Teachers' Salary Increases Refused

BY 7 votes to 3 the members of Waterford Vocational Education Committee at their monthly meeting on Tuesday last refused the 12% National wage increase to the Vocational teachers. At the conclusion of the meeting the new C.E.O., Mr. J. Rushe, said he was gravely disappointed by the Committee's decision and it could well mean that their teachers would be working under frustration.

When Mr. Rushe read out the salary scales for the teaching staff... all of whom were involved, Mr. Norman Walsh said they certainly provided food for thought. He asked if they had to grant the increases.

The C.E.O. then read a letter from the Dept. stating that the Minister urged their immediate and full implementation.

Mr. Walsh said they had already been given increases in August last and now they were looking for another and wanted it retrospective to Feb. 1st. It was a great country, he added.

Mr. Charles Curran said the trouble was that the gap was too wide between public officials and the ordinary worker. £7 a week was the average wage of the small farmer today and there was bound to be discontent.

Mr. Walsh said social justice meant nothing now such were the increases being given to the officials.

The Chairman (Ven. Archdeacon Power) said he felt they were bound to give them.

Mr. Curran said in other public bodies when they rejected increases the Minister over-rode them and granted them over their heads.

Mr. Walsh proposed and Mr. Curran seconded that they reject the applications.

Mr. M. O'Donnahill proposed and Mrs. C. Griffin seconded that they be granted.

Mr. O'Donnahill's amendment was defeated by 7 votes to 3.

The voting was—For: Messrs O'Donnahill, Rev. T. C. Butler and Mrs. Griffin.

Against—Messrs. Montayne, Walsh, Fahey, Harty, Curran, O'Leary, Power.

Also defeated was a similar amendment for a 2% increase by the C.E.O. was defeated by 4 votes to 2.

Mr. Norman Walsh, proposing that the increase be granted said the subject ran with the hare and not with the hound.

Mr. Charles Curran seconded. Mr. O'Donnahill proposed and Mrs. Griffin seconded that the increases be given.

FIRST MEETING
At the conclusion of the meeting, Mr. Rushe said this was his first meeting and he was only feeling his way. He did not desire to enter into any controversy whatever with any member, and he thought their relationship should be one of mutual respect. He felt it would be unfair to the teachers, however, if he did not voice his disappointment at the Committee's rejection of their salary increases. He was not interested in his own case, but he thought the teachers were worthy of the increases. They were agreed upon by arbitration and to reject the offer now was a vote of no confidence in the Vocational Authority's two members that were on that Board. This 12% was intended for the teachers as

On the proposal of Mrs. C. Griffin, seconded by Mr. M. O'Donnahill, it was decided at Tuesday's meeting of Waterford Vocational Education Committee to grant the 12% national wage increase to the Committee's clerical staff. It was stated that £102 was involved.

Mr. Norman Walsh dissented. The 12% was also granted to the caretakers employed in the various technical schools.

"JOBBERY" REMARK REPEATED

A remark by Mr. Norman Walsh at a meeting of Waterford Vocational Education Committee a month ago alleging that the appointment of Mr. T. F. Maher to the post of Vice-Principalship at Dungarvan Technical School was jobbery, was emphatically refuted by Mr. Charles Curran at last Tuesday's meeting of the Committee.

Mr. Curran said he never indulged in personalities but as he was the one that proposed Mr. Maher for the post he felt an answer was necessary.

"Mr. Walsh," said Mr. Curran, "opposed the appointment as he was quite entitled to do, but he said it was jobbery and that there was more to it than met the eye. I remained silent then because I did not want to cause any embarrassment to the Reverend chairman. But my silence was misunderstood and I refute that statement."

Mr. Maher and I have been very close friends for 30 years. I am a very humble person and all I have in public life is my good name and I hope to keep that. Mr. Walsh and I have always been very good friends and I hope we remain that way also, but the word jobbery in this case has a sinister meaning and is akin to corruption. That is the most serious allegation that could be made against anyone in public life. I refute it emphatically.

Mr. Walsh said he made the statement and he would stand over it. He was very surprised when Mr. Curran did not reply at the last meeting but now after a month he has been pushed into it by some of his intimate friends. Silence, he said, is golden, and Mr. Curran remained silent. No one would be his mouth here.

Replying to Mr. Walsh, the C.E.O. said the allowance to Mr. Maher for his appointment as vice-principal could come to about £225.

Mr. Walsh—No one will pipe me down for making a statement.

WEDDING BELLS

The marriage took place at the Holy Cross Church, Carrishalton, Surrey, of Seamus, son of the late Patrick and Mrs. Norris, Bellacourt, Dungarvan, and Bride Hayes, daughter of Mrs. and the late Thomas Hayes of Curra, Belgooly, Co. Cork. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. Ryan, with Nuptial Mass and Papal Blessing.

Mr. Patrick Norris, brother of the bridegroom, was bestman. The bride, in a dress of turquoise blue and white accessories, was given away by her cousin, Mr. Denis Donovan. Mrs. Griffin, cousin of the bride, was matron of honour. The reception was held at the Red Lion Hotel, Sutton.

Progress in Kilmac Technical School

At last Tuesday's meeting of the Waterford Vocational Educational Committee, the new C.E.O. Mr. J. Rushe said that a drawing for the new technical school at Kilmacthomas had been sent to the Architect in Clonmel who had stated he will submit the required documents by April 28th.

The Chairman (Ven. Archdeacon Power) said it was good to know they were moving at last.

Mr. Rushe said he believed this had been going on since 1933.

CO. COUNCIL ELECTS PASSAGE MAN

Colr. Richard Walsh, Crook, Passage East, was elected a director of the newly formed South Regional Tourism Organisation at a meeting of Waterford County Council on Monday last. There were four nominations for the post and in the final count, Colr. Walsh defeated Colr. Ml. Morrissey by 10 votes to 6.

The four nominated candidates were Colrs. Walsh, Morrissey, O'Dowd and Cahill.

Colr. Norman Walsh said it was something they should try to be unanimous about. There was no point in being divided on it.

Replying to Colr. Michael Harty, the County Secretary Mr. J. G. Dowling said they contributed the minimum of £500 to the new Council this year.

Colr. Harty—in plain language the thin edge of the wedge. Will the whole county benefit or just part of it?

The Chairman (Colr. Curran) said the Council had been set up to provide tourist amenities for certain areas including Waterford and they were raising funds. Wexford and Carlow refused to contribute but after representations had been made Carlow gave £100.

Colr. Harty said they should consider adjourning the matter to the next meeting to enable them to get more information. We are being asked, he said, to vote a member to this body of which we have not got a lot of information.

Colr. Curran said they were not competing in this contribution every year. It would come before them annually.

A vote was then taken and Colrs. Morrissey and Walsh got five votes each; Colr. Dowd four, and Colr. Cahill 3.

Colr. Cahill was then eliminated and his votes were distributed. One of his voters, however, declined voting the second time and the remaining two votes were divided between Colrs. Walsh and Morrissey. Colr. Dowd was then eliminated and when his votes were distributed, Colr. Walsh was elected by 10 votes to 6.

The voting was—For: Walsh—Colrs. R. Walsh, Curran, Harty, Foran, O'Ryan, Dowd, Montayne, Cahill, Galvey, Kenneally.

For Morrissey—Colrs. Morrissey, Kyne, Fahey, Heskin, N. Walsh, Madden.

Thanking the members for electing him, Colr. Walsh said he would do everything in his power to promote tourism in Waterford because it was one of the most neglected counties in Ireland. They had healthy rivalry to-day and any of the other nominated candidates would do as good a job as he hoped to do.

'MAKE SURE MAKE SILAGE'

The introduction of the forage harvester has simplified the making of good silage in a very real way over the past few years. The farmer who has got a robbed silo and a forage harvester at his disposal can now make ample provision for the wintering of his own cows and cattle. Hay-making is a risky business, taking one year with another, and unless one is using tripods or artificially drying it in the barn, the losses involved in food nutrients in hay-making are quite heavy.

DEATH OF MR. M. MURRAY

It is with deep and sincere regret we record the death of Mr. Michael Murray, 70, of Ballysaggart, which sad event occurred at Lismore District Hospital, on Sunday, 5th April. The deceased gentleman, who had reached an advanced age, was a member of the farming community. Possessed of a very quiet and friendly disposition, he was a most popular figure. He will be sadly missed by his many friends, but more especially by his sorrowing relatives, to whom we tender our deepest sympathy.

The remains were removed to St. Carthage's Church, on Monday evening and were received and blessed by Very Rev. Canon Dunphy, P.P., V.F., assisted by Rev. Fr. Quailly, C.C., and Rev. Fr. Slattery, C.C., and the interment took place in St. Mary's Cemetery, Ballysaggart, on Tuesday, the same clergy officiating at the grave-side. Large and representative corteges attended both funeral and burial.

DEATH OF MR. J. WOLONEY

The death occurred at Lismore District Hospital, on Sunday, April 5th, of Mr. John Woloney, Coolshane, Lismore. A most popular member of the farming community, the deceased gentleman had earned himself countless friends by his cheerful and unassuming manner. He will be sadly missed by all, but more especially by his sorrowing family and relatives to whom our deepest sympathy is extended.

The remains were removed to St. Carthage's Church on Monday evening and were received and blessed by Very Rev. Canon Dunphy, P.P., V.F., assisted by Rev. Fr. Slattery, C.C., and Rev. Fr. Quailly, C.C., and the interment took place in St. Mary's Cemetery, Ballysaggart, on Tuesday, the same clergy officiating at the grave-side. Large numbers of sympathisers attended both funeral and burial.

Requiem Mass was celebrated for the happy repose of his soul on Tuesday morning, and the burial took place immediately afterwards in the adjoining cemetery, the same clergy officiating at the grave-side. Large numbers of sympathisers attended both funeral and burial.

BALLINVELLA GUILD

Our President, with almost a full attendance of members, opened our April 'Guild Night' with usual prayer. Visitors from Lismore Guild were welcomed by the President. Mrs. T. O'Leary gave a detailed report of the A.G.M. held in Dublin. Our President gave a report on the Co. Federation meeting. The guild were lucky to be drawn for the Michael Scholastic and a member will avail of same.

It was decided to hold a special meeting on April 27th, re the A.C.W. Conference. Mrs. B. Pearce (President) was appointed Convenor and Mrs. E. Schiller, Production Officer.

Amidst applause, Miss Deriva Murphy, wearing Tibetan Costume, arrived at the meeting. Even though a member of our guild, Miss Murphy was Guest Speaker that night, and listening to her most impressive and educational account of her adventurous tour to India was a story which many would long to hear. Miss Murphy also explained in detail her voluntary work in a Tibetan Camp where eleven handicapped children were being cared for.

All members were unanimous in joining with our President in thanking Miss Murphy for a most interesting story, and wishing her bon voyage on her next tour of India.

Many lovely articles were on show for the competition which was won by Mrs. W. Hennessey. Second came Miss K. D. Barry. Competition for May: "nicest cup and saucer." Mrs. F. O'Connell won the raffle prize.

Mrs. M. Hyland very ably entertained us with an account of her outing with county members, when they were guests to such a tour of Messrs. A. Guinness, Son & Co. GREAT VALUE IN SOWING MACHINES

We would like to draw the attention of our readers to an advertisement appearing in this issue. We refer of course to the amazing low-price sewing machines offered by the Lismore Draper and Outfitter, Tim Hegarty. More popularly known as the "Brother" Model this electric machine has met with enormous demand since it was first introduced in this country, and it now comes to county Waterford at the fantastically low price of £19-19-0.

Incidentally, a qualified demonstrator has been in Mr. Hegarty's premises since Monday last, giving free advice to customers; and she will continue to do so until tomorrow (Saturday) evening.

LISMORE POINT-TO-POINT RACES. Once again the time has come for the annual meeting of the Lismore Point-to-Point Races, and with weather permitting, a record crowd is expected to patronise this very popular meet, at the picturesque Castle Farm course, on Wednesday next, April 22nd.

A very large number of entries have already been received, and it is expected that when entries close on tomorrow (Saturday) an all-time record number of runners will have been received.

Five races in all will be run and with very valuable trophies, plus £235 in prize-money to be won, a great evening's sport should be witnessed.

ANNUAL RACE DANCE

The annual race dance will be held on the night of the races, at the Town Hall, Lismore, and a packed hall is expected. The committee in charge have been fortunate in securing one of the south's leading bands and indeed, no stone has been left unturned to make Wednesday night next a real gala night.

Our President, welcomed our guest speaker Mrs. Fowler, who gave a demonstration and talk on "The Brother" ultra-modern de-luxe sewing machine. This demonstration was made available by the kind cooperation of Mr. T. Hegarty, Main St., Lismore. Mrs. Fowler explained the different stitches and the numerous things which can be done with this machine. The demonstrators were very impressed an event home full of new ideas about home dress-making.

The Competition was won by Mrs. D. Lee. Tickets for the Guinness Barrell, which was on show in the Arcade window, were to be had at the meeting. To conclude the evening tea was served and enjoyed by all.

There was a large attendance of members at the April meeting of above, and several important items were discussed and many ideas were put forward among them, an outing to Cork in the near future. The jubilee cup fashion show, which will be held in Dungarvan, on April 23rd and the Choir Festival in Cork on April 30th also came up for discussion.

A group meeting to elect a covenor will be held in Cappoquin on April 21st and as many as possible are asked to attend.

The remains were removed to St. Carthage's Church on Monday evening and were received and blessed by Very Rev. Canon Dunphy, P.P., V.F., assisted by Rev. Fr. Slattery, C.C., and Rev. Fr. Lismore may not lose Library Centre

YET another attempt to transfer the Library Headquarters in the County from Lismore to Dungarvan was made at a meeting of Waterford County Council on Monday last. Mr. D. Foley, a director of An Comhairle Leabharlanna addressed the meeting at length on the matter and urged the members to make the centre in the interests of the people of the County. But when a vote was taken... a vote that has the significance only of an expression of opinion, the members considered by an overwhelming 15-3 majority that the centre should remain in Lismore.

At the outset, Colr. H. R. Dowd said that at the last meeting of the County Council they called for the presence of Mr. Foley, the County Librarian. Mr. Foley said the staff question had been considered also. Every Co. Librarian has had to move at some time or another, and he himself has had to move five times. This was a very important question and sympathisers as they were about the moving of staff, they could not let it stand in the way of the interests of the people of Co. Waterford.

Mr. Foley said the place where the people of Dungarvan had to get books from would not attract people and just did not measure up.

Colr. Dowd said they had already voted for £10,000 for a new library for Dungarvan. They knew Dungarvan was more populated than Lismore and recognised the rights of the town to have a decent library. But they also saw the justice of leaving the library headquarters in Lismore. In common justice it should be left in Lismore.

When talking about statistics and business, he said, Mr. Foley was very cool. But they should think of economy and efficiency. Also, if the headquarters centre was to be transferred from Lismore, it would mean rooting up four families that had been in the town for years. "This county," he said, "has one of the best library services in Ireland and it has always been administered from Lismore. The site for extending the present headquarters in the town is available, whilst we want to see a good branch library in Dungarvan."

"In the name of God and Justice leave the headquarters in Lismore. Put good branch libraries in Dungarvan and Tramore but this Council should not be badgered or hounded into accepting these grants that we are told will be forthcoming if the centre is in Dungarvan. This Library Council is trying to ram down our throats an idea which if put into effect would be doing an injustice to Lismore and the people of Waterford in general. We in Lismore are proud of the other parts of the county; just as they are proud of us."

Colr. George Heskin said he would appeal to the Council to leave the headquarters in Lismore. It was a ghost town, and despite their efforts they had failed to get an industry for Lismore. It was imperative that it be left in Lismore.

Deputy T. A. Kyne said that whilst it would be regrettable if four families had to move from Lismore, they could not let the interests of that four conflict with the interests of the remainder of the people of Co. Waterford. He felt that they in Dungarvan must have a good building for a library and surely as a matter of common-sense the new library in Dungarvan should be made the headquarters. By not having it in Dungarvan they were refusing grants, and he suggested the Council would be very foolish to turn down the offer.

Colr. Norman Walsh said he wished to endorse everything Colr. Dowd had stated. Lismore was one of those ghost towns they were hearing so much about and it greatly depended on its library there. If the Co. Council decided to retain headquarters in Lismore would the grants be still available?

Mr. Foley said he could not give a direct answer to that question. In another county, however, where they did not agree with his Council's views on another matter, no grant was given.

Colr. N. Walsh: Then if this happens in this case your Library Council must be prepared to accept responsibility.

Mr. Foley: My Council will take responsibility for any decision it makes.

Colr. N. Walsh said he believed the feelings of the Co. Council was that the headquarters should remain in Lismore. They would be abundant in that.

Colr. W. Kenneally said Lismore had already been sanctioned as the centre, and that would have to be recognised before anything could be done.

Colr. Curran: A notice of motion has already been made on the matter.

The County Secretary then stated that it was one day short of six months since the Council had decided that the headquarters remain in Lismore, and a notice of motion to transfer them could not be taken until the six months had expired.

Colr. Dowd then proposed, and Colr. N. Walsh seconded that they tell the Library Council of Ireland that the headquarters are to remain in Lismore.

Colr. Curran (Chairman) said he could put this proposal, but at this stage it was only an expression of opinion by the Council.

The proposal was put to the meeting and carried by 15 votes to 3.

The voting was: For—Colrs. Curran, Whelan, Fahy, Foran, O'Ryan, Dowd, Heskin, Montague, N. Walsh, Cahill, Gallagher, Madden, Morrissey, R. Walsh (19). Against—Colrs. Harty, Kyne, Roche.

Colr. N. Walsh said Mr. Foley now knew where he stood, and he could inform his council of the decision.

Mr. Foley thanked the members for receiving him and said he would report back accurately and fairly what had taken place at the meeting.

School Reference Library Scheme for Co. Waterford We learn from the County Library Headquarters, Lismore that the National School Reference Library Scheme, instituted by the Department of Education, is now almost in full operation in the county. Waterford was one of the five counties selected last year in which trial library schemes would be run. The others were Leitrim, Limerick, Longford, Westmeath and Wick. In County Waterford almost three-quarters of the ninety-five primary schools have now received their consignment of books and the distribution will be completed shortly. The collections include excellent standard reference books, and works on a variety of subjects such as history, literature, botany, music, science etc. They will be used in conjunction with the County Library service school libraries which have been in existence in all schools since the foundation of the service thirty years ago. In County Waterford, the new scheme is under the direction of Mrs. K. Hayes, Co. Librarian and Mr. M. V. Gough, Assistant Co. Librarian.

FISHING ON THE COLLIGAN RIVER At the present time angling is considered one of our major national assets. This is realised by Government bodies dealing with fishing, and they develop and maintain any fishing waters which they may acquire. This they do in the interest of national economy, and to promote our tourist industry. It is reported also that the Minister will take over for development any waters which are not being properly maintained by a private owner, or on which a local angling club is not operating. Therefore for those of us who fish on the Colligan it is of importance to consider what we can do for the river and not always what we can get out of it. It was with this in mind that a year ago the Dungarvan and District Fresh Water Anglers Association was formed. It was of course realised that the permission of the land owners concerned was necessary before the Association could carry on at all, and to all of those who readily gave their permission and goodwill, the members wish to convey their gratitude. Now, one of the main objectives is the restocking of the river with brown trout. It was hoped this year to put in from 5,000 to 10,000 trout fry, but unfortunately, the funds would not run to it, as brown trout fingerlings cost £20 per 1,000 and at present the only funds the Association have are from last year's membership fees. Therefore to help conserve the existing trout stock it was unanimously agreed by all the members not to fish for brown trout for this season. Also, it is expected that next season it will be possible to put extra trout in. In attempting to do something for this river, the cooperation of all anglers is necessary. Some restrictions may be called for, but in our own interests it is essential to combine or we may find that we will have no river to fish in. A meeting will be held on Saturday night next, 18th April, at 8.30 in the C.Y.M.S. Hall, at which it is hoped, all the Colligan river anglers will attend.

On December 27th, 1951, for the first time in a century and a quarter the light on the Skellig was extinguished. The waves of an Atlantic hurricane, lashing the tower one hundred and seventy five feet above high water, sent a piece of rock hurtling through the lantern glass, putting out the light and injuring the keeper on watch. The Great Skellig rock possesses well-preserved remains of an early Christian monastery, consisting of a walled enclosure, still solid and unbroken, several beehive cells, oratories, wells, burial grounds and crosses.

LETTER TO THE YOUGHAL NOTES

Priestown,
 Ballinacult,
 15-4-1964.

Dear Sir,
 Following the defeat of the amalgamation proposals at Ballinacult recently, certain dissatisfaction became evident among some shareholders and suppliers. As a result of this a meeting was called at the Boathouse, Cappoquin, which I attended by invitation.

During the course of the meeting I stated and I quote: "I will do anything to avoid friction, ill-feeling or disunity in the Society..." I also supported, by show of hands, a resolution that the Committee be requested to convene, with a view to seek another vote of the Shareholders. I should point out that it had been intimated at the Meeting that ten members were willing to call a special general meeting, if need be (under rule 41 of the Society's Rules). Subsequent events, however, speak for themselves.

As a member of the Committee of Management of the Knockmeal Society for the past ten years, my primary concern has been, and still is, in the Society's interest and I don't think my "conduct" at Cappoquin merited the criticism levelled against me. As a result of all this my reputation may have been distorted, but my conscience is clear and free. By the way, I have not looked for, nor have I been promised any "big position" for any member of my family in any Co-op. Society in Co. Waterford.

JAMES CONDON.

Waterford Young Farmers to Visit Wales

We learn that on dates yet to be finalised in late May or early June, a party of thirty-six members of Macra na Feirme, drawn from the thirteen clubs in Co. Waterford, will visit Haverford West, Pembrokeshire South Wales, where they will be the guests of the local Young Farmers Club for two or three days. The tour is intended to be a social-educational one and during their stay the party will visit poultry, dairy and pig farms in the district.

The trip is being sponsored by the Waterford Co. Executive of Macra na Feirme and in charge of the arrangements on this side is Co. Treasurer, Mr. J. Collins, a member of the Cappoquin Club.

On arrival at Haverford West, the party will be met by members of the Welsh Club, headed by their Secretary, Miss V. Williams, and each member of the host club will provide accommodation for some of the visitors on their farms during their stay.

It is intended that the Welsh club will visit Ireland in July when the County Executive of Macra na Feirme will be their hosts.

SALMON FISHING

Last week saw no improvement whatever in the salmon catches by drift net in any portion of the tidal area. Draft nets are said to be doing something better and rod anglers are doing very well in the upper reaches of the Blackwater and tributaries. There was a slight improvement on Monday of this week when one boat accounted for five fish. Several boats did not have a single fish for over two weeks, and consequently many of the men are seeking work on the land. The season is now in its 12th week, with only 14 more to go and it is most likely that fishermen will have to rely on grilse to make it a worthwhile season. Grilse usually make their appearance in the first week in May.

CONGRATULATIONS FOR YOUGHAL MAN

Congratulations from all quarters have been received by Coxswain Dick Hickey of the Youghal Life-Boat, who on last week, at the annual meeting of the Royal National Life-Boat Institution at Westminster, London, was presented with a bronze medal for gallantry in connection with the rescue operation of members of a fishing trawler driven on the rocks in Ardmore Bay. The presentation, which was attended by Mr. Gordon Good as Chairman of the Youghal Urban Council, was made by Princess Marina, Duchess of Kent.

NEW INCUMBANT AT YOUGHAL

Rev. Thomas H. Robinson, M.A., Chaplain to the Missions of Seamen, Mombassa, South Africa, was instituted as incumbent of St. Mary's Collegiate Church, Youghal, last week by Rt. Rev. Dr. Perdue, Bishop of Cork, Cloyne and Ross. The preacher was Rev. N. R. Hamilton and the lay read was Mr. C. Merchant, with Mr. J. B. Jermyn, Diocesan Registrar, who administered the declaration. Rev. Robinson was ordained in 1957 and was Curate at St. Clement's, Belfast, until 1960, when he was appointed to the Mission at Mombassa. He replaces Rev. A. O. Peare, M.A., who was transferred to Skibbereen.

NEW RESCUE CRAFT

The R.N.L. Institution has put into service a new type of life saving vessel during the past year. This is a fast craft capable of a speed of 25 knots and driven by a 40 h.p. outboard motor mounted on a B.E. timber transom. The craft, which is inflatable, is 16 feet long, and constructed of tough nylon material proofed with propylene. It can be manned by two and normally requires only the help of two others for launching. These boats are known as "inshore rescue boats" and eight of them already operate around the British Isles. The new craft is intended for operation close inshore especially in the summer months and is well suited for the rescue of bathers, people cut off by incoming tides. This summer 25 such rescue boats will be in service and it is expected that this country will have a few in the not too far distant future.

Kilmacthomas Notes
Following a comparatively short illness and in the fullness of his years, Mr. Augustine (Gusty) Morrissey, Monksdown, Dublin, died in St. Michael's Hospital, Dunleary, on Monday last week, 5th inst. (Feast of St. Ferrer). A native of the Burgery, Abbeyside, he emigrated to the U.S. early in life, and wasn't long in Uncle Sam's clime when he took up a Government position, in which he had carried out the duties and maintained the traditions of his high post with conspicuous capability right up to completing the set span of service in 1953, when he retired in receipt of full pension.

Dungarvan Brass and Reed Band
The parades of the local Brass and Reed Band on St. Patrick's Day, and on Easter Sunday last, have been the subject of reasonably fair comment among all sections of the community. Over the past few years the appearances of the band have been few and far between, and the quality of performance was, to say the least, far from impressive. This unwelcome state of affairs was in the main due to some of the members losing interest completely, leaving the remainder struggling unsuccessfully against numerical odds.

ANNUAL REVIEW OF AGRICULTURE N.F.A. NEWS

Last week's discussions on farm income and the development of Irish agriculture marked a new departure in relations between the Government and organised farmers in this country. While such consultations have been an established practice in other countries for many years, the lack of a really representative farming organisation has been a stumbling block here in the past. Now things have changed and the N.F.A. and the Minister for Agriculture are to be commended in agreeing to review the agricultural situation with N.F.A. each year before the Budget is finalised.

As we go to press, hopes are high that these talks will result in a narrowing of the gap between agricultural and industrial incomes. By the time this bulletin appears in print, readers will have had the opportunity of evaluating the Budget in relation to the immediate requirements of agriculture as set out in the N.F.A. "Green Book". The talks which were initiated last week will be extended to cover the more long-term proposals for agricultural expansion put forward in the Government's Second Programme and in the N.F.A. Green Book. It is the Government's view that labour should be rewarded on a productivity basis but the income of farmers and farm workers cannot be measured in terms of individual productivity. Inadequate marketing, trade restrictions and artificially depressed export prices make productivity meaningless in monetary terms. The 12% increase recently awarded to industrial labour, will, it is hoped, be earned by increased productivity during the period which the wage agreement covers. But State and other administrative and service employees have been similarly rewarded even though their contribution to national productivity cannot be directly measured. Last year, agricultural income suffered a setback, and was lower than that of 1962. It is too early yet to forecast the likely trend of this year but it is quite clearly that costs will be up substantially. "Prosperity, no matter what we may do in other sections, depends on our ability to make agriculture prosperous."

POTATO PRICE LESS THAN PRODUCTION COST

The first consignment of surplus potatoes from Co. Louth was sent to the Carrow starch factory at Ballina, Co. Mayo, this week over the next six or eight weeks thousands of tons will be sent, but unfortunately, the actual price producers will receive will be well below cost of production levels. The decision to re-open Carrow factory resulted from representations made through N.F.A. to Ceimici Teo. and the Departments of Agriculture and Industry & Commerce. Producers are naturally disappointed that means could not be found to enable prices to be fixed at least equivalent to cost of production. The present arrangement amounts to nothing more or less than providing a means of disposal without total loss. Because of the high labour content involved in the cultivation of potatoes, production generally is confined to small farms and consequently the less in expected revenue will be a severe blow to these people. It is hoped, however, that the plans and recommendations on potatoes contained in the N.F.A. document in relation to farm income and agricultural development will now be adopted so that producers may be safeguarded against a repetition of this season's problems.

CO-OPERATIVE LAW NEEDS OVERHAUL

The recent report by the Committee on Co-operative Societies attempts to examine the content of the laws which govern them, with a view to making suggestions on how they might be improved. Since the main law is now 70 years old, many of its provisions are so out of date as to hinder the development of co-operation. Figures quoted show that agricultural co-operatives have about four times the assets and a much bigger membership

SEEN BY CHILD

Said Mr. Organ senior: "When I saw the fire was spreading I turned the boat towards shallow water over the sandbank that runs out along the harbour. There we jumped overboard and took two of the flooring boards with us as makeshift raft." Meanwhile, two mile across the harbour, on the seafloor, at Abbeyview, four-year-old Neasa Lannen was playing in front of her parents house and saw the fire out at sea. She ran in and told her father, Mr. Tom Lannen, M.C.C., "The sea is on fire."

than non-agricultural co-operatives. It is curious, therefore, that the terms of reference of the Commission specifically exclude "Societies concerned with agricultural pursuits" from their deliberations. Nevertheless, it is hoped that the needs of agricultural co-operatives will be as carefully considered as those of other law for all is to be amended.

STATE AID TO AGRICULTURE

Allegations are frequently made that State aid to agriculture amounted to £39 million for the year 1963/64 and it is implied that all this money went into the farmer's pockets. This claim does not stand up to serious examination because the figure mentioned includes many subsidies and grants which should not be charged to the Account of agriculture. Included in the published break-down of the £39 million we find grants for Industry, Grants for Education, Expenditure on social services and remission of Tax.

On the other hand when State Aid to Industry is mentioned, there is no reference to grants towards industrial education or to the remission of income tax or profits tax. An accurate comparison between State Aid to agriculture and industry respectively would show that if we are to accept the figure of £39 million for agriculture, the corresponding figure for industry would be at least £300 million. Even if the £39 million were an accurate figure the following comparison with other countries shows it in its true perspective: State aid per person engaged in agriculture: United States, £370; Britain, £310; Germany, £127; Ireland, £78.

MOVEMENT OUT OF AGRICULTURE

The O.E.C.D. economic survey of Ireland which has just been published suggests that the Government should facilitate the movement of labour out of agriculture rather than risk, through price support, the production of unabsorbable surpluses. Before accepting this comment we must: (1) Ensure that our selling methods are as efficient as possible; (2) Establish a system of vocational training methods that will enable surplus labour from the land to be retrained for industrial work instead of being thrown on the scrapheap of emigration; (3) Ensure that industrial employment opportunities are offered as well as facilities for retraining. The O.E.C.D. report also states that if the balance of payments deficits are to be kept within bounds, there will have to be a considerable effort to increase exports. The chief weakness of the Government's Second Programme lies here. Our industrial exports have so large a content of imported raw materials that they cannot by themselves control the balance of payments.

LAND BILL AT CRITICAL STAGE

The Oireachtas Committee of N.F.A. has requested an early meeting with the Minister for Lands to discuss in greater detail the points made by the Committee in their memorandum on the Land Bill. On conclusion of the Daily Debate on the Budget the Land Bill is the major item of business occupying the attention of Deputies. The more attractive features of the Bill have already got through on the Committee stage and some controversial proposals to give far-reaching powers to the Land Commission are just about to be reached.

QUESTION-I have some home grown barley left over which I want to feed to some pigs. Can you suggest a suitable ration which I can mix on the farm or should I purchase a suitable pig meal?

ANSWER-There are a number of different rations which you could feed to store pigs, depending on how much concentrate you are prepared to purchase to mix with the barley meal. A suggested mixture would be 31 cwt. Barley meal and 1 cwt. pure fish meal and 1 cwt. high protein meal (soya bean meal). Add 1 lb. high grade vitamin-mineral supplement to each cwt. of above mixture. Perhaps you have skim milk available and of course the above mixture should be adjusted if this product is fed. The convenience of feeding a purchased pig meal which is scientifically compounded is worth considering, as the mixing on the farm is not always satisfactory.

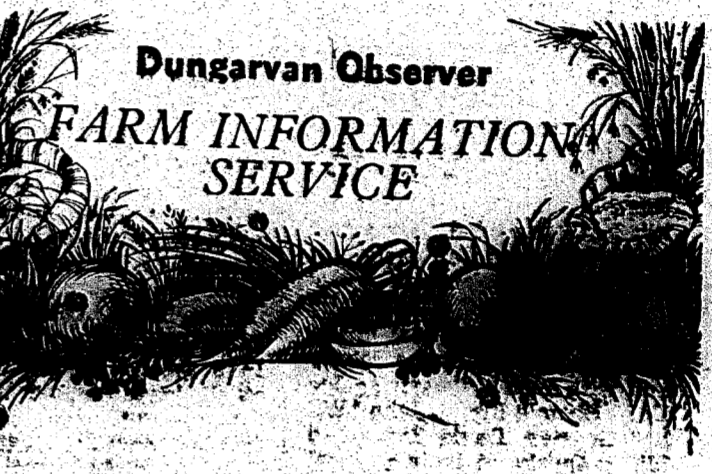

Q-When planting seed potatoes, is it wise to cut large tubers? What are the reasons against this practice?

A-Potato tubers for seed purposes should be the correct size, that is between 2 1/2" or approximately the size of a hen's egg. It is found necessary to cut tubers, only large tubers should be used and the cut sets planted as soon as possible after cutting. When delay in planting is unavoidable, the cut sets should be stored in a cool, dark store and not allowed to dry out by exposure to sun and wind. There are certain varieties of potatoes, namely Ulster Prince, Ulster Fremery and Dufferin River which are not suitable for cutting, as they are prone to dry rot and some of the cut sets do not grow. The result is a poor stand of plants and of course resulting low yields.

Q-I have four acres of Malling Barley which received a dressing of 3 cwt. 4.14 fertilizer per statute acre as sowing time the end of February. Should I give a top dressing of Nitrogen as the crop looks poor at present?

A-This is a difficult problem to answer without seeing the crop. You say the crop is looking poor now and this is the result of the excessive rainfall and cold wind during March-April. Nitrogen and growth have been severely affected, but given some kinder weather this might be the crop should improve and give satisfactory yields.

The application of Nitrogen at the grass-cutting stage may increase the yield but it will definitely have an adverse effect on the wintering quality of the grass. If the fertility of the field was not very high I would have considered so apply 4.5 cwt. of the 100 nitrogen compound at sowing time to encourage growth in the early stages, than to consider applying Nitrogen later on, with undesirable effects on the grain.

GAELIC JOTTINGS

DUNGARVAN CAN MASTER BALLYDUFF

Top club game of the day in the West on Sunday next is the meeting of Dungarvan and Ballyduff Upper in the first round of the junior hurling championship at Cappoquin.

Many eyelids blinked this year when it became definitely known that Dungarvan were seeking regrading from senior to junior ranks.

Not that they could possibly hope for stiffer opposition in this their first game in the lower grade.

Ballyduff are undoubtedly amongst the toughest championship battlers in the county and with such stalwarts as Joe Daly, Shamie Flynn, John "Willie" Gorman, Davie Barry and Mikey Quirke at their disposal they will not be easily beaten.

Dungarvan have prepared assiduously for this game and two challenge games against Abbeyside will have sharpened them up considerably.

The Dungarvan side has not yet been selected but their two Dublin based players Jim Byrne and Michael Lewis are expected to make the journey for the game.

Jim Walsh is a safe and reliable goalkeeper that will not let the side down whilst Mike Fitzgerald, Jimmy Walsh and Johnny Moylan will be the key men in a defence that on paper at least looks eminently sound.

The attack is the real suspect sector of the side but if plentifully supplied they could run up a winning tally.

It seems certain to be a tough and uncompromising game in which victory will not be easily obtained.

But handicapped though they are I still plump ever so slightly for a Ballinameela win.

In a normal circumstances Ballinameela would be strongly fancied to prevail but they will be greatly affected by the absence of Jim Kelleher, Patsy and Mickey Cashman, Jim Kiely and Paddy O'Keefe.

Glen Rovers not unnaturally are very confident of victory and it will be a major surprise amongst followers if Matty Power and company do not prevail.

But handicapped though they are I still plump ever so slightly for a Ballinameela win.

Monny Cliffe, Pakie McCarthy and John Joe Maher and it is the power hurling of these that I expect will swing the game in their side's favour.

OLD RIVALS MEET AT DUNGARVAN

Age old rivals Kilrossanty and Stradbally are in opposition at the Fraher Field on Sunday. But for once it will not be in the big ball code, but in the opening round of the junior hurling championship (2 p.m.).

But whatever code or grade these rivals meet in, there is sure to be excitement and this latest battle between them should be no exception to that long-standing tradition.

There seems certain to be precious little between the sides, but Kilrossanty may be the vital few points in front at the call of time.

OLD PARISH GET THE VOTE

At the same venue (7 p.m.) there is a real novel pairing in the Primary football championship when St. Brigid's from the famed Kilrossanty country meet Old Parish in the opening round.

This is only St. Brigid's second year in the championship whilst Old Parish are back in competitive fare after being defunct for a number of years.

There is absolutely no form to go on in this game and it amounts to little more than guessing when I tip Old Parish to march on to the second round.

AFFANE FANCIED AT LISMORE

In a second round junior football league game at Lismore, Affane, the reigning Primary county champions will be strongly fancied to beat Tourin.

The latter side was most impressive on Sunday last when defeating Ring in the opening round of this competition and I doubt very much if they have the all round strength to halt Jimmy McGrath and his men.

CAPPOQUIN DEFEAT LISMORE

As expected Cappoquin experienced little difficulty in defeating Lismore in the final of the special junior hurling competition on Sunday last. Cappoquin were masters all the way and their victory was as easily achieved as the 6-5 to 1-1 scoreline in their favour suggests.

VOTE OF SYMPATHY

At a specially convened meeting of the Geraldines hurling and football clubs a vote of sympathy was passed with Johnny Longan on the death of his mother.

Tipp Best in Challenge

TIPPERARY 3-5; WATERFORD 2-6

A near full strength Waterford team gave a most disappointing display in last Sunday's senior football challenge against Tipperary at Dungarvan, who were in no way flattered or undervalued by their narrow victory.

From a Waterford viewpoint the encounter was even more discouraging because of the fact that Tipp. were without six of their recognised regulars. They seldom displayed the form that carried them on so auspicious a league run, and except for the opening quarter were always toiling.

They started in very lively fashion and inside of five minutes had taken four point lead thanks to a point by Mick Regan and a really well taken goal by Tommy Joe Hartly. But this early spurt only flattered to deceive and thereafter for the most part the visitors held the upper hand.

But some atrocious shooting by the Tipp forwards in the opening half cost them many scores and despite enjoying a territorial advantage they still trailed by 1-2 to 0-3 at half-time.

With the assistance of the strong breeze in the second half Waterford were confidently expected to reap a rich harvest. But they continued to creak in many sectors, particularly at midfield where Martin Kennedy was again completely out of touch and it was Tipp. who proceeded to notch up scores.

In fact for practically the entire third quarter Waterford failed to instigate a worthwhile attack and entering the closing fifteen minutes Tipp. had come from three points in arrears to take a commanding five point lead.

Waterford again took up the running towards the end and whilst succeeding in reducing their deficit they never gave much hope to supporters of salvaging the game and above all prestige.

Tipp. it must be stressed, were full value for their win, even if they also were most unimpressive. But at least their game had a mark of urgency about it and their mentors would appear face less footballing headaches than their Deise counterparts.

They were well served in defence by the Commercial's man, Brian O'Callaghan, midfielders Stephen McCormack and Patsy Dawson, and Mick Moroney, Jack Collison and Babs Keating in attack.

Not for a long time has the Deise side fared so poorly, and many reputations were seriously tarnished.

A notable exception in this respect however was goalkeeper Pat Croly whose excellence between the posts possibly saved his side from a heavier defeat.

The defence as a whole was not at its best and neither of the newcomers Paddy Power or Billy Acheson impressed. Centre back Mick Connolly was easily the one to stand out, whilst Paddy Carlton and Noel Walsh also played well.

Problems emanated from midfield at an early stage where Tom Walsh and Martin Kennedy never struck up a happy understanding.

Walsh had a reasonably good game, but the Kill man, except for scoring a second half goal was seldom seen to advantage.

The Waterford forwards, both collectively and individually were below their best but only Tommy Joe Hartly and to a lesser extent Monty Guiry and Tom Riordan made any impression.

They started in a spirited fashion but were well contained by the Tipp defence as the game wore on.

The Waterford team was P. Croly, P. Carlton, P. Power, M. Tobin, B. Acheson, M. Connolly, N. Walsh, T. Walsh, M. Kennedy, T. J. Hartly, M. Guiry, J. Spratt, J. Hewitt, M. Regan, T. Riordan.

Sean Power (Mitche's) was an able referee.

TOURIN BEST IN POOR GAME

Tourin - 2-2; Ring - 0-3

Tourin qualified to meet Affane in the second round of the junior football league when defeating Ring in Dungarvan on Sunday last. But if the winners were good value for their success, the extent of their winning margin was somewhat flattering and did less than justice to an inexperienced but gallant Ring fifteen.

The standard of football, however, was very low, and quite frankly it is difficult to see the Tourin men advancing much further in this competition. They enjoyed a big physical advantage which at times stood them in good stead, but they were hardly superior by five points on the hour's play.

Playing with the wind in the first half, Tourin had by far the better of the exchanges. Their half backs and midfielders were in domineering vein and their 2-2 to 0-1 interval lead was a true reflection on the trend of the game.

But what a transformation the second moiety brought about. Ring, brilliantly led by Tom Whyte, began to dictate matters, and it was Tourin who were forced back on defence. Weak finishing in attack, however, was Ring's major failing, and many scores went begging because of their shortcomings in attack.

That Tourin failed to raise a single flag in this half is truly significant, and it was only sporadically that they mounted worthwhile attacks.

From one of those they were awarded a penalty when a Ring defender picked the ball straight off the ground in the square, but Jimmy Gorman blazed the spot kick wide.

That miss apart, O'Gorman was one of the Tourin stars, and others to shine were Ollie Wilkinson, Wally Doocey, Jim Murray and Tommy Barry.

In Tom Whyte, Ring had one of the outstanding players on view, and overall, their young side fared none too badly.

SUCCESSFUL CLASHMORE GYMKHANA

Clashmore Gymkhana, held on Sunday, was an outstanding success, both in entries and attendance. There was a well-planned course of eleven fences and the going was excellent. Spectators witnessed some exciting jumping in very favourable weather conditions.

Top honours of the day went to Miss Ursula Ryan, of Golden, Co. Tipperary, when she won both the under £50 novice and the handicap open competition with her horse Joey.

Handicap Open Jumping—1 and O'Brien Cup, Miss Ursula Ryan's Joey (owner); 2, and 3, divided between Mr. Larry O'Byrne's Ben Bella (Mr. John O'Byrne) and Mr. M. Scanlon's Cuchullain (owner).

Under £50 Novice—1, Miss Ursula Ryan's Joey (owner); 2, Mr. Robin Hunt's M.F.H. Bantry Bay (Mr. John O'Byrne); 3, Mr. Kenneally's Mr. Ed. (owner).

Dungarvan Minor League

Two more hurling matches in the Dungarvan Club's league will be played next Sunday.

Both games are rather important and valuable points will be won and lost after what promises to be two very keen struggles. In the first match Mickey Fraher's team will oppose Kevin Flemings, and with both sides locked together at the head of the table, some top-quality hurling is anticipated.

It would not be surprising if the result leaves matters still undecided, for a draw is a likely enough outcome here. This game will get under way at 11 a.m., and those taking part are advised to come in time for the start, may not be delayed to accommodate them.

The second fixture is important also for teams captained by Pat Walsh and Sean McGrath respectively. Either of these sides could yet win out the competition, for though fortune has still to smile on their efforts, there is no denying their talent and enthusiasm.

I would go so far as to predict that one of the eventual finalists at least, will emerge victorious from this pairing. It is expected that this game will commence at 11.45 p.m., and may well be worth a visit.

Waterford Meet Wexford at Tramore

Sunday next is a memorable day for the Gaels of Tramore. It marks the opening of their new Gaelic pitch, Pairi Mac Craith, and to celebrate the occasion Waterford and Wexford meet in what should be a most interesting senior hurling challenge at 7 p.m.

Both counties obviously regard the game as something more than that however, and near full strength selections will do duty for both.

The new pitch is named after a local patriot who was killed in action in 1921 at Pickardstown, Tramore. The present club was formed in 1951 and the special field committee was set up in 1961. Now this latter committee, is reaping the fruits of their hard work and the new field, purchased and developed at a cost of £2,500 is a credit to the seaside club.
