cappoquin, which was due to take place in Lismore on Sunday last has been postponed to a later date.

The five a side league was noted by the Lismore Soccer Club for a set of medals and a cup starts this week. About 60 teams are expected to take part in the competition and each team will have to play every other team. This competition should provide some very good entertainment as well as supplying very good practice for future league and cup games.

CRICKET

The All Ireland Junior Cup Final between Lismore XI v. Clontarf XI did not take place on Sunday last owing to the bad weather. Both teams travelled to Cahir Park but after inspecting the wicket both umpires and captains agreed to postpone the game. The game will have to play every other day. Although the same venue may not be available, in which case the game will probably be played at Lismore. A large crowd of supporters of the Lismore side travelled to Cahir on Sunday last.

PROFESSION OF LOCAL GIRL IN U.S.A.

Among these finally professed recently at the Head House of the Order of Charity of the Incarnate Word, Villa de Mater, Houston, Texas was Sister Mary Gorrietta (Miss Julia Enright), daughter of Mrs. Bridget and the late Mr. Dennis Enright, Ballybacon, Lismore. Jarlath Kelly, Manchester she is recipient of the prayers and blessings of her countless friends.

Junior hurling game stopped with 8 minutes to go

The Junior hurling game between Tourin and Ballyduff played at the Gaelic field on Sunday last, proved most disappointing from the spectators viewpoint. A clash between these two teams had been eagerly awaited and a great game anticipated, but such was not the case. With 8 minutes left for play, referee Mr. Pol Jard blew his whistle and so ended what can best be described as a real rough and brutal game. A game which was contrary to the spirit of the G.A.A. Both teams can shoulder the blame as well as some supporters in the side line.
