"Dispensary Doctors were Negligent"

Allegation that two dispensary doctors in County Waterford were negligent in their duties, was made at a meeting of the Waterford Board of Assistance in Dungarvan on Monday by Mr. Charles Curran. Because he declined to name the doctors, the Board refused to take any action in the matter.

The complaint, Mr. Curran stated, was made by a number of people who were employed in the dispensary. He said that the doctors were negligent in their duties, and that they were not taking any action in the matter. He also stated that the doctors were not taking any action in the matter.

No Back Pay

A Dept. recommendation to approve the payment of a salary increase to officials retrospective to April 1st, was rejected by the members of Waterford County Committee of Agriculture in Dungarvan.

Mr. Wm. Foran who made the proposal stated that he would not support any further increase in salary and while they had no say in this case they could, at least, refer the recommendation to make it retrospective to April 1st.

THE TREE THAT GREW TOO BIG

THE case of the tree that grew too big was again the subject of discussion at a meeting of Dungarvan Urban Council last Friday night when it was finally decided to "severely prune it."

The matter arose when Mr. Jimmy Mountain came before the Council some weeks ago with a request that the tree be removed altogether as it was interfering with his business by hiding his shop-front.

The request was referred to the Borough Engineer, Mr. P. Walsh, who reported at last Friday night's meeting that the complaint was well founded. He stated that the tree should be removed or pruned. The engineer, however, made no recommendation on the issue.

Mr. Tom Lee stated that whoever about pruning the tree, he would not be in favour of removing it. The trees on the Square were erected in memory of the late Dr. Michael Casey.

COUNTY MANAGER GIVES DETAILED REPORT OF Changes At Ardkeen

AT the monthly meeting of the Waterford Board of Public Assistance in Dungarvan on Monday last the County Manager (Mr. S. J. Moynihan) issued a detailed statement setting out the full position in relation to changes at Ardkeen Chest Hospital.

The Manager also dealt with the proposed changes in the Orthopaedic services in the county and following a good deal of discussion, the Board passed the following resolution: That the Board continue to be responsible for the collection of fees or other charges of such services.

The Manager's statement was as follows: - The number of beds occupied at Ardkeen Chest Hospital has been very substantially reduced recently by reason of the diversion to other Sanatoria of the patients of other Local Authorities who hitherto have been treated at Ardkeen. This is a natural consequence of the proposal to convert Ardkeen into a General Hospital, as such proposal will require the gradual withdrawal from Ardkeen of all T.B. patients other than those from Waterford County and C.T.B.

On 1st instant, the number of T.B. beds occupied in the Hospital was 222; by 8th inst. this figure had dropped to 201 and all indications were that this figure would be further and rapidly reduced. An immediate and important effect of such reduction is a sharp rise in the daily average cost of maintenance, a matter of considerable concern to the ratepayers.

I decided, therefore, as a matter of great urgency, to examine the possibilities of having the vacant beds occupied, and consulted the R.M.S. of Ardkeen and Mr. O'Reilly, County Surgeon, as to the feasibility of providing at Ardkeen the general surgical services heretofore rendered at St. Patrick's. Having been advised that such an arrangement would be quite feasible, I made an Order on 3rd inst. as follows: - "In view of the substantial number of vacant beds now available at Ardkeen Chest Hospital, immediate arrangements to be made for the admission to Ardkeen Chest Hospital of patients for whom surgical and other respite treatments can be provided in that Hospital. The Board shall pay to Waterford County Council the daily average cost determined in the programme for the maintenance of patients treated in Ardkeen and the Board shall, in addition, arrange for the collection by its officers of all fees or charges payable by or in respect of such patients."

That as from Friday the 12th September, 1958, all Surgical Clinic Services of the kind heretofore provided at St. Patrick's Hospital, Waterford, be rendered at Ardkeen Chest Hospital. That as from Monday the 8th

September, 1958, the routine X-ray Services hitherto provided at St. Patrick's Hospital be provided at Ardkeen Chest Hospital. That the Board continue to be responsible for the collection of fees or other charges of such services.

I also made further Orders to provide for the necessary staff and other incidental administrative arrangements. On behalf of the Waterford County Council, I am still in correspondence with the Department of Health regarding the settlement of arrangements for the ultimate transfer of Ardkeen to the Waterford Board of Public Assistance for utilization as a General Hospital. Such correspondence is not yet concluded, and pending final agreement on the outstanding questions, there can be no such ultimate conversion of Ardkeen into a General Hospital, and of course, the final agreement of the Waterford County Council will have to be obtained.

The arrangements which I have made for the provision at Ardkeen of Surgery, Surgical Clinic Services and certain out-patient services, are, I feel, in the best interests of the patients, and will ensure that the modern and expensive hospital facilities at Ardkeen will be utilised to the best advantage, with resultant savings to the rates. You will recall that, at your July Meeting, it was decided to send a deputation to the Minister for Health to make representations regarding the continued provision of Orthopaedic services at Waterford; I am not aware whether such Deputation has yet been received by the Minister but in this connection, I wish to quote the following views of the Minister which were conveyed to me on 23rd June last by the Department of Health: - "In the Minister's view, the orthopaedic work of the region should be based on Kilkenny, Kilkenny. This is in accordance with the policy settled when provision was first made some years ago for local authority regional orthopaedic services and in pursuance of that policy the new orthopaedic hospital of 96 beds has been built and is in process of being equipped at Kilkenny. The cost of that institution is approximately £300,000. This Hospital should be capable of catering for all orthopaedic cases in the region and it is essential that the best possible use shall be made of it. This can be achieved, and the very heavy unnecessary expense which would be involved in equipping and staffing two centres can be avoided, only by the concentration of orthopaedic cases in one centre in which a highly trained team of doctors and nurses will be readily available. This, of course, would not involve a withdrawal of the services of the Orthopaedic Surgeon from the Waterford area. He would continue to hold clinics there as required, including a fracture clinic at Ardkeen, and would be available as a consultant to the County Surgeon at Waterford, who, in common with County Surgeons elsewhere, would deal with the simpler orthopaedic conditions. It is felt, however, that the proper development of the Unit at Kilkenny would involve the transfer of the Orthopaedic Surgeon's headquarters to Kilkenny. The foregoing arrangements would leave St. Patrick's Hospital in its entirety available for geriatric patients including suitable patients from the District Mental Hospital. As opportunity offered, the amenities of that hospital could be considerably improved by the demolition of redundant buildings which it is unadvisable to maintain. The foregoing needs no elaboration from me. Generally, it will be appreciated that the implementing of the arrangements made for the provision of Surgical Services at Ardkeen will involve numerous adjustments of one kind or another, and a certain amount of minor dislocation of established routines will be inevitable. However, with goodwill and co-operation of the staffs and all concerned, which I am confident will be forthcoming, I am sure that the arrangements which I have made will operate smoothly in the interests of patients, staffs and ratepayers. (Sgd.) S. J. Moynihan, C.M.G.

"Bathrooms but no Water" in Youghal

It pleases that every house should have a bathroom was made by the Lord Mayor of Dublin, Mrs. C. Byrne, at the annual conference of the Association of Municipal Authorities of Ireland in Waterford. Her statement followed the reading of a reply from the Minister for Local Government that he had considered the Association's representations on grants for bathrooms in local authority houses. He was not satisfied that a change of policy was warranted.

Mr. J. A. O'Connell, of Tuam, said that small bodies down the country could not afford to provide bathrooms. Mrs. S. Hurley, of Youghal, said that a few years ago Cork County Council erected twenty dwellings outside Youghal without water or sewerage. They had bathrooms but the occupiers had to walk half a mile for water.

"We are," she said, "suffering terribly because of what the Cork Co. Council did to us. We have no redress. We fear an epidemic. A disease started a few years ago but it was checked." The Mayor of Kilkenny, A.M. J. McGuinness, said they had been tormented with applications from people to exchange from new houses with bathrooms to old ones without them. People used their bathrooms as

FINED FOR DIRTY MILK CAN - Patrick O'Grady, Scrahan, farmer, was in Kilmacthomas Court on Wednesday, fined £1 for tendering milk in a dirty vessel at Ballyburn Creamery on March 14th last, contrary to the Dairy Produce Act. Benjamin O'Neill, Inspector, Dept. of Agriculture, said he was examining milk cans in the creamery and found a six gallon can belonging to defendant was dirty internally; there was yellow slime on the inside of the lid and can. Dr. Conlhan, State Sols., said that two years ago defendant was warned by the Department against delivering milk further in dirty vessels.

Estimate the Same for Next Year - When Waterford County Committee of Agriculture met in Dungarvan on Tuesday to consider the provisional estimate of expenses for the coming year, the Inspector from the Dept. of Agriculture who attended to explain the various schemes was a County Waterford man - Mr. Eddie Keating from Kilmacthomas who received a very special welcome from the members of the committee.

The total of this year's estimate came to £18,350 - an increase of £746 on last year's figure but following a good deal of discussion it was decided to adopt a provisional scheme amounting to the same figure as last year - £18,350.

The proposal was moved by Mr. William Foran who stated in view of present day circumstances they would have to cut down as much as possible. The position was such that they had far too many schemes in operation which were giving little or no value for the large amounts of money being spent on them. Mr. R. Baxon seconded the proposal.

Mr. H. R. Dowd proposed that the provisional estimate be adopted in full and was seconded by Mr. D. Montlaine. Mr. Foran's proposal was carried on a vote of 7 to 3.

Youth sent to Jail - James McGrath (18) no fixed address, but stated to be a native of Carrickbeg, was at Kilmacthomas Court, on Wednesday, sentenced to two months imprisonment for stealing £2 on September 9, from Mrs. Power, Old-Grange.

Supt. Lyons, Tramore, said that seventeen other charges had been adjourned from Carrick-on-Suir to enable defendant to pay a balance of £79.2 in respect of housebreaking and larceny when he stole in the meantime from Mrs. Power. He was employed in the vicinity of Old Grange, and took the money while Mrs. Power was absent from home, going to a pub and spending some of it on drink and food and snuets.

The Minister for Agriculture has had the problem of the handling of the wheat crop under consideration. Following consultation with representatives of the wheat growers, the four millers and An Bord Grain, it has been arranged as an exceptional measure for the current season, so as to provide a market for wheat affected by the weather, that the millers in agreement with An Bord Grain will take up all sound wheat offered.

As the prices set out in the current Wheat Order will continue to apply, growers should, in their own interests, make every effort to ensure that their wheat is marketed in the best possible condition.

CO. COMMITTEE OF AGRICULTURE

Waterford Co. Committee of Agriculture on the proposal of Mr. H.R. Dowd paid tribute to the Banks for the establishment of Dept. of Agriculture and to the new scheme providing loans to help farmers take their place in the campaign to bring about the successful eradication of Bovine T.B.

On the proposal of Mr. N. Walsh, best wishes were conveyed to Mr. Jim Quirk a member who at present ill. Mr. W. Foran and other members expressed their association with the good wishes.

The committee expressed sincere sympathy with Rev. D. Byrne, C.C. Dungarvan on the recent death of his mother.

On the casting vote of the Chairman when the voting was four millers and one member, Poultry Inspector, will take part in a special refresher course to be held in Cork soon.

The National Council of Co. Committee of Agriculture was severely criticised by the Waterford members when it was stated by Mr. C. Curran that it was nothing better than a debating society with no statutory powers.

Mr. H. R. Dowd said it was ridiculous to have joined it at all and to be paying £20 a year towards it. The Co. Committee agreed to consider discontinuing its membership.

PRIZE BONDS

Prize Bonds in £5 units, will be again on sale from next Monday to Saturday, 4th October. The terms will be the same as for previous issues and Bonds purchased during the next fortnight will participate with existing Bonds, as long as they remain uncashed, in all future Draws for prizes. Every £5 Bond has an equal chance of winning a prize. The more Bonds purchased and held, the more prizes there will be; the more Bonds an investor holds the better his prospects of a win.

Draws are held twice a year, the next draw being in March, 1959. The prizes range from £50 to £5,000 tax-free. At the recent draw almost £176,000 was won by Bond-holders, including 17 prizes of £5,000 each.

Bonds may be bought without any limitation as to amount, not only by individuals (or any two individuals) aged 16 or over, but also by clubs, societies and other bodies. As the Bonds cost only 65 each, they are particularly suited to the small investor and, since they can be readily cashed at any time they should appeal to individuals or bodies who may have a sum of money on hand which may be required at short notice but on which the interest if invested otherwise, would not amount to very much. The Bonds are also issued as liquid assets and there is always the possibility that one, or more, of a holding may bring in anything from £50 to £5,000 if held until there is a draw. While it is left uncashed the money is safe and will be used by the State in the national interest.

Investors in the Bonds are assured of absolute secrecy in all matters affecting their holdings and only the numbers of winning Bonds will be published. Winners are notified privately by post.

Application forms for Bonds may be had from any Post Office, Bank or Stockbroker.

THE FEEDING OF PIGS

The proper feeding of the pig is one of the most important factors contributing to the successful production of pork and bacon. The health of the animal and its rate of growth and fattening depend largely on the character of the food given. The pig determines to some extent the type of the finished animal and influences the quality of the resulting bacon.

Obviously, therefore, a sufficient quantity of food does not fulfil all the requirements of a pig's diet. The quality of the food is at least as important as the quantity and the ration must be so constituted as to include, in the most economical proportions, the variety of food constituents necessary for the purpose of growth and the formation of flesh and fat.

THE SOW.

The feeding of the little pig begins while it is still in the womb of its mother and here is evidence as to the healthy and strength of the newly-born bonham is related to the nutrition of the mother during her pregnancy. A sow fat at the time of farrowing has not necessarily been well nourished for the purpose in view. Indeed the litters of fat sows are often disappointing. While carrying her young the mother pig should have plenty of exercise, a good abundance of light and green food. In early pregnancy the dietary may consist almost entirely of coarse foods such as grass and roots, but later these should be supplemented by an increasing quantity of meals, the meal mixture which is suggested hereafter for young growing pigs being suitable also for the sow-feeding. A deficiency in the sow's dietary, of protein, lime, salt or any of the vitamins a possibility which may easily arise in the case of an animal confined largely to the house and fed on meals and water, is reflected in weakly bonhams which develop various disorders after birth. Such a possibility is prevented by giving milk and green food and by daily exposure to light.

Milk from the cow is a useful food for the pig, but sow's milk is still better and too much emphasis cannot be laid on the treatment of the sow so as to induce a heavy and continuous flow of milk for the bonhams. Obviously the capability of the sow to produce milk is as in the case of a genetic factor, but nevertheless, a sow should, by feeding, be prepared, just as in the case of the dairy cow, for the heavy strain of subsequent lactation.

This preparation should begin early in pregnancy so that at the time of farrowing she should be in strong moderately fat condition. If she has been neglected till the date of farrowing and a frantic effort is then made to strengthen her condition by increased feeding, the result is a digestive disorder which is reflected in scouring and mortality among the bonhams. It is necessary to exercise special care in the feeding of the sow about the time of farrowing. The dietary should be laxative and light for the first few days. Milk alone should be fed for a day. Then bran, and subsequent meals may be added, and later a regular meal mixture, with milk and potatoes, supplied in abundance. A large sow with 10 to 12 bonhams will consume from 10 lbs. to 1 stone of meals daily.

SUCKLING PIGS.

For some weeks after birth bonhams thrive best on the sow's milk as the sole diet and it is therefore important that a sufficient supply of this natural and best of all foods should be forthcoming. Milk contains in addition to water, fat and sugar, proteins, minerals and vitamins, all of which contribute towards the building up of the young body. In the third week the bonham should be encouraged to consume supplementary food, and if the sow is fully and properly nourished and is giving a good flow of milk, any meal mixture which is agreeable to the little pig, that is, causes no digestive trouble, provides the requirements for rapid and full growth. A combination of pollard, bran, barley meal or maize meal, and ground oats, together with separated milk makes a suitable mixture to which boiled potatoes may be added. Increasing quantities of this should be fed in a clean trough. Excess should always be avoided and the quantity fed at any time should not be more than is readily cleaned up. It is a grave mistake and the cause of much disorder to give so much food that some remains in the trough hours after feeding. If the sow is a poor milker this necessity for supplying a considerable amount of milk in the supplementary feeding of the bonham is clear. Young pigs want plenty of direct light and to ensure against any deficiency of iron they should have thrown into the corner of the sty a clean sod of earth at which they may root at will. Both the light and the earth are available to bonhams which are turned out to a pasture paddock daily with the mother as soon as they are able to travel. Scouring and digestive disorders in pigs are caused by a shortage of iron, by feeding from dirty troughs, by eating stale food or because of a dirty condition of the sty. The most frequent cause of scouring in young bonhams, however, is cold housing conditions. The resting and sleeping quarters should be comfortably warm and the floor should be of wood or otherwise so constructed that the bonham's body in contact with it should not be chilled. In the absence of warm accommodation anaemia and scour develop no matter what other precautions are taken.

WEANLINGS.

Weaning is a critical time in a bonham's life, because of the withholding of the mother's milk. When separated milk is available there need be no setback at weaning, however. It has been shown that a serious check to growth at this stage depresses the grading of the ultimate fat carcass, a fact which will be referred to later. Continuous progress of the weaning bonham is ensured by abundance of light, 3 or 4 pints of milk daily, some green feeding and a supply of suitable meal mixture. A suitable meal mixture is made up by mixing one part of bran with three parts each of pollard, ground oats and maize meal. Barley may be used instead of the maize if a little green feeding is available. Boiled potatoes, if of course, be added to this mixture to any extent desirable. Separated milk is the most suitable food for the purpose of supplying protein at this stage of the animal's growth. When separated milk is not available, meat meal or fish meal serves as a satisfactory substitute. Milk and meat or fish meal are both rich in minerals, whereas a fair proportion of one or other is being fed it is not necessary to supply any extra minerals. The optimum quantity of either meat or fish meal in a weaning pig is 12% and in the case of a meat ration a little salt should be included. The following mixture would be suitable—3 cwt. each of pollard, ground oats and barley maize or maize meal, 1 cwt. bran, 1 cwt. meat meal, 1/2 stone common salt.

In the absence of fresh green food for making meat, a mixture should include 1 cwt. of high quality grass meal. Young pigs make favourable progress when their dietary includes a certain amount of bulky material, hence the inclusion of pollard, coarse pollard, roots or potatoes and green material—pasture or other green crop—serve the absence of which one or more of the foods mentioned should be included in the dietary. Bulky foods maintain the level of the animal in a distended condition and render the face soft and bulky. If the faeces of the young pig are small and dense, it may be taken that the food is incorrect and more bulk and succulence are required. One other requisite for the successful progress of weaning pigs is a supply of Vitamin D. This is forthcoming from direct light or from cod liver oil—1 lb. to each cwt. of meals—or from one of the powder forms of the vitamin on the market (50,000 units of vitamin D per cwt. of meals).

NO STORE PERIOD.

Young store pigs, twelve on a suitable ration even when entirely confined to the house. It is important, however, that the piggery should be well lighted so that the pigs have access to an open yard, because sunlight has a very beneficial influence on the utilisation of food in the body. Young pigs are sometimes allowed access to a pasture daily or they may be kept there entirely for several weeks before going into the fattening house. If the ration fed is bad, balanced and fails to supply all the essential requirements, grass in any form a useful supplement. In any event, sunshine and exercise on a pasture field strengthen the constitution of the pig for the ultimate purpose of producing proper. Given suitable housing and proper dieting, young pigs grow and thrive in confinement but perhaps the best practice is to allow them on grass daily for six to eight weeks after weaning, after which time they may be entirely confined to the house and yard. Young pigs should be kept thriving and their food should not be stinted. Care should be taken, however, that at no time are the pigs given more than they can readily eat. Except where a large quantity of potatoes or fodder beet is fed, each feed given should be cleaned up within 20 minutes after feeding. A pig will consume about 1 1/2 lbs of meal equivalent daily at the age of 8 weeks, after which it should receive in addition, 1/2 lb. daily for each week of life in excess of eight. A twelve weeks old pig will consume about 3 lbs, and a twenty weeks old pig about 5 lbs. of meal equivalent daily. The equivalent of a mixed diet, 1 lb. of barley is taken as the standard unit and is equal approximately to any of the following: 1 lb. maize meal, 1 1/5 lb. oats or bran, 1 1/10 lb. pollard, 4 lbs. potatoes, or 6 lbs. (4 1/2 pints) of separated milk.

It is well to emphasise, in connection with the quality of the ultimate carcass, the importance of preventing anything in the way of a check or of providing a "store" period during growth. To get a usable carcass the little pig should be well fed from the earliest stages, getting plenty of growth producing foods so as to build up a well fleshed body. If the bonham is "stored" for some months on a meagre allowance and then put on to a fattening diet the result will be a very fat carcass carrying a small proportion of lean. A setback after weaning should therefore, be avoided. A liberal allowance of the proper food mixture at all times is what is required and if there is to be any limitation in the allowance, let this take place towards the end of fattening rather than at an earlier stage.

YOUGHAL SEA ANGLING

The fifth and final of the Youghal Sea Angling Clubs' competitions took place on Sunday in wet and foggy conditions eleven boats each carrying four anglers taking part. The winner of the O'Connell trophy for the heaviest single fish caught was Mr. To'worth of Youghal who had a 15lb. catch. He was also awarded the best fisherman trophy presented by Mr. M. P. Murray for the heaviest weight of fish landed for the season—25 1/2 lbs.

The prize for Sunday's heaviest catch was given to Mr. C. Pratt of Youghal, who also took a prize for the heaviest weight of pollock.

Mr. P. J. O'Gorman presented the prizes and congratulated the organisers of the club on a very successful season.

OLD COMRADES HONOUR GENERAL LIAM LYNCH

Mr. Kevin Walsh, Minister for Defence, walked side by side with comrades of the late Gen. Liam Lynch to the Republican Plot at Kilmacrum Cemetery at Fermoy on Sunday last.

The 3,000-strong parade consisted of members of the Cork, Waterford, Dublin, Tipperary and Kerry Brigades Old IRA members of Cumann na mBan, G.A.A., Fianna Eireann and a large number of the general public from all parts of Munster.

The Minister walked in the colour party which headed the parade. Five bands led the various sections, the Liam Lynch Memorial Band, St. Finbar's Pipe Band, Dungarvan Pipe Band and Castlelyons Pipe Band. The Parade assembled at the Fitzgerald Memorial Park, Fermoy and marched to the cemetery, where a wreath was laid on the General's grave then they proceeded to an adjoining field where Liam MacGarrahl M.C.C. recited a decade of the Rosary in Irish. Mr. M. O'Donoghue gave an oration based on the life of Gen. Lynch.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION SOCIAL.

To mark the completion of the Rural Electrification Scheme in the area a grand social will be held at Clashmore on to-night (Friday). The function is being held under the auspices of the local Organising Committee with the co-operation of the I.C.A. For full details see advt. in this issue.

DEVELOPMENT COMPLETED.

The development of the Clashmore-Aglish area is now completed and the big majority of the people have availed of the advantages of electricity. A tribute is due to E.S.B. staff for the capable manner in which the work was carried out. Their departure from the area will be regretted by all.

POPULAR GARDA SERGT. TRANSFERRED.

The recent transfer of Sgt. Davis from Villiersdown (which sub-district includes Aglish and Clashmore) has occasioned much regret in the area. During his all too brief stay of six months he won the respect and affection of all sections of the community. One of nature's gentlemen, he carried out his duties with courtesy and impartiality and his numerous friends join in sincerely wishing him well and trust that he will be happy in his new station (Corbettstown, County Kilkenny).

THE HARVEST.

The dry weather experienced last week in this area resulted in the saving of a considerable amount of the harvest. Torrential rain on Sunday last, however, caused a further serious setback. On the whole yields were low and the quality of the grain is poor.

AGLISH DANCE.

A successful and enjoyable "switch-on" dance was held in the Glebe Hall, Aglish, on Friday night last; sparkling music being supplied by the popular Tower Dance Band, Youghal. Patrons were much impressed by the recently installed lighting effects. Glebe Hall is becoming increasingly popular as a centre for social functions and a number of first class dances will be held there during the next couple of weeks.

PUBLIC LIGHTING.

Public lights will be installed in the villages of Aglish, Clashmore and Villiersdown in the course of the next couple of weeks. This will be welcomed by the people of the three villages.

ADMORE.

Despite the wretched weather conditions Admore has had a successful holiday season and local hotels and guest houses had "full houses". In recent years Admore has become one of the most popular holiday resorts in the south.

MUNTRIN NA TIRE.

It is reported that a move is on foot to form a branch of Muntrin na Tire in the Aglish-Clashmore area. This would be a genuine development. The aim of Muntrin na Tire is to improve the lot of the rural community by co-operative effort. It is a commendable and laudable purpose.

Problem of Lumpy Fertiliser Discussed

Mr. M. J. Corry, Chairman, presided at a meeting of the Malw Board of the Beet Growers' Association held in Cork. The question of lumpy fertiliser was discussed at length with a representative of the Sugar Company, and the meeting was satisfied from the explanations given that the Company are using the best endeavours to supply growers with a free flowing fertiliser in the coming season.

A recommendation was made to the Company in regard to the opening date of the beet campaign. It was stated that the prices for feeding barley fluctuated between 21/- and 24/- per cwt., and one member stated that he knew of 25/- per cwt. being paid for feeding barley. Resolutions were drawn up for submission to the annual general meeting which is being held in October. The Secretary's report was unanimously adopted and arrangements were made for the usual supervision of growers' deliveries at the factory during the beet campaign. The attendance included Senator Wm. O'Callaghan; Messrs. C. Meeney, L. Sexton, G. E. Webb, M. V. Finn, J. O'Connell, T. Meade, J. Horgan, P. D. Le-

A JOB THEY CAN BE PROUD OF

I was in Helvick during the week where Paddy Power and his men were racing against time to finish the erection of the beautiful memorial that commemorates the landing of 22 Fusiliers on June 1st 1917 - the Memorial which will be unveiled next Sunday.

It is a really wonderful job and one that was worth waiting for and great credit is due to Mr. Power and to his men, Messrs James Griffin, John Carey and Jack Curran. American Ambassador should be there.

The National Monument Advisory Committee in Waterford may feel satisfied with their work. I think it is a pity, however, that this committee fixed the time of the ceremony at 11 o'clock. It should have been 3 p.m. and nothing should have been done to interfere with it.

This ceremony deserves national priority and international recognition and I think that the American Ambassador should be among those to attend. Helvick this coming Sunday. HE CAME FROM KILMAC.

THE CHAMPION

The Champion Liar of All and his great Tipperary rival are gone to their eternal reward, and many the pleasant evening we listened to their tales of daring and danger, their wonderful adventures on sea and land. Our local hero like Tom Barry, footballer enlisted in the British Army in the First World War and performed prodigious valour there and in the trenches. He was a member of the Flying Column under an assumed name and gave Tans and traitors a taste of their own medicine.

He was monarch of all he surveyed 'till the Tipperary champion came along and challenged his right to the title. And what a contest it was—Our hero's capture of the Crown Prince of Germany, when himself was prisoner of war, was followed by the Tipperary man's exploits as Colonel Blake's Irish Brigade at the battle of Dundee in the Boer War. All the officers being wounded including Sean MacBride and Major O'Sullivan. The Irishmen were wavering when our hero raising the Green Flag and shouting Tipperary forward rallied the Brigade and won the day. English Regiment and the Green Tars in pieces. And then the contest was on with a vengeance. Our old friend James Ryan had the pleasure and privilege of listening to that first great debate. Listening in the thrills and fascinated, watching the two old football stars, Paddy McGrath and Maurice Harvey. Maurice McGrath who thought it was the pleasantest and most exciting evening he ever spent. And Tommy Brien was astonished at the amazing exploits of the two heroes that he began to congratulate the winner and sympathise with the loser. Paddy Cronin of Modelbeg who gave a special invitation to the great event was unaccountably absent and missed the third day of his life and was even asked and treated for several weeks after. Well, the championship went to the local man, a young people would say a school head, after a terrific contest. He just had that little bit extra that won the award. Our hero's opponent hailed from the Blue and Jockey districts and was undoubtedly championed by Paddy and a Tipperary supporter. It could be a world champion and we felt particularly proud of the exploits of our local hero.

Of course, both were a class of their own and it was laughable to see local residents championing the foreigner to compete with them. Of course there was

At Monday's meeting of the Cork County Council, the County Manager (Mr. E. Callanan) announced that the Council had reached with all the landowners concerned and they were now in a position to advertise for tenders for the Youghal Bridge.

The Chairman (Mr. M. P. Murphy, T.D.) said it was a pleasing news that all the difficulties had been overcome. He just had that little bit extra that won the award. Our hero's opponent hailed from the Blue and Jockey districts and was undoubtedly championed by Paddy and a Tipperary supporter. It could be a world champion and we felt particularly proud of the exploits of our local hero.

tribute to the Inspector from Co. Waterford.

He proved to be a most efficient man at his job and perhaps the best tribute I can pay him is to say that he is the next down to earth official I have met a reasonable man whose reasonable attitude to the various problems that face him in his job will most certainly take him a long way, indeed along the path of success. More young men of his type would be good for Ireland and especially for the farmers of Ireland.

SPECIAL SERVICE

A number of hackney car drivers in the town have asked me to mention that on the occasion of Ronnie Ronald's appearance at Clonca on Monday night next September 22nd they will be prepared to make special trips to and from Clonca at very reasonable charges.

This may be of considerable help to people wishing to return from Clonca early in the night. I should mention also, of course that Jackie Kennelly will provide his usual regular bus service.

CLONCA'S NIGHT OF THE YEAR

Everything is in hand for a really big night at Ocean View Hotel, Clonca, on Monday night next when the famous star of radio, TV, and records, Ronnie Ronald will be the star of the night... at a dance for which the music will be provided by Jimmy McCarthy and his orchestra, from Milford, Co. Cork. As far as I can determine, Ronnie Ronald will be opening his tour of Ireland in Clonca and he is eagerly looking forward to it. He will be doing a very special show indeed for his Irish audience and will be singing, whistling and yodling many of the old favourites that made his name a household word around the world.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES

DEATH OF MOTHER M. MICHAEL

As briefly announced in last week's issue the death of Mother M. Michael Culliton took place at the Convent of Mercy on 8th inst.

She was in her 67th year and for over forty years had been a member of the local community. A native of Rearymore, Clonsilla, she had local associations as her mother was a member of the O'Donnell family of Boherwilling, Modeligo.

For many years she taught in the National school with distinction and won the affection and respect of the pupils under her charge. That Mother Michael's worth was appreciated by the members of the community was shown by her selection as Rector Mother which office she held up to a few weeks before her death. Her relations with the public were of the happiest and the passing of this lovely lady is much regretted in the town and district. To her sisters in religion and her relatives deep sympathy is extended in their loss. Following Solemn Office and High Mass the burial took place in the Convent cemetery, on Wednesday. The very large attendance included seventeen priests.

The chief mourners included: Messrs. Michael and Patrick Culliton (brothers), Mrs. J. Dunne (sister), Mrs. J. Dunne (brother-in-law), Mrs. M. Culliton, Mrs. P. Culliton (sisters-in-law), Mrs. Connors, Clutahina, O'Donnell family, Boherwilling (relatives) and nephews and nieces.

(Undertaking by A. Walsh and Sons, Cappoquin).

THE LATE MR. H. O'CONNOR

Deep and widespread sorrow has been caused through the death of Mr. Hugh O'Connor of Carrigan which occurred at the South Infirmary, Cork, on 12th inst. Member of one of the oldest families of the district the late Mr. O'Connor was a well-liked person whose genial, inoffensive manner and many fine qualities earned for him the esteem and affection of all.

In association with his brother Richard he farmed extensively. Outside agriculture his chief interest was in scientific and mechanical subjects and he followed with keen mind modern progress in these fields. He's regretted passing at a comparatively early age has removed a

Regatta in Pace - At both the early and late Masses in the churches of his native parish of Stradbally and Ballylaneen on Sunday last prayers were requested for the repose of the soul of Very Rev. Fr. Patrick Quailly, P.P. Petone, New Zealand and who died on the previous Sunday 7th inst, following a period of falling health and at a fine old age.

One of the brilliant Quailly family raised at Carrigarabane House, Stradbally, 'Father Pat' (as his reverence was affectionately hailed by all acquainted with him) was naturally, sincerely and completely kind and understanding. A saintly man, he had great gifts of administration and was first in appreciation of other people's work. He had all the qualities for governing a parish but among all these notable as they were, was always shown out to the minds of his parishioners that special gift of Christ - like kindness, which even when enormous was never embarrassing for it was always so natural.

The departed pastor was brother of Right Rev. Monsignor Peter Quailly, Quailly Place, Rockville Centre, New York City, N.Y., U.S.A.; Mr. James Quailly, New York and Mrs. E. ## CATHOLIC SCOUT NOTES

NOT THIS TIME!

Sunday came and went and so did the Farrell Cup. And so the results of the competition were announced they showed that the 7th Waterford De La Salle team (holders) were well on top with our warriors in second place. However, we held on to the Cup for signalling and tied with De La Salle for the General Knowledge Cup. The rain on Sunday seemed to fall mainly in the Gaelic Field but in spite of this we followed our Band with visiting Troops from the Den to the Field and the team of five Leaders from Limerick got the competition under way with the tent-pitching first. Then followed the fire-lighting, water-boiling and signalling. The other items such as First Aid, knotting, etc. were done in the Den. When all was completed we went back to the Den where our cook-staff had been at work getting tea ready and there the Limerick Commissioner announced the details and presented the trophies. He congratulated all the teams on being so cheerful under difficulties during the competition. After this tea was served to all the visitors while we went home to change from wet footwear. When the competition was coming to an end we had a visit from the Cork Diocesan Chaplain and Commissioner with a bus load of Scout Leaders who had been on a tour. We think our gang know now that we cannot expect to recapture the Farrell Cup unless we have a really cracking all round team when the competition comes round for next year. Our Scouts concerned with the Diocesan Cup competition (First Class Standard) to be held at Cahin next May would want to settle down among the people of Touraneena."

BRICKEYS VERSUS DE LA SALLE

Football semi-final is wide open

DR. TOM BARRY (Brickies)

Football followers, intrigued by the unexpected turn the championship race has taken, will pack the Fraher Field, Dungarvan, on Sunday next, for the semi-final meeting of Brickey Rangers, the conquerors of Kilrossanty, and De La Salle who have disdainfully mastered all opposition encountered to date.

In the rival camps confidence abounds, but outside opinion is much more circumspect, though it is agreed on all sides that this could well be the highlight of the entire championship campaign.

With the morale uplift of a victory over the outgoing champions, Brickies will endeavour to earn their third final appearance in half a dozen years. These they are not only capable of doing so, but of finally taking that elusive championship, is the firm conviction of every man who swears allegiance to the black and amber. And certain it is that victory over Kilrossanty entitles Paddy Donnelly and company to the utmost respect.

De La Salle, on the other hand, come west with a big reputation for right good effective football. Dungarvan and Dunhill have been the victims of the Stephen Street machine, offering but token opposition in each instance, and it is common property that Tom Fitzgerald and his fellow mentors regard the Brickies as another stepping stone to their first title in twenty-two years.

On paper, De La Salle look in all powerful combination. Denis Corcoran, a confident and courageous keeper, ranks with the county's best. Sean Roche is a full-back out of the top drawer and his adjutants — men like Billy Smith, Jimmy Dwyer and Willie Cooley — are capable, experienced defenders who will reward the speedy Brickey forwards but scant latitude.

It is reasonable to anticipate the City men enjoying the white-hot at mid-field, for to my mind, there is not in club football to-day a partnership with which Bro. Barrett and Bro. O'Connell are not qualified to stand up-side.

Teamwork is the strong forte of the De La Salle attack, in which John Barron, a polished performer with a ground ball, utilises a happy medium of brain and brawn, and Noel Dalton, Billy Shanahan and C. Kelly usually manage to keep the scoreboard operator on the move.

This is a capable team, good enough, supporters believe to put them bang in line for the senior crown, which has been above their grasp since the golden thirties, when the college played host to some of the county's finest ball players.

Brickies have a goalkeeping problem on their hands. Regular keeper John Curran is out of commission, and as yet a substitute has not been named. Likely candidates are, I'm told, Richie Whelan, a former forward with previous experience of the position, and minor Mick Hickey, a son of the famed Stephen.

Supporters are, however, greatly heartened by the fact that Dr. Tom Barry, home on vacation, has found time to put in a spot of training. A top-class Barry could, of course, greatly influence the trend of the vital mid-field exchanges.

It is thought unlikely that the Brickey fifteen will show any lag departure from the side which supplanted the champions. Francis Ahearne seems the obvious choice to again man the fringe of the square, with former forward Paddy Crotty, who had such a capable game last time out, and Pat Walsh continuing in the corners. The half-line of Pat Spratt, Zane Donnelly, the skipper, and Paul Kilgrew must of necessity go in intact.

Barry's return to mid-field, where he will be probably partnered by Mick Baker, leaves Mick Walsh free to take over the wing forward berth vacated by Tom Spratt, who is taking a special course in Britain these days. It could be that the sextet will thus read: Mick Walsh, Frankie Ryan, Justin Spratt, Tom Foley, Paul Donoghue, Nicholas McGrath.

Despite all it is good football, one feels that this attack, centre-forward Ryan, who kicked some great points during the Kilrossanty test, excepted, will have to make matters extremely hot for a really respectable total off the City defence.

As I see it, the issue looks wide open, the indications being that an early advantage either way will, in all probability, prove decisive.

In order to afford spectators an opportunity of travelling to the subsequent Fenian Memorial ceremony at Helvic, the game, which will be controlled by Con Crowley, will commence at 2.30.

RING FOR MINOR FINAL

Ring, who have farmed the championship since 1934, are in the Western minor football final for the fifth successive year as a result of Ballinacorney's failure to meet last Sunday's penultimate engagement. During the week Ballinacorney had unsuccessfully sought a postponement of the fixture, informed the Board the were conceding a walk-over. It is understood that the decoder, in which the Gaelacht side will be opposed by Abbeyside, who held the title in the years between 1950 and '53, will be played on October 5th.

VALLEY ROVERS FOR FINAL

Valley Rovers for Final. Ballyduff, beaten by Valley Rovers in the semi-final of the divisional junior football championship three weeks ago, have decided not to proceed with their objection to the Derrinlaur club. Divisional Secretary Declan O'Sullivan has been officially informed accordingly. On investigation it was learned, however, that the player whose legality was disputed is in fact entitled to participate in the Waterford championships, having been transferred from Tipperary, where he played last year, in accordance with the governing rule.

The Rovers thus meet Emmets in the divisional final, which will be played at Cappoquin on Sunday, October 5th.

Emmets through after epic

The sands of time had almost receded when sharp-shooting Dick Tobin banged home a goal that saved Emmets from ignominious defeat at the hands of Kilgobinet in a junior football replay that has the sparse attendance coarsely their heads off at the rain-lashed Castle Farm, Lismore, on Sunday last.

Believe me when I tell you this swashbuckling battle was as brimful of tingling excitement as the twenty-five minutes which preceded the abandonment two weeks ago were of listless boring exchanges.

Don't get me wrong. It's not that the football was of a classical mould. Far from it, for good football was well nigh impossible in the prevailing circumstances. But from the point of sheer red-blooded endeavour this was the most enjoyable exhibition I have seen in any grade this year.

The wonder is that the game was played at all, for torrential rain fell almost uninterrupted until the final quarter. Players on both sides experienced the greatest difficulty in retaining their footing and not unreasonably the leaden ball tended to play the most weird tricks.

In the circumstances it is only appropriate that one should express a hearty note of congratulations to victors and vanquished for contriving such an entertaining hour.

Kilgobinet, stepping up on their unimpaired showing in the indecisive test, adapted themselves better to the prevailing conditions and in the process almost won a sensational victory.

Emmets, with their first-class fielding and general teamwork almost negligible qualities in the circumstances, were confused and rattled by the first-time along the carpet, football of the losers.

Ten minutes from time the losers called in Timony, who had made full haste to Cappoquin after helping Abbeyside retain the Divisional hurling championship.

Match-winner Dick Tobin accounted for 1-2 of the total—must increase to 1-3 in the winners' parade of Emmets though over the hour supporters had also cause to exult over the play of full-back Sean Hennessy, the mid-fielders of Kiely, Paddy Tobin and Paddy Kirwan, mid-fielders Tom Barry and Eddie Brett, and forward Condonand Cyril Paddy in the full time of attack.

The losers' main two goals in the interval, adding on a further brace of points before the goal ten minutes from time, almost immediately followed the point for the lead. Three minutes from the end Tobin introduced a fisted clearance to win the winning goal.

Emmets led by 6-2 to 0-2 at the interval, adding on a further brace of points before the goal ten minutes from time, almost immediately followed the point for the lead. Three minutes from the end Tobin introduced a fisted clearance to win the winning goal.

Emmets—M. Dalton, St. P. Hennessy, C. Dwyer, J. Ryan, P. Tobin, P. Kirwan, P. Barry and T. Barry; D. Tobin, P. Barry, M. Walsh, E. Condon, C. Paddy, J. Tobin.

Kilgobinet—D. Flynn, W. Fitzgerald, J. Walsh, M. Curran, Walsh, R. McCarthy, J. Hanley, M. Farrell and S. Kelleher; Hanley, G. Flynn, E. Hanley, P. Barke, K. Hurley, J. Conroy, Subs.—A. Donaghy, S. Flynn, P. Allen.

Thrills Galore as 'Sion Qualify

Mount Sion . . . 4-8; Ballygunner . . . 3-4. There was excitement in abundance and more than a fair quota of right good hurling, for, as county champions Mount Sion withstood every challenge in the senior hurling semi-final at the City Sportsfield on Sunday last.

No doubt about it, this long-awaited meeting of the champion senior and junior combinations of twelve months ago lived up to expectations. Mount Sion won, but a well-deserved victory it was, and Ballygunner emerged from a tugging hour with their great hurling reputation unimpaired.

The Gunners overall performance—1 washlighted by performance last quarter on-slaught—strengthened the almost universal belief that if and when Mount Sion are finally beaten it is they who will accomplish the great feat.

Warren kept a good goal.

Casey and Carroll were stout defenders, and Hearne and Curran the big dangers in a forward sextet that did not always enjoy the best of good luck.

Mount Sion led by 2-4 to 1-0 at the interval and had stretched the advantage to fourteen points before the Gunners hit back to slash the margin in a grand-slam finish.

Cnoc Sion: R. Roche; J. Quinn, W. Mulcahy, T. Gallagher, T. O'Gallagher, M. O'Morrissey, Larry Guinan; Mick Flannelly and P. Grimes; J. Flavin, M. Healy, F. Walsh, S. Power, T. Keane, W. Gallagher.

Ballygunner: J. Warren; P.

BALLYDUFF APPEAL TO CO. BOARD

BALLYDUFF junior hurlers who were ruled out of the championship following a series of distasteful incidents which occurred during the unfinished group decider in which they figured with Tourin last month have lodged an appeal with the County Board.

van area decider, which was abandoned thirty seconds from time, automatically qualified to represent the West in the County final.

Ballyduff's action however, leaves the position open to conjecture, though the feeling prevails that the County Board, in this instance the supreme court of appeal, will support the firm stand taken by their subordinates.

The appeal will be heard at a meeting in the C.Y.M.S. Rooms, Dungarvan, on Friday night.

Abbeyside Minor Hurlers Retain Western Laurels

Three goals during the opening five minutes set champions Abbeyside on the high road to their third successive Divisional minor hurling championship at Cappoquin on Sunday last. Challenging Ballinacorney hit back to narrow the gap before the interval and the holders came again to register a further brace of goals in the closing stages.

Any attempt to open out the game was immediately blighted by the underfoot conditions, a fact that was largely responsible for the "needle" which crept into the exchanges at times.

During the hour referee Fr. O'Dea, H. McGrath, L. Enright, P. Ballinacorney, J. O'Grady, P. O'Keefe, P. McCarthy, P. Davis, T. Reynolds, L. Curran, J. McGrath, F. Cooney and P. Kiely, K. Walsh, M. Hickey, P. French, P. Cashman, M. Kelleher, T. Browne.

COMMITTEE IGNORED

The colourful celebrations that marked the annual National Ploughing Championship events which were held in Tramore this year had a sequel at a meeting of Waterford County Committee on Tuesday when Mr. Richard Barron protested very strongly against the high-handed manner in which the members of the committee of agriculture were ignored.

Mr. Barron stated that there was not a member of the county committee invited to the dinner a fact which he considered made little of the members. As far as he knew not even the chairman of Waterford County Council was invited yet several members of the City Corporation were there and they saw the Mayor's face on every newspaper presenting cups to winners.

Mr. Barron added that he could not understand why the chairman of the county committee of agriculture was ignored, in the whole affair.

HE WAS THERE

The Chairman, Mr. M. Harty stated that he had been invited and he attended but he went on to say that of those present in the day's ceremonies only one man was a farmer. Mr. Harty supported the views of Mr. Barron.

Mr. Barron 'I should say here that the Mayor of Waterford, Col. Denis Fitzpatrick is a very good personal friend of mine but that is not the point at all.

Waterford County Committee of Agriculture contributed generously to this national event and our chairman should be a prominent personality in the whole even. He should not be ignored as he was. This is a matter of courtesy and not of personalities (6-9)now and I don't think that
