RETURNED TO THE U.S.

To Knock or not to Knock— ALLEY IN BALANCE

BECAUSE of housing plans of Dungarvan Urban Council, the ball-alley, situated on the proposed new housing site at Cloneety is to be demolished. But there is considerable opposition to having this famous playing court removed and a protest deputation will appear before the Council's monthly meeting to-morrow (Friday) night.

The Urban Council plan a new housing scheme on the Cloneety site and if the ball-alley is removed there will be room for two additional houses. Now the residents in the area are bitterly opposed to any moves that would mean its demolition. A petition has been already signed by over 200 signatories.

Names on the petition include the Chairmen, Secretaries and Treasurers of the county, eastern and western, G.A.A. Boards Mr. Pat Fanning, Chairman of the Munster Council, and Jack Flavin, Waterford and Liam Power, Dungarvan, Chairman and Secretary respectively of the County Handball Board.

The alley was built in 1955 at considerable cost, and since then the Dungarvan hand-ball club spent £90 on the erection of a back wall. It has been the venue for several top-class Munster championship fixtures in recent years, and is regarded as one of the best alleys in the south of Ireland.

When interviewed by an "Observer" reporter, Mr. Liam

Power (Co. Board Handball Secretary) said it was a disgrace to even contemplate knocking the alley.

Mr. Power said: "It is a magnificent hand-ball court, and is of considerable benefit to the town. We also spent £90 on a back-wall for it, and it would be a great pity to demolish it."

What then will be the fate of this hand-ball centre? In the hands of Dungarvan's Urban Councilors rests the decision to knock or not to knock. Tomorrow night's Deputation will of course pour forth countless reasons for its retention. Then it is up to the Councilors to decide.

It is a decision that will be awaited with intense interest by the Dungarvan population.

Her family of 6 boys and 2 girls, all of whom are well and hearty. Mrs. O'Halloran is daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Denis Whelan Gertnaght. Mr. O'Halloran is a Co. Tipperary man.

LATE WILLIAM (BILLY) CONNORS

His many friends learned with deep regret of the death, at a moderately advanced age, of a most estimable and esteemed neighbour, in the person of Mr. William (Billy) Connors, Bonmahon, a leading buyer and exporter and an extensive farmer, who by his unvarying courtesy and unfailing honesty and helpfulness, had gained the goodwill and appreciation of all sections of the whole community.

Followed by a very large and representative cortege the remains were removed to Faha Church on Monday evening. The Office for the Dead and Solemn Requiem High Mass were celebrated for the repose of the departed soul on Wednesday morning, and immediately after the Mass the interment took place in the family burial ground in the adjoining cemetery, in the presence of members of the professions and business interests, and an extremely large representation of the general public.

Sheaves of spiritual bouquets and messages of condolence were received. A man of many parts and a fine mixer, Billy's genial and kindly presence will be missed from many a mart and fair. May his soul find eternal repose in the heavenly abode, and may the sod rest lightly over his mortal remains at the necropolis embraced in his natal townland.

Touraneena News

HISTORY REPEATS

The recent raids and arrests at Dyrick, Ballinamult, recalls other turbulent days around this historic mountainside. It was here that the late Mr. Austin Stack (Keary) and other prominent members of the Republican Army were captured in the great 'comb-out' in April, 1923, by Free State troops under the command of General Prout, who made Ballinamult his headquarters at that time and it was through this area (on the night of April 10th, '23) that Capt. Jack O'Meara, Knockboy, led the party of Executive Officers of the I.R.A. safely through the ring of steel which surrounded them and who, earlier that day had had an engagement with Free State troops at the foot of the Knockmealdowns, near Newcastle, and in the running fight which ensued, General Liam Lynch (Chief of Staff, I.R.A.) was fatally wounded. Others in that engagement were Senator Sean Hayes, Brigade O/C, South Tipperary; Sean O'Meara, O/C, Waterford; Sean Hyde, Cork and the late Senator Bill Quirk.

The author of the 'Big Sycamore' (Joseph Brady) describes Dyrick as 'a lone escarpment on the plain as if it had wandered off from the Knockmealdown range and decided to set up on its own.'

HOLIDAYING

Included in the big influx of holiday-makers from England to the Ballinacarbry district, were: the Misses Nellie Morrissey, Anne Morrissey, Joan Mangan, Dymphna Mangan, Josie Fraher and Mary Coffey; Messrs. Walter Wall, Maurice Croft, Richard Hart, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Halpin.

Lismore Notes

WEEKLY DANCE A GREAT SUCCESS

The weekly athletic club dance, held in the Town Hall, Lismore, on Friday night last proved a great success and was attended by a capacity crowd. The music, which was supplied by Pat O'Brien's band, was top-class. A similar dance will be held on this Friday night.

CREAMERY FOR BALLYSGAGGART?

A question which was raised some years ago, again came into the news last week, when, in the Dail, Mr. M. J. Davern, T.D., asked the Minister for Agriculture if he was aware of the growing demand for an auxiliary creamery at Ballysgaggart, Lismore. In his reply, the Minister said that when this matter was investigated some years ago by the Irish Agricultural Organisation Society, it appeared that arrangements for the cartage of milk from the Ballysgaggart area to existing creameries were very satisfactory and added that it was a matter for the dairy farmers of the area to ask the I.A.O.S. to review the position again.

Now, while we fully agree, as well as the dairy farmers of Ballysgaggart that the cartage service is very good we must also take a look at the heavy charges made on the dairy farmers for the conveyance of their milk to the nearest creamery some miles away. And as farmers all over the country only know too well, this cost can indeed amount to a large sum at the end of the month. And while also thinking of the employment a creamery in Ballysgaggart would give, we hope that the I.A.O.S. will see their way to have a creamery in Ballysgaggart.

POPULAR LOCAL STEWARD LEAVING

It is with sincere feelings of regret we bid farewell to Mr. Patrick Birch, Fortwilliam, Lismore, who, with his wife and family, leaves Lismore on Monday next, to take up residence in Ballinacree, Co. Galway.

Paddy, as he is more popularly known to his countless friends, has been employed by Fortwilliam Estates as dairy and land steward for the past thirteen years, during which time he carried out his duties most efficiently, and his decision to leave Lismore has been received with much disappointment.

To Paddy and his charming and family go our sincerest best wishes for many years of happiness in their new surroundings.

TOURIN GO MARCHING ON

Congratulations to Tourin hurling club on their great display in defeating Affane in the third round of the primary championship, at Cappoquin on Sunday last. On this form they will indeed take a lot of beating in this year's championship. Incidentally, the footballers line out on Sunday next in Dungarvan against Ballinacree, which is also a third round fixture, and with spirits so high at the moment in the Tourin camp, another victory is expected for the wearers of the red and white.

5,500 Tons Capacity Silo . . . 70 Tons per hour intake

Local Creamery's New Venture

TOWERING over the Dungarvan roof-tops is the magnificent new Grain Silo of the local Co-Operative Creamery, which has appeared on the scene with mushroom-like rapidity, and dead on schedule . . . a tribute to Creamery management and builders alike and an indication of things to come from this go-ahead firm.

This new Grain Silo is one of the most up-to-date in the country having a storage capacity of 5,500 tons and an intake rate of 70 tons per hour. Farmers who may wish to cart their own grain by tractor and trailer can rest assured that there will be no hold-up at the point of intake. This high rate of intake will be of considerable benefit to the farmers, as the grain can now be collected immediately after harvesting, thereby eliminating danger of deterioration of grain in bags left lying in fields.

Everyone connected with the project are to be congratulated on their fine achievement, in having the building ready within the stipulated time despite the fact that work was held up for a considerable time in December, January and February due to shocking climatic conditions: the contractors, Messrs. P. J. Hegarty & Sons, Cork; the engineering staff of the I.A.O.S. and the management staff of Dungarvan Co-Op. Creamery Ltd.

LATE VERY REV. F. A. FITZGERALD, P.P.

CENTEREACH, LONG ISLAND, U.S.

It is with feelings of deep regret we record the death of Very Rev. Francis A. Fitzgerald, P.P., Centereach, Long Island, New York, which occurred unexpectedly at a Waterford City hospital on Friday morning.

The late Fr. Fitzgerald was a native of Glen Upper, Cappagh and was holidaying at the home of his brother, John, Bayview, Dungarvan.

He had been only briefly ill and his death in his 64th year has come as a great shock to this likeable and popular pastor.

His remains were removed to Modeligo Parish Church on Saturday evening and were received by Very Rev. Fr. Hally, P.P., assisted by Rev. Fr. Daly C.C. and other clergy.

High Mass was celebrated for the happy repose of his soul on Monday morning by Very Rev. Fr. Hally, P.P. and a large choir of overseas and local clergy were present.

The interment took place immediately afterwards in the adjoining cemetery in the presence of a large and representative gathering.

Very Rev. Fr. Hally again officiated at the graveside and the coffin was placed in its moss-lined flower-studded grave.

Deep sympathy is extended to his brother Jack, Bayview; sisters Mrs. Margaret Sweeney, Carriganna, Stradbally; Miss Bridie Fitzgerald, Abbeyview, Dungarvan; nephews, nieces and relatives.

(Funeral arrangements were carried out by J. Kiely and sons, Dungarvan.)

LOCAL T.V. DIRECTOR'S SUCCESS

Congratulations to Mr. Sean Casey, Youghal Road, popular member of Dungarvan's all-local C.B.R. Television Company on being awarded a certificate following an examination on a special T.V. course for which he sat in Cork recently.

The examination followed a week-long Pam-Pye television course in the Municipal Institute.

The course, on television theory and practical television servicing was attended by fifty South of Ireland dealers of which Mr. Casey was the only member of a County Waterford T.V. company present.

The lectures were given by Mr. R. Frost, Manager of Radio and T.V. Services Glasgow.

Mr. Casey, who was awarded exceptionally high marks feels the course was a most informative one and the fruits of which his company hopes to pass on to their customers.

MAKE MORE MONEY with less hard work

Get the most from your grain crop this year with the minimum of hard work. An electric auger-type elevator will handle your harvest quickly and easily—as fast as it comes from the combine — whilst an electric grinder will, in a matter of minutes, provide the daily food ration for your stock. For storing grain, the moisture content must be right. The electric dryer solves all your problems in this regard. Make the most of your harvest with these sturdy economical appliances.

GRAIN DRYING

Grain is a valuable crop and one that costs much to produce. Unfortunately the moisture content at harvest time is generally too high for safe storage. The gentle, drying action of the electric grain drier which incorporates automatic temperature control, cannot damage the grain. The cost of this drying unit could be saved in only one season. A choice of three sizes—5 KW, 10 KW and 15 KW cater for tray dimensions of 48 sq. ft., 96 sq. ft. and 144 sq. ft. Prices are: £34-10-0, £46-11-0, and £69-5-0.

GRAIN HANDLING

Solve your grain handling problem with an electric auger elevator. About 10 tons of grain can be moved per hour—without effort. Three popular sizes, complete with totally enclosed dust-proof motors, are available—11 ft., 16 ft. and 21 ft.

GRAIN GRINDING

An electric hammer mill, or grinder, will produce, on average grind, about 10 stons of barley meal for one unit of electricity at a cost of as little as 1½d. Look at the saving as against your present costs. By the time you have ground only 250 barrels of barley you will have virtually saved the cost of this hammer mill. After that, home grinding is clear profit in your pocket. You are master of your own feeding programme. You can give your stock freshly-ground, highly nutritious meal for better gains. Grinders are available from £49 complete with motor.

Attractive and confidential hire purchase terms are available on all equipment. For full details contact your local E.S.B. representative, who will be glad to advise you without any obligation.

The following are the principal features of the Government's second programme for Economic Expansion, details of which have just been released:

(i) It will cover the period to the end of this decade, that is, the years 1964 to 1970 inclusive.

(ii) It will have as its chief objective the raising of the real income of the community by 50% in the 1960's, in line with the collective target of the OECD.

(iii) Its complimentary aim will be to ensure the progressive reduction of involuntary emigration so that by 1970 net yearly emigration will be reduced to 10,000 at most. The net increase in employment envisaged in the decade is 78,000.

(iv) Special attention will be given to education, training and other forms of "human investment".

(v) The obligation of Ireland to give increased aid to less developed countries will be recognised.

(vi) The basic principles underlying the first programme will continue to be respected.

CONDITIONS OF SUCCESS.

The programme is fundamentally an exposition of the means by which the objectives of raising real national income and of expanding employment can be achieved. It emphasises the need for consistent realisation of the major assumptions and for avoiding conflict between different interests, particularly in the relationship of incomes to output, if the various targets set out are to be reached. It points out that these targets are aims, not promises and that the realisation of these aims will depend on the fulfilment of various conditions, internal and external, chief amongst them being a high degree of co-operation in all that pertains to the promotion of productivity and employment, and an external environment favourable to the disposal on export markets of most of the increased production generated under the programme.

SOCIAL AIMS.

3. Prominence is given to education, training and "human investment" generally as a means of assisting economic growth and, at the same time, enabling all members of the community to realise their full potential as human persons. Provision is also made for improving social welfare services according as national production increases.

GROWTH RATES

4. The target of a 50% increase in real income between 1960 and 1970 is equivalent to an annual rate of increase of 4.14% based on growing productivity and employment as follows:

Productivity: a rate of growth of nearly 3 1/2% a year in output per employed person.

Employment: a rate of growth of almost 1 1/2% a year resulting in a rise in the total number at work from 1,058,000 in 1960 to 1,136,000 in 1970.

5. These growth rates represent the net effect of the contributions to increased national production envisaged for the three main sectors of the economy, viz., agriculture (including forestry and fishing), industry and services, as follows—

Agriculture: an average annual growth rate of 2.7% resulting from an increase of 1.6% a year in productivity and assuming a fall in employment of 1.8% a year in line with the trend experienced in recent years. The rise in productivity should lead to a progressive narrowing of the gap between incomes in agriculture and those in other occupations. The programme stresses the need for concentration of three aspects of agricultural policy:—

- the securing through trade agreements with other countries, particularly Britain, and through eventual participation in the EEC, of improved and stable access on reasonable terms of export markets;
- the acceleration of the rates of improvement in productive efficiency;
- the strengthening of the farming structure through the creation of viable family units with the minimum disturbance of the population.

With a view to raising productivity, the programme includes amongst its aims for agriculture the expansion—and the more widespread utilisation—of the agricultural advisory and education services, the adaptation and development of education to meet agricultural requirements and the promotion of a greater degree of co-operation amongst farmers.

Industry: an average rate of growth of 7% a year resulting from increases of 3.9% a year in productivity and 3% a year in employment. This rate of increase in employment will mean a rise of 88,000 in industrial employment over the decade.

Since industry is expected to make the main contribution to the overall growth target, strong emphasis is laid in the programme on:

the further expansion of industrial exports;

the need to improve the competitiveness of existing industries and to broaden and re-open the industrial base;

the importance of making the most effective use of the comprehensive range of State instruments to efficiency re-equipment and adaptation.

Services: an average rate of growth of 3.6% a year resulting from increases of 2.3% a year in productivity and 1.3% in employment. This envisages an increase of 58,000 over the decade in the numbers engaged in services.

The principal element in the growth of three services sectors is the expansion of tourism. The programme aims at a doubling of tourist income between 1960 and 1970.

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

6. The growth in production over the decade—from £669 million in 1960 to £1,003 million in 1970 (valued at 1950 prices)—will make available additional resources for investment and consumption, public and private.

Investment: The programme gives priority to investment because of its essential contribution to increased production. It is contemplated that investment will be raised from 14% of Gross National Produce in 1960 to 16% in 1970. In the public sector the emphasis will be on investment yielding an adequate return to the community in competitive goods and services.

Consumption: To enable priority to be given to investment, the programme envisages a slight reduction—from 86% in 1960 to 85% in 1970—in the proportion of Gross National Produce which will be absorbed by total consumption of current goods and services. It is estimated that private consumption will rise from £502.3 millions in 1960 to £717.7 millions in 1970 (at constant prices) but that, expressed as a percentage of Gross National Produce, it will fall from 75% to 72% thereby providing a slight rise—from 10.6% to 12%—in the percentage absorbed by the public sector so that community needs, particularly in the sphere of education, may receive a greater share of resources according as resources increase.

Savings: Consumption at the levels indicated would enable the increased investment required to be financed from domestic savings and depreciation, supplemented, within reasonable limits, by deficits in external payments.

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS

7. A condition of achievement of the overall growth target is a rise of 75% over the decade of exports of goods and services. Industrial exports are expected to form the major part of the increase of visible exports. Increased economic activity will also be reflected in higher imports.

8. It is intended during the next few months, to obtain the views of the principal functional organisations representing the Irish unions, industry, agriculture, and the other main sectors of economic activity, and to secure their advice on the best means of realising the programme. In the light of the views received, a further elaboration of the programme will be published early in 1964.

N.F.A. NEWS President's Comments on Press Conference

Personal statement by Mr. Richard Dessy, President N.F.A., following the Minister for Agriculture's Press Conference, last week.

The concept of a balanced and experienced Grain Board, under an independent Chairman, to carry out the additional function of handling the feeding barley crop, has throughout been the key point in the proposals originally submitted by the N.F.A. and subsequently elaborated in the course of a series of discussions between the Association and the Minister together with his officials. The Minister accepted the concept of a balanced Board. This present issue involves the Minister's proposals for setting it up.

Leaving aside all question of the individuals involved the Minister in fact and on his own admission allowed the trade to select and nominate all four trade members of the new Board and he duly accepted these nominations. The Minister himself selected and nominated the independent Chairman.

When it came to nominating the farmers' team on the new Board the Minister imposed radically different principles. On the farmers' side of the Board, Wednesday's daily press quotes the Minister as saying of Mr. John O'Neill of Killeshandra: "I Decided He Should Be On This One Too"

The Minister thus publicly admits that the effective selection and nomination of Mr. O'Neill is the Minister's own and not that of the Co-operative Movement through its Organisation. It is therefore factually untrue for the Minister having selected both the Chairman and Mr. O'Neill to assert as he does in Wednesday's papers when speaking of the last farmer seat on the new Board.

"This Was The Only Selection I Made" The Minister also made a clear implication that the Association objected to Mr. James Mounihan. Not only is this untrue but it could not, in any circumstances have been true, since the Minister and his officials throughout refused either to name the person in mind or give us reasonable assurance on his experience and qualifications to act with unity of purpose as part of the farmer team on the new Board. The identification and qualifications of this nominee was refused to the N.F.A. and were not made known prior to the public announcement on Monday 12th August.

The Minister selected the Chairman. He admits he selected Mr. O'Neill and he insisted on selecting a further farmer member. That is 3 out of 9—not 1 out of 9. The Minister thus insisted that elected representation from organised farmers would be reduced from four on the old board to two on the new.

The published reports of last week's press conference contained many further references which either actually untrue or seriously misleading. They can be dealt with later. In the meantime, the Association stands on the fundamental principle at stake which is the right of organised farmers to elect the farmer representatives on Commodity Boards.

The Government announcement of the reconstitution of the Grain Board reveals that the Minister for Agriculture has denied to farmers the principle of organised farmer representation, and a united team on the Grain Board.

Since the formation of the Board in 1958, the interests of grain growers and pig feeders have been effectively represented by five farmers nominated by N.F.A. and accepted by the Minister. One of our nominees has been Chairman of the Board since its formation in 1958.

Some days ago, the N.F.A. welcomed the Government announcement transferring the handling of the barley crop to the Grain Board. This decision was in accord with the declared policy of N.F.A. as advocated through the years and put forward to the Minister for Agriculture again at recent meetings. We congratulated the Minister and the Government on the long term policy of aligning our grain marketing arrangements with E.E.C. accepted policy.

one representative less on the Board in order to give the Minister for Agriculture an opportunity of having a Board with equal representation from the farmers and the trade. The N.F.A. proposed that the Chairman should be independent and conceded to the Minister the right of selecting the Chairman. N.F.A. takes serious exception to the fact that the Minister in departing from the accepted principle of organised farmer representation has insisted on putting on the Board personal appointees, who have had no previous connection with the Board, to fill the farmers' seats. We have nothing against the appointees in question but we cannot agree with a decision which places party politics above the principle of organised farmer representation.

The Minister's offer to the N.F.A. of two representatives only on a Board of nine was considered and unanimously rejected by a special meeting of the National Grain Committee to-day, including the representatives of the B.G.A. (Beet Growers' Association).

The Minister was content to leave the Associations engaged in the feeding stuffs trade the nomination of their four representatives, whereas he insisted throughout on personally filling two of the four seats on the farmer side. The Minister has, therefore discriminated against his own farmers.

From the outset the N.F.A. has sought to provide continuity in the work of the Board through a balanced and experienced farmer representation capable of effectively protecting the interests of both pig feeders and grain growers.

The Minister has now denied to farmers the democratic right to elect and nominate their own representatives. In these circumstances neither the Board nor the Minister can command our confidence.

LIQUID MILK GROUP'S A.G.M. IN DUBLIN Considerable progress in the mutual interest of all engaged in the Liquid Milk Group was made during the year. This was stated in the Secretary's report to the A.G.M. of the N.F.A. Liquid Milk Group, held in N.F.A. House, Dublin, recently.

A reorganisation of producers has taken place in some areas. Members were helped with their individual problems and closer working relations were established with the Department of Agriculture, the "Pasteurised Milk Bottlers' Association" and others.

The most outstanding achievement of the year was the successful outcome of negotiations between the N.F.A. and the Association of Milk Producers. To the leaders of both the Associations a tribute was paid on their efforts in bringing about a new arrangement. With the addition of 3 other groups during the year there are now 12 organisations with the Liquid Milk Group.

High on the agenda for the meeting were the following: (a) The question of undercutting; (b) Sales to be taken so that the staples of liquid milk can be increased; and (c) Ideas on how the group can actively participate in a programme of disease control.

The implications of the import duty on steel as reported recently are even more serious than they appeared at first sight. The disquieting fact has now emerged that the duty is 37 1/2% or £30 per ton, whichever is the greater. Under the general 1% tariff reduction introduced by the Government at the beginning of this year the amount of duty would be £27 per ton. It appears that at current import prices for steel the duty would in fact amount to something approaching 90%.

Thus safely esconced behind such a formidable tariff barrier, Irish Steel Holdings would have the Irish market at their mercy. It is understood that at least some sections of the steel and wire products industry in this country could well be faced with a 50% increase in their raw material costs as a result of being forced to change over from imported steel.

Obviously the immediate effect would be a sharp increase in the manufacturing costs of firms engaged in the steel industry here but needless to say this will ultimately be passed on to the final purchaser. Many of the articles which farmers buy would cost considerably more as a result of the duty. The N.F.A. National Indus-

Should defeat be Waterford's bitter portion in Sunday week's all-Ireland hurling final, it certainly cannot be attributed to lack of fitness. Walsh Park this past fortnight has been a hive of activity as co-trainers Jim Ware and John Keane put the 23 man panel through its paces.

Never will a fitter or more determined team leave the county to do battle for the greatest honour in the game. The boys are literally "flying" in training, and it could well be a nightmarish hour for some of the Kilkenny-men trying to keep apace with the Deise spectators.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week, training sessions were held at which there was a one hundred per cent response. Each night hundreds of interested followers flock to the Park to see for themselves the form of the standard-bearers in this most intriguing of All-Ireland finals.

The boys will come together on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights next—the latter date will be utilised in the main for tactical talks. This will have brought to an end, one of the most dedicated training sessions ever undertaken by the County Board.

The remaining few days will be ones of relaxation, and then on Saturday afternoon will begin the motorcade to the Metropolitan, where they will be feted by the Waterford-men's Association in the city.

Indications are that every Waterford man, woman and child will be in Croke Park on September 1st. Not even a live television broadcast will keep Deise followers away from a game which confidently expected will give the county its third all-Ireland title.

Next week (D.V.) we will survey in detail this decider which is gripping hurling followers the country over. On other pages we will relive again the glorious chapters written by the county in 1938, '48, '57, '59, recall the triumphs and failures during those years, and above all, recall the stalwarts who played their parts so gallantly in them.

IN NEXT WEEK'S ISSUE

We hope to have views, comments and opinions of players from both camps, as well as photographs of many of the Waterford and Kilkenny stars. All in all we hope to produce a souvenir issue that will be worthy of the great day. No effort has been spared to bring you all the up-to-date news. We sincerely hope you will enjoy it.

MINOR FINAL ENDS IN DRAW

As I so confidently predicted in last week's issue, the minor hurling final between Abbeyside and Ballyduff, at Cappoquin on Tuesday night was an out and out thriller that fittedly ended in a draw—Abbeyside 2-6, Ballyduff 1-9.

At half-time the sides were level, half an hour later they were still in deadlock, and after such an epic hour's hurling neither side deserved to lose.

The thrills that came thick and fast were in evidence from the very start, with not a puck of the ball between them. Every ball was contested with a fervour so characteristic of a championship final and at the break they were as near to deciding the issue as before the game had started—level at 1-3 to 0-6.

Right through the second half the issue remained in doubt, but when Ballyduff goalied ten minutes from time a great Abbeyside effort seemed destined to fail.

Never, however, was the fighting qualities of Abbeyside shown in better light than in those closing unforgettable stages. They mounted wave after wave of attacks on the Ballyduff goal and with only four minutes left Mick Brett crashed home the equalising goal.

Thereafter Ballyduff laid claim to the Abbeysiders goal in quest of a winning score, and forced three '70's that proved fruitless in the face of an unyielding defence.

None can deny Abbeyside's right however to fight another day. They suffered a severe setback after ten minutes when Arthur Sheehan retired injured but battled gamely to a glorious draw.

They were brilliantly served by Pat Enright, Tommy Donovan, Rogie Cashin, Walter Brett, Michael Kelly and Tomas Cummins.

Ballyduff's outstanding performers were Brendan Daly, O'Brien, Canning, Ring and Jimmy Feeney.

Unfortunately, the closing stages of the game were played in semi-darkness, which made it so much more difficult for both players and spectators.

REPLAY ON SUNDAY

The replay has been fixed for Sunday next with Cappoquin again the venue. The county final was originally arranged for Sunday next, but has now been postponed to a September date. Mr. Sion await the winners in the final.

BALLINAMEELA FANCIED IN PRIMARY SEMI-FINAL

The first of the western primary hurling semi-finals takes place at Dungarvan on Sunday next when Ballinameela will be strongly fancied to dispose of Ring.

In last year's championship Ballinameela were one of the big favourites, but unexpectedly came a cropper in the early rounds. This year they hope to compensate fully, and it will be a major surprise if they fail to qualify for the final.

In the current campaign they have accounted decisively for Ballyduff and Stradbally, and PAKIE MCCARTHY... an automatic choice at full-back for Ballinameela.

On Sunday will look to such fine players as Pádraic McCarthy, Tommy Reynolds, P. J. Killigrew, John and Tom Browne, Mick Cashman, Jim Kieley and newcomer John Dower, to carry them to victory.

Prominent absentees, however, will be defender, Paddy Keefe now domiciled in London, and sharp-shooting forward Michael Kelleher, who is still on the injured list.

SYLVESTER MURRAY... in action for Ring on Sunday

Ring have performed remarkably well in reaching this can boast of fine hurlers in Liam Meagher, Tommy McGrath, Sylvester Murray, John Leahy, and Tom White.

Nevertheless, the odds are all against a gaeltacht victory, and while they will not surrender easily, Ballinameela must be given a confident vote.

TOURIN ADVANCE IN 'MAULING' GAME

Tourin, regraded to primary hurling this year, advanced to the semi-final on Sunday last when beating Affane by a five goal margin at Cappoquin.

But as a hurling spectacle it was a complete washout, as the exchanges were dominated for the most part by a toughness and roughness that was certainly not of a legitimate nature.

Affane in fact finished the game with only fourteen men. Having used up their full quota of subs they could not send in a replacement when a fourth member of their side retired injured. After the game—or should one say brawl, an Affane player was removed to a Waterford city hospital.

Least the wrong impression is being given, however, it must be stated that both sides were to blame to some extent for the fierceness of the exchanges, and it would be grossly unfair to single out a particular side for the entire blame.

Having stated that much, there could be no questioning Tourin's superiority. They led from start to finish, and are going to be tremendously hard to defeat, particularly now that they have had such an extended run.

COLLIGAN ROCKIES A.G.M.

The annual general meeting of the Colligan Rockies and Emmets G.A.A. Clubs will be held at Foley's Workshop on Monday next August 26th, at 8.30. All members are requested to attend.

ABBEYSIDE JUVENILE HURLING LEAGUE FINAL

This long-awaited final will take place at the Gaelic field (Show Ground) on Saturday night next 24th, at 7.15 p.m. sharp. The teams contesting will be Dermot Clancy's team versus Brian O'Connor's team, and both sides are very keen to win. It will be interesting to see if O'Connor can make up for his team's defeat in the football final. He can call on such grand players as Larry Cliffe, Greg Fives, Colin Fives and J. McGrath, while Dermot Clancy can call on P. Donovan, J. Needham, J. O'Dea, P. Clancy, T. Moloney and P. Cashin to see him through.

It all adds up to a grand game and should be a thriller from start to finish. Both teams will be at full strength.

RECEPTION ARRANGEMENTS

Cumann na nDeiseach have engaged the services of some members of the Gael Linn Cabareth group for the reception on All-Ireland night as follows: Brendan O Duill will act as master of ceremonies; Noel Healy, accordionist and pianist; Leon O'Connell, accordionist; Sean O'Se (singer).

The latter is well known in these parts, where he has often been on stage. He is a native of Cork city.

Of course Cumann na nDeiseach, confidently hope the Gaels of Waterford will not be lacking in their contributions to make the night a really memorable one.

By the way tickets are still available for the reception from those listed in last week's issue.

THRILLER EXPECTED IN PHELAN CUP DECIDER

But Kill are given the vote

DURING these present days, when the County is infected with hurling fever, it might seem inappropriate to even mention forthcoming football encounters. But not even the lure of the All-Ireland can quell the appeal and importance of next Sunday's 1962 Phelan Cup final between Kill and John Mitchels at Dungarvan (7 p.m.).

It must be an accepted fact in all quarters that these finalists on their day, play a most attractive brand of football. They are the true advocates of the slick and skillful short-passing game, and if both simultaneously hit peak form on Sunday, the game should provide the expected large attendance with a feast of football thrills.

Both sides are also vitally concerned in this year's championship race and the outcome of this Phelan Cup decider should be a most reliable guide to the major competition. Kill, as championship holders will be mustered to record the big double and who could suggest for one moment that they are not capable of accomplishing such?

Mitchels on the other hand only came into being last year. But it was a celebrated entry into the "big time" and in reaching the final at their first attempt, they have achieved a great deal.

On the way to Sunday's final they defeated their great parish rivals and former colleagues, Kilrossanty, in a game that stamped the Kirwan-led brigade as a force to be reckoned with. Since then they have added to a fine reputation and they are highly optimistic of winning their first-ever trophy on Sunday.

Since last year's competition Mitchels have lost Jimmy Mansfield now transferred to Stradbally but club members believe—and with justification—that the advent of "new recruits" Sean Power and Daw Long will more than offset Mansfield's departure.

Both Power and Long are good forwards by any standards and will add much-needed strength to the suspect sector of the side.

With Power and Long occupying half-forward berths, and Billy and Tommy Kirwan operating nearer goal, the Mitchels attack strikes me as being a far better unit than twelve months ago.

In all probability Noel Kirwan and Rogie Connors will form their midfield... an area in which equality is, I believe essential if Kill are to be beaten.

Further back Mitchels can have few worries. In Michael Kirwan, Pete Gough and Seamus Kenny they have perhaps the finest half-line in the County while Wally Connors is pillar of a solid rather than spectacular full-line.

Are Kill the power of twelve months ago when they annexed their first senior crown? Or are they now on the decline, as a few insipid displays this year might seem to suggest? Sunday may well provide the answers but somehow I believe the champions are still a mighty power.

Individually they possess some of the County's best exponents of the code and in this intriguing game I expect them to quash any doubts that may exist about their potential.

Like Mitchels they are very well served in defence where Michael and Tom Kirwan, Ger Mooney and Achill Lannon invariably star. They will, wards capable of running up the decisive scores. Centre-forward Monty Gury is likely to pose the greatest problem for the Mitchels defenders while Paddy Duggan, Joe Tibbs and opportunist Mike Flynn will not let many chances go begging.

As already stated, this final could prove a classic. It is a trial of football strength between two ball-playing sides, and I expect very little to separate them at the finish.

While both can advocate qualities and reasons for being given the vote I am inclined to row in with those favouring a Kill victory. They may hold the decisive midfield advantage which should be good enough to give them the Cup.

Interesting Challenge at Cappoquin

A very interesting senior hurling challenge game has been arranged for Cappoquin on Sunday next (3.30) when the local fifteen will meet a strong clerical student selection.

Cappoquin are availing of the occasion to try out their expected championship line-out before meeting Dungarvan in the premier competition on September 15th.

The students, however, have proved by recently defeating Dungarvan that they are an exceptionally strong side, and Sunday's game should be a very interesting one. They will be preceded by the Western minor hurling replay between Abbeyside and Ballyduff (2.15).

We will bring you up-to-the-minute news, views, comments and opinions of this latest tilt with Kilkenny together with a detailed preview of the final.
