ARMY RECRUITING DRIVE LAUNCHED

DETAILS of the extensive recruiting campaign now being launched were given by Mr. Boland, the Minister for Defence, in an address from Radio Eireann on Monday night.

Ireland is one of the few countries in the world today that does not encourage its youth into the armed services. Because of that we have from time to time the problem of increasing the flow of recruits into the Permanent Defence Force.

It speaks well for the civility and good citizenship of our people that even during the civil war years, 1939 to 1945, the system of voluntary enlistment was maintained. And I have no doubt that if we are ever again faced with another such emergency, as in 1939, there would be no lack of Volunteers. Let me emphasise now, however, that that is not quite enough. It is essential that the Permanent Defence Force should be maintained sufficiently strong at all times to undertake the tasks assigned to it.

In another emergency every citizen may well depend on our ability to mobilise manpower quickly. Clearly, now is the time to prepare, and the best preparation is to have a strong Army, Naval Service and Air Corps as our resources permit.

Straightaway we are starting a recruiting drive to enlist young men for all branches of the Permanent Defence Force. Those whom we accept will undoubtedly gain training and experience which will stand to them when they return later to civilian life. The individual capabilities of our soldiers and sailors are developed by instruction in various trades and skills. Those with particular aptitudes are encouraged and enabled to attain their maximum usefulness under the guidance of our highly skilled instructors.

It is significant — and gratifying, too — to note the increasing interest displayed by the public utility companies and many of the larger commercial and industrial concerns in the Services trained employee.

Within the services at the present time there are good prospects and advancement. Our Star-grading system is designed to give the private soldier a real sense of progress and increasing monetary reward — during his first few years' service. After that, advancement is dependent on the man himself. Suffice it for me to say that there are plenty of opportunities for promotion to non-commissioned rank.

Soldiers who have the Senior Leaving Certificate are eligible to compete for the limited number of Cadetship vacancies specially reserved for serving personnel.

At this stage let me touch on an aspect of service life that should be of particular interest to parents. The moral, spiritual and physical welfare of our servicemen are considerations we take very seriously indeed. When your son becomes an Irish soldier or sailor he must leave home, but he does not go among strangers. He enters a community in which no effort is spared to preserve the best that his Irish upbringing fostered in the first place.

I believe that young man's spiritual and moral welfare is as safe in the keeping of the Defence Force as it is anywhere outside his own home. Games and outdoor recreation play a big part in the physical development of the young servicemen. Here the Defence Force can claim an enviable reputation. Every game beloved of Irish youth is catered for — and the necessary gear is available free.

If you are a young man in search of a job that is as satisfying and rewarding, I appeal to you now to offer your services to the Army or the Naval Service. If you are a parent with sons to find openings for, why not consider the Forces as a career for them, or at least as a stepping-off ground? If you are a father, you can still fulfil a patriotic duty by influencing others to examine the prospects offered by the Permanent Defence Force.

And now, briefly, let me tell you who are eligible for enlistment. For the Army, unmarried men between 17 and 28 years. For the Naval Service the age limits are 17 to 25 years. Those under 18 years must produce the written consent of a parent or guardian before they will be accepted.

For further information I would ask you to visit your local military barracks where a Recruiting Officer is available. If that is not feasible, write direct to the Chief Recruiting Officer, Army Headquarters, Parkside, Dublin.

Now, before I conclude I have a final appeal this time directed to those of you who are giving full-time service to the Forces. Both An Foras Cosanta Aitiúil and Civil Defence need recruits also and in the case of Civil Defence, women as well as men are needed.

Oíche mhait agus beannacht

De Oraibh.

As from 31st inst. Recruiting Offices have been opened in all military posts. Recruits from all branches of the Defence Forces — including the Naval Service — will be accepted at these offices. In areas where there are no military posts the F.C.A. headquarters will direct intending recruits to where there is a Recruiting Office, or inform them when a Recruiting Team will visit the area.

Applicants who report to the military post nearest to their home addresses and are accepted will be refunded the amount of their fare in cases where public transport is used. If he is rejected on any grounds except those of age, he will be refunded his fare and be given a return travel warrant to his home address.

A recruit on enlistment will be paid £2.16.0. On promotion to One-star grade — normally attained in about 20 weeks — this is increased to £3.3.7. Two-star grade, normally attained within 12 months of enlistment, the pay is further increased to £3.7.1.

The term of service in the Army is 3 years in Regular service and 9 years on Reserve. In the Naval Service it is 6 years Regular and 6 Reserve. Suitable men can apply to remain in Regular service at the termination of their first period.

LATE POPE'S ASSOCIATIONS WITH IRELAND

The death of His Holiness Pope Pius XII, plunged Ireland into deep sorrow. Streams of mourners making their way to Churches and flags flying at half-mast on public buildings and private houses gave evidence of the very real grief felt at the passing of this great Pontiff.

The Irish people, with their long tradition of loyalty to the Holy Father and in particular his constant striving for the achievement of justice and peace, a field in which his pronouncements were enriched by his wide experience of international affairs.

The links between Ireland and the Holy See, strong and firm for centuries, have during the pontificate of the late Pope Pius XII been reinforced by the warm personal affection in which the Pontiff was held in a country profoundly Christian.

On the 21st of October, 1958, the late Pope Pius XII, who had been re-elected by the Second Vatican Council, died in Rome at the age of 92.

Some time later, in 1947, when he received the group led by the Taniste (Deputy Prime Minister), Mr. Lemass, on his inaugural Aer Lingus (Irish Air Lines) flight from Dublin to Rome, Pope Pius said: "We know full well and all true Irishmen know, that Ireland needed no airline to link her to Rome. That link was forged fifteen hundred years ago in the chivalrous soul of the Irish people by their heroic Apostles St. Patrick and never once, over all these centuries, has it been broken, never once weakened even under the heavy persistent hammer of God's enemies."

peace, for peace amongst the various classes of society, and for peace amongst the nations. "He strove for a true peace that must, as he recently said, be guided by justice and nurtured by the charity of Christ, if the world is to be saved from another catastrophe that will almost inevitably involve the ruin of our civilisation, perhaps for centuries to come.

"The late Pope abounded in charity, and to the limit of his resources endeavoured to mitigate the horrors of the recent world conflict and to relieve distress in many countries, irrespective of race or class or creed.

"While the enemies of the Church often questioned his motives and distorted his pronouncements, he at all times showed that he placed spiritual interests above material considerations. In many eloquent addresses he defended the dignity and inalienable rights of the human person. He championed the cause of the oppressed, and especially the right of parents to have their children educated in the way appointed by God.

"His Eminence Cardinal D'Alton in a radio address on the late Holy Father, said: "The death of His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, has caused profound sympathy among the faithful throughout the world, and particularly among Irish Catholics, who felt for him a deep personal affection. Many of us, outside the fold of the Catholic Church will join with us in mourning the passing of one who by every standard must be regarded as outstanding amongst the most illustrious Pontiffs in the long line of the successors of St. Peter.

"Taking as his motto 'Peace be the work of Justice', he the Vicar of the Prince of Peace, never allowed his own personal interests to stand in the way of the good of his people, and he was ever ready to sacrifice for the sake of his flock.

N.F.A. News

GRAIN: Forthcoming top-level Meeting.

The N.F.A. is seeking a meeting with the Taoiseach and the Minister for Agriculture on the whole question of grain but with particular reference to the wheat levy.

In a letter to the Taoiseach, Dr. J.N. Greene, President of the N.F.A., has referred to a resolution which was passed at the last meeting of the National Council of the Association. The resolution is as follows:—

"That the National Council of the N.F.A. condemns the action of the Government in the misapplication of the Wheat Levy which in accordance with the Wheat Order should have been deducted solely for the purpose of disposing of millable wheat in excess of 300,000 tons and that it should not be used to bring up the price of unmillable wheat."

He also points out that this view was forcibly expressed by Council members representing the smaller farming areas who felt that they had been penalized to meet what should properly be a Government commitment. He adds that all farmers who have had wheat accepted as millable are adamant on the point that the Levy should not have been deducted when the quantity of millable wheat fell short of 300,000 tons.

The letter urges the Government to give sympathetic consideration to this very legitimate claim.

A proposed meeting between the Government, the Minister for Agriculture and an N.F.A. delegation is pending and it is hoped that it will provide the opportunity of reviewing the whole grain situation this year.

The formulation of a grain growing policy for this country is urgent and we must not lose sight of the necessity of eventually providing our full requirements of home-grown wheat and equally important, of growing all the feeding grain that we require.

The element of chaos introduced into this year's harvest by vested interests at a time when all farmers are losing heavily must not recur again. If it did, it could be detrimental to the whole grain-growing programme.

It is hoped therefore that the summit meeting between the Government and the N.F.A. may serve as a very important step forward in the formulation of a grain-growing policy.

PIGS FOR THE WEST: Plan Outlined in Ballyhaunis

At a meeting in Ballyhaunis on October 16th, representatives of the N.F.A. Co. Committees of Agriculture Advisory Service and the Bacon Factories of the Province considered a 'Pigs for the West' plan which was presented by Seamus O'Donoghue, Mayo, C.A.O. and Secretary of the Committee.

Briefly, the plan envisages an increase in pig numbers in Connacht along the following lines:

To encourage farmers to breed their own pigs and that a one-sow unit be accepted as the absolute minimum on the smallest farm producing pigs.

That every encouragement be given to Western farmers to grow their requirements of feeding barley and that loans be made available to establish storage grinding and drying facilities on a co-operative basis.

Finally, that transport arrangements should be made for the collection of pigs by factories and that farmers should be induced to sell their pigs dead weight. A suggestion that the factory would pay part of the price of pigs on collection was put forward.

This report was approved by the Committee present. It will be discussed by the County Committees during the next few weeks and the Committee will re-assemble in Ballyhaunis on October 23rd to consider decisions of the County Committees and to take the necessary steps to implement the plan.

AUCTION MARTS: Action in Galway

The establishing of Auction Marts in Co. Galway and in the West of Ireland was given full consideration at a recent special meeting of the Galway Co. Executive of the N.F.A.

The meeting was attended by the Secretary and Committee members of the Ballynasloe Co-operative Mart; by the representative of a Commercial Bank and by N.F.A. Headquarters staff.

A plan which was presented by N.F.A. speakers present was fully endorsed by the meeting and it is expected that immediate steps will be taken to implement this plan throughout the West.

PUBLIC LIGHTS

During the past week the ESB installed public lights at Clashmore. One light has been installed at the entrance to the Church, another at a road junction nearby and one at either entrance to the village, four in all. The location of the village lights has given rise to a good deal of controversy as none have been erected in the village street proper, which is still in total darkness each night after dark. Representations have been made to local members of the Co. Council to have the situation rectified.

A COMPLAINT

A number of acceptors in the Clashmore area have failed to get electric current and are disappointed as a result. The reason for the problem is that they reside in 'unconformable pockets' and were not prepared to pay the special service charge. Most of the people affected are small holders and it is unfortunate that they have been denied electricity.

STAFF MOVES

Now that development work in the Clashmore area has been completed, most of the regular ESB staff have moved to Carrolls Cross, which area is now being developed. A few members still remain in Clashmore, engaged in post area development work.

LECTURES ON GARDENING

Sponsored by the local I.C.A. and under the auspices of the County Waterford Vocational Education Committee, a series of lectures on Home Gardening are to be given in Clashmore. The lectures will be given by Mr. Donal Whelan, B. Agr. Sc., and the general public are cordially invited to attend.

PROPOSED NEW DISPENSARY

Local members of the County Council have received numerous protests against the proposal to build the new Clashmore dispensary on the site of the present dispensary residence. Reason for the protests is that the proposed site would add about another mile to the distance which patients have to travel at present.

CHICAGO FESTIVAL

THE Irish Products Festival, held Sunday evening, September 7th, at Chicago's West End Ballroom, was a great success. People gathered long before the display of imported Irish products was ready. They were greeted by a "Cead Mile Failte" by Frank O'Gara of Emerald Caterers who treated them with Irish coffee, cheese from M.H. O'Connell and Irish oatmeal bread.

The products on display included sweaters, knitted hats, gloves, dresses, stoles, scarfs, lace, candles, china, glassware, beer and other items generously donated by Irish manufacturers. These people professed great interest in all these items and asked for more items such as plain tea towels and napkins, decorated tea towels, various foods etc. Unfortunately, the products sent in for the Festival were for display purposes only, and could not be sold although almost everyone present wanted to purchase something.

Co-workers, active for many years in Irish affairs in Chicago, who gave so much of their valuable time to displaying the products were Pat Lynch of Kerry who donated the ballroom; John Burns of Radio Station WGN's Irish Hour, whose parents came from Clare Island, Co. Mayo; Jack Hagerty of WOPA, whose parents came from Clare; Pat Conannon and Tom Gibbons, both of Mayo, also of WOPA; Frank Doyle, President of the Harp and Shamrock Club, whose parents came from Westford; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ryan of Tipperary; Mrs. Sheila McCone, whose roots were the Kings of Roscommon; Joe Mahoney of Kerry; Charles Elliott who is four generations removed from the Old Sod, has ties in almost all counties; Mrs. Cecelia Keogh who claims Limerick; Martin McGing, an old I.R.A. veteran of Mayo who held down the Tara and Black china booth with Mrs. Tom Gibbons; Mrs. Susan Clancy, who is Mr. Pat Roche's assistant, said she never saw a more enthusiastic crowd as at both these festivals, and she too stated she could have sold all items on display. Mr. Roche, Director of this Festival, extended thanks to all these people both for himself and the people of Ireland.

The Harp and Shamrock Club, 2240 W. Madison St., Chicago, believes there is a great market potential here in America for Irish made goods, and therefore, is now making the case for an Import Depot in Chicago with a branch in Dublin. Mr. Pat Roche Vice-President of the Club, who has been most active in the promotion of Ireland as a specialty handicraft in selling large volumes of Irish merchandise in America is not only the import duty levy as many Irish manufacturers believe, but the extremely high profit markup which the American retailer pays on the goods he now carry Irish products. His belief and conclusions were reached after endless discussions with many people who attended the Chicago Feis and the Festival. Mr. Roche and the Club plan to make Irish products available to the interested public at prices which they can afford and will pay. He has been giving promises of assistance in this venture from all Irish radio programs, and many prominent citizens all over the country, including Mayor Richard J. Daley and Cook County President Daniel Ryan.

LATE SISTER M. TERESA

As briefly announced in last week's issue the death took place at the Convent of Mercy on 12th inst. of Sister M. Teresa Doran. She was in her 77th year and had been a religious for nearly sixty years. During this long period of devoted service she held at various times the offices of Mother Superior, Principal of St. Michael's Industrial School and Mother in Charge of the school in Ardmore. A lady of such refinement and culture she will be long mourned by her sisters in religion and by the members of the public who were privileged to know her. Following Requiem High Mass celebrated by Very Rev. J. Kennelly P.P., (Deacon Rev. D. Slattery, C.O., Sub-Deacon Very Rev. T. CORK WIN MACRA NA FEIRME QUESTION TIME

By a slender three points lead Cork emerged winners of the All-Ireland Question Time semi-final at the Regal Cinema, Tallow, on Wednesday, October 15. The hall was packed to capacity for the occasion. Previous to the question time, concert items were rendered by Mr. Tom Sweeney, Tallow, who played some lively Irish airs on the bag pipes; the O'Donovan sisters and Miss Baldwin who gave an exhibition of Irish step dancing; Miss Teresa Frazer, Convent St. Recitations and Mr. Lawlor, Cappoquin, songs.

The question time Cork versus Tipperary was a neck to neck tussle all the way through and the issue was in doubt right up to the final questions. The answering of some very difficult questions was loudly applauded. The final score was: Cork 71 points, Tipperary 68. Mr. Peter Murphy was compere. Adjudicator, Mr. Denis Cullinan, C.E.O., Dungarvan. Score-keepers, Mr. E. Power N.T., Tallow and Miss E. Cotter, N.T., do. Following the question time Cappoquin I.C.A. staged their prize-winning play 'Sorlus' (by T. C. Murray), which was very well put over. The Tallow branch of Macra na Feirme, under whose auspices the question time was held, are to be congratulated on bringing such an important social event to Tallow. A raffie prize of £1 was won by Mr. Sean Hinecek, Tallow.

LAWN TENNIS CLUB'S ANNUAL DANCE

The Annual Dance of Tallow Lawn Tennis Club will be held in the Arch on next Sunday night, October 20th. The club had a rather bad season owing to weather conditions.

An idea that has gained some ground is that there is a certain amount of snobbishness about Tallow Tennis Club and that nobody is wanted only a few chosen people. We would very much like to dispel this fallacy and to assure all that nothing is farther

Sunday's winner, McGrath, who is one of the best known hurling families, looks well set to go a long way in this ancient past time. Standing well over six feet and formed of massive strength, he is ideally suited for the game. Bowling has taken on a new lease of life in these parts in recent years and tournaments are in progress in many areas.

From the truth. All are welcome to join in 'how an Astrid'. The club has a long record of achievements in tournaments and social events as anyone who were present at plays produced by the club in former years, can testify. Therefore we would appeal to all to support their dance on Sunday, where they are assured of really first-class music with the Regal Dance Orchestra. Cork Irish airs on the bag pipes; the O'Donovan sisters and Miss Baldwin who gave an exhibition of Irish step dancing; Miss Teresa Frazer, Convent St. Recitations and Mr. Lawlor, Cappoquin, songs.

BOWL PLAYING

The final of the Moorehill Bowling tournament, thrown on the Janerville - Camphire road on Sunday last attracted a large crowd of spectators. This evening (locked forward) to score between those well known exponents of the game, Mr. Michael McGowan, Camphire, Danny Willis, Janerville and Jim Nicholas, Ballinacorney, kept the onlookers on their toes right from the start. For a time it looked as if veteran Willis would be victor on the superior strength of Michael McGrath gradually wore him down with near the end it was evident he was tiring and McGrath ran out winner with a bowl of oak with Willis second and Nicholas third. A feature of the game was that never before was the distance covered with over a small number of throws.

AN OCCASION TO LOOK FORWARD TO

From all I can gather it is likely that all arrangements broken at the C.M.S. Ballroom, Clonca, on Monday night, 23rd, when Brian O'Connell's Girl from Dungarvan was there as guest star in a dance featuring the Skyrockets. She was in the north and out of town on Valley Co. Ball.

Plans are being made for a night of dancing, understood that some of the people from Dungarvan and county including W. O'Connell, Portlaoine, Co. Wick, and Thomas, Carrigrohane, Co. Wick, will be present. Bullmanit, Limerick, and Spradly from Dungarvan, also taxi-drivers will be present every way and will be cars available to take us to all wishing to get home. It seems certain that we will wish to be there on a big occasion.

SPECIAL SELECTION

Bridie Gallagher is singing a very special selection of songs at Clonca, Newmarket, she sings many of the best carols but the new songs, released on her new recording recent and they are likely that the new songs on the new recording will be with her. She is singing quite a memorable selection of songs from Dungarvan. She also begins a new Radio Programme at the Clonca. Miss Gallagher is a singer who is eagerly awaited to another appearance at Dungarvan. She is singing the fact that she is set out on the road to success. She received the accolade of the people of Waterford that was a great encouragement in her endeavours to overcome her on her path to success. She has had all the best spots for the Clonca. She is quite at home in the there. It might be a bit of a challenge to her but she is quite at home in the America in the past to a big tour that she is

Footballers on top in League

WATERFORD: 1-12; KILKENNY: 1-6

A Second half effort that yielded the grand total of one goal and nine points highlighted Waterford's clear cut victory over Kilkenny in the opening game of the National Football League which was decided in the presence of a fine attendance and under ideal conditions at the Fraher Field on Sunday last.

Although the hurling, which was a well-executed strong attack, was the main feature of the game, the football was the more personal and eventually put the...
Waterford's score-sheet was contributed to by M. Guiry (4-1) M. White (1-1), T. McGrath (4-2), S. Power (0-1).

The lack-lustre refereeing of S. Ryan, of Tipperary, did not contribute to the enjoyment of the game.
Waterford: G. McCarthy, T. Bermingham, S. Roche, J. Power, (capt.), P. Crofty, T. Cunningham, P. Kilgrew, S. Power, N. Power, R. Ryan, P. Sweeney, M. Guiry, A. Richard, T. McGrath, M. White, Sub: J. Foley for P. Kilgrew.

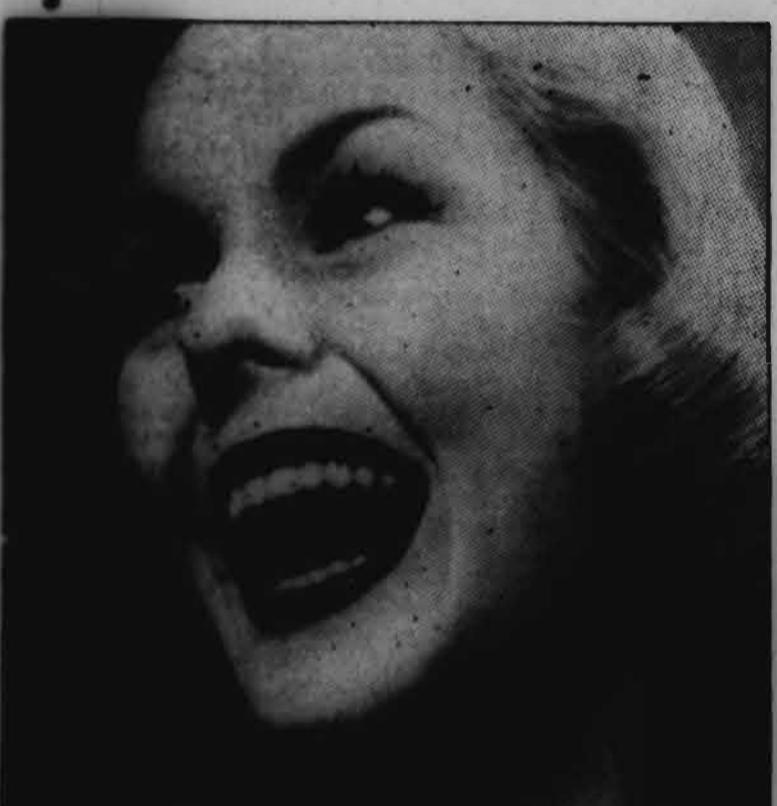

Kilkenny: D. Croke, W. Fitzgerald, M. Egan, M. Bealon, P. Camers, A. Heffernan, S. Griffin, M. Mealy, T. Fogarty, T. Wilson, S. Higgins, P. Murphy, W. Fitzgerald, P. Fitzgerald, K. Mealy.

Opening Of N.H.L.

This game must be won

The opening engagement of the National Hurling League, which was postponed from two weeks ago, will bring our hurling men to the strange surroundings of O'Toole Park, Kilmagee, for a vital test with brightly Dublin on Sunday.

Croke Park, nowadays a McInerney fort, is unavailable hence the switch to the recently acquired south side venue.
For Waterford, battling to regain lost prestige, Sunday's test assumes the standing of a championship encounter. Over the past decade or so Dublin have enjoyed by far the better of matters with our representatives and the recent uprise in Metropolitan standards would suggest that nothing short of a full-blooded, sixty minutes hurling will take the points from them on home territory.

MICK LACEY (Waterford)

In the corresponding game 12 months ago Dublin came to Waterford and blighted our league hopes with an unexpected victory. Now, before their own supporters this side, which all but vanquished Kilkenny in a few championship encounters, is certain to furnish opposition of the first water.

Determined, however, to commence the winter campaign on a winning note—even one defeat could spell the death knell in a division that also contains Kilkenny, Cork, Wexford and Antrim—and roused by a desire to prove championship form all wrong, these hurlers will not be easily contained.

The team remains as announced for the Cork game. Thirteen of the men who did duty at Thurles retain favour and the newcomers are Harney, whose claims have too long been overlooked, and footballer Mick Whyte are both men of considerable experience. Missing from the line out are John Kiely who has returned to England and Mick Flannelly.

By all accounts the Metropolitanans have named a formidable fifteen. Waterford, however, have every incentive. To remain in the hunt for league honours this game must be won; to vindicate the line of action taken by the newly-installed selectors it must be won convincingly.

The throw in is timed for 3.30

SARGENT AND PHELAN CUPS TO BE RESUMED

County chairman Pat Fanning assured us over the week end that it is the Board's intention to complete both the Phelan and Sargent Cup competitions before Christmas. Arrangements, dates and venue will, he said, be hammered out at a meeting in Dunganvan on the week following the championship final, probably the night of Monday night.

Mount Sion, Ballygunner, Dunganvan, Cappoquin and Geraldines, with full points to their credit, are still actively concerned with the hurling competition, while Mount Sion, De La Salle, Kilkenny, Brickey Rangers, Scudde Rovers and Geraldines are as yet unengaged in the big ball game.

As matters stand it will take a tremendous effort to conclude the competitions before the new year.

JUNIOR TITLE FOR FIERY FERRYBANK COLLIGAN COLLAPSE IN SECOND PERIOD

THE SENIOR FOOTBALL FINAL

The senior football final, the topic of the day with football followers throughout the length and breadth of the county, bids fair to smother all attendance records. A special train serving all intermediate stations will leave Waterford at 1.45 for the scene of combat, the Fraher Field. In the rival strongholds of Kill and De La Salle the men immediately concerned are presently in the throes of a vigorous training campaign, a positive indication of which was forthcoming from their representatives in last Sunday's league encounter. Little wonder that big ball fans regard this as the game most likely to provide the highlight of the entire campaign.

STRADBALLY FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT

Stradbally football club have finalised arrangements for a senior football tournament which will be run off over the winter months. The draws and fixtures will be made at a special meeting in Stradbally on next Tuesday night. It is understood that the competition, which carries a valuable set of trophies, has attracted all of the leading senior combinations.

Ferrybank, 6-5; Colligan Rockies, 2-3
WHEN Colligan Rockies reached the halfway stage of last Sunday's junior hurling decider in possession of an almost intimidating five points advantage the big Western contingent in Park na Gael rightly prepared to celebrate the return of the championship to the division.

But thirty minutes and some 10 Ferrybank points later frustrated Colligan supporters set out on the homeward journey without the cherished title which instead had crossed the bridge to rest again in the pleasant village by the Suir.

Colligan's second half collapse is difficult to fathom. Sluggish and uncertain in the opening minutes, they had recovered splendidly and by fair dent of hard, determined hurling were in an auspicious position by the half-way break.

But there was only one side in it over the first period got over to produce bouts of inspired hurling. Unexpectedly, yet decisively, they assumed complete control, the net result being that all the scoreboard operator's second half work was at their bidding. Colligan, who appeared to accept their defeat as inevitable once the winners struck immediately after the resumption, failed to raise a flag during the one-sided, bitterly disappointing final thirty minutes.

Lack of hurling match practice—their last outing was against St. Garvan's in August—a failure to rise to the big occasion and the inordinate total of wides shot in the opening half—these were the pet factors paraded by disappointed Colligan men in their after match commiserations. Yet for half the journey this was to all intents and purposes their game.

Public sympathy—cold comfort 'tis true—must go out to those gallant hurling-footbalbers who, within sight of final victory have once again been denied the success towards which they have striven so earnestly these past couple of years. Sooner or later—and it must be sooner—Colligan will attain the pinnacle their wholehearted endeavours merit.

Best hurling of an hour that was largely devoid of anything spectacular was during the minutes preceding and again immediately following the interval. In the main, however, the standard of performance was distinctly moderate.

Ferrybank's second half performance, coming as it did had on the heels of their unimpressive showing in the first period, was a revelation. But it would be drawing on the long bow to say they ever looked the part of serious aspirants to senior honours.

Battle-hardened Eddie Carew was the inspiration of a side that was also most zealously served by Jim Irish, who gave a tip-top performance at centre-half-back, goalkeeper Percy Flynn, Power, Hennessy, Ryan and Buchall.

Colligan had in mid-fielder Tom Byrnes beyond nay or yea the best man on view. Byrne's display of non-stop devastating nothing short of devastating little behind were defenders Paddy Tobin and Mickey Walsh.

Gaultier are the Form Side

The long drawn-out battle for the junior football crown has reached a climax. Of the fifty odd hopefuls who commenced the grinding campaign last April only Gaultier and Valley Rovers survive to fight it out. The showdown should draw one of the biggest gatherings of the season to the Fraher Field on Sunday afternoon.

This most attractive of finals could, football folk believe, be the ornament of the championship that has yielded little of exceptional note heretofore.

At their best, however—and Sunday's nerve tingling test will surely provide the necessary stimulus—they can look an all powerful combination.

LATE MRS. E. MORRISSEY The Hermitage, Abbeyside

Dunganvan and Abbeyside people in all walks of life were shocked at the tragic news which circulated on Monday morning. It told them that one of their most lovable personalities had died unexpectedly in the early hours of that morning at her home, The Hermitage in Abbeyside—Mrs. Elsie Morrissey, as she was known to most people.

She had been in excellent spirits over the weekend and even had a visit to her club for a game of cards before going to the Garda Dance at Clonea on Sunday night to which she was specially invited. And of course Elsie went and her hearty laugh was heard and enjoyed by many on that occasion. She died unexpectedly the morning afterwards. She was a personality full of character, full of humour and full of warm charity. She was the good friend of everyone who knew her and almost everyone knew Elsie.

Many will remember the excellent performances of these Dunganvan men... Jim Duggan now playing with the Comeragh Valley Celli Band, Christie Burke and Tommie Duggan.

Wherever he was known, that was widely in this country his integrity was known and his searchlight was turned even on himself, giving at times startling examples of modesty and humility.

In his panegyric, His Grace Archbishop McKeefry mentioned that through his many years of priesthood the Mass never became usual to him. He had the quality cherished by Chesterton, a rare and innocent power of wonder, and the Mass was, of course, the greatest wonder of all.
