£100 CLAIM FOR BEE LOSSES

Committee Seeks to Amend Regulations

FOLLOWING a claim by Mount Mellera Abbey in respect of 50 hives of bees which were destroyed in October last as a result of an outbreak of Foul Brood disease, Waterford Committee of Agriculture decided at their monthly meeting on Saturday last to re-emburse the Abbey to the extent of £100. The Committee, however, unanimously decided to ask the Department to rescind present regulations whereby committees of agriculture were responsible for all such claims.

The C.A.O. (Mr. P. Conroy) said he had been in contact with the Dept. by telephone and they informed him that they would not refund the £100 to the Committee. In his report Mr. P. O'Sullivan said the Mount Mellera authorities were not aware that their stocks were effected at the time and they could not take action. When the disease was detected all the stocks were destroyed.

Mr. W. Foran asked if the same thing could happen again next year.

Mr. O'Sullivan said in the past 10 or 12 years they had had only a few small claims. The highest claim would be for two or three hives at a time.

'Excellent Staff'

When the C.A.O., Mr. P. Conroy, read a letter from the Dept. of Agriculture stating that instructors were not allowed to participate in outside interests that would impair their efficiency, the Chairman, Mr. Michael Harty, said that would not apply to them as they had a magnificent staff.

This circular was sent to all committee's of agriculture.

COUNCILLOR INDISPOSED

Mr. Conroy, Ballyduff's Councillor and popular member of Waterford County Council and other subsidiary local authorities who is presently indisposed and a patient in the Bon Secours Hospital, Cork, was the recipient of good wishes from his colleagues of the Committee of Agriculture at their monthly meeting on Saturday last.

Mr. Heskin said Mr. Quirke hoped to be home very shortly.

Council Meets To Strike Co. Rates

FACED WITH 3/9 INCREASE

ON to-day (Friday) the twenty-three members of Waterford County Council meet in Dungarvan where they are faced with the unenviable task of striking a County rate for the coming year. It promises to be a grim afternoon in the Council chamber as the Councillors endeavour with their limited powers to keep the rates within reason.

As in former years a deputation from the N.F.A. will address the meeting but it would be well for them to remember that in fairness to the Council members many of the increases are mandatory on them.

The present county rate is 48/6 in the £ while the proposed rate for the coming year is 52/3 1/2... an increase of 3/9 approx.

It is undoubtedly a steep increase and quite candidly it is difficult to visualise any great reduction on this proposed increase. Yes, indeed, an unenviable task it is.

CLASHMORE HAS FINEST SHOW

"The finest show I have seen in County Waterford was the Clashmore one," said Mr. P. Conroy, C.A.O., when the Mare Shows for 1964 were referred to at last Saturday's meeting of Waterford Committee of Agriculture.

The quality at the Clonea-Power and Kilmacthomas shows was also excellent, but Clashmore was number one.

Mr. George Heskin said they had a lot of scrub horses in the County whilst there was a scarcity of the hunter type horse. They needed to step up the breeding, he added.

SYMPATHY

On the proposal of the Chairman, Mr. M. Harty, a vote of sympathy was passed with the family and relatives of the late Richard Harty, Ring, at last Saturday's meeting of the Committee of Agriculture.

A vote of sympathy, proposed by Mr. W. Dower and seconded by Mr. NN. Walsh was also passed with the Quinn family of Boolavanogue.

Dungarvan Man Jailed

At Cashel District Court, held on Wednesday last George Wright (25) a native of Dungarvan, was sentenced to two months imprisonment for causing malicious damage to a plate glass window at Dungarvan, on February 14th, to the amount of £35.

The incident occurred at the shop premises attached to the Ormonde Cinema, the property of Mrs. Falvey.

Local Happenings

LOURDES INVALID COMMITTEE

This year the Dungarvan Lourdes Invalid Committee hope to send five invalids to Lourdes and in an effort to defray the heavy financial burden that will be imposed on them they are holding a town collection this week-end.

No praise can be too high for this committee who are doing such wonderful work for the less fortunate ones, and it is to be hoped that the public response to the collection will be a generous one.

Those in the country areas and on whom it would be impossible to call on personally may send donations to any of the following: Mrs. B. Tyers, Fitzgerald's Tce.; Mr. P. J. Breen or Mr. John Joe Moloney.

As stated the committee requires funds urgently and by giving generously when the collectors call, you will be doing immense good for the afflicted in our town.

THIS IS IT! BINGO! PONGO!

As will be seen from our advertising columns in this issue and from posters on display throughout west Waterford, the public will now get a golden opportunity to participate locally each week in the ever popular games of Bingo and Pongo, in the comfortable setting of the Mercy Convent Hall, Dungarvan.

These games are to be run on regular nights each week. Bingo will commence on Sunday night, 23rd February, at 8.45 p.m., and will continue on each Sunday night. Pongo will commence on Friday night, 21st February, at the same venue, and will continue on every Friday night. So reserve Sunday nights for Bingo and Friday nights for Pongo, and treat yourself and your friends to a double chance of winning a valuable cash prize each week, at a small outlay.

Both games are to be run by a local Committee of expert gamblers, for the benefit of the Mercy Convent School Building Fund. Work on the new Mercy Primary School is now well advanced, and when completed will add a very pleasant outline to the town's silhouette, as well as providing a most pleasant environment for the hundreds of local pupils who will occupy the school and keep on the high traditions of learning which the Mercy Community has so well established in the past.

It is therefore hoped that both games will draw bumper houses each week to help the Sisters to meet the heavy financial burden which they have undertaken on behalf of this and future generations of our young citizens.

"NICE WORK, PAL, WE'RE ALWAYS BEHIND YOU"

In the interest of the farmers and all ratepayers, the Waterford County Executive of N.F.A. again draws attention to the thankless task of our Local Government representatives who are under ever-increasing pressure to sanction higher rates, and to the intolerable plight of the ratepayers who have to carry this burden. It must also be pointed out that the disparity is widening between farm income and other sections enjoying successive rounds of income increases. The farmer has not only NOT received these increases but he must bear their cost.

BRED CHAMPION HEREFORD

Well-known Dungarvan Vet. Mr. Nicholas Connors, won the award for the champion Hereford Bull at the annual R.D.S. Show and Sale of Bulls at Ballsbridge, Dublin, on Tuesday. His champion, Springmount Sailor, was sold to the Dept. of Agriculture for £1,900. Other winners: Brackford Valiant, owned by Mr. Connors was sold to Doves A.I. Thurler for 1,300 gns.

CONGRATULATIONS

At a specially convened meeting of Cos. Waterford and Westford Shorthorn breeders society, a vote of congratulation was passed to Mr. Nicholas Connors, M.R.C.V.S., Dungarvan, and his herdsman, Mr. M. Keane, in upholding the honour of the Society by winning the Hereford championship and group championship at Dublin Bull Show and Sale this week.

IT PAYS TO WATCH FOR OVERHEAD Efforts to Develop MR. C. CURRAN Tourism in DUNGARVAN EJECTED TO TOURIST COUNCIL

In recent years the advent of building, excavating and farm machinery of a type much higher than anything seen before in this country, has led to a number of near fatal accidents which provide a warning of the dangers involved.

Employers and employees engaged in the handling of such equipment have a very special duty to watch out for overhead power lines in the vicinity of their work. The danger of death is very close when machinery of this kind touches live overhead wires. The human body is particularly sensitive to the effects of electric current. Even a fraction of a second contact with a low voltage line can produce fatal results. When machinery is in contact with an E.S.B. line, a person standing nearby can be killed if he touches any part of the machine.

Probably the most fantastic escape from electrocution occurred some years ago when a farmer was using a combine harvester in a field which was crossed by an E.S.B. 10,000 volt line. At one point the combine harvester was not able to cross under the line and the farmer got a small boy to sit on top of the harvester and each time he came to the line the young boy lifted the E.S.B. wires over it. By an almost miraculous coincidence, F.S.B. men were working on the same line half a mile away. That morning they had switched out the line and made it safe for their own work. A few hours later they switched on the line again and, fortunately, at this time the harvester had completed its work and was now clear of the line. If this had not been the case, the small boy would certainly have been killed instantly the first time he touched the wire.

Another miraculous escape occurred recently when the driver of a bucket excavator in Co. Wexford drove across a field with the jib in a raised position. He drove directly into a 38,000-volt line, there was a flash and a burst of the cables fell, one of them entangling in the excavator bucket.

Fortunately, this line was equipped with an automatic device which switched out the line immediately and the driver was able to jump clear. Only for the automatic clearing of the line the driver would, almost certainly, have been killed if he had touched the excavator when the overhead cable struck it.

In Co. Cork an excavator driver was working close to an E.S.B. line on drainage work. On rotating his excavator, he hit the line and two conductors were broken. One of these fell on the cab, the second fell on the ground and an assistant dog standing nearby was killed instantly. The driver had sufficient presence of mind to remain in the cab until the E.S.B. men arrived and assured him that it was safe to dismount as the line had been disconnected in the meantime.

In recent times there have been many examples of this kind of accident, and it is only by creating a greater awareness, amongst the operators of such machinery, of the dangers involved in collisions with overhead lines that fatalities can be avoided.

Some time ago the Electricity Supply Board issued special plastic stickers reminding drivers of the dangers involved and distributed these stickers to all known proprietors of such machinery, with the request that they should be placed on the cab windows of the vehicles concerned.

Extra supplies of these are available from the Electricity Supply Board on request.

An all-out effort is presently afoot to develop Dungarvan further as a tourist centre. On Thursday of last week Mr. T. A. Kyne, T.D., presided at a meeting of all the organisations of the town affiliated to the Waterford Tourist Council.

It was decided to run a gala this coming summer and a public meeting will be held in mid-March at which all local organisations will be expected to attend to express views and suggestions on this proposed venture. The development of the town from a tourist point of view will also be considered. A list of all places that this committee feels should be signposted has been given to the County Engineer, Mr. J. D. Hally and he has sent them to Bord Failte. Amongst the decorative works planned are the painting of the railing at the Cruseway, Abbeyside and painting at the swimming pool.

Vice-President of this committee is Mr. Jerry O'Leary, whilst the Town Clerk, Mr. P. J. Doyle is also an active member of the committee.

This we feel is something the local organisations should support to the hilt. The aim is the betterment of the town which in itself would be an asset to the business life of the town and it is to be hoped that there will be a big attendance at the March meeting. Only in this way can the Committee hope to continue their valued work successfully.

WATERFORD HEALTH AUTHORITY TENDERS FOR THE SUPPLY OF MILK

Tenders are invited for the supply of Milk under the Free Milk Scheme for the year ending 31st March, 1965. Tenders enclosed in sealed envelopes and clearly marked "Tender for Free Milk" should be addressed to the Secretary, Waterford Health Authority, Aras Brugha, Dungarvan, so as to reach him not later than the 4th March, 1964.

Mr. Charles Curran, Chairman of Waterford County Council, was recently appointed to the Board of Directors of Regional Tourist Council of Bord Failte.

When interviewed by an "Observer" reporter, Mr. Curran said: "It gives me great pleasure to have been appointed to the Board of Directors of this Regional Council of Bord Failte. It affords me an opportunity of assisting the development of tourism in Co. Waterford. Next to agriculture, tourism is our most important industry, but there is great scope for further expansion, especially in our own county, where, up to now it has been to a large extent neglected.

"The natural attractions of County Waterford compare favourably with those of the leading tourist counties, but these attractions have not been properly publicised. There is also a need for more hotels. Some of the safest and most beautiful beaches in the county are along our coast; they are however, underdeveloped. These are all matters that require attention if we are to take our place in the tourist world.

"I am particularly pleased that Mr. P. Breen, President of the Waterford Chamber of Commerce has also been appointed a Director. Mr. Breen, who is a leading hotelier and industrialist, is a particularly good choice, and I know that he will leave nothing undone to foster tourism in the city and county.

"It is important that the new Board should have the co-operation of the general public in its efforts to promote the Tourist industry."

KILGOBINET DRAMATIC SOCIETY

On Sunday, February 16th, the Kilgobinet Dramatic Society faced the footlights in Coolnasmea N.S., with their presentation of John B. Keane's 8-act play "The Man From Clare". This was an excellent production of yet another of this famous playwright's masterpieces, which are full of rich dialogue. Kilgobinet had already staged "Sive" by the same playwright and it was this fine play which really gave the drama group the renown it has gained over the years.

Since then, they have produced among others, such well known plays as "The Country Boy" and "Mungo's Mansion". On Sunday night last each member of the cast did real justice to their respective parts and it would be unjust to single out any member for special mention.

Laurence Byrne in the title role, gave an excellent portrayal of the long and arduous part of Padraig O'Dea. Morriheen Brick, played by John Kiely, was all that could be desired. Billy Ryan showed great talent in the part of Deagan. Michael Dunford and Jim McGrath in their characterisation of Pakie and Pette, really stole the show with their humorous dialogue. Bernie Power in the part of Jim Flynn put over his portrayal in fine style. Thomas Corcoran, Thomas Dunford and Liam Fitzgerald each gave an excellent performance. Midge O'Brien, in the very difficult role of Nellie, gave a very fine performance and her previous experience with the Group was always evident. Mary Harrington as Brid and Sheila Hickey as Elsie McDonagh completed a first class cast.

KILMAC' NOTES

On Quinquagesima Sunday, 9th inst., Mr. William Shaw, of Tay Lodge, Leamybrien, died at the District Hospital, Dungarvan. A quiet and unassuming disposition, he moved through life on the best of terms with the neighbours, and sympathy with his nearest and dearest is general.

The remains were removed to Rossmire Church, Kilmac-thomas. Service at 2.30 p.m. on Tuesday week, preceded the burial in the cemetery adjoining Comeragh Church, Leamybrien. "Not gone, but come into Eternity's Harvest Home."

The Death happened at her home on Monday, 10th inst. (Feast of St. Scholastica), of a much esteemed member of the population of historic Kilrossanty parish, in the person of Mrs. Mary Kiely, Glendalligan, Leamybrien, a woman blessed with a friendly and hospitable manner, which won for her the warm regard of a large circle of friends, and her passing caused feelings of the deepest regret in the district. She will be remembered as a warm-hearted and pleasant personality, always ready and willing to help where she could be of assistance. Surviving her are her likeable husband and family, with whom, in their heavy tribulation, whole-hearted sympathy is widespread.

A large and representative attendance accompanied the removal of the remains to St. Brigid's Parish Church, Kilrossanty, where the coffin was received and blessed by Very Rev. J. Harty, P.P., do.

After 11 o'clock Mass on Ash Wednesday, interment was made in the adjoining cemetery amidst every manifestation of sorrow. Rev. M. Barron C.C., Kilrossanty, assisted by Very Rev. Fr. Harty, P.P., officiated at the graveside.

Many Mass cards and messages of condolence were received.

At a banquet, a Iosa Dille, dean treasurer.

Pleasant to publish that Kilrossanty G.A.A. Club's 30 Card Drive decided at Leamybrien Hall, on Friday night of yesterweek was a huge success.

The fine gathering of club's competitors greatly appreciated the delicious teas served.

As advertised, the Fireside Dramatic Society, Waterford, is presenting a 3-act play, titled "Peggy Paise", with a full variety concert, on Friday night of this week at Leamybrien Hall, where doors open at 8 o'clock.

Muintir na Tire.—The "Ladies Section" of Stradbally-Faha-Ballynane Parish Guild is sponsoring a lecture on First Aid, to be given by General Dr. Atkins, at Stradbally Convent School, on March 19th next, at 8 o'clock.

Having paid its bills to date the Guild possesses £19-0-7.

DEPT. Landrace Boar for service.—Apply Dan Keller, Ballyduff, Dungarvan.

No production would be perfect without the assistance of the Stage Manager and with Liam Fitzgerald in this onerous position, the set was the best to-date and he is deserving of a special word of thanks.

Lighting and effects proved no problem to President-Producer, Fr. Farrell.

At the conclusion of the night's performance, Fr. Farrell thanked the audience for their kind attendance and appreciation of the plays and he said that when this time next year comes round, he hopes to have another play in what he hopes will be Kilgobinet Parish Hall.

Very Rev. D. McGrath, P.P., also addressed the audience and the cast and complimented each member of the Society for the great effort, which he felt must surely have into such an outstanding production. Fr. McGrath said he was acting as a critic as he had already seen some of John B. Keane's plays by some very talented groups, and he thought the production in Coolnasmea was well up to the same high standard. He said he was delighted to see his parishioners enjoying themselves in their own parish.

FARM INCOME AND AGRIC. DEVELOPMENT 1964-70

We have a considerable unrealised potential for economic sheepmeat production. Our present ewe breeding stock of 2.2 million could readily be increased at the rate of 7% per annum to give a population of 3.6 million by 1970.

Considerable progress is possible in the yield of wool per sheep, in lambing numbers, in growth rate and in carcass quality, through the application of modern breeding methods to Irish sheep flocks.

Good fencing is an essential part of low labour costs and high output grass sheep farming and grants must be provided for the improvement of fencing on sheep farms.

The N.F.A. draws attention to the inadequate level of veterinary research and investment on sheep diseases. Particular emphasis should be placed on the elimination of sheep scab from those few farms where the disease still persists. The continued existence of the disease in this country is a threat to the exports of live sheep.

There is room for great development in maintaining and improving supplies of winter feed for hill ewes.

There has been a noticeable upward trend in wool exports in recent years but much of the ultimate value of our wool, both on the home and export markets, has been lost through careless marketing.

The N.F.A. has examined wool marketing systems throughout the world and is convinced that a properly constituted Wool Marketing Board would significantly improve every aspect of the wool industry here.

PIGS

A steady increase in pig production at a minimum rate of at least 110,000 pigs per annum is both desirable and possible. Producers confidence can be established and the desired increase obtained through stable prices at an acceptable level.

We must develop a competitive industry in which the farmer has access to the most effective technical development in breeding, housing, feeding, management and disease control. Processing at minimum working costs must satisfy market demand for quality. Marketing must be organised to dispose of all exportable pig meat at a price level at least comparable to Danish prices.

One of the factors preventing us from obtaining a larger share of the international market for pigmeat is the small supply which we have available. Pig numbers must be progressively increased and special efforts must be made to encourage greater pig production in the predominantly small farm areas of the west and north west.

The need for improved breeding cannot be over emphasised and groups of farmers especially small farmers, wishing to organise their pig production through co-operative pig development units should be given every facility by the State. Minimum grants of 25% of the cost of the units should be provided.

New grants for houses should be introduced according to details given in this section.

The present system of collection of pigs by bacon factories is wasteful. The Pigs and Bacon Commission should centralise the purchasing of pigs and given certain conditions allocate them to the factories.

N.F.A. asks for an increase of 16/- per cwt. dead weight average for all grades.

POULTRY

The task of re-organising and developing this industry is such that it can only be achieved by setting up a development authority with power and finance to organise both production and marketing.

This country has lost its place on the British egg market for a variety of reasons, and exports at present are negligible. In Ireland the development of good group production schemes would be most suitable with large central pecking stations and minimum flocks of 1,000 hens. Such groups could be developed on an area basis in the beginning and would provide an outlet for pilot marketing schemes.

Our main asset for developing poultry production is a clean bill of health for the country, and it is felt that this is something that is being shamefully neglected.

The immediate needs are: (a) A development authority to encourage production and marketing on integrated lines; (b) A more enlightened attitude towards the staffing of the poultry breeding centres run by the Department of Agriculture; (c) An overhaul of the health services; (d) An intensified research programme; (e) An educational programme for men and women with commercial poultry production in mind.

ANIMAL HEALTH

An organised arrangement between farmers, veterinary surgeons and laboratory must be introduced to tackle diseases in Ireland and priority must be given to the organisation of the laboratory service.

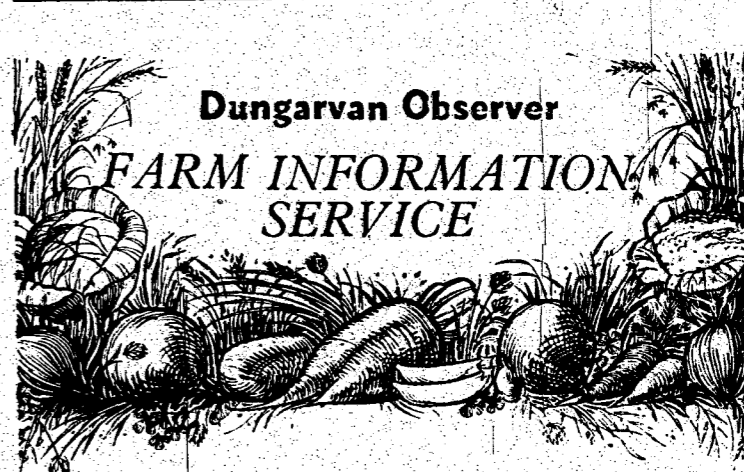

Co-ordination of, and co-operation in, the veterinary activities of the Department of Agriculture, An Foras Taluntais, the Universities and Local Authorities should be introduced immediately.

Dungarvan Observer
FARM INFORMATION SERVICE

Q.—As my lamb crop last season was not very good, apart from losses due to the bad weather, should I feed my ewes some meal before lambing?

A.—Barley or oats and beet pulp are very useful to feed during the lambing season. A suitable mixture would be 8 parts by weight crushed oats or barley, 4 parts beetpulp, 1 part linseed cake and 1 part cotton cake.

Feed 1lb. per head per day three weeks before lambing rising to 1-1½ lbs. at lambing time.

Q.—I have a suitable field which was ploughed during the winter and I want to have some good grazing next Autumn. Would you advise me to underseed with barley or direct reseed the field this spring?

A.—Best results for a permanent pasture are obtained by direct reseeding, as the young grass and clover plants do not have to compete with the cereal crop for food requirements. By sowing the grass seed during April and May a good sward will be established during the summer, which may be cut for silage or grazed with sheep to reduce the weeds. In the autumn a good covering of grass will be available for grazing provided the soil fertility is maintained. By underseeding the barley which may be a cash crop, you may expect a poorer establishment of grasses and clover and feed the older stock.

Q.—For many years now I have made hay for my winter feed for cows but because of the wet weather at hay making during the past few years I am thinking of trying silage. Would you tell me the difficulties in making silage.

A.—Our weather statistics over the years have proved that conditions cannot be reliable for hay making. The correct method for starting silage, is to secure the services of a contractor to cut and deliver the crop to the silo. Usual charges are 7/6 to 10/- per ton depending on the assistance rendered by the farmer. An existing hay barn can be converted at little expense to a silo pit. Alternatively you may consider the erecting a 70 ton tower from prefabricated blocks. Details of a cheap and reliable design may be obtained from the editor.

Q.—How can I prevent scouring in young stock when they go out to grass in the spring?

A.—This trouble is sometimes caused by worm infestation in which case dosing will be necessary or fresh young grass. If this is the cause, allow the animals out during the day for a few hours and feed some hay at night. Young calves should always be put on good, warm-free pastures before the older stock.

SALMON FISHING

Last week there was no noticeable improvement in the catches of salmon by nets, even though there was an improvement in the weather which unfortunately ended in a southern gale force and outside boat could not get to the outer grounds. Of all the boats in Youghal last week, only two had what might be termed a fairly good week. The remainder had catches averaging during the week there were quite a number of dukes (spent salmon after spawning) were taken in the nets and were released again. On Friday night one boat netted eleven dukes which must have been a great disappointment. The opening days of this week saw no improvement, but expectation are high in view of the strong tides, backed possibly by a favourable wind.

£250 FINE AND £5 YEAR BAN

Last week a jury in Cork Circuit Court found that Michael O'Riordan, of Dower, Castlemary, was guilty on both counts of dangerous driving, causing the death of Thomas F. O'Brien, of South Abbey, Youghal. He was fined £250 and his driving licence suspended for five years. The case was a sequel to a fatal accident at South Abbey Youghal a little before midnight on Christmas Eve. The car, driven by the accused, mounted the footpath, and struck the deceased who was returning home with Christmas presents for his six young children. He died shortly afterwards at the Youghal Cottage Hospital from extensive head and brain injuries. The car drove on and the accused was interviewed later by the guards at Castlemary.

The Judge agreed entirely with the jury's verdict and said: "It was a bad case of dangerous driving with very unfortunate results for the young man going home to his wife and family and the penalty will have to be severe. On the other hand I do not want to do anything vindictive, but it must be shown that this type of driving cannot be tolerated. Being installed in addition to other major improvements, taking everything into account, I will not impose a prison sentence although the case deserves it. Instead, I will fine

G.A.A. Club

St. Mary's hurling Club, Mt. Mellery, held their annual general meeting at St. Mary's Hall, Mount Mellery, recently. Chairman was Mr. Sean Moynihan and there was a very large attendance of members. Hon. Secretary, Mr. Michael Rawlins reported a very busy year, both on and off the playing fields. Notices had been issued with the performances of the teams. They had advanced to the third round of the Primary hurling championship before falling in a hard-fought game to the ultimate trophy winners, Tourin. They had done well also in their first season in the football competition and altogether the future looks bright. His report, and that of the Hon. Treasurer, Mr. J. Ring, were unanimously adopted.

SWIMMING POOL FUND

The Committee of the Cappoquin Rowing Club wish to thank very sincerely all those who subscribed so generously to the church gate collection in aid of the swimming pool fund. A monster jumble sale and sale of work in aid of the Fund, is now planned and will take place in the Boat House, on Sunday, March 8th, at 3 p.m. All gifts will be gratefully received at Sargent's Garage, Cappoquin. Collection will be arranged if donors of jumble ring Cappoquin 5 or 42. Further details will be printed in future issues.

LATE ELLEN O'BRIEN

Congress Villas, Dungarvan

The sad event of the death of Mrs. Ellen O'Brien, Congress Villas, has broken another link in the chain of the older Dungarvan generation. Her demise took place at her residence on Tuesday morning, after an illness of some duration and at the fulness of years. She deceased was a most honest, hard-working, industrious lady all her life and had made very many true friends.

May the light of heaven shine on her soul.

The removal took place on Wednesday evening to St. Mary's Parish Church, the coffin borne en route by her relatives and friends, and was followed by a very large cortege and were blessed and received by Rev. Fr. D. Byrne, C.C.

Requiem Mass was offered for her soul on Thursday morning and the burial took place in the adjoining family plot. Another large and impressive concourse were present. Rev. Fr. O. Byrne, C.C., officiated and imparted the final absolution at the graveside.

We would like to express our deepest sympathy to her very well-known family, relatives and grandchildren on their very great loss.

Large sheaves of spiritual tributes were received by her family.

(Complete Undertaking arrangements were by J. Kiely & Sons, Shandon, Dungarvan.)

CONRADH NA GAELIGE

On Tuesday night, February 25th, an important public meeting will be held at Scoll na Gaeil to explain various aspects of the recommendations of the Language Commission for speeding up the revival of the language. As this matter may concern us all in some way during the coming years, all are invited to attend. The discussion, which will be in English, should prove both important and informative to parents.

A panel of five speakers who are well versed in the Irish and English languages will discuss in English the most important aspects of the recommendations of the Commission for the Restoration of Irish, which has recently been published. As a guide to the nature of the points to be discussed, the following list will help: (1) Irish in the home and on T.V.; (2) Irish in the School; (3) Irish in business, life and the Civil Service; (4) Irish in the Church; (5) Irish in the Common Market; (6) Irish in the Daily and Seasonal; (7) How we can use An Ghaeilteacht to help us.

It is the duty of all supporters of the revival to be present and hear the plan for Gaelicisation explained and discussed. It is the duty of those who oppose the revival or criticize compulsory Irish to come and ask questions and state their objections. As there may be a big number of questions we would like if they could be given in writing before the meeting, or a few days before the meeting if possible.

TOURIN DEFEAT LISMORE

Under cold and heavy weather conditions at the Castlefarm venue, on Sunday last, Tourin easily defeated Lismore in the first round of the junior hurling league.

The game, which attracted a very small attendance, proved to be a complete flop, and provided little or any good hurling, as the Tourin men completely dominated and ran out easy winners on the score, 8-4 to 1-3.

Tourin were best served by Steve Scanlon, Ollie Wilkinson, Tom Berry, Dick Doocoy and Jimmy O'Gorman. Lismore had valiant triers in Michael McGrath, Michael Canning, Patsy Buckley and John Flynn.

CARLOW MUST BE BEATEN

On paper at least, a Waterford-Carlow hurling pairing has very little appeal, but when these counties meet in the National hurling league at Walsh Park on Sunday next, it will be in an encounter of paramount importance to the Deise men.

On the outcome rests Waterford's hopes of retaining a pennant they won for the first time in October last, for any further loss of points would put paid to their hopes of a trip to Yankeeland next fall. That, in a nutshell is how important this game on Sunday really is.

The announcement of the team led to many discussions, and whilst changes were expected, the selectors dropped a right bombshell by omitting goalkeeper Ned Power. Power is replaced by Ballygunner's Pat Flynn, a promising net-minder, yet hardly in the Power class. Into the defence comes Flynn's club mate Tom Hearne who takes over from Martin O'Morrissey as pivot, with the Mount Sion man now in the left corner.

Eisewhere on this page a more detailed preview of the game can be read, but the importance of this outcome cannot be stressed strongly enough. True it is that they should account for the Leinster men, but complacency can be the foundation for the unlikeliest results. Nevertheless, assuming that Waterford will approach the game in the proper frame of mind I have every confidence in their ability to record a resounding success.

For the benefit of readers, their remaining games are against Limerick (away) and Wexford (home), and the top two teams in the section go forward to the league semi-finals. Wexford, at the moment, appear certain of capturing one of the semi-final "vacancies" and it should be a three-cornered fight between Waterford, Limerick and Dublin for the remaining place. In the other section, Tipperary and Kilkenny, both unbeaten, seem assured of places in the last four, and the semi-final arrangements are for the winners of one section to play the runners-up of the other and visa versa.

MUNSTER HURLERS FOR FINAL FOOTBALLERS DISAPPOINT

Munster will not, after all, be dually represented in the St. Patrick's day Railway Cup finals at Croke Park.

Whilst the hurlers were scoring an unimpressive seven point victory over Connacht's gallant all-Galway selection, the footballers found the Ulster obstacle unsurmountable, and, after leading for the greater part of the hour, eventually went under to the Northerners by a four point margin.

Seldom can a Munster hurling side have failed to impress to such a degree as the star-studded one that did duty on Sunday last. With the exception of Tipperary's Tony Wall and Waterford's Phil Grimes, and Austin Flynn, the remainder will want to quickly forget this game in which they were made travel every inch of the way by a vastly improved Galway team.

The inclusion of former New York star Mike Sweeney at centreback added immeasurably to their defence, and the Loughrea man, figuring in the mercurial persey of his native county for the first time in over three years, gave as magnificent a display as has been witnessed at the Ennis Road venue for many a long day.

It was unfortunate for Mick Flannally, captaining the scatherners of this Railway Cup debut that he should meet Sweeney in such dominating form, and the Sion star stared much better when switched to corner forward in the second half.

Austin Flynn was a tower of strength at full back and seems certain to retain the berth for the final, whilst Grimes, with a personal tally of 2-3, was top-scorer in attack.

Gallant Galway, however, left no carte in defeat. With only ten minutes to go they clung tenaciously to a one-point lead, and it was only at this stage when lack of stamina told its tale that Munster took control. But the seven points that separated the teams at the finish was flattering to say the least.

FOOTBALLERS FAL

Once again the old bogey that has haunted Munster football sides in the Railway Cup proved its ugly head at Croke Park on Sunday, when, after leading by a point at half-time, they completely succumbed in the second round and were a well beaten side before the close.

Neither of the Waterford substitutes, Mick Connolly or Monty Guiry, were called upon although it was surprising that the latter was not introduced

JUNIOR HURLING GAMES IN THE WEST ON SUNDAY

There is an equitable distribution of junior hurling games in the current winter league competition on Sunday next, with Dungarvan, Cappoquin and Lismore all staging games of more than average interest.

At the Fraher field, Affane, unmistakably football conscious these days, meet Kilgobinet in a game that could well go either way. Affane have long been outstanding exponents of the camogie code, and now that they have hit the headlines in football, they will doubtless be equally anxious to do likewise in hurling.

In Sean Buckley, Paddy McGrath, Bob Troy and company they have topclass hurlers, and they will be no push-over on Sunday.

Kilgobinet, I am told, are taking this competition very seriously and on Sunday will include three new "signings" from Dungarvan, John and Tommy Woods and Mikeen Lyons. All the other regulars will be on duty, and the team will certainly not lack anything in experience.

As stated, it should be a very close-fought game, but Kilgobinet strike me as having that slight edge, a view they may have consolidated at the end of the hour on Sunday.

AT CAPPOQUIN

The Cappoquin game brings Clanna Gael (Ring) and Tallow into opposition in a game that the Brideside combination are strongly fancied to win. Ring, however, have some fine hurlers, notably the Hartly brothers, Tommy Joe, Pat and Jim, and they will not be beaten easily.

AT LISMORE

The picturesque Castle Farm ground at Lismore stages a two game programme, the highlight of which is the meeting of Geraldines and Ballyduff.

Both teams are undoubtedly amongst the strongest in this grade in the Western division. Ballyduff it is true, may be somewhat below full strength on this occasion, because of the afflictions of emigration, but with such stars as Joe Daly, Mick Quirk, Shamie Flynn and their disposal, they will be formidable opposition indeed.

Out Aglish way there is a firm belief that their junior hurlers will make a forceful impact on the championship scene this year, and Sunday next could well throw added light on that contention. Make no mistake about it, however, they possess the personnel to take them a long way this year, and I believe they have the beating of the Reds on Sunday.

Paddy Kennedy, Stylo Riordan, Mickey and Bill Downing and Jim Joe Landers are the key men on the side, and they should be good enough to overcome the hard-hitting Ballyduff side.

CAPPOQUIN FANCIED

In the second game at this venue, Cappoquin, with a practically full strength side can hardly be opposed, enthusiastic and all as the challenge of Ballinameela is certain to be.

Cappoquin, like Geraldines, have their sights trained on the championship this year, and they will be extra keen to create a favourable impression on Sunday. They are, on all signs, a team entitled to a confident vote.

As it may, Ballinameela are determined to tear the Corn back to shreds, and are in no way overawed by the strength of the Cornerstone opposition. In Pekie McCarthy, Tommy Reynolds, Dado Cliffe and John Joe Maher, they have hurlers of the first water, but they are most unfortunate that such accomplished performers as Mikeen Cashman, Jim Killy, Marnie Cliffe, Jim Kelleher and John Brown are unavailable for a variety of reasons. Had they been available the issue would hardly be the sport cut and dried one as at present.

Waterford Must Master Carlow

VITAL LEAGUE POINTS AT STAKE

THE trials, triumphs and tribulations of the past year have now taken their respective places in the annals of history. A new Gaelic year is dawning and the rival inter-county contestants prepare to launch their all-out assaults on the coveted trophies that remain to be won. Presently the National hurling league is the main concern of the Deise county and as holders they take what, for them, will be a very important step towards the retention of their title on Sunday next when they meet Carlow at Walsh Park.

The glittering prize for this year's league champions is a trip to New York next October, but already Waterford's hopes have been seriously jeopardised by a defeat by Dublin, and victory on Sunday is of the utmost importance to them. Thus a game which ordinarily would arouse precious little interest has become an encounter of immense significance; a game in which defeat would finally put paid to the aspirations of that valued trip to the States.

Carlow have as yet to win a game in their section having failed to both Dublin and Wexford. Against the Metropolitanans, however, there was only a goal in it at the end, a feat let me stress that was narrower than the one suffered by Waterford at the hands—or should I say hurleys—of the Dubliners. In that light complacency is unjustified and these Carlow men must be treated with the highest respect.

Waterford's defeat by Dublin has, of course, left them in the unenviable position of having to secure maximum points in their remaining games—a formidable task indeed when one considers that Wexford and Limerick must still be encountered.

Nor has the indifference of their displays since that best forgotten All-Ireland final failure helped to assess with either confidence or accuracy their true present status. The drawn and replayed League finals against the Yanks only showed weaknesses that must be remedied whilst their pathetic performance in Croke Park against a no better than average Dublin team causes one to place an outside question mark beside the team in general.

CHANGES EXPECTED

Changes were of course expected, but the most significant feature of Sunday's side is the impact the Ballygunner selector has had. The Gunnors for the first time in the club's history have succeeded in getting three representatives on the side, although only one of the trio can be termed a questionable selection.

INEXPLICABLE

This is goalkeeper Pat Flynn making his inter-county debut and the decision to give him preference over Ned Power is baffling to say the least. It was Power more than anyone else who deprived the Americans of victory in the fiery league replay in Kilkenny with as superb a display of net-minding as I have ever

PHIL GRIMES (Waterford)

Hearne will, of course, be under careful scrutiny at centre back where he is flanked by the Mount Sion pair Larry Guinan and Jimmy Byrne.

Once again the selectors have placed their midfield trust in John Kirwan and John Meaney. Both are exceptionally fine hurlers, yet, to-date have failed to hit it off as well as expected. Let's hope Sunday will see a vast improvement.

With Cheasty still an absentee, the attack more or less picked itself. Mick Flannely continues to operate on the forty, while Vinny Connors, the Ballygunner stylist is given another opportunity of staking a claim to first team permanency. The problem player of this half-line is undoubtedly Frankie Walsh, who seems to have completely lost his sparkling form of a few years ago. For far too long now he has been disappointingly inept, and if he hopes to remain in favour will have to show considerable improvement soon.

Now that the selectors have apparently dispelled their idea of reverting John Barron back to defence, the full line of attack is the same that pioneered so successfully during the championship of '63. Fortunately these valiant veterans Seamus Power and Grimes are literally toying with the passing years and it is from this trio that I expect the bulk of the Deise scores will come.

At the time of writing the Carlow team has not been announced but such as Brendan Hayden, Pat Somers, Willie Walsh and Willie Hogan will backbone their challenge. They may, however be without star midfielder Paddy O'Connell, as this former Tipperary minor has been chosen on the Rest of Leinster team that plays Kilkenny in Nowlan Park.

As stated, it is a game Waterford simply cannot afford to lose. That they have the personnel and ability to record a convincing win, I have no doubt but overconfi-dence would merely be the height of folly. Carlow can be a most effective combination and if treated indifferently it would be well within their compass to spring a surprise. But Waterford, quite obviously realise the consequences of another defeat and I cannot visualise them "slipping up" in that respect. It is not by any means the ideal hurling blend that has been chosen but they can overcome the Leinster men with something to spare and in doing so put themselves back in the hunt for league honours.

The Waterford team is — P. Flynn (Ballygunner); T. Cunningham (Dungarvan); A. Flannely (Mt. Sion); F. Walsh (do.); S. Power (do.); J. Barron (De La Salle); P. Grimes (Mount Sion).
Subs.—E. Power, J. Condon, J. McGrath, J. O'Brien, E. Walsh.
