MEMBERS CONDEMNATION OF ANONYMOUS LETTER-WRITING

HE had a horror of anonymous letters and a friend of his was driven to an early grave because of them, stated Mr. CHARLES CURRAN, at the monthly meeting of Waterford Committee of Agriculture on Thursday last when members strongly deplored anonymous letter writing to Public Representatives.

The matter arose when Mr. Curran said he would make a statement on a remark passed by Mr. Norman Walsh and which appeared in the local Press. He hoped they could discuss it in an amicable manner. Mr. Walsh, he said, referred to an anonymous letter he had received at a previous meeting and remarked to him (Mr. Curran) that suspicion haunts the guilty mind.

He was so worried about it that he went to the Supt. of the Gardaí, who gave him a certain course of action to take which he did not want to speak about here. It had upset him considerably as he had a horror of anonymous letters. A friend of his was driven to an early grave because of them. He himself had got two of them in the past recently, and it was scandalous, he said, that public representatives should receive them. The Supt. of the Gardaí had no such knowledge of Mr. Walsh's anonymous letter.

Mr. N. Walsh said he never accused Mr. Curran of sending the anonymous letter. He did, however, state publicly at a Vocational meeting that he had received one, but that would not deter him. It was posted in Dublin to put him off the track.

Mr. Milo Galgey said if Mr. Curran, Mr. Walsh, or any other member received an anonymous letter they should put it in the fire, and not even mention it. By mentioning it they were merely giving the writer satisfaction, and they would continue to be sent as long as the members discussed it.

Mr. Walsh said the gist of the letter hurt him. Mr. Michael Harty (Chairman) appealed to the members to take no notice of such letters. They had enough worries besides these villainous letters. Mr. Walsh said he would bid his time, and would eventually find out who sent it. It was at the Vocational meeting he mentioned it and not here as Mr. Curran had stated. He attached no blame, however, to Mr. Curran for that particular letter.

Mr. Curran said he had nothing but the highest regard for Mr. Walsh as a man and a public representative.

The Chairman thanked Mr. Walsh and Mr. Curran for their approach to this destructive letter writing.

"WILL NOT SHOVE MONEY DOWN MY POCKETS"

THEY were damn well paid at a shilling a mile, and an increase in subsistence allowances would not be pushed down his pocket, said Mr. Norman Walsh, at last Thursday's meeting of Waterford Committee of Agriculture.

The members were discussing the Ministerial order increasing the subsistence allowances for members of local authorities, and Mr. N. Walsh, together with Mr. D. Montayne and Mr. K. O'Ryan dissented from accepting the increase.

Mr. Walsh said he was not going to take the increase, as he did not think they needed it. He preached economy and now he would practice it.

Mr. Richard Walsh said he needed the increase and he would take it.

Mr. P. Conroy (C.A.O.) said it was a Ministerial order.

Mr. N. Walsh said they were damn well paid at a shilling a mile, and an increase would not be pushed down his pocket.

Mr. Milo Galgey said the increases were law, and if Mr. N. Walsh did not want to take them he should hand them over to some charity.

Mr. N. Walsh: They can do what they like with the increases, but I don't want them.

'TECH.' TO BE PAINTED

At last Monday's special meeting of Waterford Vocational Education Committee, the Chairman, Mr. Walsh, said he had sent specifications to the Dept. for the painting and decorating of Dungarvan Technical School, and they had no objections to them. They would now advertise for tenders, and they could consider them at their next meeting.

CINZANO WITHOUT CHARGE

The fabulous Fiat Ambassador coach (already having travelled 250,000 on the same engine of the Cinzano organisation, made a brief stop in Dungarvan on Wednesday on its first visit to Ireland. The purpose of the visit was to let people try Cinzano free of charge. The coach's staff consisted of Misses Judi Rose and Valerie Rose, both of London. Temporary turned barmaids to distribute free samples for the duration of the trip; Joser Wildman, International New Service Ltd.; Gordon Hunter, son of David Hunter of Messrs Chartres, Dublin, (Distributors of Cinzano); Mr. Kerry Reddin, Sales Promotions Manager, do. and Mario Oberto, the coach driver. They will visit America next.

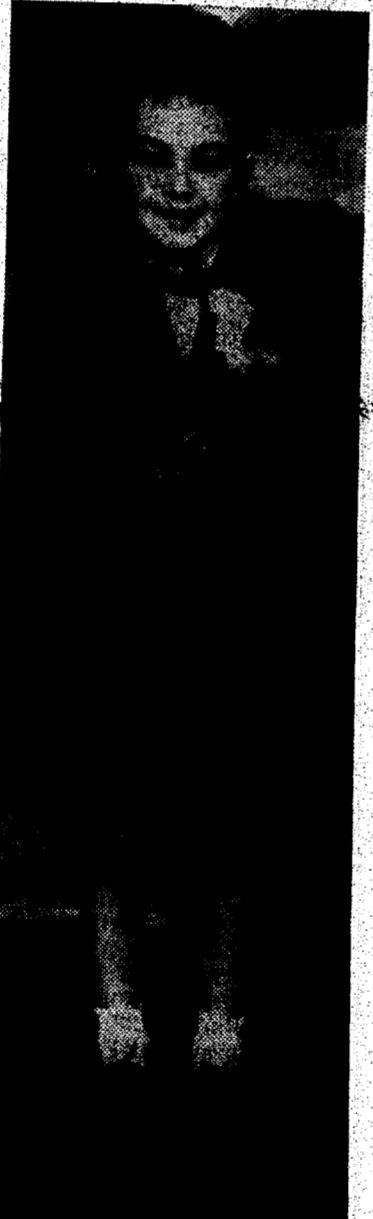

MOST BACKWARD COUNTY IN IRELAND

WHILST considering Departmental Correspondence at last Thursday's Committee of Agriculture meeting in Dungarvan, Mr. Charles Curran said that Waterford was the most backward county in Ireland in the matter of Water Group schemes.

Mr. K. O'Ryan said if that was so, the people themselves must be to blame.

Mr. Curran said it would be beneficial if the different bodies in the county made the people aware of the advantages of group schemes. Regional schemes had been assessed and found to be very expensive.

18-year-old MR. PAT LANGAN, Abbeyside, who has just completed his training at St. Patrick's College, Drumcondra, has been appointed Principal of Grange National School, Ardmore, Youghal, in succession to Mr. S. Cullen who is taking up an appointment in Cork. Mr. Langan is only son of Mr. and Mrs. Paddy Langan, 42 Murphy Place, Abbeyside, and was educated at Abbeyside National School and Dungarvan C.B.S. before going to Training College.

Pictured above is 8-year-old NOEL COFFEY, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Coffey, O'Connell Street, Dungarvan, who recently made his First Holy Communion... on his own. Noel, a pupil of the Presentation Convent, was unable, owing to illness, to make his Communion with his class mates. And so a fortnight later received the Sacrament on his own.

He was son of the late Thos. and Mrs. Flynn, Coolinagour, Dungarvan, and nephew of the late Very Rev. W. Canon Flynn, P.P., Tallow.

He also served his country during the war of Independence.

Driving License Suspended

Thomas Rockett, Bishops-town, Rathormack, had his driving licence suspended for 12 months and was fined £7 when pleading guilty of drunken driving on May 11th last, at Wednesday's Dungarvan District Court.

Supt. Fanning, prosecuting said the defendant was driving his car along the Dungarvan-Waterford road when he over-turned it. There were no previous convictions against him under this particular section, but had two previous convictions for careless driving.

Mr. A. R. Farrell, Solr., defending said his client was a married man and was a paint sprayer by occupation. He had to go around the country and needed the car for work. After 30 years driving he had only two minor convictions against him.

Judge Skinner then imposed the aforementioned penalties. AD-INTERIM TRANSFER An application for an ad-interim transfer of a publican's licence was granted to Mrs. Stata Barry, Main Street, Dungarvan, at the local district Court on Wednesday

Dangerous Parking Charge Dismissed

A charge of dangerous parking of a motor van at Kilgobinet, in March last against Anthony Hayes, Killineen, Dungarvan, was dismissed by Judge L. B. Skinner at Wednesday's District Court.

SEQUEL TO ACCIDENT AT BURGERY

John O'Driscoll, a dealer of no fixed abode, but stated to be a native of Cork, and Cathal Mansfield (18), the Burgery, Dungarvan, were both charged with dangerous driving at the Burgery on April 21st, when they appeared at Dungarvan District Court on Wednesday. The charges against both defendants were dismissed. Both defendants gave evidence against each other.

Cathal Mansfield said he was cycling home at 10.10 p.m. from school study at St. Augustine's College. He was on his correct side of the road. He saw an oncoming car and also the lights of a car coming behind him. He remembered nothing until he was picked up. He had a front light on his cycle but had no reflector. He received cuts and bruises and a suspected fracture.

Mr. O'Driscoll in evidence said he was driving his motor van towards Waterford that night. He saw the cyclist in front of him and he swerved out in front of the van and he hit him. He picked him up and took him to the hospital and later to the doctor. To Mr. E. P. King, Solr. (for Mansfield), witness said he first saw Mansfield about 300 yards away and he was about 8 or 9 feet from the left hand side of the road. His windscreen was completely shattered and the total damage to his van was £25.

Judge Skinner said he had only one word against the other and that would not be sufficient to convict them of dangerous driving. He dismissed both charges, but fined Mansfield 5/- for having no reflector on his cycle.

May Stretch Budget to end of January

At last Thursday's meeting of the Waterford Committee of Agriculture, the C.A.O., Mr. P. Conroy said he thought he would be able to stretch "his budget" to the end of January. He would then have to ask the Committee to borrow to carry him over the financial year, which ends on March 31st.

Mr. Norman Walsh said he did not like the idea of borrowing. He hoped they would be given due notice of it.

Mr. Conroy said he could not borrow without the Committee's authority.

Charged with Larceny of Cement Blocks

James Street, Boreenatra, Dungarvan, was charged at the local District Court on Wednesday, with larceny of 77 cement blocks valued at £218.4, the property of Dungarvan Urban Council. Six other tenants from Boreenatra were also charged with similar offences at the previous Court but the case against Street was not heard that day because he did not appear in court.

The defendant pleaded guilty to half the amount he was charged with and said he was willing to pay compensation. Judge Skinner adjourned the case to see if the defendant would pay the money.

£100 SUBSIDY FOR DUNGARVAN SHOW

AS in former years, Waterford Committee of Agriculture is subsidising the annual Dungarvan Show to the extent of £100. This was unanimously decided at the Committee's monthly meeting on Thursday, when the Show Society's application was discussed.

When Mr. P. Conroy (C.A.O.) read the Show Society's application for the subsidy, he said they were not in a very good financial position this year.

Mr. Michael Hartly (Chairman) said the usual subsidy was £100. Mr. Milo Galgey then proposed and Mr. R. Walsh seconded that they give £100. Mr. Hartly said they had provided for it in the estimates. The C.A.O. said they had not. Mr. R. Walsh asked who they were to believe. The C.A.O. said it had been provided for, but had gone on other mandatory demands such as salary increases. Mr. Hartly said the Minister should have provided them with the extra money that went on salary increases. The C.A.O. said it looked as though he would have to borrow the money. Mr. R. Walsh said they gave it last year and they should give it this year. Mr. K. O'Ryan: But we have not got it. Mr. Galgey's proposal was then put to the meeting and passed unanimously.

LATE WILLIAM H. FLYNN Tallow May Have Technical School

AGLISH, CAPPOQUIN

The death took place on Thursday, June 18th, at St. Joseph's Hospital, Dungarvan, of William H. Flynn, (better known to his many friends as Harry), after a duration of illness and at the allotted span. The deceased gentleman was very well-known over a very wide area, and especially in Dungarvan, where he was employed for some years. He was always a most popular person and was of gentle and retiring disposition.

We extend our deepest sympathy to his sister, Mrs. Aherne, and his brother-in-law, James Aherne, (who are domiciled in Swansea), on their great loss. May he rest in peace.

The removal of his remains took place on Friday evening followed by a large cortege, to Aghish Church, and were blessed and received by Rev. T. Nugent, C.C., Ballinacree, assisted by Rev. M. Kieley, C.C., (Aghish) (newly ordained).

Requiem Masses were offered on Saturday morning by the same clergy, who also officiated and imparted the final absolution at the graveside. Another large and representative concourse were present at the interment.

(Funeral arrangements were by James Kieley and Sons, Shandon, Dungarvan.)

SYMPATHY.

Sincere sympathy is extended to Mr. Pat Murphy, well-known local Munster and Leinster Bank official, on the death of his mother, in Cork, during the week.

SUBJECT to the sanction of the Department of Education, the temperance Hall in Tallow is to be converted into a four-roomed technical school. This was unanimously agreed to at a special meeting of the County Waterford Vocational Education Committee on Monday last when it was stated by the C.E.O., Mr J. Rushe that the total cost of furnishing the building and carrying out all the other essentials would be £710.

Mr. Denis Montayne said a meeting had been held in Tallow and it was agreed to give the temperance hall to the Vocational Committee.

Mr. Rushe said he inspected the hall and there were four rooms in it. He would recommend that the four rooms be taken.

Mr. Norman Walsh (Acting Chairman) said it would not be possible to take the four rooms as the monthly court was held in one of them.

Mr. Rushe said they could hand over the room for that particular day. He added: "I am sure the pupils will not object."

Replying to Mr. John Fahey, Mr. Walsh said there would be no extra staff involved. The C.E.O. had given him that assurance.

Mr. Rushe said they would have night classes in the school from the very start.

Dep. T. A. Kyne asked what kind of tenancy would they have on the building.

Mr. Walsh said it was not available for sale, but they could lease it.

Mr. Rushe said they could lease it for two years to give it a trial. That would prove once and for all if Tallow was

Tributes to Late Colr. Wm. Collins

PRIOR the adjournment of last Monday's meeting of Waterford Health Authority as a mark of respect to the late Mr. William Collins, a member of the Authority up to the time of his unexpected death last week glowing tributes were paid to him by the other members.

Mr. James Power said they had lost a great colleague. He was a big loss to his wife and young family, and to his business. He could not put it into words what to say. It was only when Mr. Collins was dead and gone that people knew of his charity. It was on this sad occasion that he proposed a vote of sympathy to his wife and family.

Mr. E. Browne said Colr. Collins would be hard to replace. He was held in the highest esteem in the public and sporting life of Waterford and they all mourned his loss.

Ald. T. Gallagher said Mr. Collins was a most serious loss to his wife and family. He was sitting here with them a month ago and now he was gone from them.

Mr. P. Browne said Mr. Collins was a straight, honest and upright man.

Mr. Norman Walsh said it was with deep regret and shock that he learnt of Mr. Collins' death. He was an outstanding public representative and he would be a great loss to the Health Authority. Waterford Corporation and Fine Gael Party, of which he was a respected member. He respectfully suggested they adjourn as a mark of respect to his memory.

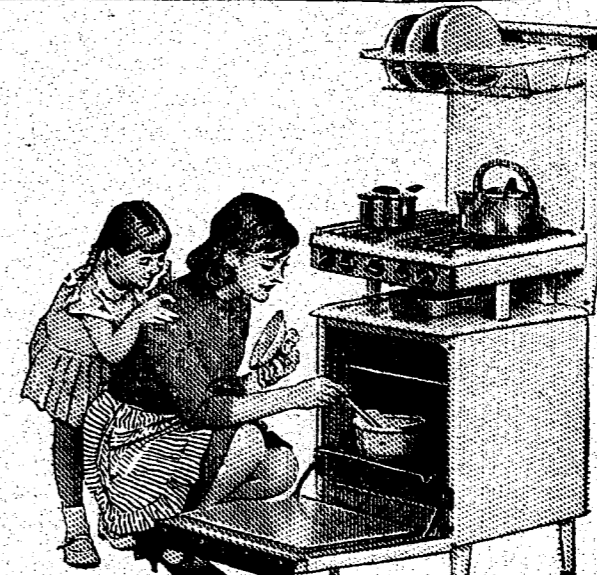

Mr. Thomas Lannon said the late Mr. Collins was a very conscientious and independent member of the Health Authority and his interest was in the patients of the hospital's he represented and the poor. He represented them honestly and justly.

Mr. John Fahey said Mr. Collins' view was always looked up to with respect and he always respected the views of the other members even if he did not agree with them. He was a great loss to the Health Authority, but greater still to his wife and family.

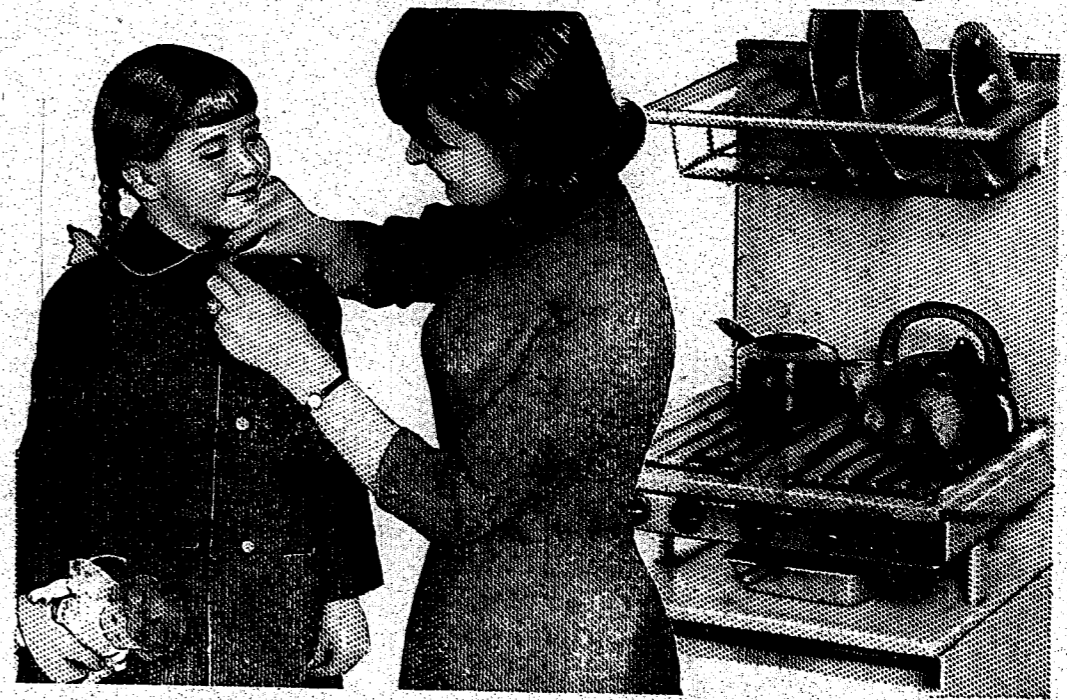

Mr. Charles Curran said Mr. Collins was a big man in every way, and his loss was great.

Mr. Frank Roche said he was a very able and upright member.

Mr. S. J. Moynihan (County Manager) was also associated with the expressions of sympathy.

DEISE GAELDOM AWAIT'S THURLES SHOWDOWN

For hurling followers, the county over, Sunday's championship semi-final against Cork at Thurles, is being eagerly awaited. It is the day on which Waterford's Munster crown is placed in the melting pot, when nothing short of a supreme and unified effort will be good enough to carry the county to another provincial decider against Tipperary or Clare on July 26th.

MITCHELS TROUNCE DE LA SALLE

Just as they did in the championship a few weeks back, John Mitchels inflicted yet another heavy defeat on luckless De La Salle in the '64 Phean Cup competition at Walsh Park on Sunday night last. This was another polished performance by Mitchels whose superiority was as clearcut as the final 3-7 to 1-2 scoreline in their favour suggests.

It is a mammoth task that confronts Waterford's standard-bearers, as Cork, thirsting to get back into the front ranks, will neither spare themselves or their opponents. But on the billiard-like carpet that is the Thurles pitch, I expect Waterford to rise to the occasion and crush for another year at least the hopes and beliefs that Cork's breakthrough from the wilderness is now ahead. Elsewhere in this issue I will preview in greater detail this intriguing encounter, and run the rule over the men who

Dungarvan take Rice Cup in Thriller BUT LISMORE GAINED GLORY IN DEFEAT

Rice Cup for C.B.S. In one of the most thrilling and keenly contested finals ever, Dungarvan C.B.S. recaptured the Rice Cup trophy at the expense of Lismore C.B.S. at the latter's ground last Thursday. This was a game which had everything abounding in good hurling, goalmouth thrills and near misses and ended in terrific excitement as both sides fought desperately for scores.

Many a senior game would look poor by comparison with the efforts of these lads who gave of their all in quest of victory. The game opened at a cracking pace and if the tempo had slowed somewhat coming into the final minutes it was because overworked limbs could not obey the dictates of determination and fervour.

When all is said and done, Dungarvan just about deserved to capture final honours. All through the game they produced a happy combination of skill and wholeheartedness and in the first half especially they pinned their opponents to defensive positions with some really superb hurling. Every man on the side was dedicated to his task and with the midfielders Philip Duggan and John Beatty in control early on, the forwards were given plenty of scope to show their talents. And they used the opportunity well, for in spite of a grand Lismore defence they had run and Lismore were struggling. Their infrequent attacks carried no great weight and were easily repelled. To the delight of the huge Dungarvan following, diminutive Mossie Keane smashed home goal number three and at the short whistle the scoreline read: Dungarvan 3-2; Lismore 0-0.

The second half began as the first ended and within a minute Anselm Hayes had another goal. Now Lismore threw caution to the winds and hurried themselves into attack. The hurling in this period was superb. After ten minutes R. Brennan got half a chance and with a great goal. Minutes later he struck again and amid mounting tension both sides strove for matters. But that side would have been reduced to their fate long before the finish, but these boys scorned the very thought and in that pulsating second half came extremely close to turning dark despair into glorious triumph. M. Brennan was not finished, yet and with a beautiful flick from the left wing he found R. Brennan. B. Landers

These lads can feel proud of their achievement. From the start of the campaign they have hurried brilliantly and they had a fitting reward last Thursday for months of solid endeavour.

But Lismore also can remember this game with pride. Even the most enthusiastic Dungarvan supporters spared a thought for the "little fellow."

In post match conversations one sentence was repeated over and over: "Isn't it marvelous that Lismore could out a team like that onto the field." What a magnificent fight these boys made of it, even after a disastrous start which saw star midfielder cum full-back Joe Bennett injured and the Dungarvan side on the rampage.

Down through the years Lismore have produced some excellent teams but it is doubtful if even the best of them once more who pierced the defence for another grand goal as did the present bunch of Diarmuid Flynn added a point

THE PLAY

From the throw-in Dungarvan were away and only some good work by John Morrissey saved the day for Lismore. It was all Dungarvan early on and Anselm Hayes put them on the victory trail with a point. Minutes later a sweeping cross-field movement saw Jim Nagle gain possession and whip the ball home from close in. Phil Duggan was ruling the centre of the field at this stage and with ten minutes gone it was young Nagle once more who pierced the defence for another grand goal as did the present bunch of Diarmuid Flynn added a point

Brickey hurlers for semi-final

BRICKEY RANGERS 1-12; FOURMILWATER 3-3

BY virtue of their three-point victory over Fourmilwater at the Fraher Field, Dungarvan, on Sunday last Brickey Rangers became first semi-finalists in this year's senior hurling championship. But what a dismal start to a campaign that has already lost caste by lack of contenders, and except for an exciting finish, the sparse attendance was treated to insipid fare that at best only bordered on mediocrity.

At times in fact, one found it difficult to believe that the teams were vying in the premier grade. In general, the hurling was clearly substandard, and the Rangers must surely be ranked outsiders at this stage and to supplant Mount Sion as county champions.

But, below par though the exchanges may have been, the Brickeys underdogs though they were, fully deserved their success. After an uncertain opening, during which time they seemed booked for another humiliating defeat by the Brickeys' opposition, they subsequently broke the Brickeys' hearts by scoring a goal in the junior titleholders.

27 MINUTE HALF

And yet, worthy though the Brickeys were of their place in the last four, the very fact that referee Mick Whyte (Dunmore) allowed a 27 minute second-half will always shroud this game in a cloud of controversy. As the game entered its closing quarter, the Brickeys ruled the posts in practically every sector and had increased their interval lead from six to seven points. To all intents and purposes the issue had resolved itself with nothing more than the final margin of victory to be determined.

Then came the Fourmilwater fight-back that altered completely the trend of the game, and partially compenthey had left off, and a ninth minute point by Jas. Walsh was followed by a Justin Spratt goal and a point by Willie Terry.

Then in the 17th minute came the Fourmilwater fight-back that came within an ace of proving sensationally successful. Hewitt's ammed home a goal, and in the 24th minute Mick Connolly did likewise from a melee. A minute later Kieran Ryan pointed a free and in the 27th minute another minor from a placed ball, left only a solitary goal between the sides. But with the puck out came the premature final whistle, and Brickeys were through to the semi-final for the first time in many years.

BRICKEYS BEST

Except for that final quarter the Brickey defence had the measure of the opposing forwards. Paud Donoghue kept a good goal, and in particular "Wick" Walsh, Paul Kilgrew, B.J. Spratt and Peter Ferncombe shone in defence.

Despite the presence of two such outstanding hurlers as Kieran Ryan and Mick Connolly in the area, the winners fared exceptionally well at midfield. John Woods was their leading figure throughout in the sector, and he got good assistance from Tommy Joe Hartly until he retired injured.

In attack, corner-forward Tim Walsh was easily their most accomplished performer, and wound up with four points to his credit. Willie Terry, Justin Spratt and Jas Walsh were others to leave an invaluable imprint on the scoresheet, whilst Frankie Conroy and Patsy Donnelly, completing the sector, also did well.

Whilst Fourmilwater will forever contend that the full-time whistle, coming as it did in the 57th minute possibly deprived them of at least a replay, they can have little misgivings, as their display hardly merited victory.

They were best served by Seanie Hickey, Willie Walsh and Tom Walsh in defence; Terry and James Walsh, Connolly and Ryan at midfield;

DANGER IN THE FIELDS

There is no known cure for Ragwort poisoning, yet the weed is common in most parts of the country. Farmers whose cattle die after eating ragwort are frequently puzzled to find the cause of death, apparently not knowing that the weed will kill.

Even when ragwort has been incorporated in hay or silage it remains highly poisonous, so that cattle being fed indoors in the winter can still fall victims to it.

The expense of dealing with ragwort is far less than the value of a single beast.

An old method of controlling ragwort is to graze infested fields with sheep, which do not normally resort to it.

Ragwort spread seasily and will re-infest cleaned land in a short time, so eradication is best carried out on an area basis by co-operation between neighbouring farmers.

When using a spray it should be remembered that the spray makes the ragwort more palatable to stock, so they should be kept off the sprayed fields until the plants are dead.

N.F.A. NEWS Government not Deterred By Cost

There is no known cure for Ragwort poisoning, yet the weed is common in most parts of the country. Farmers whose cattle die after eating ragwort are frequently puzzled to find the cause of death, apparently not knowing that the weed will kill.

Even when ragwort has been incorporated in hay or silage it remains highly poisonous, so that cattle being fed indoors in the winter can still fall victims to it.

The expense of dealing with ragwort is far less than the value of a single beast.

An old method of controlling ragwort is to graze infested fields with sheep, which do not normally resort to it.

Ragwort spread seasily and will re-infest cleaned land in a short time, so eradication is best carried out on an area basis by co-operation between neighbouring farmers.

When using a spray it should be remembered that the spray makes the ragwort more palatable to stock, so they should be kept off the sprayed fields until the plants are dead.

Further information can be obtained from county agricultural advisers and from the Department of Agriculture, Dept. No. 126, "Ragwort Poisoning in Stock" which can be got from the Department's head office, Merrion Street, Dublin 2, free of charge.

industry also is meeting with farmers particularly to avail of slight difficulty.

Wheat acreage is slightly down on last year, but with an expected increase in yields, output this year should be as high as last year.

Barley acreage is up and again with an increase in yields there should be a sizeable increase over the 1963 level.

During the past year 90,000 acres of land were reclaimed or improved by farmers with the aid of grants.

The fencing of Second Programme for Ecological mountain grazing has been well received and up to the end of March 1964, a total of 1,265 schemes were approved for an enclosure of 53,000 acres.

Certain revisions are to be made in the conditions applying to the Fertilisers Credit Scheme to encourage smaller

Under the B.T.E. Scheme it is expected that counties Kerry, Tipperary and Waterford will be attested by May 1965 and the remaining three counties in the south by the end of 1965.

The eradication of Brucellosis is one of the Department's main proposals in the field of animal health in relation to the Common Agricultural Policy.

In this regard it is hoped to finish two complete rounds of milk sampling this year and it is expected that the necessary legislation will be introduced in the Dail in order that eradication methods may be applied on a compulsory basis.

It is gratifying to note that the Taoiseach and Government realise the need for doing something practical about this area. In a speech in the Dail last week he said, "In these counties there is the largest and most difficult arterial drainage problem in all Ireland, that which is presented by the Shannon and its tributaries, particularly the River Suir. The estimated cost of this operation at present-day costs, is around £15 million, but it will, of course, take many years to finish. The Government are not deterred by this cost, and consider that the resulting benefits are likely to justify it. It is a drainage operation that must be planned with the utmost care, so as to make sure it will be successful, and the Government have decided that the detailed surveys which would enable the actual drainage operations to begin should be put in hand, as soon as the necessary skilled staff can be recruited for the job. It is estimated that about thirty engineers are needed, and there is difficulty in recruiting this number for the work, but it is the Government's intention to push on with it as soon as is possible."

On behalf of the hundreds of farmers and their families involved, it is hoped that these words will be translated into action soon.

The annual renewal date of the N.F.A. Group Scheme of Voluntary Health Insurance is 1st July. Subscribers will get renewal notices from the V.H.I. Board at an early date and they should note carefully the instructions thereon regarding payment of their premiums.

Do not be confused by the fact that three seemingly conflicting instructions are given on the renewal notice. You will find a number at the top left-hand corner of the form which will indicate the appropriate instruction to follow.

At this particular time the correct procedure is to send your V.H.I. premium, together with renewal notice, to N.F.A. Central Office, 27 Earlsfort Terrace, Dublin 2. Cheques and money orders should be made payable to "The National Farmers' Association."

As might be expected, great emphasis was given to research in the talks between the Agricultural Institute and the N.F.A. in Dublin recently. At them, the N.F.A. was congratulated on its recent plan for agriculture which was described as a very "forward looking document."

The Director of the Institute said it was amazing the similarity that existed between their own ideas and those put forward by the N.F.A. in relation to agricultural research.

Among the subjects discussed were: dairying, where it was felt that more capital was badly needed for the development of adequate dairy research facilities at Moorkirk; grassland, where great scope exists for intensifying production through increased stock density; sheep, where a breeding programme such as that outlined in the N.F.A. Seven Year Plan is badly needed; pigs, where further expansion in research is necessary; poultry; wheat; malting barley; the need to evaluate the quality of feeding stuffs; horticulture; farm buildings and credit.

Following the recent milking machine survey it is proposed that the Institute should bring the testing of milking machines within the scope of its Machine Testing Service. A report of the Committee on milk quality is expected soon. The N.F.A. stressed the need for a Central Milk Testing Station and consideration is to be given to the possibility of farmers operating such a Station themselves as a co-operative.

A report of the Genesoy project on the improvement of rough grazing, blanket peat and hill pastures will be published shortly. On the horticultural side it was pointed out that there were definite limits to the scope for expansion in this field in Western areas due to such limiting factors as soil and climatic conditions. This would need to be thoroughly studied before a any large-scale plan was adopted.

When Mr. Waish suggested that the close co-operation of farmers would be needed in some of the research projects he was assured by the N.F.A. delegates that the Association and its members would be only too willing to work with the Institute.

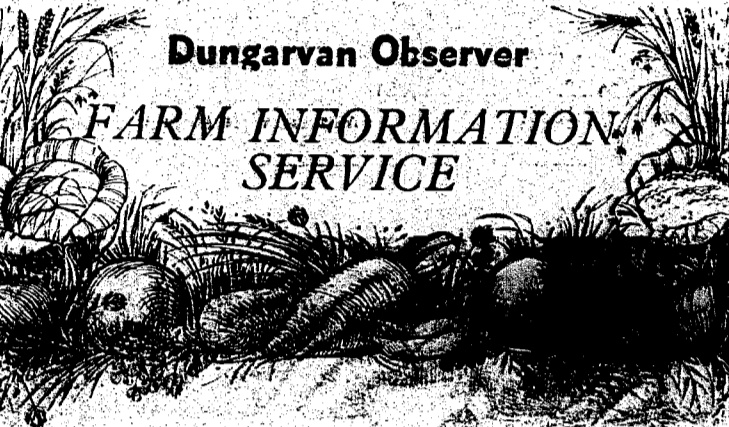

A varied amount of valuable information is being published regularly by the Agricultural Institute but it is doubtful whether it is reaching as wide a readership as is possible. To help in the dissemination of this knowledge the N.F.A. suggested that some of the Institute's publications should be made available to N.F.A. branches on receipt of an application and a reasonable annual fee to cover the cost. This idea is to be investigated.

Institute taking part in the talks were: Dr. T. Walsh, Director, Messrs. S. Curran, T. Breathnach, B. Crombie, P. Ryan, Dr. D. Robinson and Dr. J. B. O'Moore, Chiefs of Divisions and M. Lewis, Agricultural Aide. Representing the N.F.A. were: Messrs. J. Buttiner, Vice-President for Munster; J. R. Orpen, Vice-President for Leinster; S. Healy, General Secretary; P. Sherry, P. Harnett, J. Murphy and J. Howley, Secretaries of Divisions.

creamery milk production this year is likely to exceed 350m. gallons and it hopes to be able to dispose of all surplus milk on the export market in one form or another. The creamery system continues to spread in the west and midlands and it should confer great benefits on small farmers in these areas. Furthermore, it is essential that there should be a sound and co-ordinated policy in regard to the organisation, distribution and use of creamery milk supplies and that undesirable competition for milk between co-operative creameries should be avoided. Payments for this year under the Heifer Subsidy Scheme are expected to be made on 75,000 animals.

Since 1957/58 the use of fertilisers has risen sharply—nitrogen and phosphates by 80% and potash by 70%. With a view to maintaining this country's place on the export market and also develop the pork export market, which has been expanding in the last three or four years, it is necessary for us to increase pig production further on a sound basis. Unless we fulfill the British Bacon allocation in an orderly way throughout the year our future share of the market could be prejudiced and with every prospect of a steady increase in our pig production such a danger must be avoided. The accommodation at the Cork Pig Progeny Testing Station is to be doubled; the Thorndale Station is in operation, and plans for a 3rd Station at Ballyhaise, are well advanced.

There is no sign of any distinct improvement in the eggs and poultry industry although breiler production in 1962 was treble that in 1960. The turkey

Question—How can rushes, which grow in swampy ground be eliminated? Is there any chemical treatment for their destruction?

Answer—The application of a suitable chemical hormone weedkiller such as MCPA, or 2-4-D will give very good control of the common or soft rush. For best results the following procedure is recommended. Cut the rushes early in the season—April or early May—and apply 3 to 4 cwt. of a compound fertiliser to encourage growth of grass and a new soft growth of the rushes. Spray about one month later, during dry sunny weather, and follow the instructions on the chemical container.

Q.—What is the value of Slurry from a dairy herd, in terms of N.P.K.?

A.—As you probably know, the nutrient value of Slurry can vary, depending on what is fed to the animals and how the material is stored. The following figures are for a 100 lb. cow.

If slurry is applied by irrigation to grassland at the rate of 4,000 gallons per statute acre, this would be equivalent to 100 units N, 56 units P and 68 units K. This application would be very satisfactory for grassland where high production is required, and the grass may be grazed 10 days after irrigating, which of course is not possible with a dressing of F.Y.M.

Q.—I have noticed recently that one of my sheep, although in good condition, holds its head on one side and is unsteady on its legs. What is the cause and cure, if any?

A.—This sheep is most likely suffering from "Gid." The staggering effect is caused by pressure on the brain from a cyst. This cyst has developed from the migration of a tape worm or "badder" worm embryo through the digestive system and the blood system to the brain.

The mature tapeworm, passed out by a dog usually onto the grass, consist of countless eggs, some of which are taken into the stomach of the sheep to cause the infection. The head of a sheep affected by "Gid" should not be fed to dogs as this completes the cycle. As for cure, the best will recommend suitable treatment, but prevention is better than cure.

Kilmachthomas Notes

The Well-Laid-Out Farm and splendid buildings appurtenant to it owned by well and popularly known Mr. Michael (Mick) Hayes, Orchardstown, Butlerstown (the former noted Waterford all-Ireland senior hurler) are certainly a credit to this active, progressive, helpful neighbour. On Wednesday of last week the holding was visited by a group of twenty-three French farmers, who are members of the Agricultural Syndicate of St. Quentin, near Paris, and who, during the present week wound up an eight-day tour of Ireland. Accompanying the group to Mr. Hayes's farm were Mr. P. Conroy, C.A.O., Co. Waterford; Mr. M. Byrne, Agricultural Instructor for the area, and Mr. W. A. Walsh, Bagenalstown, Co. Carlow, who constructed all the buildings on the holding.

The Many Friends of likeable Mr. Laurence (Larry) Power, Kiltagee, Kill, earnestly wish him a speedy and complete recovery from the effects of the indisposition which has necessitated his undergoing hospital treatment during recent weeks.

The Annual Field Day Dance under the auspices of Kilmachthomas Branch, Macra na Feirme, was held in the local Rainbow Hall, on Tuesday night of this week; it was well patronised and thoroughly enjoyed, the musical accompaniments being delightfully discoursed by Decca Showband (Waterford). Dancing commenced at 9 o'clock and concluded at 2 a.m.

On the C.B.S. (Dungarvan) Team that won the Rice Cup was John Beatty, St. Anne's, Tox, Kilmachthomas, a burly hurler of considerable promise.

"Graduates" go to Mrs. Peggy O'Donnell (nee Curran), wife of Mr. Wm. O'Donnell, Ballydwan, Kilmachthomas, on her having won a lovely camera in a competition of skill conducted by the periodical entitled "Biatas."

The Pupils of Currabaha Boys N.S., Kilmachthomas, and St. Anne's N.S., Sheffield, Co., went on their yearly educational tour on Monday last, when they journeyed to Cork and Cobh, accompanied by their respective teachers. All enjoyed the excursion.

Relatives and Many Friends of newly-ordained Rev. Fr. Thomas Hubbard, Newtown, Kilmachthomas, have had the happiness of getting his reverence's blessing. Son of Mrs. E. and the late Mr. Michael Hubbard, Newtown, the lovable young ecclesiastic is attached to the Order of the Rosminian Institute of Charity, Glencomersgh House, Kilsheelan, Co. Tipperary. Good length of fruitful years to him in the service of God.

Kilmachthomas Ceoltoiri celi bands (two) are moving to Michelstown, Co. Cork, tomorrow (Sunday) to participate in the Munster Feadh Cheoil. A specially chartered bus will convey the instrumentalists and their colleagues to and from their destination. It is confidently anticipated that both bands will fare well at the Feadh Cheoil. Good luck to them.

The Final of the Medal Tournament sponsored by Kilmachthomas Camogie Club was decided at Cooltubrid, Kilmachthomas (in a field kindly loaned by Mr. John Joe Walsh), on Thursday of last week. Kilmachthomas were the principals and Cobh the visitors. The match was a neutral playing member of a club which started the match at 8.30 before a goodly crowd of enthusiastic on-lookers. Both sides gave of their best and the standard of play was pretty high all the way. When the long whistle sounded, the Kilmachthomas girls had clearly outscored the homesters.

Later, at a pronouncedly pleasant social in the Rainbow Hall, Kilmachthomas, the medals were presented to the worthy winners, who are to be congratulated on their consistency throughout the tourney.

Under the aegis of St. Anne's (Ballyaneen) Guild, Muintir na Tire, was the distinctly successful athletic sports meeting held on Sunday evening in a conveniently situated venue at Bonmahon (kindly provided by Mr. Thomas Kennedy thereof). The fixture attracted an unusually large gathering, and the competing sides were arranged in the usual manner. In the tug-of-war contest only did adults figure, the many other events on the evening's programme being confined to pupils of the schools in Stradbally, Seafield and Knockmahon and Kill. From the eliminating trials in the tug-of-war test, teams representing Kill and Faas, respectively, reached the ultimate, which proved a pit-pat pulling bout for supremacy, eventually resulting in a win for the somewhat heavier Kill combination.

Pupils of St. Anne's N.S., Seafield outpointed those of the other schools engaged on the general results limited to them, thereby annexing a silver cup, a souvenir to be held in their school. Incidentally, none of the schools was without a number of prizewinners. Of a verity, the promoting body can feel justly proud of the all-round success of this laudable venture.

The Members of the Women's Section of St. Anne's Muintir na Tire Guild held their first annual outing on Tuesday (23rd inst.), when they travelled on the Princess bus to the Cork Summer Show. Lunch was served in a hotel in the city, and the party (of thirty-eight), visited every sector of the excellent show, and were much impressed by its every feature. An enjoyable day was spent by all and the outing was a wonderful success.

Holidaymakers from across-Channel centres in our midst these days include Mr. and Mrs. J. Ceary and family, who are the guests of his sister, Mrs. P. Tobin, Cooltubrid, Kilmachthomas. They are in radiant health and spirits and are having a very nice time.

WEST WATERFORD NEWS

DEATH OF MR. R. RONAYNE

We regret to record the death, which occurred in Dungarvan Hospital, of Mr. Richard Ronayne (senior), Coolbagh, Clashmore. A member of a well known and popular family, deceased, who was noted for his amiable characteristics, was a great favourite amongst all sections of the community, and his demise, following a fairly long illness, and at a moderately advanced age, has caused deep and widespread regret.

His sons, sister, brother and other relatives have been the recipients of much sympathy.

The remains were removed to Clashmore Parish Church, and the accompanying cortege was of extremely large and representative proportions. There was also a very large attendance at the subsequent interment in the adjoining cemetery. Very Rev. David Conon Power, P.P., Clashmore, officiated.

COLLECTION

The annual collection in aid of the Pope will be held in this district on Sunday next. The public are asked to subscribe generously.

ENGLISH VISITOR TO CLASHMORE

Lady Joyce Sykes, who recently visited Clashmore, is a direct descendant of the Earl of Huntingdon, who was, in former times, landlord of this area and owned extensive properties here. On arrival at Clashmore she visited the ancestral home, which is now occupied by the Flynn family, and called on the Russell family, who are relatives.

She also visited the site of the 17th century mansion, which was once occupied by her ancestors, and called to see Mr. Michael Troy, who is 87 years of age and is noted for his great memory of events.

She stated that she was much impressed by all she had seen, especially the great hospitality and kindness of the people, the beauty of the countryside, and the excellent roads. It was her first visit to Ireland and she stated that the present Earl hoped to visit Ireland next year.

It is of interest to note that her home at Wellington, near Taunton, Somerset, is called "Clashmore."

LOCAL PROBLEMS

The County Engineer has written to Mr. C. Curran, M.C.C., as follows: "I refer to your recent representations about roads at Kinsalebeg, Ballyheane and Kilmee, and the matter will be attended to in the near future. The provision of £1170 on the Killy's Cross-Grange road has now been reduced to £470 in view of the reduction in the County Road Grant."

"With regard to the question of public dumps, I am at present examining the possibility of mechanising the scavenging and street cleaning arrangements around the county and I will keep you advised as to developments. The matter will be coming before the Council in the ordinary way anyway."

CLASHMORE MAN HOME

Enjoying a holiday from the U.S.A. in his native Clashmore, recently, was Mr. Michael Guiry. He was accompanied by his nephew.

But Waterford Remain The Confident Choice

ARE Cork on the threshold of a return to former greatness? Do Waterford remain a dominating force within the Southern Province? These are but some of the many questions that may well be answered come Sunday next on the green sward of the Thurles Sportsfield, when the counties clash in the eagerly awaited Provincial senior hurling championship semi-final. For both counties it is a vital juncture in their respective hurling careers and the famed Tipperary venue can prepare itself for a vibrating encounter between mustard-keen rivals.

Waterford's Munster crown has been literally in "cold storage" since last July, but is now the target for those who remain to do championship battle. To the Leesiders falls the golden opportunity of dethroning the holders, an opportunity that every Rebel County follower firmly believes will be grasped gratefully with open arms.

respective partnerships may do no better than cancel each other out.

GAELIC JOTTINGS

ARDMORE CRUSH TOURIN

Ardmore crushed Tourin's second string to the tune of 14-3 to 0-0, in the first round of the Junior (primary) hurling championship at Tallow, on Sunday last. So one-sided was the whole affair that one could hardly describe it as a contest, as the Seaside, without exception, piled on the scores inophonous fashion.

Ardmore looked a team of all talents in this facile victory, but so outclassed were Tourin that one could not assess with confidence the extent of their real ability.

The losers fielded a very young side, but try as they might, they could not contain the rampant Seaside, who were very bit as dominant as their fifty point victory made them out to be.

DUNGARVAN JUVENILES OUTCLASS RING

Fielding a powerful juvenile fifteen, Dungarvan's under sixteen footballers defeated Ring by 5-5 to 0-1 in the opening round of the championship at the Fraher field on Sunday last.

Dungarvan took control from the very start, and there was never the slightest doubt as to how the game would go. The Blues forwards in particular moved with purpose and some of their scores were excellently executed efforts.

Ring never gave up trying, even when the cause was very obviously a lost one, and for that alone, deserve the highest praise.

Dungarvan have clearly the makings of a fine side, which if properly handled, could go a long way in this championship.

LISMORE'S GREAT VICTORY OVER CAPPOQUIN

Make no mistake about it there is a football resurgence in the Cathedral town of Lismore. Already this year the club's minors scored a great championship victory over Kilsenny, and on Monday night at Cappoquin this was followed up by an even better win over the fancied Cornerstone brigade in the juvenile championship. It was a thrilling hour's stage.

football between these keen rivals, but if the result was in the balance for the entire hour, there can be no denying the fact that Lismore fully merited their 2-5 to 2-2 victory.

For the opening thirty minutes the teams were locked in equality, and fittingly they finished the half level at 1-1 each. But on the change over, Lismore took control in the vital sectors, and the three points they had to spare at the call of time just about reflected their second-half supremacy.

Outstanding on a gallant Lismore side were G. Daly at full back, together with fellow defenders, T. Veale, D. McGrath, and S. Sullivan. R. Ormonde had a splendid game at midfield, and most impressive in attack were centre-forward J. Geoghegan, J. Bennet, T. Savage and D. Buckley.

Scorers for Lismore were: Geoghegan 1-4; Buckley 1-0, and T. Savage 0-1.

Cappoquin had a team of great triers, and they certainly lost no caste in defeat.

TIPP STAR TO UNDERGO KNEE OPERATION

The Tipperary defender Pat Ryan is to undergo a knee operation shortly and has been omitted from the panel in training for their championship semi-final against Clare on Sunday week.

Dropped from the panel are Tom Ryan, Liam Connolly and Mick Lonergan, and it certainly speaks volumes for the talent available at present in the premier county that they can discard with the services of such talented hurlers.

UNDER 21 PANEL GO INTO TRAINING

The Waterford under 21 hurling team, which plays Galway in the Munster championship at Limerick, on Sunday week, went into special training on Wednesday night. They have already scored an impressive win over Wexford in a challenge and will play a Waterford "over 21" team in a further challenge next week at Walsh Park, Waterford.

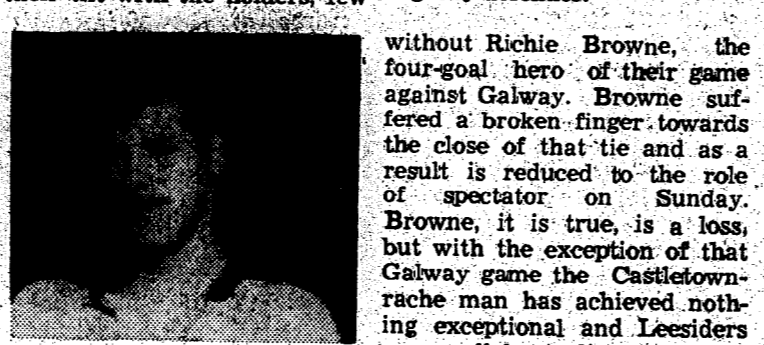

The County received a bye into the semi-final, but Galway beat Kerry en route to this stage.

Not since '56 has a Cork hurling side emerged victorious from Munster, an era that has been frequently punctuated by disappointments and defeats. It has been an eight year barren period unequalled in the history of Leeside hurling and it must surely rankle Cork-onians that they have been forced to take a comparative back seat as others strive for a crown that they themselves annexed with such splendid frequency in the past.

BROWNE AN ABSENTEE

It is not, of course, to their advantage, that they must field without Richie Browne, the four-goal hero of their game against Galway. Browne suffered a broken finger towards the close of that tie and as a result is reduced to the role of spectator on Sunday. Browne, it is true, is a loss, but with the exception of that Galway game the Castletown-rache man has achieved nothing exceptional and Leesiders may well be inclined to make too much capital out of his absence.

By their performances of late, the present Cork side has it seems become somewhat ruthless in pursuit of victory. Against Wexford, in particular, some of their players outstepped the canons of good sportsmanship, although denied if any closely connected with the side will hear of defeat.

THE signs of resurgence have been very much in evidence in recent months. From a group that included Tipp and Kilsenny they qualified for the League semi-final and only narrowly failed to Wexford at that penultimate stage. Since then they have commenced their championship bid and satisfactorily accounted for Galway by 4-14 to 2-7 in the opening round.

For many of the Waterford men the hurling road has been considerably abbreviated by the passing years. Since 1957 the nucleus of the side has remained unaltered and for some this may well be the final opportunity of another All-Ireland crown.

Undoubtedly the '63 All-Ireland defeat by Kilkenny has had its repercussions. There followed a somewhat disastrous League campaign in which Wexford, Dublin and Limerick all proved superior and understandably even optimists began to fear for the worst. But recently the team has been displaying all its old sparkle and following six weeks of intensive training I can assure all challengers that it will take a mighty effort if these Deise champions are to be dethroned.

Is it any wonder then that prospects of an epic battle remain so rosy. Cork, in particular, are itching for the commencement of the vital hour, and their County Secretary, Con Murphy, has declared that it is the game that will de-stress strongly enough the necessity of keeping the Cork forwards at a respectable distance from him. Given a clear view in front of him, Flynn will I predict, ooze with confidence and will not let any "soft one" pass him.

Without malice I state the Deise defenders should not stand on ceremony. By this there is no encouragement of illegitimate tactics, but the effectiveness of first-time pulling on the lively Thurles sod is difficult to appreciate.

It is doubtful if the Deise rearguard could be improved upon.

Now that Martin O'G Morrissey has settled in at left full back, the line in general has been strengthened. Tom Cunningham and Austin Flynn with almost a score of championship years between them will revel in the exchanges, and are unlikely to be outwitted very often over the hour.

But it is the half-line of Larry Guinan, Tommy Hearne and Jimmy Byrne that I expect to prove the heart-breaking phalanx for the Cork attack. Guinan and Byrne, the Mount Sion clubmates have few peers as winghalves whilst centre back role has been brilliantly taken over by Hearne.

At midfield I have already stated John Hearne and John O'Brien are pitted against a formidable partnership in Gerry O'Sullivan and John Hayes. It would be sheer folly to say the Waterford pair has given satisfaction to date, but if they can raise their game to meet the demands of the occasion then they will have gone a long way towards putting the County into yet another Munster final.

BRISTLES WITH SCORING POTENTIAL

Few will cavil with the composition of an attack that bristles with scoring potential. Good and all as the Cork defence may be, it is difficult to see them containing the Deise forwards on whom I pin implicit faith to notch up a winning total.

Tom Cheasty's return after suspension has meant a world of difference to the attack on the whole and the clashes between himself and the equally teak-tough Mick McCarthy should be vibrating to say the least.

But if Cheasty's recall has added to the potency of the sector, more important still has been the manner in which Frankie Walsh has benefited by the Ballyduff man's presence on the "forty-two." Walsh underwent a complete and prolonged period afflicted by loss of form, but since Cheasty's return has looked more like the Walsh of '69. Against Wexford in particular in the four-member having left down the County on such occasions. He is presently hampered by a leg injury but all is expected to be well by the day of reckoning.

With the reappearance of Philly Grimes, the tried and trusted full line is again on duty. Grimes and Seamus Power should have some great duels with Doolin, and Denis Murphy and if Barron could entice Denis O'Riordan away from the parallelogram he could well create decisive openings for his Mount Sion flankers.

ADEQUATELY SERVED

Out to midfield Cork are adequately served. Pat Barry has successfully replaced Mick Cashman as custodian number one, whilst the full-line of Doolin, O'Riordan and Murphy has a crude but effective look about it.

Like Waterford, the side possesses a really fine half back line in Terry Mahoney, Mick McCarthy and Pat Fitzgerald and the more I survey this game the more definite I become that the outcome will be decided by their duels with Flannelly, Cheasty and Frankie Walsh.

The Cork attack however, does not look nearly as good as Waterford's on paper, at any rate. Patsy Harte will undoubtedly be the danger man, although John O'Halloran and John Bennett are others, capable of taking scoring chances.

Replacing the injured Richie Browne at top of the right is Na' Piarasigh club man Donal Sheehan who has been on and off the side since 1961.

Of the two, Waterford are undoubtedly the more experienced, and Cork flushed with enthusiasm, are certain to throw everything into the early stages in the hope of morale boosting scores.

WATERFORD TO WIN

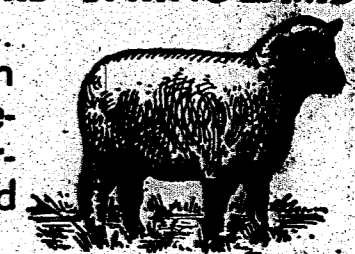

But, as I have already stated, this game will, I believe, revolve around the respective duels at half back. The Deise trio of Guinan, Hearne and Byrne can however, clip the wings of the attackers on whom Cork pin greatest faith, and at the other end I expect the Cheasty-led line to sufficiently outmanoeuvre their opposites and stave off the first of the challengers for their coveted crown.
