DROMANA BRIDGE

The 1947 Land Commission report on the Dromana bridge has been published. The report states that the bridge is in a state of disrepair and that it is necessary to reconstruct it. The Commission has recommended that the bridge be widened and strengthened. The estimated cost of the work is £12,000. The County Council has agreed to contribute £6,000 towards the cost. The remaining £6,000 will be provided by the State. The work is expected to be completed by the end of next year.

Tribute to Late Dr. White

The members of Waterford Co. Council paid glowing tributes to the memory of the late Dr. V.J. White who died during the week-end when they met in the Courthouse, Dungarvan on Monday last.

In proposing the vote of sympathy, the Chairman, Mr. M. McCarthy, said that Dr. White had been Mayor of Waterford for six years during which time he rendered invaluable service.

The sentiments of the Chairman were endorsed by Ald. William Kennedy, T.D., who seconded the resolution.

That Dr. White had a magnificent national record and had rendered sterling service to the people of the city and his county in his profession, was stated by Mr. W. J. Folan.

There was no greater Waterford man, stated Ald. T. Scragg, T.D., who added that he was not alone a local figure but a national one as well.

Cols. Charlie Curran, Frank Roche, John Palsy, Norman Walsh and the Co. Secretary, Mr. J. G. Dowling, associated themselves with the resolution, which was passed with all members standing in silence.

Earlier in the day, the Board of Assistance adopted a similar resolution.

DIPPING LEVY REMOVED

Waterford Co. Council will not implement the dipping levy of one penny imposed on the mountain sheep breeders by this year's sheep dipping regulations.

This decision was taken by the Council at a meeting in Dungarvan on Monday last. Before adopting the motion, which was moved by Col. John Fahy and seconded by Col. John O'Driscoll, the members were informed by the Co. Secretary, Mr. J. G. Dowling, that the Co. Manager had made an order that if the levy was not collected it would be collected through a rate.

Col. Fahy, who termed the three penny unit, said it was not the sheep breeders who had asked to have a Department Inspector present at the dipping and therefore he could not see how they should have to meet the levy which was a contribution towards the Inspector's salary. "The people he said, but when their valuable and very already increased considerable property is fast being their own and the necessary dipping equipment."

It was stated that the Inspector's job was to see that the Department's regulations were observed.

Col. Denis Hoskida said it would be a retrograde step to impose the levy.

Col. O'Driscoll said that the levy was very unfair. These people dipped their sheep four times a year and it would cost some of them up to £12 annually.

GREAT SUCCESS

The great success in which the teaching staff and pupils of the Mercy Convent are held by the people of Dungarvan and surrounding areas was again demonstrated during the past week when their colourful and very entertaining production, "An Olden Bantle Box" played to a large audience at the recent dinner.

The "An Olden Bantle Box" notice went up for the opening performance on Sunday night.

Great credit is due to the producers and the 140 odd members of the cast for the excellent performance of the production indicated very clearly the amount of hard work that had gone on behind the scenes since rehearsals started some months ago.

To one and all we extend sincere congratulations on a "job" well done.

The following gave much valuable assistance to the good Sisters in the preparation of the artistes: Dances—Miss Celine "Penny" T.C.R.G. and Mrs. Hallahan; Elocution—Miss Richards; L.G.S.M., L.L.C.M.

MUNSTER COUNCIL N.A.C.A.

"As far as international recognition of our association goes, the situation is exactly the same as last year, despite all our efforts," said Chief Supt. C. Mc Donagh, President of the N.A.C.A., held in Limerick on Sunday last.

Chief Supt. McDonagh said that the officers of the association were not prepared to yield an inch from the instructions given to it by the Annual Congress with regard to their stand for international recognition. They tried at Stockholm to get a foot in the door but the door was slammed in their faces and they were told that in order to have their due recognition they would have to amalgamate with the I.A.U. On that matter, however, they could not yield.

Chief Supt. McDonagh congratulated the Convention and through it the Munster athletes who, he said, had almost swept the boards this year, despite strong and healthy opposition. Rev. P. Houlihan, C.C. Creeva, President of the Munster Council, having welcomed the delegates from all the Munster counties, said their movement was a truly national one because it gave 100 per cent allegiance to the country and that was something that could not be said of any other organisation of its type.

The association was showing more and more signs of a healthy and vigorous life, if they were to judge by the number of young competitors taking part in the various events. Father Houlihan hoped it would continue to spread and develop. As he understood the question of international recognition would possibly be raised again in the near future. They had to be fully conscious that the stronger they were as a body, the stronger their claim to that recognition. The Rev. President advocated inter-county sports as a stimulus to better standards.

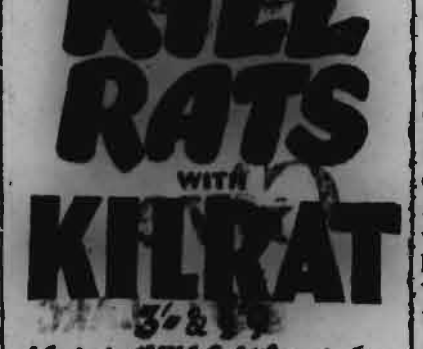

In the course of his report the hon. secretary, Mr. M. Navan, having reviewed the year's events stated that 88 clubs were affiliated in the province—Kerry 24, Cork, 20, Tipperary, 18, Limerick, 13, Clare, 8, and Wexford 5. Though this was not as high as last year, it was well above the average for other years.

The report added that the year was a very bad one for athletics as the weather generally mitigated against attendances, and as a result nearly all the county championships in track and field were run at a loss.

Colourful Waterford Figure Passes on

THE death occurred at his residence, 21 Broad St., Waterford, of Doctor Vincent H. White, P.C., a former member of the B.C. (1929-1932), ex-Mayor of the city (1929-1932) and the doyen of the local medical profession. He was aged 73.

Son of the late Dr. Joseph White, Waterford, he was educated at Clongowes Wood College and took his degrees at the Royal College of Surgeons, Dublin, in 1912. He was house surgeon at the Jervis Street, Holles Street and Coombe Hospitals, Dublin, until 1915 when, on the death of his father, he returned to take over the family practice—his grandfather had also been a doctor in Waterford.

Up to his retirement in 1950 he had been Medical Officer of the Waterford Co. Hospital for over thirty years. He was also surgeon to the Waterford Co. and City Infirmary and consulting surgeon to the Waterford Maternity Hospital.

He was the only dispensary doctor in the city during the influenza epidemic of 1918, and had to answer calls almost round the clock in his one-man efforts to combat the disease among the poor.

Up to his death he had an extensive private practice in the city and adjoining counties.

Dr. White will long be remembered for the courageous part he played in the tempestuous times that marked the early years of his political career. His first entry into politics was in 1916 when he joined the Waterford Branch of the Liberty League—the name changed to Sinn Fein in the following year—founded by Count Plunkett. As a member of the League executive he stood on the platform beside Mr. de Valera when, in the autumn of 1917, the present Taoiseach spoke at a public Sinn Fein meeting which had been proclaimed illegal in the city by the British authorities but was held at Ballinacorney, one and a half miles from Waterford.

EXCITING

In the 1918 Parliamentary by-election, caused by the death of John Redmond, Dr. White as the Sinn Fein candidate, found himself the central figure in one of the most exciting and stormy campaigns ever to take place in the city. His opponent was Capt. W. A. Redmond, son of the dead Irish leader, who was serving with the British forces in the 1914-18 war.

Feeling ran high and in the classes between the partisans physical violence was of frequent occurrence. Shop windows were smashed and an attempt made to set fire to the Sinn Fein election headquarters at Colbeck St. On one occasion Dr. White had to be treated in the local infirmary for a nasty head wound caused by a blow of a stick which he received when driving through the city on a side-car, accompanied by Mr. de Valera and the late Sean Milroy.

The same turbulent scenes were re-enacted later in the same year when Dr. White was again a candidate at a General Election.

For his fees and that of his followers parties of the Irish Volunteers were drafted into the city from several outside centres on both occasions. Both elections were won by Capt. Redmond.

Dr. White had his first major political success when at the Waterford Municipal Election in January, 1920, the Sinn Fein candidates entered the City Council with a majority and he was elected Mayor.

"REMOVE THE BAUBLE"

Following the murder of Thomas McCurtain, Lord Mayor of Cork, he received a threatening notice and he never afterwards went in public unarmad. He was elected to the Dail in 1920 and shortly afterwards he successfully directed a gun-running operation in the River Suir, when arms arrived from Germany on the steamer. Dr. White had not taken an active part in politics for some years. He was a Vice-President of the Waterford Branch of the Gaelic League.

He was unmarried and was brother of Mr. Joseph White, Tramcar; Mr. David P. White, M.R.C.V.S., Canada, retired chief veterinary officer in Malaya; Mrs. Elizabeth Ross, wife of Mr. G. S. Ross, retired bank manager, Durt; Miss Rita White, Waterford and Miss Rose White, Tramcar.

He was uncle of Mr. Donal Ross, Munster and Leinster Bank, Currick-on-Suir.

APPROACH ROADS FOR NEW YOUGHAL BRIDGE

The question of Youghal Bridge was again raised at Monday's meeting of the Cork Co. Council, when Senator L. Ahearne asked that the Minister be asked to sanction so that work on the approach roads to the proposed new bridge could begin without further delay.

Mr. J. Metherway also urged similar action.

The Acting County Secretary, Mr. C. Walsh, said that the necessary plans had been submitted to the Department two weeks ago and he had since been in telephonic communication with the Department, when he had been told that as soon as information was available it would be notified to the Council.

The County Engineer, Mr. P. J. Malone, said that plans had been submitted to the Department a long time ago. Certain discussions had taken place in the engineering section of the Department and as a result of agreement, final plans were then submitted.

"We are all geared up," he added, "to start and as soon as we get word from the Department we will move in. You can be sure of that. It is only a matter of days, I think, before we get that."

The County Manager, Mr. E. Callanan said that the building of the bridge had been advertised on the third week in January the Council would open the tenders and then pass them on to the engineering department. There was no delay in the matter of the approach roads, either on the part of the Council or its engineers.

The words "Dunrecht na h-Eireann" (Constitution of Ireland) appear across the bottom of the stamp between the figures representing the denomination.

DEPUTY KYNE IN THE DAIL

I desire to place on record the views of the Labour Party on this motion, as we see it the facts are these, that 5/9 levy per barrel on wheat was deliberately placed there so as to subsidise surplus wheat for export this year. At the same time the levy was being placed and when the sanction of the Dail was being sought, I well remember the Taoiseach stating that perhaps in future years a system for quotas for wheat could be established but for this year the immediate job was to finance the sale of surplus wheat on the foreign market.

It is pretty clear then, and certainly not denied by the Minister, that there will not be a surplus this year. I was awaiting the Minister's long sought speech to find out whether he denied that claim of Fine Gael that there would be no surplus. If that is so, to continue the levy in my view and the view of my party, is to take money dishonestly from the farming people.

Any one who gets a right to levy for a specific purpose and who uses that right in another way, is deliberately taking to himself a right in a wrong manner. It is tantamount to reducing the price of wheat to the farming people and also not passing on that reduction to the consumer in this country. It is because of that that I and the other members of the Labour Party propose to vote for this motion.

Kilmacthomas, Kilrossanty and Stradbally Notes

Right Now, as the cities and towns of the shamrock-studded isle are confronting the closing days of the Christmas rush, and all shopping centres (big and small alike) are geared up for the same, the neat little town of Kilmacthomas is well worth visiting for the festive requirements between now and "closing time" on Christmas Eve. The place has plenty to offer; prices are keenly-keen and—well, who could ask for more in Mahon Valley?

'Why' Winner Sure the Effort Would Pay Off — From a copy of "N.Y. Journal-American" recently received is taken the following information under above heading which will be of particular interest to Mid-Waterfordians generally: — "Crew-cut, freckle-faced Christopher Moroney, (7), of Jacobus Pl., in upper Manhattan, was certain all the effort would pay off some day.

"My brother, Jackie, who is 12 and I have been entering N.Y. Journal-American contests for 2 years", the smiling youngster said.

"To-day, Christopher won a Britannica Junior 15-volume Encyclopedia for school and home use for submitting the winning question in the Journal-American's 'Tell Me Why' feature, found on the first comic page.

"His question was: 'What is Fire?'"

"I am interested in everything scientific", Christopher said. "My brother and I clip all the history and science features and the contests and use them in our school work."

"Why", he said, "Jackie got a perfect grade on his composition about Pope Pius XII at school, and I got all his information out of the Journal-American."

"The two boys produced their 'files' which consisted of 300 clippings each of 'Tell Me Why', 'Your America', 'Daily Quiz', and 'Brain Game'.

"Christopher's second grade teacher at St. John's School in Kingsbridge, Mother Mary the Edcharist, reported that the youngster is a home (American - Ed. D.O.) pup."

"The Journal-American is the boys' Bible", said the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Moroney.

"When I got to the paper it already had been clipped out", said Moroney, a Silver Star and Bronze Star veteran of World War II.

"While Christopher already has made up his mind to pursue a scientific career, brother Jackie, an eight grade pupil, is determined to be a newspaper reporter.

"We're very proud of our boys", said Mr. and Mrs. Moroney."

By the way, brany Masters Chris and Jackie Moroney's parish of Kilrossanty and Fews, Kilmacthomas, is a brother of Mr. Neil Moroney, Curabaha Week, (a prominent and popular member of the local dancing fraternity), Mr. John Moroney, England (the famous 'Mabe' Moroney, a star Kilmacthomas footballer of no so many moons ago), and Mrs. Whitty, wife of Mr. James Whitty, New York (who shone on his natal Kilrea, then that vexed the Co. Junior Hurling Championship title in 1920).

And Masters Chris and Jackie Moroney are also nephews of Mrs. Nellie Thompson, Old Road, Kilmacthomas.

Here's heartily wishing continuing increasing success to the school-going brothers.

In 'Sunday Independent' Crossword No. 1111 — Twenty-eight competitors (including Mr. John Walsh, Upper Road, Kilmacthomas), who submitted entries which differed at one point only from the adjudicator's decision, divided the £150 on offer for entries sent in order of merit, each receiving £5-7-2.

Hearsting To Hear that well and popularly known Mr. John Walsh, Upper Road, Kilmacthomas, B.Sc., son of Mr. Eddie Cunningham, Farmer, Ballyturn, Kilmacthomas, and Mrs. Cunningham, S.T., Fews National School, do, is now attached to the instructional staff of the Department of Agriculture at Ballyhaise Agricultural College, Co. Cavan. He received his early education at Fews N.S., and subsequently was a pupil at St. Agastine's College, Dungarvan, where he secured a County Council Scholarship for his University College Dublin, and was also an exponent of the Gaelic will to the Eric on the Kilrossanty Club's first string during recent years.

Incidentally, friend Colin is a first cousin of Mr. Dermot O'Connell, a former athletic student and outstanding athlete of Cnoc Sion Schools, Waterford, who now occupies a position in the Mid-Waterford service at the Ballyhaise (Co. Mayo) Obstacles and whose parental home is in the Sicir-veined city, Doyle Street.

O.A.P. MEETING

A meeting of the Oughal No. 2 (Rural) O.A.P. Committee was held at Clashmore, on Saturday night last. Mr. R. J. Russell (Chairman) presided and the other members present were Mr. J. Cass, K. Coughlin, P.C.; C. Curran, M.C.C.; P. Fitzgerald, E. Beresford, M. Troy, and Miss E. McGrath (Clerk).

Members expressed dissatisfaction that the investigation Officer, who had been requested to attend the meeting, had failed to do so.

It was decided to ask the Department of the Officer on question was obtained to attend meetings of the Committee when required.

Two adjourned claims were put before the meeting and a grant of £100 was granted in each case. The investigation Officer had recommended that 15% be granted to each applicant.

from Co. Down, Mr. James Ditty of Newtownards. This award, the said, emphasised the National nature of the competition.

Mr. A. O. Hutchison, reviewing the samples from which the National prizewinners had been selected, commented that there was a good deal of combine damage. It was necessary to be fully careful about the drums which were used to open them as much as possible. He had heard of a new type of drum which had been produced and sounded like a worthwhile investment.

Mr. Hutchison said there was a certain amount of prejudice against barley with awns on it. He would rather buy barley with awns on it than barley that had been clipped, or otherwise damaged by the combine.

"I was not impressed with the samples I saw, having regard to the circumstances," concluded Mr. Hutchison, "and I do hope you will have a very good summer next year and will get just the barley your maltsters require."

GALWAY MAN WINS BARLEY COMPETITION

Mr. Patrick Glynn of Aughinish, Kinvara, won the National Challenge Cup in the Guinness Barley Competition, with a Proctor sample. The buyers concerned were Messrs. T. C. Spelman and Co. Ltd., Gort, and Mr. Jack Spelman received the cup on behalf of Mr. Glynn.

Presentation of the awards took place at a ceremony in the Rupert Guinness Hall (on Thursday 11th instant). Forty-five winners of area awards were entertained at the brewery, St. James's Gate, where the judging in the finals was undertaken by Mr. A. O. Hutchison of Kilmacally, Scotland; Sir Richard Levinge, Asst. Managing Director of Guinness, and Mr. Richard Mahon, retired head of the Guinness laboratories. Apart from the award already mentioned, Mrs. A. O. Hutchison presented prizes to the following:

Beerna Section: 1st - John O'Rourke, Knockbeg, Co. Carlow (Buyers, Joshua Watson & Co. Ltd., Carlow); 2nd - Timothy Egger, Tawlaught, Tralee (Letchford & Sons Ltd., Tralee); 3rd - (two Carlowers) - James Ditty, Newtownards, Co. Down (Ard Malting Co. Ltd., Belfast).

Proctor Section: 2nd - Peter Ereen, Liscalin, Borris (Minch Norton & Co. Dublin, Ballygrangus); 3rd - George Dennison, Borrisokane (F.A. Waller & Co. Ltd., Banagher).

Large-Scale Experimental Plots: F. Byrne, Ballygrangus, Kilmore, Co. Wexford (Proctor Barley).

Sir Richard Levinge said this was the 11th year of the competition and it was a great pleasure to welcome the growers who had won the area competitions and barley-buysers. Good porter and stout could not be produced without good raw materials, above all good barley, that the growers were considerable contributors to the Guinness brewing industry.

"You know as well as I do, it is not better," continued Sir Richard "that we really do have a disastrous year. Without sunshine you cannot have a good barley crop. Yields were disappointingly low and because of the poor weather conditions the quality of the barley was disappointingly bad also. It was no fault of yours, and no fault of ours. Let us hope only that none of us will ever see such a summer again."

In judging the barley, he added he had been pleasantly surprised to see such nice quality stuff, all things considered. This year, however, Guinness has had to do something they did not like to do, which was to import barley to make up for the shortage of good quality home-grown material.

This year, the competition had been divided into two sections one for the Beerna variety and the other for Proctor, which was now being grown in increasing quantity. The two varieties were so different that it was really impossible to judge one against the other. Beerna was rather ugly-looking barley, but very often its quality was better than its appearance; it had an ugly exterior but a good heart. Proctor was good-looking barley but might not be so in the inside. Separate competitions were therefore necessary, but there was also a National Competition for the best barley, irrespective of variety. There was also a special competition for those growers who grew experimental varieties in large-scale plots. They were in an unfortunate position, in that they must grow the varieties that Guinness wanted them to grow. Sometimes these experimental varieties would be better than others that would have been grown. Sometimes they were not so good.

Mr. G. P. Jackson, Brewer in charge of malt, then announced the prizewinners, and made specific mention of the winner

Late Mrs. Mary Hackett

Coolcorrack, Dungarvan
It is with genuinely deep regret that we record the death of Mrs. Mary Hackett, of Coolcorrack, Dungarvan, which occurred in St. Patrick's Hospital, Waterford, on Thursday of last week.

The deceased lady, who was of a quiet and inoffensive disposition, was a general favourite, evoking the respect and esteem of all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. To her immediate family and a wide circle of relatives, friends and neighbours, her passing, though in the fullness of years and after a rather long illness, came as a painful shock.

The remains, which were conveyed from Waterford on Friday evening, were blessed and received at Modeligo Church by Very Rev. Fr. Hally, P.P., and on the following morning, after the celebration of Requiem Masses, the burial took place in the adjoining cemetery. Very Rev. Fr. Hally, P.P., and Rev. Fr. Cunningham, C.C., officiated. The chief mourners, to whom deepest sympathy is extended, were: James Hackett (husband), Mrs. Peggy Cotter and Miss Ann Hackett (daughters), Mrs. Casey (sister), Gerry Cotter (son-in-law), Michael Casey (brother-in-law), grand-children, etc.

Christmas Candle

The practice of putting a lighted candle in the window on Christmas Eve may in Ireland be traced back with some certainty to the Penal Times, when Mass might be celebrated in an isolated cottage and the candle acted as a guide for priest and people alike. The association of light with Christmas, however, goes back to the very first Christmas, and the theme of the "New Light" which has come to illumine the world is prominent in the liturgy of the day and in devotional Irish songs and poems.

The Crib, too, has from its beginning been associated with lights, as has the Midnight Mass and the other Masses specially permitted on Christmas Day. These originated in Rome in the early days of Christianity and were the occasion for much pageantry as the Pope went in procession through the city from the Church of Santa Maria Maggiore, where he said the night Mass, to the Church of St. Anastasia and St. Peter's, where two further Masses were celebrated. The origins and development of such Christmas customs as these are among those dealt with by Priests O'Connell in his feature, "Cineál Lasta," which will be broadcast on Christmas Eve at 7.45 p.m. on Radio Eiréann.

Visited Mallow

Thirty five rural teenagers—18 girls and 17 boys—who form the progressive Junior Young Farmers' club, Maera na Tuath, at Ballinacree, combined the business of education with the pleasure of a day out, when they visited Mallow Sugar Beet Factory on Saturday. The educational outing arose from a visit by Dr. Tadg Twomey, Manager, Mallow Factory, to Ballinacree to present prizes to 110 choques to Patsy Cashman, first choice and Patrick O'Keefe who had the best beet yields in last year's junior young farmers' beet-growing competition. He invited the prizewinners to visit the factory—and the whole club decided to accompany them. Under the direction of Club Leader, Mr. Donal Whelan, Rural Science Instructor, Cappoquin, the group inspected the factory, had lunch in the canteen as guests of the management and following tea at the Hibernian Hotel, Mallow, returned to Ballinacree after a full twelve hours' pleasant outing.

L.C.A. (Town Association).

The December meeting of the T.A., on Tuesday night, was well attended in spite of it being a busy time for everyone.

'Christmas' was the theme, and Miss K. O'Brien gave a very descriptive and interesting talk on Sweden, with emphasis on Christmas festivities there. Her talk was preceded by a short film of their traditional Christmas morning and much was learned too, of their democratic way of life which prompted many questions. Mr. P. I. Power (assisted by Mr. T. Fleming and T. Power) showed the film, and also two of his own of the 1958 Dublin Horse Show and Dungarvan Show, both very colourful and interesting.

Each person's idea of a present from Santa Claus proved very entertaining.

The raffle money (for Mrs. W. Fitzgerald's prize) was donated to the Society of St. Vincent de Paul.

The meeting ended with everyone singing "Silent Night" by Christmas candle and fire light.

A meeting to make arrangements for the Federation Rally in Dungarvan, will be held on Tuesday (6th) January; all are requested to attend.

A wife gave her doubting husband a piece of Lucky Cork for his birthday and two weeks after he won £1500. A mother sent each of her sons a piece and one of them won £4003 in a sweepstake. DEATH OF MR. T. BARRON

The death of Mr. Thomas Barron, Knockalara, which occurred at his home on 11th inst., has caused widespread regret. He was a well known and popular figure known for his good neighbourly qualities. There was a large attendance at the removal of the remains to Ballinacree Church and at the burial which took place in Kilgobnet, on Saturday.

RECORD '45 DRIVE

The 45 Drive in aid of I.R.A. Memorial (Cappoquin), the final of which were played in the Boat House, on Sunday night December 14th, was an outstanding success. It has been conceded on all sides that it was the biggest ever held in Cappoquin and reflects great credit on the organising committee. Players attended from all over West Waterford, East Cork, and South Tipperary. The hall was especially heated for the night while tea and minerals were served in the supper room by a ladies committee and were much appreciated by those attending especially as it is not usual to have a way at 45 Drives throughout the area. The winning pair were Messrs. Billy O'Donoghue, Knockaun and D. J. Murray, Ballintaylor; runners-up were Messrs. J. Baldwin, Moneyree, James Whelan, do., J. Ducey, Modeligo, and Michael Murray, Tourin. A special word of thanks is due to Mr. Patrick Walk, Killebeg, who performed his arduous duties during the night in his usual efficient manner and to Mr. Denis Montague, M.C.C., Knockanore, who looked after the clerical side of the work. Mr. P. Cunningham (R.I.P.) who met with such a tragic death during the year and who had helped with the 45 Drives for some years past was sadly missed on this occasion.

GONE TO MOSCOW

A Cappoquin man, Noel Colender, is having the unusual and interesting experience of a visit to Moscow. He works as a servicing engineer with B.O.A.C. and left England on Friday, with the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre Company, who are appearing in Moscow. During the company's stay in Russia, he will look after the plane in which they are travelling. A former member of the Irish Air Force, Noel will wear, while in Russia, a weather suit of the type used by Dr. Vivian Fuch's party during their Polar trip.
