Nurses May Strike On August 2nd

UNLESS a wages dispute has been satisfactorily settled by mid-day on August 2nd next, 4,000 nurses employed in the county's mental hospitals will go on strike. This was the information contained in a letter from the I.T. & G.W.U. which was read by the Secretary of Waterford Health Authority, Mr. J. A. Hynes, at last Monday's monthly meeting.

Mr. Milo Galgey said the nurses were given no consideration and it was being said they would be sympathetic about the whole thing because of the patients. Their careers were supposed to be callings, and they were damn bad ones when they were not getting paid for them.

The Chairman, Mr. W. Kenneally, said there was no need for alarm. He was sure the matter would be settled satisfactorily.

Mr. Hynes said the matter went before the Labour Court but the nurses were not satisfied with the recommendations of that Court. He believed that in view of the strike threat the Management would again consider the claim. Twenty-two mental hospitals were involved and 4,000 nurses.

Mr. Tom Lannon said £14 a week in this country was not bad. He objected to them using their position as a threat to obtain higher salaries.

Mr. J. Griffin said as people running essential services it was most unusual for the nurses to use their position in pressure to seek their ends.

They have put up with most exacting conditions of employment he said, and they should indicate to the Management that their nurses stand high in their regard and that because of the quality of their work, and the gentleness and ladylike manner they expect from them, the position should not be allowed whereby they would have to withdraw their labour. They were a most worthy group of people.

Mr. Lannon said the position was that a threat was being put by the nurses and it was the patients who would suffer. They were not the worst off section of the community and this was a threat for their pound of flesh, irrespective of who is being hurt. They had organisations looking for their pounds of flesh in this country and that was the position in the country for the past three or four months. They had the teachers' dispute as an example.

Mr. Lannon went on: "In Dungarvan town we have people who can't get the assistance they are getting. We have the case of the little child that may never walk again and she is not getting one shilling from the Board of Health. There is no talk of these people without a morsel of food coming into the house. We are only talking about the big people with the big salaries. The only savings being made every year in the balance sheet is on the poor."

The discussion then ended.

Proposed Co. Home Reconstruction

A decision on the proposed reconstruction of the County Home, Dungarvan, was deferred until the next meeting of the Health Authority, following a short discussion on the matter at last Monday's meeting.

The Secretary (Mr. J. A. Hynes) said there were about 200 patients in the County Home at present. The Dept. had in mind, however, that it might be cheaper to build a new Home rather than reconstruct the old one. They had a field adjacent to the present Home that would be suitable. The members then decided to adjourn the matter to the next meeting when they could inspect the site before arriving at a decision.

EMIGRATED TO U.S.

Miss Mary O'Brien, formerly of Dungarvan, recently left for New York where she is to take up employment. Elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christy Moylan, Kay was a most popular young lady. We extend every good wish to her in the land of the skyscrapers.

POPULAR BANK MANAGER TO RETIRE

Mr. J. O'Brien, the well-known and courteous Manager of the local branch of the Munster & Leinster Bank Ltd., retires on 14th August next and will be replaced by Mr. Eugene O'Sullivan who was sub-manager in Dungarvan in 1961 when he was appointed Manager in Mullingar.

PATRICK WHELAN (13), second son of Mr. and Mrs. John Whelan, Knockboy, Ballinacorney, who won first prize in the Cork County Open championship under 14 violin competition at Fleadh na Mumhan in Mitchelstown.

"Fish and its Insides were Cooked"

At last Monday's meeting of Waterford Health Authority, Mr. T. Lannon said he had received a complaint from a patient in Arukeen that on one particular occasion fish, together with its "insides", had been cooked.

The Chairman, Mr. W. Kenneally, said they had Visiting Committees who reported everything in order at the hospitals and this complaint had not been made to them.

Mr. Lannon said the complaint had been made to him.

USED UNTAXED CAR

John Begley, Ballydwane, Stradbally, was given the P.O.A. at Dungarvan District Court on Wednesday when pleading guilty to a charge of having no tax on a car in March last. He was fined £1 for subsequently making a false declaration to obtain tax. Mr. M. J. Lavan Solr., defending, said the defendant bought the car and it was taxed to December, 1963. The back axle then broke and the car was not in use. He took it out again in March but it was taxed for that period. He had since taxed it covering that period.

Young Girl Rescued from Swimming Pool

Seventeen years old Miss Joan Walsh, Emmett St., Dungarvan, was the heroine in the eyes of a crowded Dungarvan swimming pool on Wednesday evening when she dived fully clothed into the pool when Helen O'Dwyer (11) St. Bridget's Terrace, got into difficulties. When taken from the water by Miss Walsh, the "Helger-Nielson" method of artificial respiration had to be performed until she recovered fully.

Joan is a qualified instructor in water safety and she is to be commended for her prompt action, which may well have averted loss of life.

Colligan Man Loses Life in Accident

LATE GERALD (GARRY) QUINLAN

Twenty-six year old Gerald (Garry) Quinlan, of Knockree, Colligan, Dungarvan, tragically lost his life following an accident at work on Wednesday evening. He was driving a mechanical shovel during levelling operations at a site in Ladyswell St., Cashel, Co. Tipperary when it overturned and fell ten feet into a paddock pinning him underneath. The accident occurred shortly after 5 p.m. and he was extricated immediately by the aid of a hydraulic jack owned by local land reclamation contractor, Christy O'Keefe. He was removed to Our Lady's Hospital, Cashel, but died at 7 p.m.

Garry was to have terminated his employment with the Cork firm for which he worked, this week-end and was to take up new employment as a driver with Waterford Co. Council on Monday next.

Seconds after being released the machine burst into flames, but they were quickly extinguished. Before being removed to hospital he was attended by Doctors Ryan, Savage and Osborne, Rev. Fr. J. Lambe C.C., Cashel rendered spiritual aid. The deceased was an outstanding hurler and footballer with Colligan Rockies and Emmetts and was to have played with the latter on Sunday in the senior football championship against Ring at Dungarvan.

An inquest was held in Cashel this Thursday evening.

TOURANEENA NOTES

TOURANEENA EN FETE

Bathed in brilliant sunshine and bedecked with flags and a gay bunting, the little village of Touraneena presented a colourful scene on the occasion of the official opening of the new National School on Wednesday of last week.

Following 11 o'clock Mass at St. Mary's, the children, led by their teacher, Mr. Sean Cronin, marched from the Church to the new building to the strains of a lively marching tune.

The school was blessed by Very Rev. Fr. Walshe, P.P., assisted by Rev. Fr. Griffin, C.C., and Very Rev. Fr. Keane, Waterford, who represented his Lordship the Bishop.

Mr. Prionsias O'Connell, deputy chief inspector, officially opened the new school, addressing the large crowd, Mr. O'Connell congratulated all concerned for having helped to provide such a magnificent edifice for the education of the children in the parish.

He stressed the importance of our native language and asked the children, parents and everyone in the parish to help restore the old gaelic tongue, and to speak it in their every-day conversation.

He also spoke of the past glory of Slabh Gúna: her great poets, her brilliant hedge-school teachers, athletes and other great men who brought fame and honour to the district known far and wide as "Slabh gal Gúna na Fálte".

It was his wish that this new seat of learning would radiate its beams to every corner of the parish, to mould the children of today and the generations to come, into good Christians, and worthy citizens who would uphold the traditions of our noble heritage.

Mr. M. J. Lavan, Solr., defending, said the boy's father was only a labouring man with £7 a week, and he had three in family. The defendant was presently earning £22 a week.

Judge Skinner adjourned the case for 3 months to see if compensation at the rate of £1 a week would be paid.

When he overtook the Mini he was doing about 55 miles an hour. He did not pull in sharply in front of the Mini. When he did pull in he put out his left indicator. He looked in the mirror and saw the Mini was close behind all right. His car turned over three times.

Cross-examined by Supt. J. Fanning, witness denied asking O'Driscoll to say his brakes failed.

William O'Driscoll said he was the driver of the Mini car. Approaching Downey's Cross Keating pulled up beside him in a cream Opel. He then cut in in front of him and he had only one foot to spare. He applied the brakes and swerved to the right. There was nothing more he could do.

O'Driscoll continued: "I was doing about 65 miles an hour when Keating passed me. When his car overturned I got him out and he asked me to say that my brakes had failed, because his brother would kill him. He said he would sell his own car to pay for the damages to mine. He also told me he was good friends with the Sergeant and he might get the case quashed."

Supt. Fanning—I am suggesting to you that there was trick-acting going on between the two of you.

O'Driscoll—There could have been.

Judge Skinner—Were you racing?

O'Driscoll—No.

Judge Skinner said he would think they were racing. Keating in particular was in a terrible hurry. O'Driscoll was travelling on a straight line on his correct side of the road and he would dismiss the charge against him.

He convicted Keating of dangerous driving and imposed a fine of £3.

Mr. Cahill said he had received sixty letters from all over the country complaining about the entrance into Ardkeen hospital. It was suicide going out from the hospital and it could be remedied for a very small amount.

Whatever engineer planned it, he said, must have been mad. Something should be done about it as it was very dangerous.

Mr. M. Galgey said if they opened up the entrance further it would mean speeding by the motorists which would mean a lot of murder.

The Chairman said the whole trouble was that motorists were driving their cars out from Ardkeen the wrong way. The matter will be discussed again at a future meeting of the Health Authority.

Justice said Defendants were "Racing"

HE believed the defendants were racing in their cars, remarked District Justice Skinner at Dungarvan Court on Wednesday when he convicted Thomas J. Keating (20), Leamybrien, of dangerous driving at Curraheen, on May 9th last. A similar charge against William O'Driscoll, Abbeyside, was dismissed.

Mr. James Walsh, Gortavicary, said at about 8 p.m. on the night in question he saw a mini minor car and a cream car travelling on the main road. The cream car was about to pass the Mini. He crossed the road and as he did so he heard a crash. He looked and saw that the cream car had crashed.

Mrs. Mary Foley, Gortavicary, said she was walking to Leamybrien that night. She heard the crash behind and saw the cream car turned up on the road.

John Fennell, Emmet St., Dungarvan, said he was a passenger in the Mini car. Approaching Downey's Cross a cream car passed them and pulled in close in front of them. They stopped immediately but the left front of their car hit the right rear of the other.

Replying to Mr. E. P. King, Solr. (for O'Driscoll) witness said he thought he himself was responsible for the accident. He cut in in front and gave them no chance of avoiding him. He was only a foot from them when he put in.

Miss Mary O'Riordan, another passenger in O'Driscoll's car said Keating cut right in in front of them. After the accident Keating asked O'Driscoll to say his brakes failed.

Sergeant M. Walsh, Leamybrien, said he visited the scene of the accident and spoke to Keating. The defendant told him that when he slowed down O'Driscoll's car hit him from behind.

Witness added that Keating's car was an Opel and rolled over three times with the driver inside it.

In evidence Thomas Keating said he was driving his brother's Opel car that night. When he overtook the Mini he was doing about 55 miles an hour. He did not pull in sharply in front of the Mini. When he did pull in he put out his left indicator. He looked in the mirror and saw the Mini was close behind all right. His car turned over three times.

Cross-examined by Supt. J. Fanning, witness denied asking O'Driscoll to say his brakes failed.

William O'Driscoll said he was the driver of the Mini car. Approaching Downey's Cross Keating pulled up beside him in a cream Opel. He then cut in in front of him and he had only one foot to spare. He applied the brakes and swerved to the right. There was nothing more he could do.

Official Opening and Blessing of Boreenatra Houses

Venerable Archdeacon D. Power, P.P., V.F., Dungarvan, will officially bless the new Boreenatra housing scheme at a date to be arranged by the Council. This was agreed to at a meeting of the Urban Council on Friday night last, when the matter was discussed.

The Chairman Dep. T. A. Kyme said he had invited the Minister for Local Government twice or three times to officially open the new houses, and whilst he had not refused, he had never fixed a date. He also suggested that Archdeacon Power bless the houses on a date to be arranged. This was agreed.

Health Authority Gives Site for Factory

Waterford Health Authority at its monthly meeting on Monday last, decided to give a half-acre site at Kilmeaden Creamery for the purpose of siting a new cheese factory. The site was originally intended for the Dispensary doctor's residence, but the Authority have been offered an alternative site, which has been deemed suitable for the residence. They will ask the creamery for an acre of land.

Mr. P. Browne said that since the last meeting of the Health Authority, Mr. Frank Roche and himself had visited the area and inspected the sites being offered to them by the creamery as an alternative. They had selected a particular site which they considered suitable and they would recommend it to the Authority.

Ald. T. Gallagher proposed and Mr. J. Griffin seconded that they accept the recommendations of Mr. Browne and Mr. Roche and this was unanimously agreed to.

"The best Outboard Motor for the World"

In a statement the defendant said he gained access to the house by means of a window. He saw a handbag on the table which contained a purse and he took £60 from it.

Mr. A. R. Arrell, Solr., defending said on the persuasion of his father, the defendant returned from England and the £60 had been paid into court.

In giving his decision Judge Skinner said he would take into account that the money had been paid into court and that the defendant had returned from England.

Mr. M. Hayes said Regan admitted the offences to him at the Barracks and paid his share of the compensation.

Supt. J. Fanning said the defendants were in a licensed premises in Main Street when a row developed. A glass panel of a door and six drinking glasses were damaged to the extent of £26.8. The Guards were called and the defendants were taken into custody. They paid compensation.

Judge Skinner said he would give them a chance this time but they now had records against them.

Supt. Fanning said Regan was a member of the British Army and was home on holidays. He was not in court.

Ptes. John Conlon, Joseph Parson and James Monaghan, all of the Military Camp, Ring, and Denis Regan, Connolly Row, Dungarvan, were each charged at the local District Court on Wednesday with being drunk and disorderly at Main Street, Dungarvan, on July 3rd and causing malicious damage to the extent of £26.8. Supt. J. Fanning prosecuting, said the defendant was employed by Mrs. Agnes Connery at the time and gave her notice on April 3rd the same year. Between the dates mentioned he broke into her dwellinghouse and took the money. He then went to England and a warrant was issued for his arrest, but they failed to locate him. He returned home recently and was arrested on Sunday morning and was charged before a special court.

Mr. A. R. Arrell, Solr., defending said on the persuasion of his father, the defendant returned from England and the £60 had been paid into court.

In giving his decision Judge Skinner said he would take into account that the money had been paid into court and that the defendant had returned from England.

"Ardkeen Entrance is Dangerous" — says Member

A notice of motion by Mr. D. Cahill requesting "that they ask the Manager to have the entrance to Ardkeen Hospital improved as it was a danger to traffic in its present condition" was discussed at last Monday's meeting of Waterford Health Authority.

Mr. Cahill said he had received sixty letters from all over the country complaining about the entrance into Ardkeen hospital. It was suicide going out from the hospital and it could be remedied for a very small amount.

Whatever engineer planned it, he said, must have been mad. Something should be done about it as it was very dangerous.

Mr. M. Galgey said if they opened up the entrance further it would mean speeding by the motorists which would mean a lot of murder.

The Chairman said the whole trouble was that motorists were driving their cars out from Ardkeen the wrong way. The matter will be discussed again at a future meeting of the Health Authority.

WILL RAISE SUPPLEMENTARY LOAN

On the proposal of Deputy Kyne, seconded by Col. R. Walsh, it was decided at last Friday's meeting of Dungarvan Urban Council to raise a supplementary loan of £5,500 to meet extra costs of the Boreenara housing scheme.
Mr. B. White said the extra money was required principally to cover increased wages.
A member said that this increase would mean that each house in the scheme would cost about £211 more than the original £1,550 quoted.

WATER LOAN APPROVED
The Council also approved of the borrowing of an £16,500 loan for the water scheme, which now brings its total expenditure to £32,000.
Proposing the loan, Deputy Kyne said they had the cheapest water supply in Munster. Col. R. Walsh seconded.

Also on the proposal of Dep. Kyne, seconded by Col. Walsh it was decided to raise a loan of £145 for the erection of a shed for the Council's new scavenging vehicle.

KILL WERE MASTERS ALL THE WAY

KILL 2-10; STRADBALLY 2-5

KILL, champions of two years ago, took a step nearer regaining their senior football crown at Dungarvan on Sunday night last when inflicting a five-point defeat on a Stradbally side that failed dismally to live up to confident pre-match expectations.

It was a disappointing hour's football to say the least, and except for a few individual performances was another-wise featureless encounter.

That the winners deserved to prevail is beyond dispute, yet easily though their victory was achieved, they are not to my mind as good a side as when annexing their first ever title in '62.

Stradbally, on the other hand literally fell flat, and the ineptitude of their display must have taken aback many of those who believed they were on the way back. Not once during the hour did they take the lead, and had they not scored two fortuitous goals would have went down by a far greater margin.

The pattern of the game was set from the start with Kill the dominating force and when they led by 1-6 to 1-3 at the interval, it was obvious it would take a supreme effort by the Reds on the change-over if their position was not to deteriorate. But as in the opening half, Kill continued to hold sway after the change of ends and they were good value for the five points they had to spare at the end of the hour.

Stradbally laboured for the most part at midfield where the winners' Martin Kennedy ruled the roost, and it was the dominance they enjoyed in this sector that proved the major factor in victory. Stradbally tried a variety of ploys in the area but all failed to break the Kill stranglehold, thus ensuring the winners of a decisive territorial advantage over the hour.

Nor did the proneness of their defenders to foul near goal, prove an advantage, as the accurate boots of Kennedy and Paddy Duggan punished them severely for these misdemeanours. True some of the frees conceded were necessary but others were sheer acts of stupidity by the defenders concerned, and only gave the Kill men an opportunity of consolidating their already strong position.

After five minutes Tom Mooney pointed a fifty yards free and two minutes later Kennedy did likewise. John Regan and Kennedy (free) tacked on further minors by the 10th minute, before Cunningham opened Stradbally's account with a point in the 11th minute. In the 13th minute Duggan pointed a Kill free and four minutes later the Reds got their first real break in the form of an own goal by a Kill defender.

A centre by Cunningham was miskicked by goalkeeper Joe Tibbs and in attempting to avert the danger, Michael Kirwan slammed the ball past his own keeper.
But undaunted by that reverse, the winners hit back in decisive fashion and full forward Noel Power somewhat easily rounded Tom Foley and gave Jim Power no chance with a bullet-like drive from ten yards. Almost immediately Duggan added a point, by minors by Barry and Cunningham (free) left the Reds trailing by 1-6 to 1-3 at the break.

Stradbally restarted with Tom Walsh at centre-back and they had a very fortunate net in the second minute when corner forward Mike Flynn slammed the ball against the cross-bar from six yards with only goalkeeper Jim Power confronting him. But the inevitable was not long delayed and in the fifth minute John Regan finished a fine move to the net. Cunningham pointed a Stradbally free but Noel Power and Mick Regan stretched the Kill lead with like scores.

Then came the second goal that momentarily gave hopes of a fighting finish by the Reds. A quickly taken free by Cunningham, which, incidentally the majority thought was being awarded to Kill, caught their defence napping and was finished to the net by Eddie Dunphy. Mick Regan and Eugene Casey exchanged points but two minutes from time Paddy Duggan had the final score of the game when he pointed from Guiry's pass. In the dying seconds the losers were awarded a penalty when a Kill defender picked the ball off the ground inside the par-allelogram, but Tom Cunningham drove straight at Tom Kirwan who stood in for the spot kick.

Outstanding in the winners' defence were Tom Kirwan, Ger. Mooney and Johnny

The Co. championship will be a big attraction and it might not be out of place here to disclose that the four main prizes are being presented by none other than Guinness, therefore it can be taken that those trophies will lead the way, and in addition, several other valuable prizes are being presented by the business people of Dungarvan. Paid-up members only will be permitted to compete for the Club championship event.

Ballyduff Minors

Advance

(BY OUR LISMORE CORRESPONDENT)

Ballyduff 61; Cappoquin 1-1.
Ballyduff minor hurlers went a step nearer to retaining their Western title, when they scored a convincing win over Cappoquin, at the Gaelic Field, Lismore, on Friday night last and they now go on to contest the western final against Dungarvan or Abbeyside.

Though the score may suggest a rather one-sided affair, nevertheless, the game produced some very good patches of hurling and it was not until the last quarter that the more experienced Ballyduff lads showed their superiority.

The game opened at a very fast pace, with Cappoquin pressing hard and after fifteen minutes led by a goal and a point, scored by P. Stapleton and J. Purcell respectively.

However, goals just before half time by L. Canning and T. Keane gave Ballyduff a two-point interval lead.
On the resumption Cappoquin did all the pressing again, but poor finishing by their forwards, especially the full-line, cost them many valuable scores, and Ballyduff, taking advantage from Cappoquin's lack of finishing, and swept upfield to score a further 4-1, while Cappoquin failed to raise a flag in this half.

Star of the 'Reds' victory was, no doubt, corner forward Jerry Keane, who scored no less than four goals, and he got great help from the other five forwards, especially Liam Canning, Liam Roche and Donald Kennelly. Mick Caples completely dominated centre-field throughout, while the defence was always sound; particularly Jimmy Geoghegan, Jim Cotter and Danny Ogan.

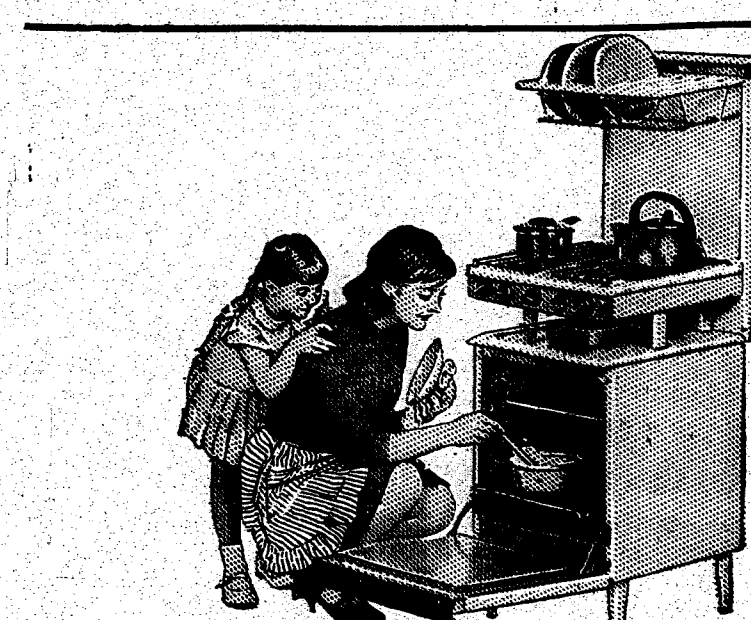

Cappoquin were best served by Ned Power (goal); Paddy McGrath, Monty Scanlon (defence); Jim Purcell (centre-field), and forward Billy Cunningham, Pat Stapleton and A. Prendergast.

Council Pays £8000 for Land

AT the adjourned monthly meeting of Dungarvan Urban Council on Friday night last, it was decided on the casting vote of the Chairman, Deputy T. A. Kyne, to purchase 16 acres of land at Abbeyside at a cost of £500 an acre, i.e., a total of £8,000.

Fifteen of the acres are the property of Mr. Nugent, Skeharine and the other acre is owned by Mrs. Draper.
Col. T. Lee said that since a previous meeting when the matter had been adjourned for further consideration, he had inspected Mr. Nugent's land it was in a dead end. It was a site where he thought a lot of land would have to be wasted.
Mr. B. White said the Council would have to develop any site they bought.

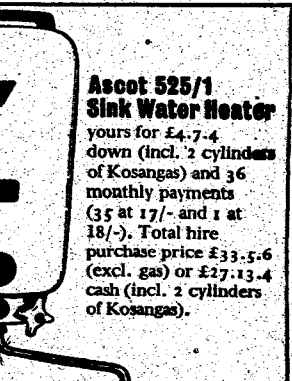

Deputy Kyne said there was a reasonable amount bounding the land and at most only one new road would be needed. The lowest selling price was £500 an acre.
Col. T. Lannon said he thought the price was very high.
Col. Lee agreed with Col. Lannon.

Deputy Kyne said that was the way prices were going.
Col. Lannon said it was a big wallop of money.
Deputy Kyne: That may be so, but at least we have the satisfaction of getting the land by agreement. If we went to arbitration we would not get it for much less.
Col. Lee said there were plenty sites at Scrammiens Lane, Shandon, Fair Lane and other places around town, and he was surprised at the Council wanting to pay £500 an acre for this land. He would prefer to see houses built in the places he mentioned for workers before buying the land at Abbeyside.

Col. R. Walsh said they could not afford to let the land go even at £500 an acre.
Col. Lannon said he was against it because he thought the price too high.
Col. Lee said it was the biggest price he had ever heard of. The land itself was alright, but the price was not.
Col. Lannon said £7,500 was a lot of money to spend for one

Kilrossanty Unimpressive Caseyville are Champions in Victory

Kilrossanty, as expected, advanced to the second round of the senior football championship by defeating Galtier at Dungarvan last Sunday.

Without hesitation, I would rate it the poorest display I personally have seen from a Comeragh side in the championship. The majority of the team seemed glued to the ground, and quite obviously did little or no training for the game. Galtier, on the other hand, possessed only a limited amount of ability but their speed and fitness gave them a definite advantage that was very nearly transplanted into victory.

In fact had the Barony men possessed a forward worthy of the name, they and not Kilrossanty would now be safely in the second round. By half-time they had squandered enough chances that would normally have been sufficient to win a game twice over. Consequently, instead of having the issue completely wrapped up by the interval, they could do no better than turn over on level terms—0-1 each.

POOR

The standard of football in this half was incredibly poor, and it is surely a reflection on the forward talent on view that both points came from placed balls. During that moiety, Galtier kicked no fewer than fourteen whistles to Kilrossanty's five, which is in itself a fair indication of how territorially outclassed the Comeragh men were during that half.

Nor was the standard of play very much improved on the change-over, and Kilrossanty painfully laboured to their unimpressive four-point victory. Yet it was only seven minutes from time that they snatched the lead from the Galtier men who, prior to that looked quite capable of springing a surprise. To relate the story of the scores is about the easiest task of the writer. After ten minutes Ned Flynn pointed a Galtier free, and seven minutes later Tom Flynn balanced matter, also from a close in free. Up to the interval neither side succeeded in raising another flag and the short whistle was a merciful intervention to football that to say the least was boring to watch.

Tom Flynn gave Kilrossanty the lead within three minutes of the restart when he pointed a free, but six minutes later, following one of the few worthwhile movements of the hour, John Hearne finished the ball to the Kilrossanty net. In the 17th minute Noel Casey capitalised on a weak kick-out to reduce their deficit to the minimum, and after a Tom Flynn "fifty" was set off a cross-bar in the 19th minute, they eventually regained the lead seven minutes from time when a Tom Walsh free was scrambled to the net from the ensuing mêlée. That score finally put paid to any chances of a Galtier recovery, and before the end Noel Casey and Tom Riordan added further Kilrossanty points.

It is doubtful if the Comeragh men can ever play so poorly again in this championship, and yet come out on top. With the possible exception of five or six of the team sadly failed to come up to scratch, and can thank Galtier's ineffectiveness more than anything else for securing their passage to the second round. Sean Ormonde had his usual sound game between the posts, but in a defence that creaked almost constantly, only Noel and Fa Walsh and Matty Lonergan earned any distinction.

A new name goes on the three year old Corn Ui Loingsigh, for in last week's final the holders for the past two years, Mitchel Street, were defeated by Caseyville who captured the trophy for the first time. The victors entered the fray slight favourites and there can be no doubting the merit of their win; but what a battle royal Mitchel made of it, fighting every inch of the way until the game built up into a tremendous climax that had rival partisans whipped up into a frenzy of feverish excitement.

DISAPPOINTING

The pity of it all was that such a small crowd turned up to witness the game. The attendance was most disappointing, and this at an event which should have the encouragement and patronage of every parent in the parish. When one considers the amount of work and expense which goes into the organising of these leagues, and contrasts this with the interest which very many parents should be taking in them, the resulting image can only be described as most discouraging. One is inclined also to question the sincerity of many who speak so eloquently regarding the fostering of the game amongst the youth. It is reassuring to know, however, that the Brothers have no intention of abandoning the leagues which they regard as being of prime importance as an antidote to juvenile crime.

All of which may sound pretty irrelevant in a description of the game, but as the donor of the magnificent trophy hinted, it was time somebody said it. The game itself took some time to settle down—a pattern which was established years ago and is now almost taken for granted. It burst into life when Francis Woods cut lanes through the Mitchel Street defence to palm the ball to the net. Now the tempo quickened and the champions went over to all-out attack. Joe Cleary shot their first point, Michael Clancy put them into the lead with a goal and Martin Sandford sent their hopes soaring when he repeated the dose. In an overworked Caseyville defence, full back Noel Fraher was outstanding as he broke up one attack after another. He had wonderful support from Christy Power and Hubert Hyslop and at times it seemed to be these three alone against the rest. When the half-time whistle sounded the score was Mitchel St., 2-1; Caseyville 1-0.

The second half was one to remember. Now it was Caseyville's turn and the team which had laboured through the first half took on a new lease of life. Again it was Francis Woods who showed the way with a fine goal and minutes later young Liam Egan shot them into the lead with a like score. Anselm Hayes slipped the ball over the bar and the champions were three points down. They rallied their forces bravely, however, and laid siege to the Caseyville citadel. Attack after attack rolled on the Caseyville defence which was at length pierced with a grand shot from Phillip Duggan. With ten minutes remaining scores were level and hurling was extremely hard and often brilliant. Each side strove desperately for the mastery and as play swung from end to end, few spectators remained seated. Then five minutes from time Anselm Hayes eluded the defence and shot Caseyville into the lead again. With time almost up Francis Woods clinched the issue with a point.

All praise to the two grand sides for a most entertaining game. Caseyville just about deserved to get there and they had outstanding hurlers in N. Fraher, C. Power, H. Hyslop, E. Sheehan, F. Woods and A. Hayes. What a pity that such a fine sporting side as Mitchel had to be beaten. Yet they had the consolation of knowing that they played like champions and accepted defeat in a most sporting manner. Best for them were L. Sandford, M. Duggan, B. Steele, P. Duggan, M. Sandford and M. Donoghue.

U.D.C. Want Bridge Untouched

A proposal by the County Engineer, Mr. J. D. Kelly, to have the Causeway bridge replaced, which came before a recent meeting of Waterford Co. Council, was also referred to at a meeting of Dungarvan Urban Council on Friday night last.

The Chairman, Deputy Mayor, said at the Co. Council meeting Mr. Lannon supported him when he objected to it, and they had not even consulted each other on the matter. It was an attraction in the town and he was convinced it was just as wide as Youghal Bridge. Some provision might be made for pedestrians, he said, but he felt they would be lacking in their duty as an Urban Council if they did not express their views on it.

Senator Butler said it was only right that they express their views on it.

Another Councillor said the bridge should not be touched. It was a danger to anyone that did not know it, but dangerous warning motorists could be erected.

Colr. K. Walsh said if a footbridge was erected it should be placed only on the river side as one of the other side would spoil the view.

The Council finally decided unanimously that the bridge should not be touched and the only attention that should be given to it was the erection of a footbridge. They also decided that nothing should be done without first consulting the Council.

N.F.A. NEWS Basis For Agricultural Policy Exists

The basis of agreement on agricultural policy as between the Government and N.F.A. exists; such problems as yet remain to be resolved deal rather with the scale of expansion and methods by which it is to be achieved, said Mr. Richard Deasy, President N.F.A., in his address to the Annual General Meeting of the National Council, last week.

There is no justification, he said, for the way in which farmers had to bear the odium of taxation increases in the Budget, which could with equal justice be said to have been required to meet the additional costs of the 12% award previously granted to state employees. Organised groups are allowed to enforce their demands irrespective of the direct injury caused to others and very often to farmers, while both in letter and in spirit almost any collective action by the farmers is treated as a threat to the very foundations of our state.

A better sense of social justice and a better sense of proportion are urgently required, and these must be supplemented by improved mechanisms of consultation and negotiation for the agricultural sector. It is in this context that the institution of the system of broadly based Annual Reviews of Agriculture between the Government and N.F.A. is to be welcomed. But if these Reviews are to be useful, they will demand an intensity of work which will impose further burdens on Council members and staff and involve inevitably additional financial commitments.

New Blood: Speaking on the changes which were about to take place in county representation on the National Council, he said, that some Council members to-day are taking leave of the Council and their places are being taken by men, who although new to the work of the Council, have worked their way up from local level. This process of change is necessary and unavoidable. Only by a constant infusion of new blood can renewed life, vigour and permanence be assured to the whole body. Hence the revival of saying "An Revivor" to old and valued members is compensated for by the pleasure of bidding a warm welcome to their replacements.

Progress Reported: Referring to the period that had lapsed since the last A.G.M., Mr. Deasy said that a year in which the names Athlone, Limerick and Kilkenny acquire a new significance for all members could scarcely be described as having been in any way dull.

Last year he said was for us all a year of great endeavour and exertion. You have the reports of the Committees before you, together with the Green Book they give you the record of our work. The report of the General Secretary and of the Honorary Treasurer will show you the considerable progress that has been made in their respective departments.

Good Work Being Done: The increasing flow of practical results now emerging from the work of An Foras Taluntais, continued Mr. Deasy provides us with much essential information applied to Irish conditions that was hitherto lacking. We look forward to an extension of the scale and scope of the Institute's work with the Association will continue to co-operate in the fullest way. Yet we must record that the astonishing electoral devices used to construct the Council of the Institute still appear to deny the Association opportunities, equitable in relation to our acknowledged size and broadly based interests, of participating in the work of the Council of the Institute. The responsibility for this curious electoral system rests with the Government which devised and continues it.

Welcoming changes in the Agricultural Credit Corporation have brought significant improvements in the availability of credit for agriculture, and even if much more remains to be done in this field, it is good to see that a beginning has been made.

In the field of marketing, it is satisfactory that more favourable conditions on international markets have assisted the efforts of our two principal marketing bodies, An Board Baine and the Pigs and Bacon Commission. It would be a serious error for anyone to write off the very considerable progress and success achieved by these two bodies, especially in improving the quality and continuity of supply of our exports and in the development of our export markets against an unexpected but very welcome firmness in our external markets.

Expansion Welcomed: Our objective, said Mr. Deasy, must be the establishment of a centralised meat marketing authority, in which the best and most progressive elements of private enterprise, working with the producers' representatives, will work together to upgrade still further export quality, to expand employment in meat processing at home by developing our export markets, and to bring a new measure of stability into the price of both store and fat cattle.

We have indicated to the Government that we fully endorse the attitude of the I.A.O.S. to Dr. Knapp's Report, and we have indicated to the I.A.O.S. that we in N.F.A. will do all in our power to assist them in the great undertaking in which they are now engaged.

As far as the advisory services are concerned, he welcomed the decisions to expand the numbers of advisers, to make increased provision for the special requirements of western areas, and to reconstitute the County Committees of Agriculture.

Staff Complimented: Before concluding his address, Mr. Deasy, remarked while these must inevitably remain considerable areas particularly in relation to farm costs and prices in which differences—sometimes serious, between ourselves and the Government—it is a matter of considerable satisfaction to know that the relations between the N.F.A. and the Minister for Agriculture and his Department have considerably improved. I would like to add a word of personal tribute to the part played by An Taoiseach, Mr. Lemass, in bringing this about.

Lastly, Mr. Deasy paid tribute to the work of Central Office when he said that the commodity reports submitted to members did not convey properly the great debt we owe to our General Secretary and to all our staff for a year of service outstanding even when measured against the very high standards they themselves have set in earlier years.

MOST ENCOURAGING REPORT YET

My report on the expansion and consolidation of the Association over the past year is the most encouraging of such reports which I have been in a position to give to date, said Mr. S. Healy, General Secretary, at the Annual General Meeting, last week. A breakdown in our membership shows that over 80% of N.F.A. members are proud owners of land of valuation of less than £35.

The policy of the Association is based on the majority opinion of its members, and if a farmer who is not a member is not satisfied with the policy let him come in and change it. If a farmer is already a member of a commodity organisation, his loyalty to and appreciation of the benefits afforded him through membership of that association in the past are quite understandable, but in addition, his membership of that commodity association should not act as a deterrent, but rather as an incentive to join the overall Farmers' Association, where support of his views would be forthcoming from a great number, and the greater the number, the better the chance of having his views implemented.

Intensive Farming: It is mainly the physical productivity of agriculture which must rapidly improve in the next few years if uneconomic farms are to become economic and farms now economic are to remain so.

In the future, farming will almost certainly have to be intensive whenever local conditions are favourable, but the essential and rapid improvement is the productivity of agricultural labour will appear to require a reduction in the working agricultural population. Incidentally, this is already happening in many countries. To enable this trend to continue on sound lines, i.e., to ensure that the reduction in the active agricultural population does not have disquieting social consequences, our government will clearly have to evolve satisfactory economic policies and will, in particular, have to improve the vocational training of young people in rural areas and promote a harmonious and decentralised development of progressive economic industry allied to agriculture. Although it is comparatively easy to outline this agricultural population policy, the difficulty of putting it into effect cannot be ignored.

Price stabilisation measures, when they imply prices above the world market level, are never effective without government consent and political support. When farmers wish to work as a pressure group they can do that more effectively through an association than through specialised co-operatives. In any case, farmers' associations and agricultural co-operatives are not alternatives but counterparts and the recognition of this is growing. The mixture of business and politics always causes confusion, but it is nowadays unavoidable—and not only in agriculture.

The deep ties which to date have existed between N.F.A. and the I.A.O.S. must not only be maintained but strengthened in the year and years ahead.

Tribute to Local Press: I would like to place on record, said Mr. Healy, our appreciation of the co-operation of all publicity media in this country, the press, local and national, which have helped in keeping our views before the general public in an unbiased manner. The emphasis accorded to our pronouncements is most welcome.

The N.F.A. will continue its progress vigorously and unceasingly disseminating information about its activities, programmes and opinions to people in all walks of life. It will use improved methods of bringing its programmes to the favourable attention of such non-farm public opinion leaders as newspaper editors, radio and television executives, commentators and organisation officers.

Question—What is the most satisfactory way of killing thistles and docks in a pasture? I have cut them for a number of years without reducing them very much.

Answer—Complete eradication of many weeds including thistles and docks will not be obtained in any one season, whether they are cut or sprayed. The problem can be overcome if the pasture is sprayed with a suitable chemical for two or three years.

The broad-leaved dock is very resistant, hence two sprayings during the first season are necessary and of course this will also be effective against the thistles. The first spraying should be applied when the weeds are about to throw up a flowering stem and the second some two to three months later.

Q—I have been advised, as a result of a soil test, to apply lime to a pasture field. When is the most suitable time to do this work?

A—If the field in question is remaining in grass for a number of years, the ground limestone can be applied whenever convenient during the summer and early autumn. Most of the lime applied in this country is put on in the spring months, which of course creates many difficulties for the lime suppliers and spreaders. If lime is applied during the winter months, some loss of the material will be incurred, as well as damage by wheel tracks to the field even on the better-drained soils.

Q—Having applied in April 4 cwt. of 8.6.16 Compound fertiliser to a field which has now been cut for hay, is it necessary to apply some nitrogen now?

A—The application of 4 cwt. of nitrogen, equivalent to 1½ cwt. Sulphate of Ammonia. Although you have cut your hay reasonably early, this crop removes from the soil a large amount of the plant nutrients. This is particularly so with late hay which consists mainly of stem and seed-head with less leaf.

A dressing of 1-2 cwt. nitrogen now will give increased progress which will be invaluable if July and August weather is dry. This nitrogen will also prolong the grazing season well into the autumn, the value of which will be more than repaid by increased milk or beef production.

In order to increase production from grassland, be it for grazing, hay or silage, nitrogen must be applied in greater quantities than in the past.

The Mount Sion and Blackrock teams meet this evening (Thursday) at 8 o'clock in the Gaelic Field to replay their drawn game. Hurling followers are assured of yet another thriller and are recommended to be present.

WELCOME VISITORS

Very welcome visitors in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mason and their daughter and son-in-law, left here on last Friday after spending a holiday in the "old spot." Old friends here were pleased to again meet the popular visitors who thoroughly enjoyed their stay.

SCHOOL EXCURSION

A beautiful weathered the annual outing of the pupils of the local Boys' School and Mount Mellera School had their annual excursion on Monday. The party, travelling by bus, went to Cork and spent some time in the Airport. Lunch in the city followed.

Cobh was next visited, where a tour of the harbour by boat proved both interesting and enjoyable. Returning to Cork, a visit was made to the museum in Fitzgerald Park and following tea, the party moved on to Youghal. The day ended with impromptu sports of the strand.

The reception, attended by approximately 100 guests, was held at the Tower Hotel, Waterford, from where the happy couple took their departure in the afternoon, going to Lourdes on their honeymoon.

The groom is son of Mr. Roger O'Byrne, Coolinsmear, and his life's partner is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy, Graigeshoneen. Good length of years of prosperity and bliss to both.

In a Caban Clash confined to teams under 14 years of age, Kilmacthomas, at home to Potliff, at 8 p.m., on Friday of last week. A good-sized crowd of onlookers observed a fast, clean game, brimful of nippy play. The homesters succeeded to their rivals by a clear margin of three points.

ELECTRICITY RATES WILL NOT RISE

The E.S.B. announced last week that there would be no increase in electricity prices for 24 successive months.

The E.S.B. Annual Report for 1963-64, published recently, pointed out that increases in wages and salaries and the cost of fuel and oil (which the Board has not passed on to its consumers) would add over £1 million to the Board's expenses in a full year.

It is hoped that continued technological improvements and increases in efficiency of production and distribution will offset these increased costs to some degree, but eventually they may affect electricity prices.

At Their Residence, 9 St. Anne's Ter., Kilmacthomas, the popular parents of Michael Murphy had a large company of his friends and well-wishers with him at a party given by them last week-end to mark the occasion of his coming of age. Delightful refreshments were served and a nice time was whiled away with music, song and dance. Twenty-one years young Michael is in radiant health and spirits.

Mr. Patrick Whelan, Graigue Stradbally, who died in the District Hospital, Dungarvan, on Saturday, 4th inst. (Feast of Our Lady in Sabbath) at an advanced age, was for the greater part of his career an outstanding figure in the drapery business life of Waterford city.

After Requiem Mass in the Parish Church, Stradbally, at 11 o'clock on Sunday, the remains, which rested overnight in the sacred edifice, were brought to the family burial ground in the adjoining cemetery, where interment was made in the presence of an unusually large and representative assembly.

Rev. M. Fennell, C.C., Stradbally, assisted by Very Rev. D. Power, P.P., do., officiated at the graveside. Peace to the gentle soul departed.

LATE MR. P. COYNE, MOYANG

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Patrick Coyne, Moyang, Grange. A member of a well known family, deceased was a popular member of the agricultural community and his demise has occasioned deep and widespread regret. We join in extending sympathy to his bereaved family.

POPULAR PRIEST'S DEPARTURE

The departure of Rev. Fr. T. Nugent, C.C., on his appointment as Diocesan Inspector of Schools, has caused much regret in the combined parishes of Aslish, Ballinacorney and Mountstuart, where he is deservedly respected and very popular.

All join in wishing him well in his new sphere of duty and in extending a warm welcome to his successor, Rev. Fr. W. Carey, C.C., CAMOGIE.

At Ferryport the local team (Kinsalebeg) had a deserved victory over Youghal in a camogie challenge. There was a good attendance and the game was closely contested throughout.

SHOCK ERINS OWN IN EXCITING ENCOUNTER

ABBEYSIDE 5-6; ERIN'S OWN 2-7

ABBEYSIDE, whose championship feats have been justly acclaimed in the Deise County for many years, earned a new status for themselves in the hurling world on Sunday when eliminating Erin's Own star-studded side from the senior hurling championship. It was a surprise result to say the least, but even partisan Erin's Own supporters in the large attendance at the Fraher Field will readily concede that over the hour the Villagers were the superior side.

After the game there was justifiable jubilation at the outcome. At last the Mt. Sion- Erin's Own monopoly had been broken in a most decisive and impressive manner, thus ensuring the west of representation in the county final for the first time in a number of years. For this we owe the gallant Villagers a debt of gratitude, who, on the evidence of Sunday's display are well and truly on the road back to former glories.

It was a game in which every Abbeyside covered himself in glory. Before the tie there was much speculation as to the probable village line-out, and eye-brows were raised when the actual team had been named. Drafted into defence were four youngsters still in their teens and complete newcomers to the senior grade. Up front the attack also contained its surprise selections, but none more so than the placing of former star defender Ned Moore on the fringe of the square.

As a gamble by selectors Paulie Organ, Paddy Langan and Mick Duggan, but the wisdom of this trio was fully vindicated at the end of an hour that produced an exciting brand of hurling, that merely coincided with the quality of the fare.

At the call of time eight minutes separated the sides, and the side distinguished himself, but I have particularly in mind defenders Sonny Walsh, Phil Fanning and Cappoquin's John O'Brien.

At midfield the better known John O'Brien and Jackie Whelan were in tremendous form, and gave a liberal supply of the ball to score-hungry forwards.

Up front, each and every one of the sextet looked top-class material. Stephen Greene, the Mount Sion teenager went on a scoring rampage and wound up with 4-1 to his credit, whilst Vinny Connors also notched some classical scores. The remaining quartet, Mick Regan, Danny Duggan, Mick Foley and Michael Power also had top-class games and all were amongst the scorers.

On a Galway side that though heavily defeated, put up a spirited performance, T. Duffy, B. O'Connor, P. Neilan, J. J. Kelly and G. Gardiner were well-served.

Waterford—Scorers: S. Green (4-1), V. Connors (1-4), M. Regan (1-2), M. Foley (1-2), D. Duggan (1-0), J. O'Brien (0-2), J. Whelan (0-1), and M. Power (0-1). Galway—J. J. Kelly (2-1), G. Gardiner (1-0), R. Gilmore (0-2), T. Duffy (0-1), and F. Coffey (0-1).

Waterford—P. Flynn; M. Dowling, E. Walsh, J. Hayes, J. Moylan, P. Fanning, J. O'Brien, J. Whelan, J. O'Brien, V. Connors, M. O'Regan, D. Duggan; S. Greene, M. Foley, M. Power.

Galway—T. O'Rourke, T. Duffy, J. Noone, J. Cloonan; P. Neilan, B. O'Connor, M. Walsh, R. Gilmore, T. Gilmore; L. Forde, F. Coffey, G. Gardiner; T. Duffy, F. Heskin, J. Kelly. Referee—G. Lowrey (Limerick).

sequent hero, four-goal Johnny Hogan. For the remainder of that opening half there was scarcely a puck of the ball between them, and when they ended the half level at 1-4 each it was obvious the city side faced an uphill battle.

Whatever breeze there was had favoured Erin's Own during those opening thirty minutes, yet they failed to enjoy a noticeable superiority in any particular sector. In fact it was more through opportunism than anything else that they jumped into a three point lead by the 10th minute of the second half, at which stage John Meaney incurred marching orders. But one could sense all the time that we had yet to see the best of the villagers, and when Hogan smashed home a goal in the 13th minute, they were never subsequently headed.

Nothing can detract in any way from this magnificent Abbeyside performance. Trained to the last ounce, it was the most dedicated side to leave the village for a long time and this display must enhance greatly their chances of annexing that coveted county title for the first time.

Then it was that the maestro Hogan took his decisive part in this game. In the 13th minute he grabbed a centre by Tony Mansfield and the green flag was waving. Ned Moore and Jim Burke exchanged points, but that man Hogan was on the spot again in the 19th minute to crash home another invaluable goal. A minute later Jack Elstead pushed home goal number four from a melee, and eight minutes from time Hogan appropriately had the final score of the game, when he rounded Joe Coady with deceptive ease, and again caused Percy Flynn the ignominy of picking the ball from the rigging behind him.

Right to the bitter end Erin's Own fought valiantly to save his day. But Abbeyside, now supreme and at the final whistle they had magnificently won a great victory.

At midfield, Liam Enright and Denis Flynn were pitted against the powerful John Meaney in the main team one, Imnéy and Joe Condon partnership I'll be forgiven if I singhship, and it is to the everlasting credit of both that they gave an and Pat Enright above all more than held their own.

If Johnny Hogan overshadows Flynn was indeed an inspired all others in attack, one caning figure at full-back, and his not forget the displays of the display will be remembered as remaining quiet. The outer one of his truly great ones inline of Pat McGovern. Donal his club jersey. Behind him 17-Whelan and Tony Mansfield year-old Pat Enright, a cham-repeatedly worried the Erin's pionship debutante in the Own defence, and the former grade, gave one of the greatest in particular outplayed Jim performances of his brief, but Irish.

Full-forward Eddie Moore already shakily and was solely made light of his transfer from to blame for the losers first defence to attack, and his two goal, but recovered thereafter points were gems, whilst Jack to give a topclass exhibition of Elstead capped a wholehearted display by scoring his side's but whenever the game will fourth goal.

SHOCKED Defeat must have shocked it will be remembered as the "Johnny Hogan's game." The foundations, but in the after-diminitive corner-man maymath of it all they can offer well be in the veteran stage of no excuses. a great hurling career, but several of their established whilst he continues to turn instars played well below their displays such as on Sunday best, and the only ones to last, he will remain a decided emerge with distinction from acquisition to his club. Of no the encounter were Peter Mcless a defender than Joe Coady Govern, Tom Walsh, Jackie he recorded 4-1—all from play Condon, Jim Burke and Peter and whenever he gained post-Walsh, and John Meaney (until frightening dose of the jitters.

Under 21 Hurlers For Munster Final

WATERFORD 8-13; GALWAY 3-5

WATERFORD continue to crush with effortless ease all opposition in the Under-21 hurling grade. At the Ennis Road grounds on Sunday last they qualified for the Munster final with a most convincing victory over a Galway side that was not nearly as poor as the final score might seem to suggest.

This was a game that produced sparkling passages of hurling and was a fitting curtain raiser for the senior semi-final between Tipp. and Clare. Waterford gave what was possibly their finest display to date, the side being without an apparent weakness in any sector.

Nor was it a case of shining against sub-standard opposition. This Galway side would have beaten many another county in the grade, but gallantly though they tried on Sunday, they had no answer to the powerhouse hurling of the Deise men.

The Tribesmen were in trouble practically from the opening whistle as the Waterford forwards playing stylish hurling weaved patterns through their overworked defence. Rapidly the scores mounted and when Waterford turned over with a 4-8 to 1-4 lead it appeared as though nothing short of a hurling miracle would save the Galwegians.

But whatever hopes the losers had of overhauling the winners vanished within eight minutes of the restart when Waterford added a further 2-1 to their tally. Thereafter they were more or less contented to take things easy, and at the call of time none could dispute the impressiveness or clarity of their superiority.

Waterford now await the winners of the Tipp-Clare tie in the decider and quite obviously it will take a really good side to beat them. They are strong in defence; are more than adequately served at mid-field where John O'Brien and Jackie Whelan operate, whilst the forwards have amassed huge totals in all their games to-date.

Interesting Senior Programme On Sunday

ARDMORE MAY OUST GERALDINES

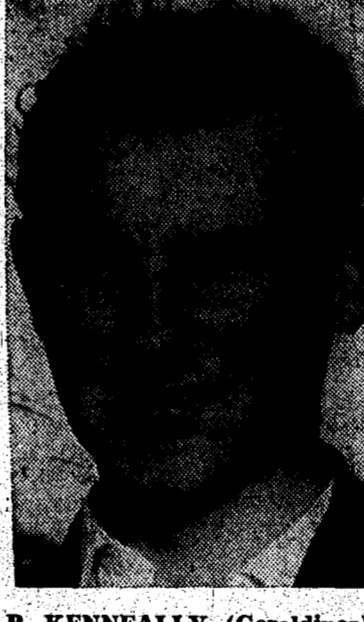

THE senior championships now in full swing progress a stage further on Sunday next with attractive games at three venues. Football dominates the scene at Dungarvan, pride of place going to the meeting of arch rivals Ardmore and Geraldines, whilst at 8 p.m. Ring and Emmetts also meet in the opening round. At Waterford, the promoted Tramore side will test their mettle against Mount Sion and out in Tramore the only hurling encounter of the day is down for decision between Ballygunner and Dunhill.

From a Western viewpoint at any rate the football clash of Ardmore and Geraldines is entitled to the billing of "game of the day." The rivalry between the sides is razor keen, and ever since the seashiders inflicted a crushing defeat on them at the same stage of last year's championship, Geraldines have awaited with eagerness the opportunity of exacting revenge.

Well, Sunday provides the Aglishers with that golden chance and for the past few weeks they have diligently prepared for the encounter. They have had the benefit of several challenge games and there is a quiet air of confidence that they will reverse the '63 result.

Ardmore, however, must remain the firm favourites to advance to the second round. True, they have not revealed outstanding form in the Phegan Cup and in fact greatly disappointed against Kilrossant in that competition. Be that as it may however, I expect a vastly improved display from them on Sunday. They will be greatly encouraged by the presence of Eddie Mooney and Tommy Power on the side as it was strongly rumoured not so long ago that both had decided to call it a day.

As Paddy Kenneally, Stylo Riordan, Bunny Bonayne, Johnny Grady, Bill and Mick Downing and Mick Tobin back-boning their team, it can readily be appreciated just how difficult the Aglishers will be to beat. However, whilst expecting

P. KENNEALLY (Geraldines)

Ardmore to encounter many moments of anxiety during the hour, they strike me as the more potent all-round side and they are given the vote to prevail after an uncompromising struggle.

INTRIGUING HURLING TIE There is only one hurling tie scheduled on Sunday, but the Tramore meeting of Dunhill and Ballygunner should provide spectators with one of the greatest games in this entire championship.

The Gunners having failed so gloriously to Mount Sion in last year's decider are oozing with confidence this season, but they face a mighty challenge in the hard-hitting Dunhill men who will not surrender easily. In fact it is a game that is as open as the proverbial barn door, as Dunhill by virtue of a few sparkling performances recently have served notice on all and sundry that they are a force to be reckoned with.

The Gunners are of course, the more stylish combination, and with such stars as Tommy and John Heale, Pat Flynn, James Phelan, Vinny Connors, Tony Cummins and Letter Troy at their disposal they are entitled to the role of favourites.

Dunhill, however, remain unperturbed. They have upset the odds quite frequently in the past and they are quite confident that Billy Dunphy, Mick Whyte, Billy Daniels, Monty Guiry, Mick Regan and Tom Allen will once again confound the form book.

Yes indeed, it promises to be a battle royal. Dunhill will undoubtedly hit hard and fast and a few early scores could easily work wonders for them. But somehow, I fancy the Gunners to weather what is certain to be a vibrant hurling storm, and qualify for a semi-final tilt at Mount Sion or Ballydurn.

Emmetts however, though lacking the services of inter-county material are well served throughout the field. Dick Tobin, Paddy and Mickey Walsh, Jack Kiely, Colum Bannott and Jim Cliffe are the key men on the side and their all-round
