Dept. Not Encouraging Tree Planting

A REFUSAL by the Minister to increase the grant per acre for tree planting was again criticised by members of the Waterford Committee of Agriculture at their monthly meeting in Dungarvan on Saturday last.

In a letter to the C.A.O., Mr. P. Conroy, the Minister said he was quite satisfied the present system of payment was all right and he saw no reason to alter it.

Mr. W. Foran said if the Minister was sincere in his efforts to encourage tree planting he should make a genuine effort to increase the grant. In County Waterford one would not see any great amounts of tree planting and he took a very poor view of that. The acreage in the county for private tree planting was very small and there was room for much improvement.

The Chairman, Mr. Michael

received a navalanche of them. Mr. John Drohan said there was not enough encouragement given to the scheme. The Department of Lands knew the trouble that was involved in tree planting and labour costs were very high. He believed a corresponding grant should be given.

Mr. Harty said they were not doing a good thing for the generations to come if they could solve this problem.

Mr. George Heskin said he believed every farmer should plant.

Mr. J. E. Keane, Ballycree, was fined £10 for the dangerous driving charge on the evening in question. He was ordered to pay a total of £3 expenses. Recognisances were fixed in the event of an appeal.

In evidence Mr. J. P. Foley, Kilmahon, said he was driving his tractor and trailer at about 7 p.m. on March 25th last. He saw a van coming against him and behind the van a motor car. He saw the car go inside the van as though it was going to pass it on the inside and he kept into his own side as he suspected trouble.

The car then came out from the back of the van, but when the driver saw him, he locked his car and his car hit the ditch and capsized. When he went over to the car van in front of them and they were two men lying on the bottom of it. One of them was doing only about 30 miles an hour at the time. He would witness then asked the other man if he would help him quite capable of driving the car and he said no.

INSTRUCTORS TO ATTEND R.D.S. SHOW

On the casting vote of the Chairman, Mr. M. Harty, a proposal by Mr. K. O'Ryan that half the Committee's instructors be sent to the annual R.D.S. Spring Show in Dublin from the 5th to 9th May was passed at the monthly meeting of the Waterford Committee of Agriculture on Saturday last.

Mr. O'Ryan's proposal was seconded by Mr. Norman Walsh.

Mr. M. Galgey proposed that all the instructors be allowed to go at the expense of the Committee. Mr. George Heskin, seconded.

Mr. Sean Whelan said he believed they should allow them to attend, but at their own expense. The proposal that Mr. W. Dower seconded.

Mr. K. Walsh proposed that the committee send half their instructors and that the remainder be allowed to go at their own expense if they wished. He added that the instructors sent by the Committee should report back on what they learnt there. Mr. J. Drohan seconded.

Mr. Galgey's proposal was the first put to the meeting and was defeated by 10 votes to 2. Mr. R. Walsh's and Mr. Whelan's were defeated 7-4 and 7-5 respectively.

Mr. K. O'Ryan's was then put and after a tie (6-6) the Chairman gave his casting vote in favour of the proposal.

Colr. Seeks More Houses for Cappoquin

At a special Housing Committee meeting in Dungarvan on Monday last, Colr. Norman Walsh said there was extreme necessity for six additional non-municipal houses at Cappoquin. Mr. Walsh said the site was developed and as they were needed he felt the Council should go ahead and have them erected.

It was decided to ask the County M.O.H. to give a report on it and state... if in his opinion, the additional houses were needed.

P.O.A. FOR LARCENY CHARGE

Joseph Pratt, 15 Congress Villas, Dungarvan, and Patrick Costigan, 15 Cathal Brugha Place, do., pleaded guilty in Dungarvan District Court on Wednesday to stealing a quantity of copper wire and lead coming against him and he had the property of the Minister to Post and Telegraphs and collision valued at £115.6 on April 6.

Supt. S. Fanning prosecuting out of the car he was unsteady said when intercepted by Garda Begley, the defendants slowly dropped the wire and ran. They later admitted the offence and his speech was not what it should have been. In his (witness) opinion, the defendant was unfit to drive a car.

Mr. A. R. Farrell, Solicitor, said Pratt was a victim of Polio disease and had one previous conviction regarding drunken driving. He said against him, Costigan was one of a family of ten and found it difficult to get work. He had a job awaiting him in England but delayed going until the case against him was heard. He said if given this chance they would not come before the court again.

Judge Skinner said he would hold against the defendant and imposed the already mentioned fines. He added, however, that in future the defendants should be given the option of having a doctor examine them.

Supt. S. Fanning said that before him again they would not get off.

Finer for Careless Driving

Cyril Kelly, Ballycree, Dungarvan, was fined 10/- at the local District Court on Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to careless driving on March 15th.

It was stated that the defendant was going towards Kilmahon on his motorcycle when he tried to pass out a parked van on a corner. A car was approaching from the opposite direction and there was a slight collision between the car and the motorcycle.

Instructor's Position Discussed

When the approval of Mr. J. R. Walsh's appointment as temporary instructor in horticulture and bee-keeping came up for consideration at last Saturday's meeting of Waterford Committee of Agriculture, Mr. Milo Galgey said that Mr. P. O'Shea, another horticultural instructor, who had been indisposed for some time past, should retire and not deprive a younger man of a job.

Mr. Galgey said: "In justice, Mr. O'Shea should go out... on retirement and not be depriving a younger man of the job. I am sure he is in a financial position to do so. For the next meeting I want a detailed account of the amount of work he does and also the number of farmers he visits. If he is not able to do his full job let him go out on pension."

Mr. George Heskin said Mr. O'Shea called on him last week and he was never looking better. Mr. O'Shea also remarked that he had never felt as well in his life.

Mr. Norman Walsh said Mr. O'Shea was quite capable of carrying out his full duties.

Mr. Heskin said he was a very experienced instructor and he personally would not like to dispose with his services.

Mr. N. Walsh said it was not desirable to be drawing Mr. O'Shea's name into this matter at all. Nor would any member of the Committee like to have his eye dissected. Mr. O'Shea gave wonderful service to the county and whilst he was laid up, he was now all right again. He was quite capable of carrying out his full duties.

Mr. John Fahey said Mr. O'Shea was an excellent instructor who had given great service to the Committee of Agriculture and the county. He would not like to see him go. That ended the discussion and the appointment of Mr. J. R. Walsh was approved of for a six months period.

DUNGARVAN, once a household name in Waterford hurling circles has plummeted ingloriously to the depths. This year marked their surrendering of senior status and now has come the greatest blow of all—a first round exit from the junior championship. This catastrophic happening—it cannot be described otherwise, occurred at Cappoquin on Sunday last, when Ballyduff Upper rose to great heights and inflicted a decisive eight points defeat on them.

Just where the Old Boro with bold opportunism, nipped between them and gave goalkeeper Jim Walsh no chance from just outside the square. Following that score Flynn, who had a most uncomfortable first half on Conor Curran in the half forward line, now proceeded to "go to town" from the corner berth. In the 20th and 21st minutes he tacked on points and set the seal on a great second half display with the clinching goal in the 24th minute.

But the remainder of the half Dungarvan pressed strongly but vainly and their only reward was a point from a "70" by John Moylan.

EVENLY BALANCED
 So evenly balanced a side was Ballyduff's that victory for the most part was a team effort in which every man played his part. However, I'm sure I'll be forgiven if I single out right half-forward Michael Murphy for special mention. Murphy roamed all over the field in quest of "work" whilst two delightfully taken points were highlights of a great display.

The defence as a whole played well and got great length into their deliveries. The three Davie Barrys were real stalwarts, as were Donie Kenneally, Eugene Hickey and Mick Caplice, whilst Jimmy Quirke in goal was the essence of soundness.

DIFFICULT
 It is difficult to explain or understand Dungarvan's last quarter collapse. They had trained very hard for the game and would I thought be quite capable of lasting even the most exacting hour. But in the closing stages as the superbly fit Ballyduff men simply ran riot, many of the opposition were clearly physically tired and completely "out of gas."

The winners got off to a dream start when bustling full forward Mikey Quirke goaled from a melee. In the 13th minute Michael Murphy, one of the heroes of the hour, flashed over a grand point from 40 yards, and minutes later the same player repeated "the act."

Then in the 16th minute Dungarvan took over control and inter-county star, Tom Cunningham, playing at centre-forward began to wreak havoc on the Ballyduff defence. He goaled from an acute angle, and after midfielder, Ray Lannon lofted over a spectacular point, Cum gave his side the lead for the first time when he had goal number two in the 20th minute. Ballyduff replied with points by John Gorman and P. Feeney, but Cunningham negated these scores with a brace of minors and the Blues deservedly led by 2-3 to 1-4 at the interval.

Two points to the good and the second half breeze to aid them, Dungarvan appeared well and truly on the road to victory. But what a rude awakening awaited them in the second half. Davie Barry pointed a free in the second minute to cut the arrears to the minimum, and three minutes later the centre back dropped a "70" direct to the net—a goal however that should not have been conceded. Within seconds they tacked on a minor and almost immediately Shamie Flynn stretched his side's lead further with another point.

At this stage Dungarvan mentors switched Cunningham from attack to pivot a now unsteady defence, with Johnny Mahony taking over Cum's role in attack. In the 16th minute this pair were responsible for reducing the deficit to a single point again and in the process throwing the issue wide open. A 21 yard free by Cunningham was only scrambled away and Mahony was on hand to belt the weak clearance past a wall of red-shirted defenders.

DECISIVE SCORE
 But two minutes later came the score that really put the van's championship hopes. As two defenders hesitated perilously near goal, Shamie Flynn with bold opportunism, nipped between them and gave goalkeeper Jim Walsh no chance from just outside the square.

Following that score Flynn, who had a most uncomfortable first half on Conor Curran in the half forward line, now proceeded to "go to town" from the corner berth. In the 20th and 21st minutes he tacked on points and set the seal on a great second half display with the clinching goal in the 24th minute.

But the remainder of the half Dungarvan pressed strongly but vainly and their only reward was a point from a "70" by John Moylan.

GD 251

The midfielders John Gorman and Tom Enright were hard pressed in the opening half but got well on top in the second period.

The lally of 4-9 speaks sufficiently well for the Ballyduff attack. Murphy of course, took the major honours in the sector but Shamie Flynn on his second half display was not far behind. Mikey Quirke caught a real tartar in Mike Fitzgerald but was always dangerous and Maurice Moloney and the Feeneys required constant attention.

What can one say of this disappointing Dungarvan display? For half the hour they played well enough to suggest with reasonable confidence that they would prevail but were powerless to contain the second half onslaughts that eventually submerged them.

Goalkeeper Jim Walsh might be faulted for the second goal, but otherwise did nothing wrong.

In the full back line Mick Fitzgerald easily took the honours with a really fine display and had his best game to date in the club jersey. Pat Curran also played well although he faded towards the close.

Both at centre back and centre forward Johnny Mahony was one of the stars of the side and did all in his power to curtail the Ballyduff supremacy. For half an hour Connor Curran played the proverbial blinder, but tired badly after the resumption, whilst Monny Coward seldom seemed at ease at right half.

Of the midfielders, Ray Lannon was best can in no way be blamed for defeat. The attack had a real lopsided appearance and with the exception of Tom Cunningham seldom threatened danger.

Cunningham accounted for 2-2 of the total whilst the remainder of the original attacking set failed to raise a flag between them. Corner forwards Patie Geoghegan and Michael Whelan both tried hard but lack of weight told against both.

Late James Sheehan

SHEEHAN, STRABALLY

The death occurred on Monday, April 13th, at Ardkeen General Hospital, Waterford, of James Sheehan, Sheekin, after a duration of illness and at the fullness of years. His passing will be long mourned, as he had a warm and cheerful personality.

We extend our deepest sympathy to his family and relatives. May the spirit of heaven shine on his soul.

The remains were removed on Tuesday evening, followed by a large and most representative cortege, to Strabally Church and were buried and received by Rev. Fr. M. Kennel, C.C.

Requiem Masses were offered on Wednesday morning for the eternal repose of his soul, and the funeral took place to the Carrigrohane Cemetery, where the interment took place in the adjoining family plot. Another large concourse were present. Very Rev. J. Roche, P.P., Abbeville, officiated and recited the prayers for the dead at the graveside.

Large numbers of Mass cards were received by his sorrowing family.

The chief mourners were: James Sheehan, Sheekin, Sean Sheehan, Englan, Christopher Sheehan, do., William Sheehan, do., Matthew Sheehan, Scotland (sons); Mrs. Mary Murray, England (daughter); Michael Sheehan, Ballycotton (brother); Mrs. A. Loneragan, Leamybrien (sister).

(Funeral arrangements were by J. Ke've & Sons, Shandon, Dungarvan.)

Special National Council Meeting on Budget

N.F.A. NEWS

The effect of the recent Budget on agriculture was considered at a special meeting of the National Council of the N.F.A., held in Dublin last week. Representatives from every county attended and reported on the reactions of farmers expressed at branch and county meetings held in every county within the previous two days.

The Council came to the following conclusions:—

(a) Farmers welcomed the Minister's statement that the most disturbing feature of our national situation was that agricultural incomes per head were rising less rapidly than in non-agricultural occupations and that disparity was tending to widen rather than to narrow.

(b) The Council appreciated that the proposals for creamery milk, liquid milk and the pig price increases will go some way towards preventing an immediate further widening of this gap between agricultural and other incomes.

(c) The Council acknowledged the fact that the Government had taken action to stabilize the rate burden on agricultural land for this year and looks forward to a permanent solution in the context of the proposals contained in the N.F.A. Plan for Agriculture.

(d) It should be borne in mind that important sectors of agriculture will not receive any increase in income whatsoever through the Budget.

It has also been overlooked that farmers themselves will contribute their full share of the increased taxation. Furthermore, it would be more correct to say that the increased allocation to agriculture is £23m. since there is a reduction in capital investment estimated for 1964 of £13m. less than last year.

(e) The Council noted that the Minister for Finance mentioned increased costs arising in his Budget by reason of the wage agreement which were not included in the Estimates. These costs amounted to between £18½ and £19½m. of which only £4½m. was for agriculture.

To meet this commitment of £18½m. - £19½m. plus other costs arising in the Estimate, he had at least £36m. from Revenue buoyancy and Turn-over Tax. Faced with a gap of £5m., he filled it by increasing taxation. This increase in taxation was more to meet the wage increases of civil servants, gardaí, s'ochana, national teachers, C.I.E. workers, Post Office clerks, etc. than to improve the earnings of farmers.

(f) The actual amount allocated to farmers in the Budget is clearly not adequate to compensate for increased costs in food-stuffs, machinery, labour, etc., which are estimated to be in excess of £5m. in 1964.

(g) The Council agreed wholeheartedly with our Minister for Agriculture when he said that: "There are still some people who seem to think we are spending too much on agriculture. This is a dangerous misconception. I am afraid that such people just will not take the trouble to understand what agriculture means to our economy, and how right it is that it should receive due support and encouragement. Agriculture is our largest and most important industry. It occupies well over a third of our people and accounts for the bulk of our exports. If agriculture is to bud shape the whole country, suffer, but if its condition is good this also will be reflected in good conditions throughout the economy."

(h) The National Council took note that the negotiations with the Government prior to the Budget on the N.F.A. 7 Year Plan, "Farm Income and Agricultural Development 1964-70," will be continued at an early date.

Council members expressed appreciation of the atmosphere which prevailed throughout the negotiations and hoped that it would continue during the forthcoming discussions on the long term aspects of the N.F.A. Plan.

E.S.B. SPECIAL CHARGES ON BOTTLED GAS

Section from a letter received from the E.S.B. recently is reproduced below because of points raised in it which are of interest to a wide range of farmers.

"When the subsidy arrangements for rural electrification were revised in 1962, the terms for supply to the majority of householders still unconnected throughout the country were improved. The farmers were quite correct in assuming that with the revised rural scheme it would be possible to reduce special service charges in most cases and to dispense with them entirely in other cases. However, it must be remembered that prior to the enactment of the revised legislation, a 50% subsidy was payable towards the capital cost of connecting householders under the rural electrification post development scheme. With the revised scheme, the subsidy was increased to 75% but a limit of £75 subsidy per household was introduced. While this had the effect of improving terms for supply to the majority, it can be seen that where a householder is situated a long distance from the nearest point of supply, and the cost of connecting him is very high, the new subsidy arrangements will not improve his terms for supply.

"When the bottled gas grant was introduced it was intended to apply to householders who, because of their isolated locations would be required to pay special service charges in excess of their normal fixed charges. In some cases, householders were quoted special service charges higher than their fixed charges because their neighbours were not interested in availing of supply. As there was some doubt as to whether the bottled gas grant would apply in these latter cases, the matter was discussed between representatives of the Board and the Department of Transport & Power. The position has recently been clarified, and I am to inform you that as a result, the householders quoted, terms by our Galway District Office on the 25th and 26th February, 1964, are eligible for the bottled gas grant in cases where their special service charges exceed the normal fixed charges."

The reference in the last sentence is to a case made by the N.F.A. on behalf of householders in the Ballindine area, Co. Mayo, who were notified last February, that they would not be eligible for the £10 subsidy on bottled gas installations. Now they will qualify.

Further consultations on this issue are taking place between N.F.A. Central Office and our Ballindine Branch, but it is evident at this stage that apart from conceding the right of farmers in the area to the bottled gas subsidy, the Department of Transport & Power is not giving them much to hope for. In fact, the Minister for Transport & Power stated in the Dail recently that he had no intention of reducing special service charges for E.S.B. connections in "uneconomic areas."

REPORT ON CATTLE PRODUCTION

Interesting facts are contained in the Summary on "Economic Factors in Cattle Production," published recently by An Foras Taluntais. The authors are E. A. Atwood and S. Fitzgerald, and they found that the cattle industry is more dynamic than is generally realised; since 1952, total cattle numbers have risen by over 500,000.

Concurrently with this expansion, there has been a trend towards an earlier age of marketing of cattle. This has resulted in a change in the age distribution of the national cattle herd.

Cattle production is the most important source of income from the farming as a whole and is also of importance to more farmers individually than any other single farm enterprise. Of the 1.1 million cattle marketed annually over the past five years, 0.20 million are consumed at home, 0.43 million exported as stores, 0.15 million exported as fat cattle, and 0.35 million as processed beef (carcase, boxed, boneless and canned).

On a survey of 108 cattle production farms in three separate areas (Limerick, Roscommon and Meath/Westmeath/Kildare), the average gross output was £17.5 per acre. The figure was slightly higher in Limerick and very slightly lower in Meath/Westmeath/Kildare. There was also a very small difference in average output per acre between the large and small farms.

There was a much greater range of outputs per acre is to be achieved. It will require an increase of 250,000/300,000 cows over the existing cow population.

The achievement of higher stock will require additional long term outlays on buildings and fencing, as well as short term investment in fertilizers, machinery, feeding stuffs and livestock.

MORE NATIONS NEEDED IN COMMON MARKET

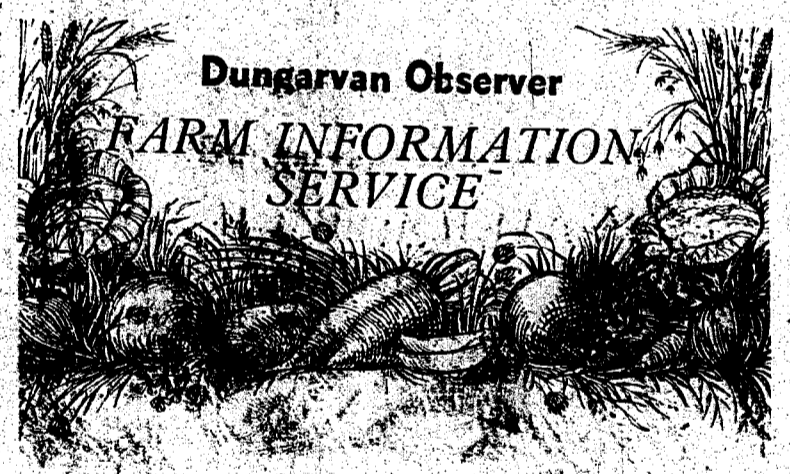

Last week the President of the Council of Europe's Consultative Assembly, said in Strasbourg that: "It is desirable that the Common Market should not remain limited to the Six." Great success had been achieved, he said, at trade level, but it was becoming more and more obvious that a closer political union was necessary.

Western Europe could break into rival trading blocks unless there was an extension of the Common Market to include other nations. In view of the forthcoming general elections in Britain nothing much could be done about their entry at the moment.

A.I. FOR PIGS

Two stations in Ireland have attempted to run a commercial A.I. service for pig-producers in their districts—the Ballycough A.I. Station near Malinbeg and the station attached to the Mitchelstown Co-operative Society, both in Co. Cork, but up to the present neither of these, in spite of encouraging results early on, has yet managed to make the service really economical. The main difficulty seems to be that the sow is ready for mating during a period of not more than a few hours, and unless this period of "heat" can be determined fairly closely the insemination will be a failure.

Among sows which were inseminated the conception rate has been high at Ballycough—82.4% in 1962 and 77.9% in 1963, which compares very well with natural mating. The estimated litter average was also good a 10.3 as was the farrowing rate of 62% for first inseminations. Where it has been possible to check the grading of bacon pigs produced by A.I. the figures have been quite satisfactory.

Question—Would it be satisfactory to use some Beef Compound fertilizer which I have left over, on my main crop potatoes?

Answer—Unfortunately the answer to your problem is no. Beef Compound contains 0.22 per cent Boron and this element is very necessary for a number of crops, including Sugar Beet, Fodder Beet, Mangolds, Swedes, Turnips and Garden Beet, Celery and all the Cabbage family. A deficiency of Boron in the soil can give rise to serious disorders, Crown Rot of Sugar Beet being a good example. Where a fertilizer containing Boron is applied to potatoes or cereals, this element has a toxic effect and will cause serious loss. It is apparent that these latter crops only require very small quantities of Boron in the soil for satisfactory growth.

Q—In the past few years I have been direct seeding my pastures usually towards the end of July or August. As this reseedling follows early potatoes I get a good proportion of weeds, mainly Chickweed, developing in the grass. Should I sow direct or with a cover in April to avoid this trouble?

A—With direct reseedling many annual weeds occur, particularly after a crop of early potatoes. Spraying against weeds in this preceding crop will reduce the weed population, but grazing the new grass some six or eight weeks after seeding will give good control of weeds and this practice is invaluable for improving establishment. These measures apply whether you sow direct in the spring or late summer.

I do not believe you will get as good a sward of grass by using a cover crop, but the grass seed mixture should contain some Italian ryegrass to provide bulk for grazing in a short time, after sowing.

Q—I have a number of apple trees and each year most of the apples have black spots. Is there a spray that will get rid of this trouble?

A—The black spots are caused by apple scab disease. There are a number of sprays that can be used to control it, and one of the most convenient and effective is "Captain." The first spray should be applied at the "Green-bud" stage and most varieties are now sufficiently advanced for the first application. Further sprays are necessary to get a good control and full defoliation, both of application rates and times to apply, will be found on the container.

Power-O'Keefe—The wedding took place at St. Mary's Church Cappoquin, between Mr. James Power, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. The reception was held at the Lismore Hotel. The honeymoon is being spent touring the south.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to Affane footballers who continued on their winning way when defeating Tourin in a League game played at Lismore on Sunday.

GLEN ROVERS WIN

The success of Glen Rovers in their first round junior hurling game against Ballinacoola on Sunday has been hailed with pleasure by Gael's in the area. The club has been going through a lean time for some years and this foretaste of better times must be a great encouragement to the hard working officials and members. It must be a source of added gratification that the success was gained against opposition of the calibre of Ballinacoola and that the team showed such spirit and skill in coming from behind. They were best served by Mattie Power, Sean Cashman, Tom Brennan, John Barry and Paddy O'Gorman. The team was: M. Power, J. Cashman, T. Brennan, J. Barry, P. O'Gorman, M. Barry, P. Morrissey, G. Roche, L. Power, M. O'Gorman, J. Prendergast, M. Coley, P. O'Brien, P. Farrell, J. O'Rourke.

He is survived by his widow (nee Geary) to whom the sympathy of her many friends goes in her great loss. The very large attendance at the removal of the remains and at the burial in Aglish cemetery was proof of the popularity of the deceased and of regret at his passing. Rev. E. Tobin, C.C., received the remains and Rev. T. Nugent, C.C. officiated at the graveside.

(Funeral arrangements were by A. Walsh & Sons, Cappoquin) ...

COMHALTHAS CEOLTOIRI DUNGARVAN BRANCH

The above branch held its fortnightly music session at Lawlor's Hotel, Dungarvan, on Thursday, 16th April. A large attendance, especially of the younger members, was present. The first hour of each session is devoted to assisting the beginners and younger members of the branch, and the results of this were to be seen (or heard) on Thursday night when several tunes were played in fine fashion by the young enthusiasts. The rest of the evening was, as usual, most enjoyable, the spirited playing and singing of the branch's talented performers was something to be proud of and a happy augury for the preservation of our own traditional music.

CONGRATULATIONS

A special meeting of the branch will take place at Lawlor's Hotel, Dungarvan, on Friday, 24th April, at 8.30 p.m. The branch will be giving a concert at Kibbreen on 1st May.

SALMON SEASON

Now with half the six months season passed there is the same old story of "only a few salmon being caught and small fish at that" and this is applicable to drift netting in and around Youghal. Old fishermen cannot remember any season being so bad for such a long period. Of course there are a few lucky boats that pick up the odd few fish in the week but they are certainly few and far between. The scarcity of salmon catches by nets seem to be universal and rod anglers in the upper reaches of the Blackwater and tributaries are still doing very well. Cross Channel anglers have had successful fishing in the upper reaches especially at Careyville. Grisle will be showing early in May and with the short period in the actual salmon season catches when being finally summed up will certainly be disastrous.

IMPORTANT VISITOR

Prior to their departure from Lismore Castle last week Mr. Harold McMillan and his wife Lady Dorothy paid a flying visit to Youghal. The many places visited included St. Mary's Collegiate Church, Myrtle Grove and Sir Walter Raleigh's House where they were entertained by Comdr. and Mrs. B. C. R. Arbutnot. They signed many autographs and Lady Dorothy intimated that she visited Youghal in 1913 before the outbreak of World War I.

NUPITAL

The wedding took place recently at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Youghal, of Mr. Edward Hignett, of London and Miss Maureen Long, daughter of Mrs. and the late Mr. M. Long, of Lisbuie, Strand, Youghal. Mr. Ken Hignett, brother of the groom was bestman and Mrs. John Flavin, sister of the bride, was matron of honour. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. O'Connell, C.C. The reception was held at Arbutus Lodge, Cork, and the honeymoon was spent in France.

YOUGHAL TEACHER BEREAVED

The death took place recently of Mrs. Catherine O'Brien, of Old Road, Tallow, formerly of Moorehill, Tallow. Of an old Waterford family, the deceased lady was well known in the district and in Youghal, being mother of Mr. Ned O'Brien, N.T. and a lady of many admirable qualities. Interment took place in the local cemetery and the chief mourners were Mr. E. O'Brien, N.T.; Messrs. Cornelius and Daniel O'Brien (sons); Mrs. E. O'Brien (daughter-in-law).

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY AT CARRIGLEA

Thursday 15th April was a big day at Carriglea Convent. For eight days, in the silence and recollection of a Spiritual Retreat, five young sisters had been preparing for the day when they would pronounce their first vows and be officially received into the Noviciate of the Congregation.

Right Rev. Mgr. Barron, P.P., V.G., Ballybricken (representing His Lordship the Bishop) presided at the ceremony which began with the blessing and distribution of candles. Holy Mass was celebrated by Very Rev. R. Keane, Adm. Waterford. After the Gospel, a touching sermon was preached by Rev. Fr. Finnian, C.P., Mount Argus, who had conducted the preparatory Retreat and at the Offertory, three young Novices in a beautiful and symbolic offering pronounced their first vows.

During Holy Mass, at which the Sisters received Holy Communion, the Choir, consisting mainly of the Convent school girls, executed some beautiful and inspiring motets. Then followed the Reception ceremony, leaving the Chapel in bridal robes, the young sisters went on to don the Holy Habit of the Bon Sauveur Congregation, thus symbolizing their first renunciation of the world and its pleasures.

Present in the choir were: Ven. Archdeacon Power, P.P., V.F. Dungarvan; Very Rev. J. Roche, P.P., Abbeyside; Rev. D. Byrne, C.C., Dungarvan; Rev. J. Murphy, C.C., do.; Rev. W. Power, C.C., do.; Rev. M. Walsh, C.C., Abbeyside; Rev. P. Flavin, Chaulain; Rev. J. Boyle, C.C., St. John's, Waterford; Rev. Fr. Wicoc, O.S.B., Glenstal; Rev. Fr. Fintian, C.P., Mount Argus. Also present were Rev. Mother General and Rev. Mother Ticht (Holyhead) who had come to Ireland for the occasion.

The Bon Sauveur Sisters came to Ireland in 1904. In 1959 the Irish Noviciate was officially opened by His Lordship, the Bishop of Waterford and Lismore, At Carriglea the sisters run a private Psychiatric Hospital where all type of nervous and mental illness are investigated and treated.

Rockies Fancied in Clash of Rivals

But Kilgobinet Will Not Be Easily Beaten

ERIN'S OWN TO TAKE SARGENT CUP?

Three Sundays ago De La Salle won the coveted Sargent Cup for the first time in their history. But that was the final of the 1961 competition, and now they can be prepared to hand over the trophy as Abbeyside and Erin's Own battle the 1963 final at the Cornerstone venue on Sunday night next at 8 p.m.

BALLYDUFF FANCIED

As a curtain-raiser to the hurling tie, Ballyduff and Glen Rovers meet in the first round of the junior football championship. Following their hurling defeat of Dungarvan on Sunday last, the Reds are currently riding the crest of the wave, and they are fancied to complete a notable double at the expense of the Rovers.

AT CAPPOQUIN

A two-game programme has been arranged for Cappoquin, but at the time of writing Dungarvan have applied for a postponement of their primary hurling championship engagement with Ballysaggart. The primary football meeting between Tourin and Ballinameela is definitely on, however, and a closely fought game is expected.

PHELAN CUP GAME AT DUNGARVAN

The 1963 Phelan Cup progresses a stage further on Sunday next, with the meeting of Stradbally and Ardmore at Dungarvan (7 p.m.). Going strictly on last year's championship form, Ardmore must be entitled to start favourites, and I expect them to advance with something to spare.

SUNDAY'S WESTERN CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

In a reasonably complete championship programme in the West on Sunday next, two games stand out. They are both in the Intermediate (or Junior) hurling championship, and Lismore and Dungarvan venues seem assured of titanic struggles for supremacy.

ROBUST

There was no scarcity of pugilistic fare at Dungarvan on Sunday night when Old Parish defeated St. Brigid's (Kilrossanty) in the primary football championship. Neither side seemed very interested in playing football, and on occasions fists flew with rare abandon. A player from each side received marching orders, whilst several others were fortunate not to have gone with them.

AFFANE ADVANCE

As expected, Affane proved too good for Tourin in the second round of the junior football winter league at Lismore on Sunday and ran out deserved winners by 3-6 to 1-6.

IN MEMORIAM

QUINN—(4th Anniversary)—In sad and loving memory of Mrs. Margaret Quinn, St. Thomas' Tce., Dungarvan, whose anniversary occurs about this time. R.I.P. Sacred Heart of Jesus have mercy on her soul. Masses offered. Will those who think of her to-day, a little prayer to Jesus say. —(Inserted by her loving husband William and family.)

NOT for many a long day can I recall a game to have captured the imagination of West Waterford Gaeldom to such a remarkable extent as next Sunday's first round Intermediate hurling championship clash between arch rivals Colligan Rockies and Kilgobinet at Dungarvan's Fraher Field. It is an encounter for which followers from all parts of the Division will converge on the Old Boro venue, and if expectancies count for anything it should be a vibrating and no quarter struggle to the very end.

Many parish can claim keen outings. rivalry between neighbouring clubs, but there can be no denying the glamour and attractiveness of a Colligan-Kilgobinet set. More important still on this occasion, it means championship elimination for the loser, something both will strive unceasingly to avoid.

The last time the clubs met was in the Primary championship three years ago when Kilgobinet defeated what was then the Rockies second string. That same year Kilgobinet went on to annex County honours—hence their presence in this the second highest grade.

Colligan, of course, have tasted a not too successful span in senior ranks, and club mentors deemed it something of a necessity to seek regrading this year. But certain it is that there was purpose in that step and they are more than keen to take highest honours at their initial attempt.

Both clubs, it goes without saying, have left no stone unturned to ensure peak fitness. Kilgobinet, in particular, have almost been frantically at it

PETER POWER (Kilgobinet)

Kilgobinet seem satisfied with comparative newcomer Michael Dunford in goal, whilst John Woods, Mark Cummins and the Power brothers, Peter and Nicholas will be the key figures in defence. It is difficult to predict what midfield partnership they will rely on, although form suggests a Michael Kelly and Anthony Hayes set-up.

Whilst the attack is certain to contain Larry and Tomás Cummins Roger McCarthy and the bustling Mick Keating, it is the one sector about which mentors are not entirely satisfied with. But if any of this quartet get any undue latitude they will well cause grave anxiety to black-and-amber followers.

And what of the Rockies? Again it is mere speculation on the writer's part when attempting to nominate their probable side, but I have been reliably informed that former star defender Garry Quinlan will be placed at full forward. It is further hinted that Quinlan's former centre-back berth will now be occupied by Michael Walsh, who is no stranger to the position. Walsh, in fact over the past couple of weeks, and those in the know are more than satisfied at the progress and improvement attained.

On Sunday and Monday nights last they played Cappoquin and Abbeyside in challenge games, and whilst accepting that it would be sheer folly to place too much reliance in games of such nature, one cannot altogether overlook the impressive manner in which they performed in both was, to my mind, one of the obvious it becomes that a rip-best defenders in the county roaring encounter is in store. not so very long ago, and if he it is a game which the shrewd has rediscovered his best form est punter should fight shy of, will prove quite a problem for because, quite frankly, the outcome is as open as the proverbial door.

Other stalwarts certain of inclusion in defence are Cyril Power, Christy Dower and Michael Flynn, whilst the eagle-eyed Paddy Fitzgerald will not be beaten easily in goal.

In all probability Paddy Walsh will be one of their aiding factor in their favour; midfielders, and may be part-nered by Jim Cliffe. The side appears well equipped in attack, calling as it can and should they blow this forenoon such as Colm Bannon, Dick and Jimmy Tobin, Garry not be greatly surprised. Quinlan and Shamie Kirwan. But whatever the outcome it Yes, the more one scrutinises is a game I and countless the teams, and everything re- others eagerly and not so lating to this game the more patiently await.

Hurlers Impress Against Wexford

WATERFORD 6-5; WEXFORD 2-7

UNPREDICTABLE Waterford scored one of their best victories in many months when decisively defeating a near full strength Wexford side in a senior hurling challenge to mark the opening of the new Pairc MacCraith, on Sunday night last. An estimated 4,000 attendance turned up for the celebrated occasion and were given plenty to enthuse over as Waterford revealed some sparkling form in their thoroughly convincing ten point victory.

Wexford no doubt treated this game quite seriously and fielded no less than eleven of the men that will do duty for them in next Sunday's League semi-final against Cork. But they had no answer to an exuberant Deise side that fielded without such stalwarts as Jim Byrne, John O'Brien, John Barron and Phil Grimes.

In the light of these circumstances this was a most encouraging display that may yet have far reaching and beneficial effects. All the old brigade were at their devastating best showed distinct promise in this exciting tie.

Particularly impressive was the Dublin based garda, John Hearne who outplayed both John Kennedy and Phil Wilson in turn. Hearn is a beautifully clean and crisp striker and seems destined to make a lasting impression. On this form he cannot be ignored in the immediate future and he may yet prove himself a decided acquisition to the team.

Waterford laid the foundation for victory in the opening half, at the end of which they led by 3-4 to 1-0. They received an early tonic when Seamus Power belted a 21-yard free to the net and for the remainder of the half outplayed the Slaneysiders in every phase of the game. During those thirty opening minutes in fact Waterford produced a brand of hurling the likes of which has not been seen from them since the glory days of '63.

On the resumption, Wexford put everything into their efforts to reduce the lead, and when they came within a few points, of the Deies their hopes of retrieving the game temporarily soared. But this time there was no Waterford collapse and in the closing stages it was practically one-way traffic towards the Wexford goal.

It was a game that revealed no flaws in Waterford's make-up and so well did the team play as a unit that some of the established regulars who were absentees on Sunday may well find it something of an up-
