One never knows what to expect from these football representatives. They are as likely to be brilliant as mediocre, so one cannot take past form as a guide to Sunday's test.

Not that the Nore-sideers are any great shakes in the football world. At least, however, on home soil they are always difficult to best.

And right now nothing would be more welcome than a Waterford victory on a football field.

Work on the construction of the new bridge is now well advanced. Big numbers of sightseers visit the site daily to see the progress of the work.

At a recent meeting of Waterford Co. Council the question of providing a boat winch for Armora was discussed.

HAVE USED THE BROOM... The selectors have used the broom in no uncertain fashion for Sunday's game.

Freddie O'Brien's top notch displays with his club have at last been noticed by the selectors.

In the past Waterford's troubles have stemmed from the inability of shot-shy forwards to score and the chosen six for Sunday can at this stage be only taken on trust.

The Kill hills of Monty Gurry, Martin Kennedy and Tom McGrath have worked up a perfect understanding in their club games.

Justin Spratt... Coughlan and Tommy Kirwan, and they are replaced by Tom Moloney, Eddie Mooney, Freddie O'Brien, Tom Walsh, Mick Whyte and Mick Gallagher.

Tommy Power... Sunday's selected side will hardly meet with unanimous approval, as it contains a few surprise choices.

As we go to Press we learn that Tom Cunningham has cried off the Waterford team to meet Kilkenny in the National Football League on Sunday.

There the whole party opened fire. Bernie Power and Liam Fitzgerald supplied the music for half-time and old-time waltzes.

Mr. Joe Conway presents the Conway Memorial Trophy to Freddie O'Brien, the Mount Sion captain, in the presence of Mr. P. Fainin, County Board Chairman, Mick Healy, the Sion full-back and Sion supporters after Sunday's big game.

Gaelic Jottings

At a special meeting of the Co. Board in Dungarvan on Monday night, the senior hurling replay between Mt. Sion and Prin's Own was fixed for Waterford on October 29th.

When venues were sought for the County's home National League games, Mr. Joe Conway proposed to the Board members to cut out divisional backing and distribute the games fairly.

The home games against Tipperary and Limerick in the national football league will be played at Cappoquin and Lismore respectively.

Whilst this distribution of the games is most satisfactory, a genuine grouse in Dunhill is of great and full has turned their pitch into a Croke Park-like arena.

The non-stop draw, in aid of the Abbeyside Ground Fund, is now in full swing. The village club has taken on a tremendous task in purchasing a new playing field, which will entail heavy expenditure.

The General Meeting of the newly formed, Kilsrossny football club, will be held on Monday night, next, October 23rd, at 8 p.m., at Lismyrtown Service Station.

The first semi-final in the minor hurling tournament run by the Cappoquin Club will be held at the Cornerside venue on Sunday next, when Armora and Cappoquin meet.

The organisers were faced with a real problem with the withdrawal of Abbeyside and Dungarvan, both of whom claimed they were unable to field teams.

The Antares-Cappoquin semi-final, which promises a thrilling spectacle, is timed to start at 3 p.m. and a big attendance is expected.

Now that the excitement (the little there was) has died down, and the time has come to study closer the standards of Waterford football, one will inevitably mention last Sunday's flop final between Mt. Sion and Stradbally, in which Sion captured the first leg of the O'Connell Cup by 2-3 to 1-2.

Disappointing as it may seem before, Mt. Sion's victory was surely rank with the poorest of them. The football was hardly better than a junior standard, and if Sion must take a share of the blame for this anti-climax to our football year.

But though the honours were whittled away and too soon it was finally decided to send our way home. But I'm sure the spectators will never forget the thrill they had trying to clear the house of all its inhabitants.

Whoever club one cares to mention, I doubt if they could equal the spirit and enthusiasm of Kilsrossny. Now that the initial success has been gained, the foundation stone is laid and when the 1962 championship time comes around again, the men in green will prove a tough barrier for the best.

There the whole party opened fire. Bernie Power and Liam Fitzgerald supplied the music for half-time and old-time waltzes.

At the privileged invitation of the club it was fortunate to be present and faithfully to present and faithfully to present.

WET CLOTHES never clutter up MY KITCHEN

I've just bought a wonderful new electric clothes dryer. No need to worry about those rainy days any more. I just pop my wet clothes into the dryer, and in next to no time they're wonderfully dry and aired, too. Quickly dried and gently aired—goodness, I don't know myself. What a change from the old days—rain pouring down outside—and a pile of wet clothes inside. Now I don't care whether it rains or not, because it's always fine in my kitchen.

Look at these big luxury features—

- Rust proofed to guard your clothes
- Two-way switching—high for quick drying and low for gentle airing
- A pilot light to warn you against waste

There is also a slight contest being held in conjunction with the carnival and full results will be given in next week's edition.

FIVE-A-SIDE FOOTBALL
The third round games in the first half of the five-a-side football league was played last Sunday.

In the first game Shanahan's team drew with a much-fancied N. Keating's team. This game proved to be the best of the two and gave the large crowd present plenty to shout about. Almost from the start Shanahan's team went into the attack, and John Sullivan pushed a ball ahead to T. Keating, who ran on to score a great goal. N. Keating's team attacked strongly after this and during this period only the excellent goal-keeping of Paddy Pollard kept them at bay. Then Michael McGrath, who had a great game at centre-forward for N. Keating's team, ran onto a pass, and drew Shanahan, before placing Keating, who tapped it into an empty net. After half-time the scores still level, a goal-mouth scramble resulted in the ball going over the goal line to give Keating's team the lead. Play swung from end to end and both goals had narrow escapes, and with time running out, it looked like Keating's team holding out. Then it happened: a great pass from David McGrath, who had a great game, to an inside colleague was followed by a goal-mouth scramble between Flynn and Sullivan's goalie Cotter, the former received a nasty knock and had to go into goal. After that it was all one-way traffic, with T. Sullivan dominating the game.

In the second game T. Sullivan's team had a very easy win over W. Flynn's side. From the kick-off T. Sullivan went through his men to a goal-mouth scramble, which resulted in a goal. Following this a collision between Flynn and Sullivan's goalie Cotter, the former received a nasty knock and had to go into goal. After that it was all one-way traffic, with T. Sullivan dominating the game.

With the half-way stage now in view, only one more game to be played, the league table stands as follows—

TOURANEENA LABOUR BRANCH MEETING
At a labour meeting (Touraneena Branch), held on Saturday night last, it was decided to run a 45 drive at Touraneena on Sunday night, December 10th, in aid of branch funds. For further particulars see advertisement in next week's issue.

TOURANEENA LABOUR BRANCH MEETING
Heartiest congratulations were recorded by the members to Deputy Tom Kyne on his splendid victory at the general elections.

WATERFORD'S ANSWER TO PARTITION
A unique feature of the recent general election is that as a result of the partitioning of this county (under the electoral amendment act) we now have two labour deputies for Waterford—Mr. Tom Kyne and Mr. Sean Treacy—one for each side of the border. The fact that both deputies topped the poll in their respective constituencies is a singular achievement for labour and is proof of the utter confidence reposed in them by the people of Waterford and Tipperary.

National Monuments' Committee Thanked

Mr. Maurice Moore, Santa Barbara, California, great-grandson of President John Moore, first President of the Republic of Connaught, has written recently to Mr. Nicholas Whittle, Traamore, Chairman, National Monuments Advisory Committee to Waterford County Council, as follows—

Dear Mr. Whittle, I am writing this letter to thank you for your kindness and courtesy to us, on the occasion of our recent visit to Waterford, and to ask you to read to the members of the National Monuments Advisory Committee this short appreciation of myself and family. Now that the interment ceremonies relative to John Moore have been completed it is my wish to express gratitude to the members of your Committee, on whom the bulk of the organisation and work must have fallen.

I regret very deeply that I was unable, due to ill-health, to attend the Waterford ceremonies, but from what the Mayo Committee men witnessed in Waterford, I was assured it was nothing less than a mass demonstration which impressed them greatly as also did the excellency of the organisation which functioned so perfectly. I do not know what truth there is in the theory of Sennedens after death, but if there is anything, then surely at Waterford, in the great hall, and clear across to Green Isle to the very bones of Silve Mullah, where he last tragic act of the drama came to pass, there must have been a great light amongst the dead, for they would have known that he hours paid to their comrades were a tribute, not to him alone, but to every poor fellow who took part in the '88 rising.

It is good in these days of materialism and the rush and bustle of everyday life, to know that in one small spot there is time to pause and to honour to a dream, and it is this capacity that makes this little island great.

NOTE: The above mentioned Maurice Moore is son of Col. Maurice Moore, one of the founders of the Irish Volunteers in 1913.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR
Editor: "Dungarvan Observer"
Dear Sir,
It is a matter of much concern among building and football fans as to how some people who have never played the game, or are not members of any club, manage to get the reserved seats inside the railings at the Gaelic Field, Dungarvan. At the football final on Sunday there were many inside who had no connection with either team. A spectator near me said they had favoured because they had been hard at the recent elections.

Yours Faithfully
"TWO BOB"

TOURANEENA LATE MR. JOHN O'MAHONEY

CONGRESS VILLAS, DUNGARVAN
The death took place at St. Joseph's Hospital, Dungarvan, on Sunday, 15th October, after an illness of some duration, of Mr. John O'Mahoney, Congress Villas. He was a great favourite in the locality, and was a native of the Kilmac-thomas area. He was always ready to give that helping hand to those in need and his sound advice was always welcome. Much and very deep sympathy is extended to his wife and his large family.

The remains were removed on Monday evening to St. Mary's Parish Church, Dungarvan, followed by a very large and impressive cortege, and were received and blessed by Rev. Fr. P. Farrell, C.C. Requiem Mass was celebrated on Tuesday morning for the happy repose of his soul, and the interment took place in the adjoining family plot. Another large concourse were present to kneel and pray for his eternal repose. Rev. Fr. P. Farrell, C.C., imparted the final Absolution and recited the prayers for the dead.

(Funeral arrangements by J. Kiely and Sons, Dungarvan.)

LATE MR. DECLAN DWYER
O'CONNELL STREET, DUNGARVAN

We deeply regret to chronicle the death of Declan Dwyer, late of O'Connell St., which occurred in the early hours of Saturday morning, October 14th, at the District Hospital, Dungarvan, after an illness of some duration. His death leaves a vacancy very hard to replace. He was a member of a very old Dungarvan family and was a great favourite in the Old Borough where he was better known. He was attached to the sea most of his life before his retirement. Much sympathy is extended to his wife and also to his brother James, Dr. Caseyville, and to his large circle of nephews and nieces.

The remains were removed on Saturday evening to St. Mary's Parish Church, Dungarvan, followed by a very large and impressive cortege, and blessed and received by Rev. Fr. J. Murphy, C.C. Requiem Mass was celebrated on Sunday morning for the eternal repose of his soul, and the interment took place in the adjoining cemetery. Another large concourse were present to pay their respects and to pray for their departed neighbour and kind friend, Rev. Fr. P. Farrell, C.C., officiated at the graveside.

A very large amount of spiritual tributes were received by his relatives.

(Undertaking by James Kiely and Sons, Dungarvan.)

CAPPOQUIN NOTES
general meeting on Tuesday, 14th November.

ROWING
In the current issue of the English magazine "Rowing" mention is made of the visit of the Cappoquin crew (nominated to represent Ireland at the Serpentine Regatta) to London. The writer said: "The Cappoquin crew, which had recorded wins in Ireland in junior class was as fast as any of the junior eights seen on the Serpentine."

MACRA NA FEIRME
The dance, held by the local branch of Macra na Feirme on Sunday night was an outstanding success. The musical programme by Claran Mac-Namara's Orchestra was the highlight of the very enjoyable occasion. Congratulations to the organising committee and to the group of ladies who took charge of the catering arrangements.

MUINTIR NA TIRE
At the monthly meeting of the parish council of Muintir na Tíre, at which Mr. J. Murphy presided, considerable time was spent in discussing a proposal that, with a view to attracting visitors to the town and district, a brochure be prepared setting out the attractions and amenities of the locality. This to be circulated amongst tourist, sporting and other organisations. Copies of brochures published in other parts were on display. It was decided to prepare material for the brochure and to discuss advertisements from proprietors of hotels, guest-houses, etc. Mr. P. O'Flannagan made an appeal for the assistance of the members in the collection of local folklore, history, etc. and this had a generous response. It was decided to hold the annual

NATIONAL WHOLEMEAL BREAD-BAKING COMPETITION
Over 3,400 entries from all of the Twenty-six Counties have been received to date for the National Wholemeal Bread-baking Competition organised by the E.S.B. in co-operation with the National Ploughing Association.

Cork, with 430 entries, is the leading County; Kerry, which this year will be host county to the national finals, comes next with 211 entries; Wexford, with 210 entries, is in third place.

All the county finals will have taken place at technical school centres throughout the country by the end of the present month. The winners from each county will compete for the overall awards in the national finals at Killarney on November 8th and 9th next, at which senior and junior national bread-baking champions will be picked.

The competition is divided into two sections—senior and junior. Of the total of 3,431 entries received to date, 2,504 have come from junior competitors.

Over 100 prizes, representing a total value of up to £1,000, will be awarded in both sections. These include electric cookers, baking ovens, spin-driers, radios, and cash awards. The overall winner of the senior competition will receive the E.S.B. Silver Trophy—the Nations' Award—and a cash prize of £50, presented by the National Ploughing Association, together with a deluxe electric cooker.

Among interests co-operating with the organisers are the Technical Instruction Branch of the Department of Education; the County Vocational Education Committee; the Irish Countrywomen's Association; Macra na Tuath, and the Irish Flour Millers' Association.

The winners from each county will compete for the overall awards in the national finals at Killarney on November 8th and 9th next, at which senior and junior national bread-baking champions will be picked.

The competition is divided into two sections—senior and junior. Of the total of 3,431 entries received to date, 2,504 have come from junior competitors.

Over 100 prizes, representing a total value of up to £1,000, will be awarded in both sections. These include electric cookers, baking ovens, spin-driers, radios, and cash awards. The overall winner of the senior competition will receive the E.S.B. Silver Trophy—the Nations' Award—and a cash prize of £50, presented by the National Ploughing Association, together with a deluxe electric cooker.

Among interests co-operating with the organisers are the Technical Instruction Branch of the Department of Education; the County Vocational Education Committee; the Irish Countrywomen's Association; Macra na Tuath, and the Irish Flour Millers' Association.

Kilmacthomas News

Sponsored by Kilmacthomas Football Club was the well-attended and pronouncedly pleasurable cell held in the admirably appointed Rainbow Hall, Kilmacthomas, on Sunday night last. From 8 o'clock when the affair was set in motion, the gay-hearted get-together gained five full hours of unconfined joy, moving nimbly and elegantly to the lively strains of the traditional accompaniments delightfully discoursed by Tramore Ceili Showband. During an interval in the function, medals won by the Club some time ago were presented amidst great enthusiasm. At 1 o'clock a.m. the forecast capital combination of instrumentalists brought the eclectic proceedings to an appropriate close with an exhilarating rendition of the National Anthem, Kilrossanty Abul.

At The Special Meeting of Ballyaneen Cumann, Fishers Fall, held on Saturday night of last week, it was announced that the subscription collected by supporters in the Cumann area at the collection taken up in aid of the General Election fund amounted to £7-15-0, and that every subscriber will, in due course, receive an official receipt for the contribution he (or she) gave. The collectors were Messrs. J. Condon, T. Lannon, W. Galvin, Sean Keating and M. Kieley, and all concerned were warmly thanked on the appreciable result of the undertaking. The meeting congratulated Mr. Sean O'Riada, T.D., on his having retained his seat in the Dail Eireann.

Son of Mrs. B. Landy, Kilmacthomas, and the late Mr. T. Landy, do. is Mr. William Landy, who occupies a good position in the lists of 'Whig'—to where he has just returned after spending a pleasant holiday at this side, accompanied by his wife and their family of three children. Good luck to them.

The Death Took Place Recently after a brief illness of Dr. Jerome Twigg at Kilmacthomas, Co. Kerry, where he was in practice. Belonging by birth to Ballyvourney, Co. Cork, he was aged 31 years and had acted as temporary medical officer of the Kilmacthomas/Stradbally/Leamyriben Dispensary District for a short time not so very long since.

These was an extremely large and representative attendance at the funeral, which took place from Ballyvourney Parish Church to St. Gobnait's Cemetery, Ballyvourney. Rev. C. Twigg, St. Colman's College, Fermoy (brother of deceased), gave the closing oration at the graveside, and other priests in the number of 30 present included another brother and an uncle of the dear departed young gentleman.

The great mourners were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Twigg (parents); Rev. C. Twigg S.J. (brother); Rev. M. Twigg, C.C. Tullybeg (brother); Mrs. D. O'Leary, Dr. Nana Cantrell (sisters); Dr. D. L. O'Leary, Dr. Kevin Cantrell (brothers-in-law); Very Rev. M. Twigg, F.P., Mouragbeg; and Messrs. Jim Twigg, Young, Edward Twigg, Cook; Bill Twigg, Carriganna, and Patrick Twigg, Carriganna.

In the New Dail Deputy Kyne Focusses Attention on . . .

Medical Cards and Licensing Laws

Mr. KYNE—I would scarcely have intervened were it not for a misconception by Deputy Michael O'Higgins as to the Labour Party's attitude to the proposed Cabinet. Of course the Labour Party realise it is the Taoiseach's right to put his Cabinet before the House for approval. Nomination of his Cabinet is entirely the Taoiseach's responsibility. We do not propose to vote against the Taoiseach's Cabinet; neither do we propose to vote for it. We do not propose to vote at all, and by not voting, we do not say whether we approve or disapprove. We all have our personal views about the personnel of the Cabinet.

I feel that there was much good in the Health Act of 1953. In fact I do not see very much wrong with it. I would appeal to the Taoiseach to extend its provisions so as to increase the number of people eligible to receive medical cards. Our experience in rural constituencies has been that the means test has been applied too rigorously and that it accordingly deprives deserving people of benefits. I would therefore urge upon the Taoiseach and the Minister for Health to re-examine the position to see if it is possible to find some means of relaxing the means test.

Deputy P. J. Burke seems to have the wrong end of the stick. Nobody is complaining about the maintenance charges the patients staying in hospitals. Personal representations to hospital managements and to Local Authorities will ensure that nobody is wrongly charged. However the working man, who does not get a medical card, not only has to pay 15/- or 2/- per visit to a doctor but he may pay some, varying from one shilling to 10/-, for prescriptions. Should the illness in the family be prolonged for any length of time, it becomes a very serious burden on working class people. Now that Fine Gael have followed the Labour Party in regard to its proposed contributory health scheme and the two parties being representative of practically the whole Opposition, I would suggest that the Government and the Minister for Health should review the Health Act.

Mr. Dillon—He will. Do not be uneasy.

Mr. Kyne—Perhaps he will review the whole system and see if a contributory type of insurance could be devised that would at least guarantee to each contributor in the "Social Welfare Fund" a guaranteed medical service under the dispensary doctor system.

NATIONAL WHOLEMEAL BREAD-BAKING COMPETITION

Over 3,400 entries from all of the Twenty-six Counties have been received to date for the National Wholemeal Bread-baking Competition organised by the E.S.B. in co-operation with the National Baking Association.

Cork, with 430 entries, is the leading County; Kerry, which this year will be host county to the national finals, comes next with 211 entries; Westford, with 210 entries, is in third place.

All the county finals will have taken place at technical school centres throughout the country by the end of the present month. The winners from each county will compete for the overall awards in the national finals at Killarney on November 8th and 9th next, at which senior and junior national bread-baking champions will be picked.

The competition is divided into two sections—senior and junior. Of the total of 3,500 entries received to date, 2,500 have come from junior competitors.

Over 100 prizes, representing a total value of up to £1,000, will be awarded in both sections. These include electric cookers, baking ovens, spin-driers, radios and cash awards. The overall winner of the senior competition will receive the E.S.B. Silver Trophy—the National Award—and a cash prize of £50 presented by the National Ploughing Association, together with a deluxe electric cooker.

Meeting

This was finally agreed to and the programme is to be held at a meeting of the Co. Board Finance Committee on Friday night.

LEAGUE VENUES
Before the chairman said that there had been an alteration in the programme of our Hurling League games and that now Leinster would play Waterford at home on Nov. 12th instead of March 1962.

When the hurling League games were being fixed it was agreed, without a vote, that the game would be played at the Co. Park in Dungarvon.

FIXTURES

22nd October - Western League Football final, Valley Road v. Enniscorthy at Dungarvon, 7 p.m.

23rd October - Round Nations Football League, Waterford v. Kilkenny at Kilkenny.

24th October - S.H. Final, Waterford v. Enniscorthy at Valley Road.

25th October - S.H. Final, Waterford v. Enniscorthy at Valley Road.

26th October - S.H. Final, Waterford v. Enniscorthy at Valley Road.

DISPERSED

Because of the severity of the weather it was decided to defer the last item on the agenda for the meeting of the Board which will be held on next Monday night at Dungarvon. This agenda will also include the election of a selection committee in all grades.

N.F.A. NEWS

SERVICES WHEAT POSITION

Representatives of the N.F.A. National Grain Committee met Senior Officials of the Department of Agriculture last week, with regard to the wheat situation.

Reports reaching the N.F.A. indicate that a proportion of the wheat crop still to be harvested shows signs of sprouting and it is forecast that a big percentage of the wheat will be under 54 lbs bushel weight. Under the existing wheat marketing arrangements, wheat weighing under 54 lbs will fetch a price of 45/- per barrel (210 lbs per ton) at 100% moisture delivered to purchasers premises.

A little more than half the wheat harvest has been saved in excellent condition but the recent weather in addition to the storm has badly affected the condition of the wheat that remains to be cut.

The Department of Agriculture is impressed on the Department representatives the seriousness and urgency of the position in so far as wheat growers are concerned and it is hoped that arrangements will be made as soon as possible to deal with the situation.

DR. GREENE ON THE SPEAKER

Speaking at the opening of the Máinín a Fine Week in Roscrea recently, Dr. James Greene, President of the N.F.A., spoke about particularly, but not exclusively, the wheat situation. He said that the N.F.A. is not a political party but a body of farmers and their representatives. He said that the N.F.A. is not a political party but a body of farmers and their representatives.

WORLD AS A WHOLE NEEDS IT

The world as a whole needs it, it is said, and it is not only the world as a whole that needs it, but also the individual farmer. The N.F.A. is not a political party but a body of farmers and their representatives.

Vocational Committee Meeting

When letters from the Urban Council Development Association and Hurling Club were read at the monthly meeting of the County Vocational Committee held in Dungarvon, Coir Charles Curran said that the word "protest" used in one of the letters was a very strong one to use.

The letters were in protest against the increase in the fees for boat-building classes which had been raised from 2s to 27 per pupil.

BUILT UP

Continuing, Mr. Curran stated that the term "idle pace" which had been referred to in the letter, was not intended to make the committee in reference to the matter under discussion. He objected to the publication of a letter which appeared in local papers before the matter had been referred to the committee. This, he said, had been built up to an issue, and he himself had been made part of a "meat campaign."

MAKE THEM TRY

Mr. Curran: Whoever wrote this letter thought to be severe. It was intended to make the people take out their handkerchiefs and start to cry for these poor people.

DEPUTATION

A deputation consisting of Messrs. James Foley and Maurice Kieley appeared before the meeting and stated that the Development Association, the Sea Anglers and the boat building class members felt that the 27 fee would cause the class to cease to exist.

PAY FOR THEMSELVES

They applied, in the interests of the town for a reduction in the class fees, and were prepared to accept a twenty-five per cent increase.

FULFIL THEIR PURPOSE

The Chairman, Ven. Archdeacon Power said that they objected to certain items in the programme of the letters. The committee always strove to fulfil the purpose for which they were there.

TALLOW NEWS

ARCH BALLROOM

A date to remember—Wednesday, 8th November—when the Arch proudly presents to their first booking in the south of "The Big Four," four star musicians, showmen and vocalists (using twelve instruments). This week another of "the big four"—Mike McGee from Derry, Cily on alto, tenor, flute, vocals. Hailed as one of Ireland's outstanding young musicians today, Mike is the arranger for the group U.L.V., S.T.V. and B.B.C. experience. Bands present will include: Gay McIntyre, Jack Barrett, Lankewood Septette and many English bands and groups. His three previous performances have been a real triumph. More about Ireland's latest sensation next week.

WEDDING BELLS

The wedding took place at St. Patrick's Church, Cork, recently, of Mr. Patrick Geary, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Geary, Green Rd., Moorhill, Tallow, and Miss Margaret Cotter, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cotter, Coghane, Blarney, Co. Cork. The ceremony, with Mass and Pagan Blessing, was performed by Rev. Fr. T. Nugent, C.C. Ballinacorney, assisted by Very Rev. Fr. A. O'Keefe, P.F., Grenagh, Co. Cork.

NON-STOP DRAW AT ENOCKANORE

A Non-Stop Draw, in aid of Church Funds, is about to be started in the united parishes of Kilmacurra, Kilmacorney and Glendine. Dr. J. J. O'Connell worked out. Names of subscribers are being taken with a view to estimating the prize fund. Promoters are both solicited this week and subscribers are asked to give in their names to the promoters as soon as possible. The draw is for a very worthy cause, namely, the upkeep of the churches in the united parishes. By subscribing 1/- per week, you also have a chance of winning substantial money prizes each week. The draw will be under the supervision of Rev. Fr. Sean Nugent, C.C. Glendine, and will rotate each week, that is, the draw will take place in Kilmacurra the following week, and in Glendine the week after that.

CHURCHY FILE

Tallow five men were fined on Thursday last in the presence of Mr. D. Daly, District Justice, for breach of the Public Health Act. The men were fined for allowing their premises to be used as a place for the storage of refuse. The men were: Mr. J. J. O'Connell, Mr. J. J. O'Connell, Mr. J. J. O'Connell, Mr. J. J. The wedding took place at St. Patrick's Church, Cork, recently, of Mr. Patrick Geary, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Geary, Green Rd., Moorhill, Tallow, and Miss Margaret Cotter, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cotter, Coghane, Blarney, Co. Cork. The ceremony, with Mass and Pagan Blessing, was performed by Rev. Fr. T. Nugent, C.C. Ballinacorney, assisted by Very Rev. Fr. A. O'Keefe, P.F., Grenagh, Co. Cork.

NON-STOP DRAW AT ENOCKANORE

A Non-Stop Draw, in aid of Church Funds, is about to be started in the united parishes of Kilmacurra, Kilmacorney and Glendine. Dr. J. J. O'Connell worked out. Names of subscribers are being taken with a view to estimating the prize fund. Promoters are both solicited this week and subscribers are asked to give in their names to the promoters as soon as possible. The draw is for a very worthy cause, namely, the upkeep of the churches in the united parishes. By subscribing 1/- per week, you also have a chance of winning substantial money prizes each week. The draw will be under the supervision of Rev. Fr. Sean Nugent, C.C. Glendine, and will rotate each week, that is, the draw will take place in Kilmacurra the following week, and in Glendine the week after that.

CHURCHY FILE

Tallow five men were fined on Thursday last in the presence of Mr. D. Daly, District Justice, for breach of the Public Health Act. The men were fined for allowing their premises to be used as a place for the storage of refuse. The men were: Mr. J. J. O'Connell, Mr. J. J. O'Connell, Mr. J. J. O'Connell, Mr. J. J. Emmetts Can Master The Valleys

As the day approaches in the final of the championship, the Emmetts and the Valleys are expected to be in despondent mood following last Sunday's poor performance, but such has been the impressiveness of Sunday's final in respect of cutting that one needn't be an out and out optimist to expect competition from this junior decider.

Provided the luck of the draw kept them apart, Emmetts and the Rovers were my original fancy to contest the final and now that things have materialised that way we should witness a titanic struggle for the title.

The all-round versatility of the Collihan men has kept them in the Gaelic forefront over the past few years. Their hurling prowess has been rewarded with the highest honours and now are confident of winning the junior title, thus making them an all-senior club next year.

With the early dismissal of the senior hurling championship, the club wanted to win its sights on the big ball crown. The hur-

Since the commencement of the championship their teamwork and general approach has improved out of all recognition and doubtless will look to these factors to carry them through against the more elusive but unappealing Valleys. In goalkeeper Paddy Fitzgerald they have a daring and reliable custodian and full-backs Jim Cliffe, Garry Quinn (back in harness again) and Christy Dwyer can be relied upon to cover him effectively.

But it is the composition of their half-back line that really impresses me. Eddie Brett with flankers Jack Kieley and Sean Condon form the defensive screen that by my reckoning may be the best in the county. Brett has long proved his ability as a defender whilst Condon and Kieley are both richly endowed with football talent.

The duels around mid-field despite proving vital to the outcome, should produce thrills in abundance. Emmetts may rely on a Dick Tobin-Jerry Dwyer partnership (one which proved highly successful against Ring) to pit their strength against Jimmy Hewitt and Walsh.

In a back Colin Bannon is undoubtedly the spear-head from whom I expect the greatest danger to the Rovers hopes to stem. But in Vincent Byrnes, Mickey Walsh, Jimmy Tobin and Paddy Walsh he has prolific scoring colleagues.

In contrast to Emmetts all-round balance, Valleys will bank their hopes on the brilliance of individuals. Needless to say all Derrinlaur, as in the past, will look to inter-county man Jimmy Hewitt to carve the path to victory.

So evenly matched are the sides that forecasting the outcome is a precarious task. However, the stranglehold I expect Emmetts to have on mid-field and half-back may be enough to off-set Jimmy Hewitt and company, and on that presumption or should I say expectancy, I'll go for a narrow Collihan victory.

SIÓN ARE CHAMPIONS Stradbally Fade After Bright Start

MOUNT SION 3-5; STRADBALLY 2-3

To say that last Sunday's senior football final at Dungarvan in which Mount Sion recorded the first leg of their attempted championship double was not disappointing, would be shirking one's duties, which reluctantly in this case is the condemnation of an hour's football that did little to boost the game in the Deise County. This was the grand finale for 1961 but it is doubtful if the game will hold a cherished place in the minds of the huge attendance that witnessed it for very long.

Even the sparse Mount Sion following present could not have derived much pleasure from this uneventful and thrill-less final. The standard of play reached an all-time low that can mean anything but a bright future in the inter-county sphere. Both sides played a completely different brand of football, but, truthfully, neither went remotely near to playing it with even reasonable perfection.

FITCH IN GREAT ORDER

Everything favoured good football on Sunday. The pitch has seldom looked in better trim, and Mr. Weatherman at last saw fit to honour the custom with summer-like elements. But, alas, despite all these advantages, the greatest necessity of all was incessantly missing—quality play. And to this, both victors and vanquished must shoulder an equal share of the blame. Admittedly both contrived to make it a scrupulously clean-fought final, but what a pity the play wasn't on a par with the sportsmanship.

Having waded out the criticism one must however not overlook the fact that Sion's victory was as meritorious as it was decisive. After an early uncertainty that threatened to have them swapped, they settled down to monopolise the exchanges for most of the game. They owned the mid-field area where Mick Flannelly and Freddie O'Brien completely overshadowed their opponents Tom Walsh and Eugene Casey, and with the Stradbally half-backs unable to withstand the additional burden thrown on them they continuously found themselves in advantageous scoring positions.

What the final result might have been had these necessary forwards been supplied with shooting boots I should think, Toss out of number these usually unerring marksmen trifled away golden scoring chances, and their total of twenty-one wider during the hour significantly showed the dearth of scoring material in the sector on Sunday.

And yet, despite Sion's near cut superiority, the Reds weren't without their chances of taking the title. In the opening fifteen minutes Stradbally carved lanes through the winners' defence. After only three minutes Barry placed Jimmy Guiry for a great goal and shortly afterwards Frankie Carroll landed a point.

Four points dear despite facing the stiff breeze was a dream start and so confidently were the Reds playing that they looked a safe bet to prevail. But quite dramatically and with an abruptness that was totally unexpected the game took a sudden turning. Stradbally's dominance waned, their earlier confidence diminished and they were hurled back into desperate defence by a transformed Mount Sion.

Fortunately for them, however, they possessed a full-back line that was as unrelenting as it was brilliant. Gough, Foley and King stood firm in the face of severe pressure and as the half-hour ticked away the back looked like holding on to their narrow lead.

But then it happened. Half a minute before the break Sion were awarded a 21-yard free. Frankie Walsh's low drive was saved but Con Crowley was on hand to force the ball home. Stradbally defenders badly disputed the decision, but the umpire in question, Dec Sullivan, was adamant the ball had crossed the line and during the interval wrote referee Billy Daniels told me he was also in the early stages was nothing short of classical, but they unaccountably faded from the picture as the game progressed. Their selectors also erred gravely in taking off Pat Galvin in the second-half as he was far from being the least conspicuous of their defenders.

Stradbally attacked strongly from the start and Billy Barry missed a 21-yard free after a rewrite. In the third minute came the best score of the game when Barry after splitting Sion's defence placed Jimmy Guiry for a great goal. Three minutes later the same pair executed a good move but a great drive by Guiry skinned the outside post. Straight from the kick-out Barry again gained possession and Frankie Carroll pointed his precision pass.

It took Sion exactly ten minutes to launch their first dangerous attack but Píntan O'Brien was narrowly wide with a drive from the fringe of the square. A Flannelly free was deflected over by a Stradbally defender and after Jim Power had made a wonderful save from Con Crowley, Frankie Walsh and Doc Walsh had Mount Sion points. Seconds from half-time came the game's greatest controversy with Crowley goal to leave Sion leading 1-1 at the break.

Eight minutes after the restart Ken Murphy was fouled going through and Jimmy Guiry pointed the resultant free. Guiry was wide from a similar effort in the 14th minute but six minutes later came Barry's penalty to put the Reds into a 2-2 to 1-3 lead. Stung by this reverse, Sion retaliated and Flannelly pointed. After 23 minutes Martin O'Grady scored from a Freddie O'Brien centre and after Mosaic Casey and Phil Grimes had exchanged points, substitute Mick Gallagher closed the scoring with a last minute goal.

In the winners' defence their all-hurling half-back line of Larry Guinan, Seamus Power and Frankie Walsh was outstanding and goalkeeper Dick Cullen and Mick Healy were also to the fore. Their mid-fielders Freddie O'Brien and Mick Flannelly well and truly monopolised the mid-field exchanges and Martin O'Grady, Philly Grimes, Doc Walsh and Albie Richards all left their mark in attack.

As already stated the Reds played delightful football early on, combining beautifully to notch those quick scores. Had this standard been maintained for the hour I have no doubt the Corway Cup would have remained in the West for another year but that opening-quarter promise was not fulfilled and they faded from the picture as the hour wore on.

HAD QUOTA OF STARS

In defeat however, they still had their quota of star performers. Topping the list I would rate the full-back-line of Dick Gough, Tom Foley and Pat King. The latter in particular looked every inch the complete footballer and his impeccable tackling was a feature of his display. The towering Tom Foley was the essence of soundness at full-back and Gough like King performed splendid feinting feats. Goalkeeper Jim Power also shone bringing off many good saves.

The half-back line of Pat Galvin, Pat Foley and Jim Fenell were over-worked for long periods and though all three made timely interventions on occasions I have often seen the line as a unit performing more effectively. Tom Walsh and Eugene Casey had their bright moments at mid-field but over all could never get the upper-hand of O'Brien and Flannelly.

The Reds cannot be shouldered with much of the blame for defeat. True some good chances were missed, yet the majority of their scores were well taken efforts.

BARRY WEST

Billy Barry was by my reckoning the best of the scorers. He carried out his role of seeing his fellow forwards magnificently but late in the game had to rove too far out of field for the ball to be of any real danger. Ken Murphy, first at full-forward and later at mid-field put in a tremendous amount of successful work and Frankie Carroll, Jimmy Guiry, Mosaic Casey and Jerry Guiry were always probing for weaknesses in the City defence.

Mount Sion—B. Cullenon; T. Morrissey, M. Healy, B. Mulcahy, L. Guinan, S. Power, F. Walsh, F. O'Brien, M. Flannelly, P. Grimes, T. Walsh, P. O'Brien; M. Morrissey, C. Crowley, A. Richard; Sub.—M. Gallagher for Crowley; S. Flavin for Píntan O'Brien.

Stradbally—J. Power; R. Gough, T. Foley, P. King, P. Galvin, P. Power, J. Fenell, B. Casey, T. Walsh, S. Guiry, B. Barry, M. Casey, F. Carroll, K. Murphy, T. Guiry. Sub.—J. Lannon for Galvin.

STRADBALLY: Senior football Championship runners-up, 1961, beaten by Mt. Sion 3-5 to 2-3 in their first senior final since '45
