Inquest on Young Modeligo Farmer

A VERDICT that death was due to laceration of the brain, caused by fracture of the skull, was returned at an inquest in Modeligo last week, by Dr. D. Healy, Coroner for West Waterford, sitting with a jury on 21-years-old farmer, John Fitzgerald, Newtown, Modeligo.

Deceased was killed on Monday week during quarrying operations when gravel and stones subsided on top of him.

FREE WINE !!! Believe it or not ?

On Friday, 19th June, the most fabulous coach trip ever to be undertaken in Ireland will commence.

Briefly this a tour of the giant silver Cinzano Bar Coach which will be visiting most of the major towns and villages in the country during the next two weeks and distributing free-of-charge to the public the famous Cinzano aperitif.

The following are the centres and dates of the tour: Friday, 19th June—Arrive Dublin; Saturday 20th—Dublin; Sunday 21st—Dublin; Monday 22nd—Dublin and environs; Tuesday 23rd—Arklow, Wexford, New Ross; Wednesday 24th—Waterford, Dungarvan, Youghal, Cork; Thursday 25th—Killarney; Friday 26th—Killarney; Tralee, Listowel, Abbeyfeale, Limerick; Saturday 27th—Ennis, Galway; Athlone; Sunday 28th—Dundalk.

ceded up to a 5ft ledge on the side of the quarry and started digging the gravel, using a pick-axe, and shovelled it down to the ground.

LEDGE SUBSIDED

After half an hour a ledge over his head subsided and crashed down on top of him. He went up to deceased and spoke to him but he made no reply. He died instantly.

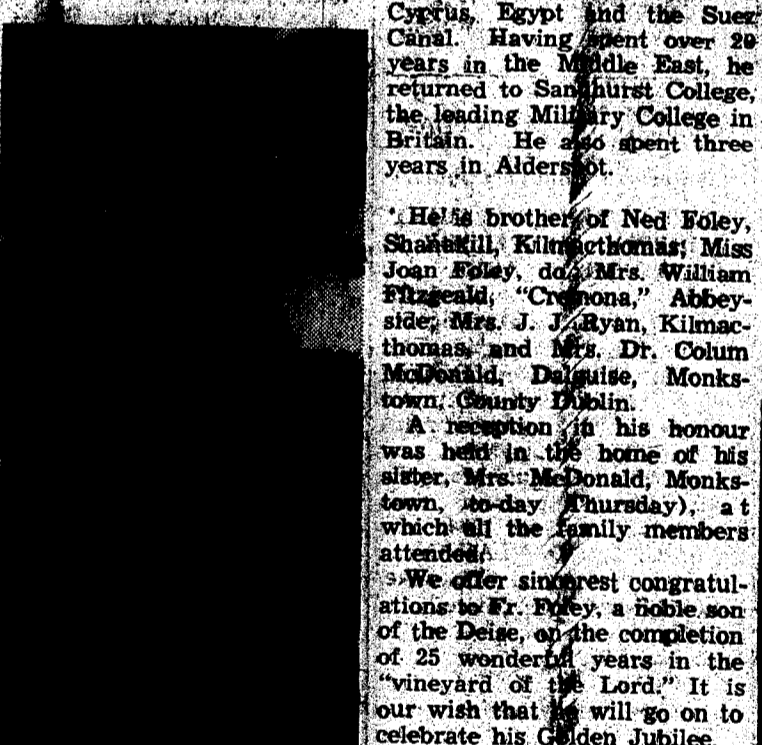

Sergt. M. Deasy said about seven feet directly up from the face of the quarry there was a ledge, on which there was about three feet of gravel, containing some stones. It appeared that the stones and earth, weighing about one ton, had fallen where deceased was working. The quarry was 15ft high.

Mr. James Tonner, inspector of mines and quarries, of the Department of Industry and Commerce, was present at the inquest.

"MINOR CONSPIRACY AFOOT" says C.E.O.

Waterford Vocational Education Committee has ensured its C.E.O. and staff fullest co-operation in the matter of school discipline. At last Tuesday's meeting, the C.E.O., Mr. J. Rushe said that recently there was some "minor conspiracy afoot" in the Dungarvan Technical school, and he decided to bring it to the Committee's notice.

Mr. Rushe said that on two occasions the Vice-Principal, Mr. J. Maher, informed him that groups of students did not return to school after lunch. Strongly worded letters were sent to the parents about it. On one occasion, four girls were involved, and four boys were involved on the second occasion. They neither sought the permission of the C.E.O. or the teacher they had immediately before lunch, and this was considered as a serious breach of discipline. All the parents replied offering excuses made seemed to be reasonable.

Deputy Kyne said they should compliment their C.E.O. and the staff for showing such an interest. Mr. Rushe said he had no complaints of late, but the fact that four went off one day, and four more another day, gave C.E.O. or the teacher they had the impression that some minor conspiracy was afoot. The Committee assured Mr. Rushe of their fullest co-operation.

Late John Fitzgerald NEWTOWN, MODELIGO

The tragically sad circumstances under which Mr. John Fitzgerald, elder son of Mr. Thomas and Mrs. Fitzgerald, Newtown, Modeligo, met his death on Monday, June 8th, have already been reported. Through his passing, which took place a couple of months before his twenty-first birthday, a valuable young life of more than unusual promise has been cut short and a devoted son and brother removed from the family circle.

He received his early education at Modeligo N.S. and spent two years at Lismore C.B.S. He then went to Cappoquin Vocational School and here he studied for and was awarded a scholarship to Pallaskey Agricultural School. With an inherent love of the land, he benefited considerably from the curriculum at Pallaskey and returned to the family farm to implement the knowledge gained.

Becoming a member of Ballynameela Macra na Tuath, he devoted himself wholeheartedly to its objects, the Macra "projects" having a special appeal for him. In 1962 he was selected as delegate by the branch to the Summer School at Gormanstown and there his ability was recognised by the assembly who appointed him as Representative to the National Council.

On reaching the upper age limit, John ceased to be a member of Macra na Tuath and joined the kindred organisation—Macra na Feirme. He manifested the same active interest in this society. As a member of its debating team, with Tom Ahearne, Margaret Hogan and Maurice Tobin, he brought the County Championship to the Ballynameela branch for the first time.

John Fitzgerald was a keen lover of sport and follower of racing, coursing and the native games. During his all-too-short life he made many friends who will ever treasure happy memories of a companion of outstanding qualities.

To his bereaved parents, brother and sisters goes the deepest sympathy, in their irreparable loss.

At the Solemn Office and Requiem High Mass, the celebrant was Very Rev. J. Hally, P.P., Modeligo; deacon, Rev. J. Callanan, C.C., Carrick-on-Suir; sub-deacon, Rev. J. Griffin, C.C., Touraneena; master of ceremonies, Rev. C. Daly, C.C., Modeligo. In the choir were: Very Rev. Canon Carey, P.P., Killeagh (granduncle); Very Rev. J. O'Flynn, Frome (uncle); Rev. W. Hallahan, C.C., Cathedral (cousin); Rev. M. Condon, C.C., Tallow (do.); Rev. D. Clancy, C.C., Scottish Mission (do.); Very Rev. P. Walsh, P.P., Touraneena; Rev. D. O'Byrne, C.C., Dungarvan; Rev. Fr. J. Curran, Dungarvan; Rev. Fr. O'Shaughnessy, O.S.A., Dungarvan; Rev. M. Cunningham, C.C., Carrick-on-Suir; Rev. J. P. Walshe, C.C., Ballybricken; Rev. J. Walsh, C.C., Fournmillewater; Rev. P. Flavin, Carriglea.

The remains were received at Modeligo Church on Tuesday evening by Very Rev. J. Hally, P.P., Rev. C. Daly, C.C., and Rev. P. Flavin.

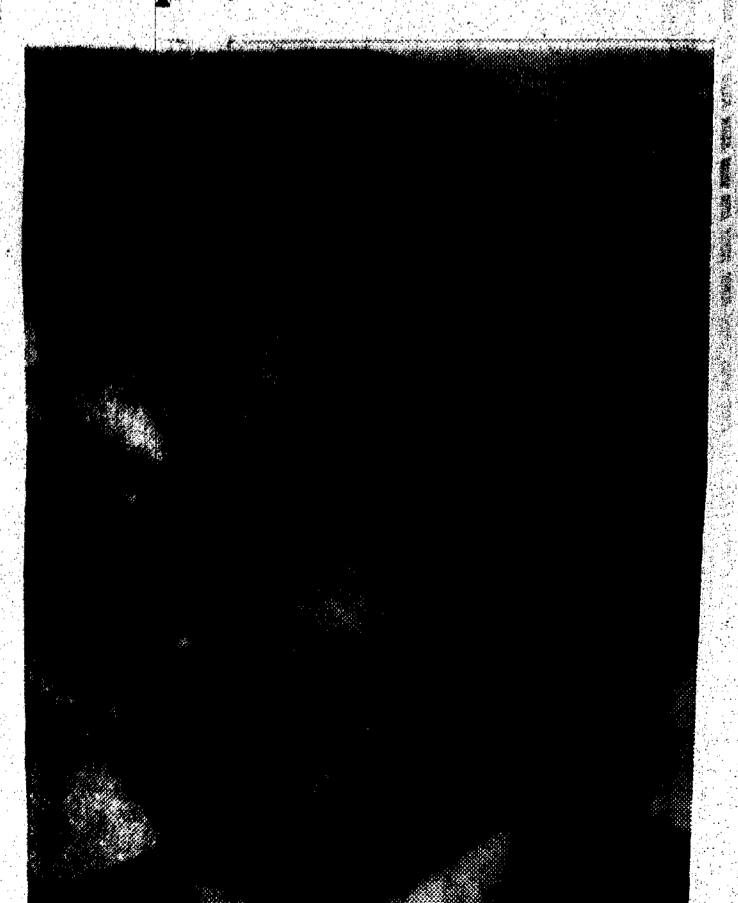

The chief mourners included: Thomas and Nora Fitzgerald (parents); Sr. M. Eucharistia, Mercy Convent, Dungarvan (sister); David (brother); Breeda, Mary, Nora (sisters); Thomas Flynn, Killooney (uncle); Mrs. E. Kirwan, Boolavanteen (aunt); Lilineen family, Ballynagown; Flynn family, Boolavanteen; Carey family, Ballyhooley, Co. Cork (relatives). (Funeral arrangements were by A. Walsh & Sons, Cappoquin).

Delegates Report Back

At the June meeting of the Waterford Vocational Education Committee, held in the Technical School, Dungarvan, on Tuesday, 9th June, reports on the Irish Vocational Education Association Congress, held recently in Clonmel were given to the Committee by their three delegates—Rev. T. C. Butler, O.S.A., Mr. John Fshey and Mr. John Power.

Fr. Butler presided in particular the extended address on "Education in the New Age" by Most Rev. Dr. Birch, Bishop of Ossory. Mr. J. Fshey was impressed by the high standard of the discussions on the various resolutions, while Mr. J. Power stated that he had derived much benefit from the Congress which will be of great help to him when future decisions regarding Vocational Education will have to be made. The Committee complimented the three delegates on their splendid reports.

WELSH STUDENT HERE
A Welsh Agricultural student with the very appropriate name of John Wales, is at present doing a course of study at of land in south Wales is cheaper in Ireland than in Ireland than in Wales. He is very much impressed by the work being done at Moorepark.

SALMON NET FISHING

We are pleased to record that the improvement last week in the catches of salmon and grilse was maintained and many boats have had good results for their labours. The salmon are of the good quality type averaging 12 lbs. and the peale or grilse average 5 lbs. Upriver the drift nets did very well last week but the draft nets at Dromana had very small catches. This week opened up well and it is hoped that it will continue for the remaining five weeks of the season for netting. The price last week was salmon 6/- and grilse 6/- which was reduced this week to 7/- and 5/-.

ORDINATION

On Sunday last, amongst the twenty-two students who were ordained to the priesthood at the Cathedral, Waterford by Most Rev. Dr. Birch, Bishop of Ossory, was Rev. Richard O'Connor, of Wesley Place, Youghal. A member of an old established Youghal family, Fr. O'Connor is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. O'Connor, Wesley Place, Youghal. Assisted by Very Rev. Canon Sheehan, P.F. and served by his two brothers, Fr. O'Connor said his first Mass on Monday morning last when the Church was filled to capacity.

TRAGIC DEATH OF YOUGHAL MAN

Deep regret was felt in the town on Monday last when the news was received that a member of a well-known Youghal family in the person of Patrick O'Keefe, eldest son of Mrs. P. O'Keefe, North Main St., had been shot by a gunman in a bar in Archer Street, London, shortly afterwards. According to reports from an eye witness, a young man entered the bar in Archer Street, London, and shot Mr. O'Keefe, who was serving behind the bar and died on the spot. Mr. O'Keefe had a chance of doing anything, as he stood there astonished, as he stood in the chest. He then fell to the ground and was carried to the street where he was rushed by the customers and the deceased, who was 38 and unmarried, had been in London about 9 years. He was educated at the Youghal Christian Brothers' School before coming to his education at Mararet College, Limerick. He is survived by his mother, four sisters and one brother, whom sincere sympathy is extended in their great sorrow. Late Private Laurence Winters (21) of a Parachute Regiment, Aldershot, appeared at Bow Street, London, charged with the murder of Patrick O'Keefe by shooting, and was remanded in custody to June 24th and granted legal aid.

PRESENTATION TO THE CHURCH

Many Masses in Youghal will be celebrated with a gold chalice which was used by fugitive priests in the 17th and 18th centuries. Recently, this chalice was presented to the Parish Priest, Very Rev. Canon Sheehan by the relatives of the late Miss Gwendolyn Ronayne, of Ardsallagh House. The chalice inscribed "Thomas Ronayne and wife, 1637" has a beautiful representation of the Crucifixion. It was acquired by the famous Ronayne family from their cousin, Richard Ronayne in 1654 after disposing of his property at D'Loughtane and went to reside at Youghal. He was a descendant of Thomas Ronayne who lived at D'Loughtane since 1840, and was an ancestor of a well known member of the community, Mr. J. N. R. Macnamara, Solicitor, Loughal.

NEW MEMBER CO-OPTED

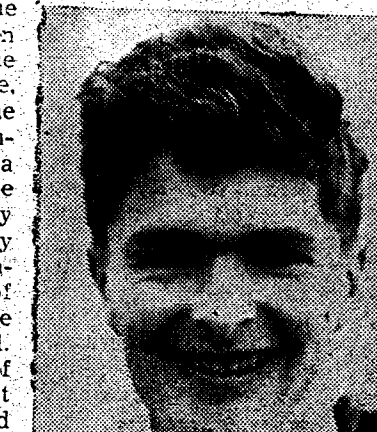

At last meeting of the Urban Council, Messrs. P. Lawlor and A. Cronin were proposed as successors on the Council to the late Mr. Patrick J. O'Gorman. On a poll being taken, Mr. Lawlor was elected on the casting vote of the Chairman and declared elected. Mr. Lawlor is proprietor of a garage and engineering works on the Upper Strand and was formerly Cice-Chairman of the Council.

YOUGHAL DISTRICT COURT

Mr. T. K. Keane, Solicitor, on behalf of Mr. W. J. Sweeney, Clerk to the Lismore Fishery Board, applied for an order for forfeiture and sale of 107 yards of illegal net seized at Mount Rivers, Cappoquin, by Water-keeper William McGrath. The application was granted.

CANON'S GOLDEN JUBILEE

By the end of the present month, Youghal's esteemed Parish Priest, Very Rev. C. Canon Sheehan will have celebrated his golden jubilee in the sacred priesthood. The parishioners are overjoyed at this happy event and will pay tribute in an appropriate manner to their esteemed Pastor. They wish him the blessing of good health and happiness for many years to come. Canon Sheehan is to be made an honorary freeman of the town of Youghal in recognition of his adoption and his name will be inscribed in the Roll of Freedom.

FIRE DANGER!!! Protect your Family Property

With the Revolutionary Alarm System

Fire Scout warns you of Fire instantly automatically, economically, independently and is guaranteed for 5 years. Maximum safety at low cost. PRICE 75/- Every year many people are killed or injured — property worth millions of pounds damaged or destroyed — by fire.

Too often we hear of people trapped by fire in Hotels, Caravans, Warehouses, of families killed in their bedrooms, of children who never got out, because warning was not given in time to take action.

Don't let that happen in your home

Fire occurs most often at night and it is usually the result of human error. Many home owners assure themselves that they would be awakened by the sound and smell in plenty of time to get their family to safety. The facts do not support this.

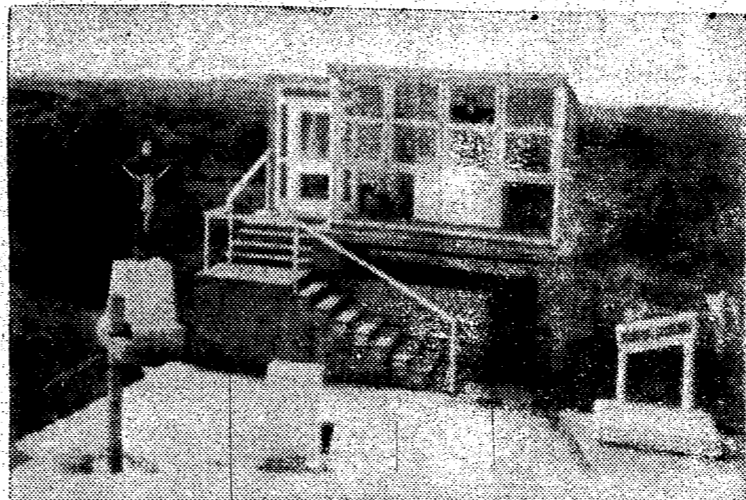

Don't let a fire catch you asleep
Guard yourself — your family by installing this inexpensive fire alarm.

HOW FIRE SCOUT WORKS

Fire generates heat up to 1,200 F., but a sensitive apparatus installed in FIRE SCOUT lets out a piercing warning when the temperature rises above 110 F. — a temperature too low to be suspicious, but high enough to indicate that something is dangerously wrong. FIRE SCOUT measures only 6" x 2 1/2" x 1 1/2" and can easily be fitted to any wall and due to its neutral colour, will blend with your decor.

GAELIC JOTTINGS

MINOR HURLERS TRAVEL TO KILARNEY

On Sunday next, the county's minor hurlers will endeavour to accomplish something the county's representatives in the other grades have failed to do. It is to surpass a first round championship hurdle, presented in this instance by Kerry, who will have the added advantage of playing before their own supporters at Fitzgerald Stadium, Killarney.

This game was originally fixed for some weeks ago, but was postponed because of the regretted death of Pdraig O Caoimh, General Secretary of the G.A.A.

Since then, two changes have been made on the side first chosen, but they are not expected to impair in any way, the all-round strength of the team.

Frank Whelan was discovered to be over age, and his place has been allotted to Dick Evans (De La Salle). Another De La Salle club-man, Al Bowman, who was on the original team, has now been demoted to the subs, and he is replaced by Liam Canning (Ballyduff Upper).

It is a team that has had a thorough preparation, and should defeat be their lot, the blame cannot be centred in that direction. They failed disappointingly, however, to Wexford in a recent challenge, and whilst Kerry can hardly entertain high hopes of victory, nothing other than a decisive win will suffice.

Western representation on the team is unusually small, and only five from the Division made the actual fifteen, although John Mahony (Abbey-side) is included amongst the subs.

The quintet of Westerners honoured are defenders Pat Clancy and the Abbey-side pair Tommy Deegan and Pat Enright; midfielder Michael McGrath (Lismore), and Liam Canning (Ballyduff Upper) in attack.

Playing on home soil will boost Kerry hopes considerably but it will be a major surprise if the Deise boys do not prevail with something to spare.

The Waterford team is—T. Flynn (Mt. Sion); P. J. Ahearne (Ballygunner); Pat Clancy (Straebally); Tom Donovan (Abbey-side); Pat Enright (Abbey-side); Paddy Cody (Erin's Own); P. Evans (De La Salle); M. McGrath (Lismore); B. Frisby (Mt. Sion); D. Mahony capt. (Mt. Sion); M. Power (De La Salle); L. Canning (Ballyduff Upper); J. Byrne (Mt. Sion); D. Fitzgerald (Portlaw/Ballyduff); T. Galvin (Mt. Sion). Subs.—A. Bowman, T. Cullinane, S. Dwyer, L. Wall, J. Mahony.

MITCHELS TO ADVANCE IN PHELAN CUP

Fresh from their championship victory over De La Salle, John Mitchels will be the warmest of favourites to overcome the same opposition in the '64 Phelan Cup at Walsh Park, Waterford, on Sunday next (8 p.m.).

When the sides met a fortnight ago in the Premier competition, there was no disputing the Mitchels superiority, and there was more than a grain of merit in that victory. Now, as then, they will be without the injured Pete Cough, but it will be the surprise of the year thus far if they fail to account for the city side.

Shrewd judges have in fact reliably informed me that Mitchels have geared themselves for an all-out assault on the coveted trophies this year, and I confidently expect them to furnish further unoverlookable proof of their potency, at Walsh Park on Sunday evening.

SENIOR HURLERS PLAY CARLOW IN CHALLENGE

Waterford will have their final try-out before meeting Cork in the Munster senior hurling semi-final at Thurles on Sunday week, when they play Carlow in a challenge at Walsh Park, this Friday, at 8 p.m.

At the time of writing, the Deise team has not been announced, but it is expected that the strongest available side will be on duty. This tie may not be the pushover some people anticipate, and championship recognition may well be won and lost by some. Carlow are enjoying a great year and have qualified for the Leinster senior semi-final for the first time in the county's history. Thus it should be an invaluable try-out for both counties, as well as adding to the coffers of the Waterford County Board.

CHALLENGE FOR A DESERVING CAUSE

A challenge game very worthy of support will be held in Kilmacthomas on Friday of next week (June 26th), at 8 p.m., between Tramore and Stradbally, the proceeds of which will go to a Stradbally player who was injured last year, and unfortunately was not covered by insurance. So a very big attendance is expected for the occasion.

Into the bargain, however, patrons should witness a right good game of football. The Reds are jubilant nowadays following their very impressive three-goal victory over county champions Bricey Rangers in the Phelan Cup recently, and will be anxious to follow up with another win over the Seaside.

Thus, besides lending support to a worthy cause, spectators can look forward to a fine hour's football.

SUNDAY'S WESTERN CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

Sunday next is a very quiet day in Western championship circles, with only two games down for decision—one in Tallow, and one in Dungarvan.

At the Tallow venue, the postponed junior hurling game, between Tourin and St. Declan's (Ardmore) is down for decision, and it will be a major surprise if the Ardmore men do not win convincingly from Tourin's second string.

At the Fraher field, Dungarvan and Ring vie in juvenile football, and here the Old Boro' lads should prove superior.

ALL-IRELAND SEMI-FINAL AT CAPPOQUIN

The C.I.E. all-Ireland hurling semi-final will be held at Cappoquin on Saturday next, at 7.30 p.m. The semi-finalists are Cork and Waterford, both of whom can claim the services of several well known hurlers.

FOOTBALL CHALLENGE AT AGLISH

The Aghish Geraldines and Cappoquin will meet in a football challenge at Aghish on Sunday next, at 2.30 p.m. Cappoquin have already qualified for the semi-final of the Western intermediate championship, whilst Geraldines are busily preparing for their senior tilt with keen rivals Ardmore. Cappoquin have already a challenge this year, and it beated Sunday's opposition in will be interesting to see if they can master a senior side for the second time.

CORK AWAIT SEMI-FINAL WITH CONFIDENCE

As Cork await the semi-final hurling tie with Waterford at Thurles on Sunday week, a wave of confidence sweeps the county. They are "hard at it" at the Athletic Grounds these nights, and Con Murphy has stated that it is the game which may well decide Cork's hurling future. That in itself is enough to make the "Red Devils" strain every muscle, and Con has also gone on record as saying that they will lower the Waterford colours.

Cork in such mood present quite a problem, but then have the Deise men of the last eight years ever shirked a challenge? At Walsh Park the preparation is going on, and all will be ready by June 28.

In next week's issue, D.V., we will survey this most intriguing encounter in fullest detail.

Famous Jockey To Visit The Curragh

EDDIE ACARO, the famous American jockey who retired in 1961 after riding 4,779 winners (stakes value $30,000,000) is due to visit The Curragh on June 27th.

...Eddie has been commissioned by the American Broadcasting Company to make a commentary on the Irish Sweeps Derby for a film to be televised over the American and Canadian Networks.

Michael O'Hehir will do the commentary for Telefis Eireann and Peter Bromley for the B.B.C.

Since retiring Acaro, celebrated for his courage and brilliance as a jockey, has used his talents in business to increase his already considerable fortune and, incidentally, to become a star Television and Radio personality as a racing commentator.

Eddie's 'brief' includes coverage of the important races at Royal Ascot this week, for which he has been fitted out with the traditional grey Topper and Morning Dress by one of London's smartest tailors. After the Irish Sweeps' Derby he will tackle the Prix de la Arc de Triomphe at Longchamp and complete the series with Australia's great race, the Melbourne Cup.

WEDDING BELLS

A wedding of much interest and formerly of Main St., in Co. Waterford, took place recently at the Church of the Most Precious Blood, Astoria, Long Island, New York, when Mr. Joseph Flynn, Long Island and formerly of Glencairn, Lismore, was united in Holy Matrimony to Miss Rosaline Lonergan, also of Long Island.

Before emigrating, both bride and groom were very popular locally, and of course it goes without saying that they now enjoy the same popularity in the land of their adoption. The groom has played gaelic games for his county on both sides of the Atlantic, and was in goal on the victorious Waterford team in 1948 which won the All-Ireland.

His bride, Rose, can also lay claim to fame on the playing pitch, having represented her county in camogie and also having won a county championship with Cappoquin. We join with their many friends in wishing both bride and groom, many years of wedded bliss.

LEAGUE GAMES ON SUNDAY

Winter hurling league games fixed for Sunday next, are: Shamrocks v. Colligan at Cappoquin at 2.30, and Tallow v. Affane, at Lismore at 7.30. The winners in each case will go into the semi-final.

POTATO BLIGHT

Potato blight was first recorded about 1840 and many outbreaks occurred in the following years. It reached its climax in 1847 when the potato crop, which was then the main diet of our people, was a complete failure. There is no need to stress what followed because much has already been written about those disastrous years.

Blight can be a very serious disease in our climate as the fungus spreads rapidly during periods of moist warm weather. The foliage is first attacked and later the spores of the disease are washed onto the tubers.

TIME OF OCCURENCE
Blight can occur at any time during the growing season. It usually makes its appearance from mid-June onwards and the severity of the attack is dependent on the weather experienced. If conditions are damp and mild the disease spreads rapidly and the foliage is destroyed in a comparatively short time.

SYMPTOMS OF BLIGHT
Blight first appears on the lower side of the leaf in the form of brownish lesions. The infected area varies in size and has irregular margins. If the weather is moist and warm the disease spreads rapidly and a whitish mould develops round the edges of the infected areas. This white mildew produces spores and the disease is spread when these spores fall on to the moist leaves.

DISEASE IN THE TUBERS
The tubers near the surface of the ground are most likely to be damaged by spores falling on them from the foliage. High mounding of potatoes gives considerable protection against tuber infection. The disease in the tuber can be recognised by darkening of the skin and a rusty brown discoloration inside can be seen when the tuber is cut across. If blighted tubers are stored damp, a soft rot develops and this is likely to spread in storage.

RESISTANCE OF VARIETIES
Varieties differ in their resistance to blight infection and while there is no variety in this country known to the writer which is completely resistant, a certain number of varieties show a strong degree of resistance to the disease. Varieties in this category are Shamrock and Victor. The foliage of Arran Victory and Golden Wonder often becomes diseased, but infection is not always carried to the tubers. All other varieties have a poor resistance to blight.

PREVENTION
The disease can be prevented by spraying but the spray has to be applied before the fungus appears to get full control. Spraying at any time, however, will help. The burgundy mixture, which is a mixture of Copper Sulphate and Washing Soda, will be known to many users with great success down through the years. This has now, more or less, been replaced by already mixed sprays. There are now on the market many proprietary mixtures which are ready for immediate use and give good control of blight. Potatoes should be sprayed three or four times according to the weather conditions.

TIME TO SPRAY
Spraying is only a preventive and should be done before the disease appears. The first spraying should be done from the middle to end of June and then at fortnightly intervals. (Issued by the Co. Waterford Committee of Agriculture)

Kilmacthomas Notes

Irish Countrywomen's Association—At the usual monthly meeting of the Portlaoigh I.C.A. Guild, the President, Miss P. Cheasty, cordially welcomed the guests of the evening—Miss K. Mulcahy, Mrs. M. Murphy and Mrs. E. Joy from the Kilmacthomas Guild. A distinctly interesting and instructive demonstration on hat-making was given by Mrs. M. Murphy to whom, at the conclusion of her proficient display, a resolution of thanks and appreciation was passed with acclamation. The customary monthly raffle was won by Mrs. E. Joy.

The Various Competitions decided at the recent Ballinacra Macra na Feirme Field Day included the stockjudging test (under 25), which was won by T. O'Riordan, Kilrossanty, who is to be congratulated on his success.

Notes—N. Fower, Kilrossanty, and W. Flynn, Clonea, were two of the group of 37 members of Co. Waterford Young Farmers' Clubs who have just returned from Wales, where they were the guests of the Haverford West Young Farmers' Club, Pembrokehire. With Nuptial Mass and Papal Blessing the marriage was solemnised in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Rathgormack, of Mr. John Lenihan, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Lenihan, Ballinabogue, Kilmacthomas, to Miss Breda Nugent, daughter of Mrs. J. Nugent and the late Mr. J. Nugent, Peddars, Rathgormack.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. Purcell, C.C., Clonea, assisted by Very Rev. J. Cahill, P.P., Clonea and Rathgormack; Rev. T. O'Brien, C.C., Clonea; Rev. M. J. Russell, C.C., Clashmore; and Rev. J. Grace, Chaplain, Ardkeen General Hospital, Waterford.

Miss Maud Nugent (sister of the bride) was bridesmaid and Mr. Michael Lenihan (brother of the bridegroom) was best man. Appropriate sacred music was provided by the church organist during the ceremony. Subsequently, the vast wedding party present were guests at a reception hall in the Minella Hotel, Clonmel—from where, in the afternoon, the happy couple set forth to spend their honeymoon on a motoring tour of Ireland and they were given a great send-off.

The bridegroom, an up-to-date dairy and tillage farmer, is a notably successful breeder and exhibitor of top-grade hounds and point-to-point racers; he and his estimable life's partner received an immense array of valuable wedding presents. All prosperity and happiness to both.

Camogie—The field, which was kindly given by Mr. John Joe Walsh, farmer, Co. Louth, was admirably laid for the Kilgobinet v. Bonmahon camogie clash, held on Thursday evening of last week. Kilgobinet proved eventual winners on the score 3-0 to nil.

From the home of their adoption in White Plains, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. John Drohan, are on holidays at Moonvaud, in the precincts of the picturesque Cove Village of Stradbally.

Rev. Fr. Thomas Hubbard, Rosminian Fathers, who received his ordination at the Cathedral of the Holy Trinity, Waterford, on Sunday last, 14th inst. (Feast of St. Basil), celebrated his first Mass in the Convent of Mercy Chapel, Kilmacthomas, on Monday morning.

His reverence is son of Mrs. and the late Mr. Michael Hubbard, Whitestown, Kilmacthomas. Late Mrs. A. McGrath—The death of Mrs. Annie McGrath, Carrigreedy, Bonmahon, which occurred at her residence on Saturday, 13th inst. (Feast of St. Anthony of Padua), is sincerely and widely regretted. She had been in failing health for some time past, and her passing was not altogether unexpected. Relict of Mr. Patrick McGrath, farmer, Carrigreedy, she was a member of a very popular and respected family, the Meaney's of Ballylanceen. An octogenarian, she was a typical Waterfordian, kindly, generous and sincere. As a neighbour she enjoyed the warm regard of those with whom she daily came into contact, and always had the friendly word and the pleasant smile. She went to her reward consoled by the rites of Holy Church, to which she was ever devotedly attached. To her worthily well-esteemed sons, daughters and grandchildren sympathy in full measure is extended in their tribulation.

One of the largest and most representative corteges seen locally for a long time accompanied the removal of the remains, on Sunday evening, to St. Anne's Church, Ballylanceen, where the coffin was received and blessed by Rev. P. Power, C.C., do. Requiem Mass at 9.30 a.m. on Monday preceded the interment, which was made in the adjoining cemetery amidst every manifestation of profound sorrow. Fr. Power gave the closing absolution at the graveside.

DEATH OF MR. J. KENNELLY
A deep gloom was cast over Lismore and surrounding districts last week with the news of the death of Mr. James Kennelly, Parks Rd., Lismore, which sad event occurred at Ardkeen Hospital, Waterford, in the early hours of Wednesday morning, June 10th. Jimmy, as the deceased gentleman was more popularly known, was taken suddenly ill on Monday morning, and was removed to Ardkeen Hospital, Waterford, where he died on Wednesday morning. He was in his middle fifties.

One of the areas most popular residents, he was possessed of a most friendly and jovial manner, which made him a favourite with both young and old.

Sincere sympathy is extended to his wife, daughter Mary, son, Patrick, brother and sisters, and other relatives. Incidentally, his son Patrick, who has been domiciled in America for the past six years and is presently serving with the American Forces, flew home immediately on receiving the tragic news, and was present at his burial on Friday.

The remains were removed to St. Carthage's Church on Wednesday evening and were received and blessed by Very Rev. Canon Dunphy, P.P., V.F., assisted by Rev. Fr. Quailly, C.C., and Rev. Fr. An Exile's Wish

As I sit outside my billet, in a land across the sea, Fond memories of my childhood, Keep coming back to me.

I see again the Village streets, The road that leads to town... Above them all, with heads on high, The Comeragh hills gaze down.

I stood once more upon the "Bridge," And look out towards the sea! The lighthouse with its twinkling eye, Seems beckoning to me.

My mind goes back to the Western Bay, As the sun sinks slowly down, To the little boats beside the quay, In old Dungarvan town.

But one day I'll go back again, Without a care or frown, To live my life in peace and quiet, Near old Dungarvan town.

Hurlers Impress In Defeat of Wexford

WATERFORD 5-12 WEXFORD 4-5
THE approximate 4,000 spectators that turned up at Dungarvan's Fraher Field on Sunday night last for the senior hurling challenge in aid of the local C.B.S. Building Fund were certainly well rewarded. True to tradition, both Waterford and Wexford put on a most entertaining hour's hurling, and in victory the Decies proved to all and sundry that Tipp, or no Tipp, they will not be easily dethroned in Munster this year.

Not even the heavy intermitting showers that marred the evening could impair the effectiveness of the respective sides and the standard of hurling throughout would have done justice to an encounter of far greater significance. Waterford's display, in all the prevailing circumstances, was a revelation and truth to tell, I have not seen them perform as well since the Munster championship last year. The team lined out without Jimmy Byrne and Phil Grimes of the original selection and although Wexford were without seven of their accepted regulars, it is doubtful if they would have mastered a rampant home side even with a full strength side on duty.

Although it was the Slaneysiders who drew first blood, Waterford had by far the better of matters during that opening moiety. True, midfield was not all it should have been but such was the extent of the advantages they held at half back and half-forward that this weakness in the centre had not the disastrous repercussions that might otherwise be expected. Thanks to the complete mastery of these two lines, Waterford ran riot for most of the half and they were good value for their 5/7 to 1-3 half-time yard.

A CHANGED WEXFORD
But it was a changed Wexford in every respect that emerged for a second half that was productive of some of the best hurling seen at the venue for years. With the composition of their side altered considerably they displayed far greater all-round potency, and when they reduced their deficit to five points it looked as though a "photo finish" was in store. But as Wexford's threat increased with mounting rapidity Waterford gave their emphatic answer and ended the hour in a blaze of undisputed supremacy.

After Joe Foley had given Wexford the lead with a point Larry Guinan levelled from a 70/2. Jim Ormond edged Wexford into the lead again in the 8th minute but almost immediately Frankie Walsh balanced matters from a free. Points by John O'Brien, Walsh and Chesty put Waterford in front for the remainder of the game and Wexford replied with a like score by Tony Maher.

Then came an exchange of goals by the opposing Barrons, John for Waterford and Cyril for Wexford. But now there was no containing the Deise over line of attack and goals by Barron and Walsh and points by the latter and Seamus Power gave Waterford their unflattering ten points lead at the break.

Within seconds of the restart the excellent Chesty stretched the Deise lead with a point, but substitute Paddy Lambert replied with a goal for the Slaneysiders. Frankie Walsh and Lambert exchanged points but a goal and a point by Finnely gave Waterford a clear four goal lead by the three-quarter hour.

Then it was that Wexford hit back with a vengeance. Full-forward Jim Ormond slammed home a goal, and within seconds the same player belted a 21-yard free to the net. Sean Leary topped over a point and with only five minutes between them a storming finish seemed assured.

But Waterford were not to be denied. With a brand of hurling that must stamp them as the strongest of championship contenders they stormed to the offensive and points by Frankie Walsh and a goal by John Barron gave them a most convincing victory.

WIT, BOOST MORALE
Coming as it does with their championship semi-final around the corner, this victory will boost Deise morale no end. At times we saw the Waterford of old and clearly there is life "in the old dog" yet.

Pat Flynn may have had better games in goal, but the conditions made a custodian's task a nightmareish one.

The full line of Cunningham, Flynn and Morrissey gave complete satisfaction, proving that on their day they could master any opposition pitted against them.

Cork's Unimpressive Victory

DECIES PUT UP FEEBLE PERFORMANCE

CORK 2-8; WATERFORD 1-2
WITH a timidity that only reflected on the poverty stricken state of the game in the County, Waterford's senior footballers made their championship exit on Sunday last when failing to a sub-standard Cork side in the Munster semi-final at Dungarvan. Defeat let it be stressed was not unexpected but the manner in which they failed again indubitably blue-printed just how far they must "travel" before taking a place amongst the elite in the grade.

For the attendance of 1,700, it was a most disappointing semi-final, in which the standard of football never befitted the senior grade. Cork were poor; Waterford were infinitely poorer, and almost inevitably the game itself was poor to say the least. In fact it must have been one of the worst championship encounters ever staged at the venue, and the Leesiders can discount all hopes of replacing Kerry as Provincial champions on the evidence of this insipid display.

From an entertainment viewpoint this game was "killed" after less than five minutes of play, when Cork, aided by the strong breeze, led by a clear seven points. It was a whirlwind start from which Waterford never recovered, and Cork unimpressive though they were could afford the subsequent luxury of 20 wides and still coast to victory.

LABOURED
The Deise side laboured and toiled in practically every sector of the field. There wasn't the slightest semblance of understanding or teamwork, and the paltry two nights of training under Paul Lannon was clearly insufficient for so important a game. For this the County Board must accept full responsibility, as for too long now the senior footballers have been practically ignored by the governing board.

Throughout that opening half, which incidentally lasted thirty-five minutes, the scene of activity was within the Deise domain for most of the time. Only on the rare occasion did Waterford mount an attack of any potency, and yet, brief though their excursions into Cork territory were, they might well have had 2-1 to their credit at the interval. In the 7th minute Tommy Kirwan unbelievably failed to score a goal when it seemed harder to miss, and shortly afterwards Tom Flynn sent a 14-yards free wide of the posts. Then shortly before the break, Freddie O'Brien had another golden opportunity of beating Ray Cawley, but again the chance was frittered away.

Had the Deise forwards snapped up those gilt-edged chances their final margin of defeat would certainly have been narrower, although in fairness to the Leesiders, it must be stated they were as superior as their three-goal winning margin suggested. It is indeed a fair criterion of the trend of the exchanges during that opening half that Waterford failed to raise a solitary flag at one end, and conceded 2-6 at the other. In all the circumstances, it could be accepted as an unassailable lead, as quite clearly the Deise men neither possessed the ability or spirit to whittle away that deficit.

Territorially, Waterford did make appreciable improvement on the change of ends, but their attack was completely devoid of all constructive ideas and their scoring attempts against a none too steady Cork rearguard were both feeble and pathetic. Their goal was scored via the foot of a defender whilst both their points came from Jimmy Hewitt, who was then operating at midfield.

CORK SCORING SPREE
The game was scarcely half a minute old when Willie O'Leary opened Cork's account with a point. In the third minute Ned Coughlan placed J. J. Murphy for a goal, and a minute later a centre by Con Sullivan was stared at by several Waterford defenders, and defiantly in stepped O'Leary to slam the ball past Paddy Crotty. That sensational start quite obviously put paid to whatever hopes Waterford had of upsetting the form book, and without reply the Leesiders added a further five points by Paul Sullivan (2), O'Leary (2), and Murphy, before the interval.

Waterford had to wait for ten minutes of the second half before opening their account—a goal pushed home by a Cork defender when attempting to clear a dangerous centre by Tom Flynn. Spurred on by that score, Waterford enjoyed their most fruitful period of the game and Jimmy Hewitt, now operating at midfield, fired over great points in the 15th and 18th minutes. Cork, however, had the final say, and points by Murphy and O'Leary (free) gave them a clear-cut, but unimpressive three-goal winning margin.

Undoubtedly, the greatest weaknesses in this Cork side are in attack—for long a sector that has plagued the county's football sides. On Sunday last they drove 20 balls on the outer side of the uprights, and after the opening four minutes could only notch up a meagre seven points. In brief, it must be rated one of the poorest sides to represent the Rebel county in years.

SULLIVAN STOOD OUT
Their outstanding performer, in fact the only real class footballer afield was midfielder Con Sullivan, whose fielding and kicking was above reproach. His every move showed him to be a step above the remainder, and the excellence of his display was one of the few redeeming features of a colourless game.

Others to do well for the winners were Johnny Flynn, Johnny Mahony and Jimmy Callaghan in defence, and the full forward trio of Murphy, O'Sullivan and O'Leary.

INEPT
Such was the ineptness of this Waterford team in general that it would be kindest to say nothing about it. Certainly it was the county's tamest championship failure for many a long year, by a side that even by average standards would not have rated highly in the junior grade.

Between the posts Paddy Crotty never played with confidence, but in front of him Mark Dingley was one of the few to emerge with reputations unscathed. Mick Connolly had a good hour at centre-back, whilst winghalves Noel Walsh and Tom Walsh were spasmodically seen to advantage. Midfield was literally a "wash-out" where John O'Brien, for the time he spent there, was all at sea. The attacks, as a unit, was a dismal flop. Jimmy Hewitt, Tommy Joe Hart and Monty Gurry tried hard all through, but their praiseworthy efforts inevitably failed for want of support.
