Dungarvan's first ever Gala Week has to date proved an unqualified success. Since opening day on Sunday last it has been favoured by ideal weather conditions and the town has been crammed with people every night for many and varied items. Certainly the organising committee can take a bow and indeed must be a source of pride and satisfaction to all associated with the venture that it has turned out to be such a spectacular success

The official opening took place on the Square after last Mass on Sunday morning. Mr. Gerry O'Leary, the committee's treasurer outlined the list of events for the week and wished the people a very happy time.

Mr. John Pickard, Marketing Manager, Beamish and Crawford Ltd., Cork who sponsored the Air Display that afternoon, performed the official opening. He congratulated all the local clubs whose combined efforts had planned the Gala and he had great pleasure being in Dungarvan to open the festive period.

Following the opening, Dungarvan Brass and Reed Band under the baton of M. A. Hennebery played "Dungarvan My Home Town" which was also sung by the members of the local Choral Society under Mrs. Gertie Morrissey.
Miss Olive Morrissey, Clonmel, representing Tipperary, was selected Gala Beauty Queen of the Gala Ball in the Town Hall on Sunday night and received a cash prize of £25. The runner-up was Miss Bridget Colbert Main Street, Cappoquin.
Throughout the week, each individual event has drawn the crowds. The Air Display,

Kart Races and Angling highlighted Sunday's programme, whilst during the week days there has been a heightened interest in every event.
Yes, indeed, this week will long be remembered in Dungarvan. From the organising viewpoint everything has been well nigh perfect, whilst bumper crowds have matched the all round excellence of the whole Gala.

Kilmacthomas Notes

COMPETITION was unusually keen at highly successful Clonmel Horse Show on Thursday and Friday of last week. The fixture was favoured by humid weather, which brought an exceptionally big crowd to the Show Grounds on both days. Prize-winning entrants and exhibitors on the opening day included Mr. John Lenihan, farmer, Ballinabogue, Kilmacthomas, who annexed the Allan Baker Cup for the Best Thoroughbred Yearling and whose animal, in the Thoroughbred Yearling Class, procured another big award. Incidentally, on the same day, his equally well-esteemed first cousin, Mr. Thomas Lenihan, Garranurton, Kilmacthomas, was one of the eight farmers to receive an R.D.S. Premium. MRS. MARY GALVIN, Old Bride, Carrickbeg, whose death at the allotted span removed a prominent and popular figure in the business life of Carrick-on-Suir for many years past, was relic of Mr. Joseph Galvin, licensed vintner, Old Bride, and relative of Rev. M. Barron, C.C. Kilrossanty. CENTRES in Kilmacthomas townland area at which Waterford Co. Council Sheep Dipping Tank will be available up to the 8th inst read: Kilmacthomas (to-day and Monday), Leamybrin (Tuesday), Stradbally (Wednesday), Ballyvaughan (Thursday), Dúnhill (Friday), and Carroll's Cross (Saturday). Dipping, at a fee of four pence per sheep, will, as usual, be conducted under the supervision of a Sheep Dipping Inspector. THE LARGE NUMBER taking part in the latest Civil Defence exercise at Bonmahon were watched by many holiday-makers. HAVE IT that likeable Mr. Brian Foley, motor mechanic, St. Anne's Terrace, Kumac, has been appointed to pursue his trade at C.A.B. Garage, Dungarvan. OR A VERY, the popularity of Bonmahon Club's gala dances in Bonmahon Hall is being well maintained, and this is undoubtedly due to the fact that the promoting body spares no effort to cater for the comfort of their patrons, commencing with the excellence of the accommodations (under the supervision of the captain group of instrumentalists providing the entertainment - the Royal Dukes Snowboard, Friday night, 29th, was no exception, when guests as the keynote of the affair from commencement to close for more than two hundred couples. And, well, indications are not lacking that the 9-11 function in the hall on Thursday night of the present week will pan out another unqualified success to the credit of the said club and showband. Bravo, Bonmahon! WITH THE CELEBRATION of Holy Mass in the Convent Chapel, Kilmacthomas, on Saturday morning, 25th ult. (Feast of St. James), a most successful week's Retreat for the members of the local Children of Mary Sodality came to a close. A capacity congregation assisted at the Mass, during which the worshippers approached the altar rails and received the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. KILMAC, camogie team, having won the Kilgobinet tournament, figured in the Ballymacarby Medal Tournament, in the final of which they tied with Ballymacarby and the replay will be decided shortly. THE OPENING DAY of the current week was the Feast of St. Anne, patroness of the Ballyvaughan side of the parish of Stradbally, Faha and Ballyvaughan, and it was observed with befitting dignity and decorum by both the inhabitants of that parochial section and the several holiday-making sojourners therein. That morning St. Anne's Church, Ballyvaughan, was thronged at the 8.30 Mass and again at the 11 o'clock Mass, and the number of communicants at each was unusually large - surely the best tribute on the part of the faithful to pay in honour of the Mother of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Rev. W. Fenneff, C.C., Stradbally, said the early Mass and Rev. D. Power, P.P., do., celebrated the late Mass. ON THE SECOND DAY of Clonmel Show - Friday of yesterday - the Tobin Cup (mare) was won by Sandy's Pet, property of arable Mrs. W. Power, Kilmacthomas, for whom the same animal was adjudged best in the thoroughbred mare class. A YOUNG SPORTING FARMER who is deservedly held in the highest regard on both sides of the Mahon is Mr. Tom Power, The Hill, Kilmacthomas, who is to be congratulated on the success he achieved at Kilmahon Racing Track, Waterford, on Saturday night, 24th ult., through the medium of his fine performer, Fiddler's Hill, which won the second event on the night's programme in 21.0, at 6/4 odds. Some months ago Mr. Power sold for £2,000 a full-brother of Fiddler's Hill. MRS. GERTIE POWER, widow and farmer, Ballybobby,

YOUGHAL NOTES

Table with 3 columns: Morning, Evening, etc. and 3 rows of data.

ROAD CRASH SEQUEL. A traffic accident near Mounamake on April 12th last had a sequel when Thomas O'Regan, Gortnagappul, Killeagh, the driver of a motor car, was fined 30/- for careless driving and the motor scooterist, James O'Flaherty, of Youghal, the other party involved, was fined 20/- for not being covered for insurance for his young son, who was travelling on the machine. It appeared that both vehicles were in collision at a bend, as a result of which the defendant O'Flaherty's leg was broken and his hand badly injured, necessitating six weeks in hospital. Imposing the penalties at Castle-martyr District Court, District Justice Buckley said that O'Regan should have given way to the scooterist and should have left him pass under the wheels of the road. He also ordered O'Regan to pay 17/6 expenses. THE LATE MRS. C. PYNE. After a prolonged illness, the death took place this week at Youghal Cottage Hospital of Mrs. Catherine Pyne, of South Main Street, Youghal. A member of an old established Youghal family, the deceased was widow of the late Mr. Robert Pyne, Chief P.O.R., Navv and sister of the late Mr. W. J. Burke, M.P.S.I. WEST WATERFORD NEWS

WEST WATERFORD Notes. Big numbers attended Ardmore "Pattern" on Sunday last. All day long devotees of Saint Declan were to be seen performing the "rounds" in the grounds of the old Cathedral, which is situated on high ground overlooking the Atlantic, to the east of the historic seaside village. Pilgrims also partook of the water of St. Declan's Holy Well, which adjoins the Cathedral ruins and visited the Saint's last resting place at Dysert. Big congregations attended ceremonies in the local church, the Sanctuary of which was beautifully decorated for the solemn occasion. F.C.A. COMPETITION. Included in the Dungarvan Platoon, which successfully competed in the recent Southern Command (Munster) Competition, were Vol. Treacy, Ag. Vol. and Vol. Gowan, Ardmore. Vol. Gowan is the well-known Geraldine footballer, and Vol. Treacy is a student in Irish Secondary School, Ring. HEROIC ACT BY F.C.A. MEN. When a man was thrown over the promenade wall at Crosshaven on Friday night last two members of the F.C.A. from West Waterford vaulted over the wall and, with total disregard for their own safety, went to the assistance of the injured man. Their heroic action was favourably commented on by the large crowd who witnessed the occurrence. When a gang of "teddy boys" caused a disturbance on the same night a group of West Waterford F.C.A. men assisted the Garda in quelling the fracas. When the F.C.A. men, who were in civilian attire, intervened, all the "teddy boys, who numbered about twenty, promptly ran away. SALMON FISHING TERMINATES. The salmon fishing season has now concluded in this area. Some good catches were secured during the latter part of the season. GARDA SERGT. RETIRES. An Irish Sunday paper recently published a special feature concerning the retirement of Sergt. Wm. J. Gillan, who had a most extraordinary career. It is of interest to note that Sergt. Gillan, who is a native of Scotland and is popularly known as "Jock," served for a number of years in Clashmore. During the Anglo-Irish war he supplied the Irish leaders with important information and became a personal friend of Michael Collins. On the establishment of the I.F.S. he became a member of the Garda Síochana and was one of the few non-Irishmen to be accepted. Shortly after joining he was promoted to the rank of Sergeant. In 1939 Sergt. Gillan was seriously wounded in the course of duty and still carries pellets in his face, neck, chest and hands. Some years later, while looking for a stolen bicycle, he fell into a quarry and sustained serious injuries, including a fractured hip. His many friends in Clashmore area join in wishing him many happy years in retirement. R.D.S. LECTURE. On the application of Messrs. C. Curran, M.C.C., and W. Dower, M.C.C., an R.D.S. lecture has been secured for Ballinacoola. Full details will be published in advertising columns of this paper at a later date. TIDY TOWNS. It is expected that Ardmore will do very well in this year's Tidy Towns Competition. Last year, at first attempt, Ardmore was highly commended. It is proposed to have Villierstown included in next year's competition. The local I.C.A. and Development Association are already busily engaged making preliminary arrangements. LOCAL NEEDS. During recent years Clashmore has been provided with new water and sewerage schemes. Other amenities badly needed are a public dump and a public toilet. It is understood that certain preliminary steps are being taken in an effort to have both provided.

Given Decree For £480

HE had not very much difficulty in coming to a conclusion in the case said Judge Mac D. Fawsitt at Dungarvan Circuit Court on Wednesday when awarding John G. Kelleher, "Wodcote" St. Clare's Avenue, College Road, Cork, and a native of Knockateamore, Dungarvan, £480 for damages and negligence against Patrick McGrath, Boolavounteen, Ballinamult.

Mr. Kelleher, as plaintiff, saw the defendant's car claimed £600, and it arose when it was about a quarter out of an accident at Ballycoe Cross, Dungarvan, on April 22nd last in which Mr. Lovatt-Dolan — Why cars driven by the plaintiff did you not cross over the and the defendant were in collision.

Mr. D. P. Sheridan, B.L. Witness—I considered it for the plaintiff said Mr. Kelleher was going to Car-rick-on-Suir on the morning of the accident. When he came to Ballycoe Cross, he turned right towards Waterford and moved slowly to the centre of the road. When he heard an approaching vehicle, he stopped. The on-coming car swerved over to its right hand side and crashed into the plaintiff's car overturning it. It was so extensively damaged it became a total loss.

Mr. P. J. Clarke, Manager C.A.B. Dungarvan, said the plaintiffs car was a relatively new Anglia, the new list price of which was £559. He saw it after the accident and it was extensively damaged and doubted if it would be worth repairing. He estimated the cost of repairing at £370.

Replied to Mr. Lovatt-Dolan, B.L., (for the defendant) witness agreed that £500 would be a fair pre-accident value on the car.

In evidence, Mr. Kelleher said at Ballycoe Cross he intended to turn right and go towards Waterford. As he came to the Cross, he was doing about 10 miles an hour and he sounded his horn. He heard the sound of another car coming on the Cappoquin-Waterford road and he stopped his car five feet from the white line on the centre of the road. He was stationary about 30 seconds when the defendant's car came on the scene and he saw it shoot in behind his car which was turned over. The other car struck him on its incorrect side. Afterwards the defendant admitted he was "going very strong". He got £170 for salvaging of his car. After the accident he used his father's car for six weeks and on June 1st hired a car at a rate of £15 a week.

Replied to Mr. Lovatt-Dolan, witness said he first

James Corbett, a passenger in defendant's car corroborated his evidence. Judge Fawsitt said he had not very much difficulty in coming to a conclusion in the case. During Mr. Kelleher's evidence he had watched him and there was not the slightest hesitation in his answers. He believed he was telling the absolute truth and he was very impressed by him. He was satisfied he had told the absolute truth.

He thought an error was made by the defendant. He was going very fast and whilst not guilty of dangerous driving he believed he was guilty of negligence. He should have waited to make sure, but failed to do what any reasonable man would have done, and waited. He should have taken his time.

He allowed £480 for the car less the £170 the plaintiff had received for salvage to it. He also allowed him £40 for his own personal injuries and £120 for eight weeks motor hire. He also allowed costs and expenses.

AN ROINN LEASA SHOISIALAIGH
The Social Welfare (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1964, makes provision for the following increases in payments and other improvements in the Social Assistance and Social Insurance Schemes.

OLD AGE PENSIONS
Old Age and Blind Pensions (Non-Contributory). As from 1st August, 1964, all rates of pension will be increased by 2/6 a week.

Increases in pension will be paid in respect of qualified children as from a date to be determined by the Minister. These increases will be at a weekly rate of 5/- for each of the first two qualified children and 3/- for each additional qualified child. The yearly means limit of £143.15.0 for the receipt of old age and blind pension will also be raised in the case of pensioners with qualified children as follows:—
In the case of a person with one qualified child — £169.15.0
In the case of a person with two qualified children — £195.15.0
In the case of a pensioner with more than two qualified children, the yearly means limit of £195.15.0 (applicable to a pensioner with two qualified children) will be increased by £13 for each qualified child in excess of two. In addition, in the assessment of means, a sum of £39 in respect of each qualified child will be disregarded in calculating an old age pension claimant's yearly means.

Old Age (Contributory) Pensions.
Increases in pension will be paid in respect of qualified children as from a date to be determined by the Minister. These increases will be at a weekly rate of 13/- for each of the first two qualified children and 8/- for each additional qualified child.

A qualified child means, in effect, a child in respect of whom the pensioner is qualified for a children's allowance under the Social Welfare (Children's Allowances) Acts.

...Pensioners or claimants to pension who have qualified children may now obtain claim forms for the increases for their children by writing to the Secretary, Department of Social Welfare, Old Age Pension (Index) Section, Aras Mhic Dhiarmada, Dublin 1.

Widows' Non-Contributory Pensions
The lower age limit for entitlement to widow's non-contributory pension is abolished. Previously a widow could not qualify for a widow's non-contributory pension unless she has attained the age of 48 years or had a qualified child normally residing with her. Widows whose claims were rejected solely because they had not reached the age of 48 years should make fresh application for the pension.

Widows' non-contributory pensions are being increased by 2/6 a week from 1st August, 1964. The yearly means limit are being extended by £13 to enable a new minimum rate of pension of 6/- to be paid to widows whose yearly means exceed £130.15.0 but do not exceed £143.15.0 will get 6/- per week and a widow with two qualified children will get 6/- per week if her yearly means exceed £182.15.0 but do not exceed £195.15.0

Unemployment Assistance
Unemployment Assistance rates will be increased from 1st August, 1964, in all areas by 5/- a week for an applicant who has an adult dependant and by 2/6 a week where there is no adult dependant. Payment at the increased rates will be made without special application.

The Act also provides for
(a) disregard in the assessment of means under the Unemployment Assistance Acts of income from fishing up to the limit of £80, of fishermen working seasonally on their own account or on a share basis;
(b) the giving of retrospective effect to decisions affecting Qualifications Certificates, thus enabling unemployment assistance to be paid retrospectively in cases where this was not possible up to now.

COLR. LANNON LASHES OUT

At the June meeting of the Co. Health Authority, Mr. Lannon asked that the telephone number used on salaries of all the officials employed by the Authority be circulated to the members. Since the Local Government stopped dictating to them, this Union requested the kind of thing was taking their Manager to refuse this information from them. He asked for, but at last Monday's for the list of salaries in public Health Authority meeting, that and did not go behind anyone's request, and the form in which it came, was strongly 'wrapped' by Mr. Lannon.

In a detailed statement, Mr. Lannon said: "My request for officials' salaries seems to have caused some concern. However, it did not seem rather strange to me that the resolution of Local Government. Officials should come obviously from the Co. Council offices. I notice that the letter carried the Co. Council telephone number, which seems rather strange. I do not think the names used, as well as the time given to the preparation of the letter, was not the property of the County Council. I know of no premises occupied by this Union in Davitt's Quay, I would conclude that the address on the letter refers to the Co. Council offices, which does not sound nor seem right.

"I would like to say that in view of this letter that those concerned ought to remember that they are public servants; also that their salaries, big and small, are provided by the ratepayers. Are the public to be kept in the dark about what their servants are receiving? When representations are made for increases in salaries the public ought to have the right to know what these people are being paid already. They are amongst the best-paid groups in the country, but all one hears about is 20 per cent. increases. When the public do wake up to this matter, it may be just a little too late. I, as a representative of the ratepayers, am here to protect their interests. I can, when the need arises, best help by drawing attention to these shameful increases. Also, when the officials are asking for increases, public opinion will make them see reason, especially if their salaries, plus whatever is better stop. If I want to hold a G.A.A. meeting in the offices, can I do so?"

Mr. Lannon said he wanted to ensure that they were not living under complete dictatorship. The public were demanding these and he was demanding them on their behalf. Mr. Kenneally said there were no objections to circulating the list provided the employees names were not mentioned. Mr. J. Power—I think this is very unfair. Co. Manager—The employees are against this and I think they are justified. Replying to Mr. D. F. Maden, the Manager said the officials had got his permission to hold their meetings in the offices. Mr. Lannon—This thing had been offered, is just and reasonable. I am sure the members of their Unions realise that this is a public matter."

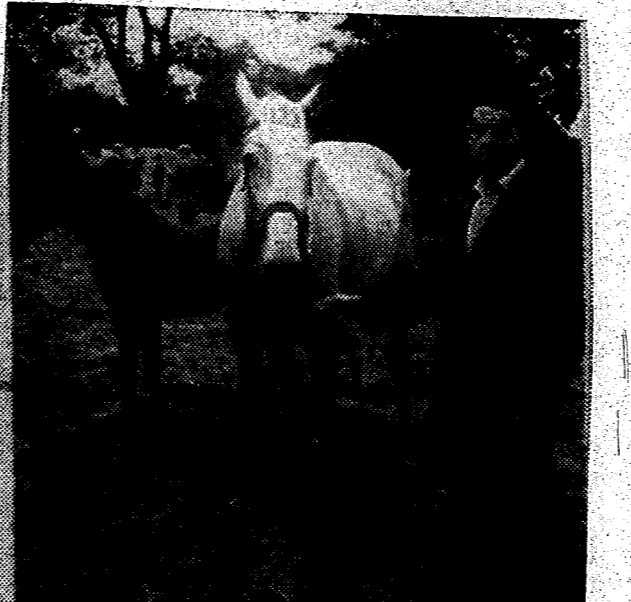

Mr. Lannon said he wanted a reply from the Co. Manager to his question. Were the Co. Council offices the headquarters of the Union? Was the Minister the Union's Secretary? Was public paper used for meetings in the offices cease and from now. Mr. W. Dower seconded. The Manager said he presumed the paper used was supplied by the Union itself, whilst the Union always held its meetings in the Council offices but in after hours. Mr. Lannon—Can I use the Courthouse was available for these meetings and they could be held there. They should not get the offices use it like every other organisation. If the Courthouse was not available he would not object to them using the offices. Mr. J. Griffin said it would only be courteous gesture by them to allow their employees use the offices. They would see the offices would be used for meetings only and he felt they should not press the motion. Mr. Lannon—This Courthouse is the place for their meetings and let them pay for it like everybody else. It would cost only 7/6 or so for the night. Mr. Griffin—It is not costing the ratepayers £5 in 20 years to allow them have their meetings in the offices. Mr. Lannon—It is costing them a lot of money. Mr. Lannon's proposal (that they recommend to the County Manager that the offices be not given to the Local Government Officials Union or any other organisation for meetings) was then put to the meeting. It was defeated by nine votes to five. The voting was as follows: For the resolution: Messrs. Lannon, Dower, Fahey, N. Walsh, Galgey. Against: Messrs. Foran, Cahill, Madden, Power, Kenneally, Gallagher, E. Browne, P. Griffin. Mr. Lannon—We ran a great gallop, anyway.

N.F.A. NEWS
New Grants for Dipping and Handling Facilities on Farm

Dating from last Monday, read as follows: "There are no farm re-equipment in terms of dipping machinery and related facilities, said Dr. J. Walsh, Director, An Foras Talmhaíochta. "We live," he said, "at a time when there have been major changes in the outlook on agriculture. The basic role of agriculture in ensuring national economic advancement has been clearly recognised. The advances in agriculture, which must be made, cannot be achieved with the tools of yesterday. With farm buildings which were erected when farming had entirely different objectives and with farm equipment which was often designed for purposes and for conditions other than those which now obtain."

More and more emphasis is being given recently to the question of quality milk production, and rightly so. Proper hygiene and milking technique are necessary. One of the major factors, particularly at this time of the year, is the rapid cooling of milk. If some form of ice-bank is not available, the only source that can be relied on to produce water at a low enough temperature at all times is 'ground water'.

About one-third of the rain fall becomes ground water. This water moves down-hill well below the surface of the ground and occasionally reaches the surface again as springs. In the main, however, it finds its outlet at the banks or bed of lakes or rivers or at the sea-shore. Because of its depth below the ground surface and the insulation given by the soil above, this water remains at a fairly constant low temperature the whole year round.

Experiments carried out by An Foras Talmhaíochta compared the temperatures of water from a deep well, a tap in a dairy supplied from a deep well and tank on higher ground, a local authority supply and a stream. The results showed that the well water had the smallest variation in temperature. During the same investigation it was found that only the water from a deep well was capable of cooling milk in June, July and August below 60 degrees F. which is the highest temperature at which milk should be delivered for the manufacture of dairy products. Temperature is a factor which governs the keeping qualities of milk and, as these findings show, farmers should use (where possible) water from deep wells as a necessary adjunct to quality milk production.

Resolution re Land Commission. Dissatisfaction with the working of the Irish Land Commission is nothing new. In different counties at different times trouble is inclined to flare up because of the grievances which local farmers feel they have. Taking a broad view, the Land Commission has a reasonable record to its credit. In carrying out its schemes it is often faced with difficulties which, legally and otherwise, can prove tortuous and time consuming. One cannot help thinking that better public relations on its part would obviate much of the hard feeling to be found in different areas.

It is impossible at times, however, for individuals to make sense of some of the things done by the Land Commission as is clearly shown by a resolution which was recently sent to N.F.A. Central Office from a branch in South Tipperary. "A farm at Dromarua, Glen of Aherlow was taken over by the Land Commission in 1956. This land has not been disposed of to date. A number of small bits of the land are being sold as some of the holdings are quite small. The land is in a derelict state and has not been fertilised since the Land Commission took possession. Bushes and briars have not been trimmed. Attention is drawn to the serious fact that it appears to be Land Commission policy to neglect elementary and farming practices on land acquired. The example set by this Department in allowing land under its control to become unproductive and sterile is a local and national disgrace."

This branch is now calling for MAJOR CHANGES in FARMING OUTLOOK. We need a new approach to

Dungarvan Observer FARM INFORMATION SERVICE

Question: I have had some serious trouble in the past with white scour in calves which were housed in some old buildings in the farmyard. What, if any, is the best way of getting rid of the infection from these houses? Answer: The bacteria which causes white scour in calves can remain for a long time in the type of house you mention, and it is very difficult to completely rid such a house of them. Many farmers have found it well worth while building a new house for calves. Such a house is much easier to clean and disinfect when free of calves. With old buildings, all you can do is scrub and wash down with water and washing soda and a good disinfectant. A blow lamp will help in killing many bacteria, which may set up the infection in the calves again. Hence, I would strongly recommend considering the construction of a new house for your calves.

Question: There is a lot of references to-day about live-stock units. Can you explain what exactly this means? Answer: The low output on many farms to-day is due to the fact that the area under grass is not carrying all the stock which it should be capable of supporting. Some measurement of stock density is essential and this is complicated because of the wide variety of farm livestock. The different classes of stock must be reduced to a common basis of measurement—the Livestock Unit. The following table will indicate the conversion of all stock to live-stock units:

CATTLE

Type of Animal—Cows Livestock Units—1; Stock Bulls—1/2; Heifers in Calf—Three quarters unit; Cattle over 3 yrs.—Cattle 1; Cattle 2/3 yrs.—Three quarters; Cattle 1/2 yrs.—Half; Cattle 3/12 months—One quarter; Cattle under 3 months—One-eighth.

SHEEP

Breeding ewes—1/5th; Rams—1/5th; Lambs over 6 months—1/10th; other sheep—1/10th.

PIGS

Sows (including bonhams to wean)—1; Boars—1/2; Store Pigs 8-10 weeks—1/10th; Pigs over 12 weeks—1/5th.

HORSES

Horses under 1 year—1; Three quarters; Jennets, Mules, Asses—Three quarters.

REVISSED LEAFLETS

Notice has been given that three Department of Agriculture leaflets have been revised and are now available free. One deals with a disease which is associated with digestion and often occurs after a cow has calved. It affects high-yielding cows more than others. The leaflet gives the symptoms of the disease as well as hints on how to prevent an outbreak: it is leaflet No. 47—"Acetonaemia on Ketosis in Cattle".

THE SECOND LEAFLET, No. 120, outlines the use of potato silage and the making of it. Surplus potatoes, blighted, damaged and frost-killed ones can be included in animal feeding when cooked and can replace up to 60 per cent. of the cereals in a balanced ration for fattening pigs.

THE THIRD LEAFLET ENTITLED "The Growing of Oats," No. 40, tells how to produce a good crop. It lists the most important pests and diseases likely to be met with and the methods used to prevent damage by these causes. A list of varieties of oats is also given with notes on the properties of each.

PRICES FOR RE-ACTOR CATTLE

The N.F.A. Livestock Division some time ago made representation to the Department of Agriculture to arrange for valuations for re-actor cattle above the present maximum of £80. This representation was made in light of the increased cattle prices which have obtained in recent months. It is essential that provision be made to ensure that the price differential between cattle sold on the open market and those purchased by the Department under the B.T.E. Scheme should be kept to the absolute minimum.

WHILE THE PRINCIPLE OF A maximum served a useful role when the market was stable and price levels lower, it could not under recent market conditions be considered suitable. In practice, the fact that a maximum of £80 is in operation has resulted, in some instances, in farmers losing heavily on re-actor cattle. This is evident from the fact that cattle on the open market, realising £100 or more could only, under present arrangements, command a maximum of £80. Thus, the farmer can incur a loss of as much as £20 per beast.

THE ASSOCIATION would like to point out that the increased value of dairy cows, which will likely increase still further, necessitates a revision of the price scale at present in operation for the purchase of re-actor dairy cows. Prices that obtained in recent years will, with the changing value of dairy cows, be totally inadequate for replacement purposes. Farmers must receive realistic prices for their dairy cows if they are to be in a position to maintain their herds.

HOW TO APPLY ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION BY MOUTH TO MOUTH METHOD IN FOUR EASY STAGES

Near-drowning and severe electric shock cause unconsciousness and a stoppage of breathing. The mouth-to-mouth method described here can restore breathing and save a life. It is essential that it be started as soon as possible after recovering or discovering the victim. In the case of electric shock, power must be switched off before the victim is touched.

1st STEP

2nd STEP

3rd STEP

4th STEP

The victim's chest should be watched, and as soon as it rises, the blowing should be stopped and the operator's mouth quickly removed from the mouth of the victim, allowing the victim to exhale passively. If the chest does not rise, the support of the victim's head (Step 2) should be improved and the blowing done more forcefully. The cycle of inflation and exhalation should be repeated 12 times per minute for adults and 20 times per minute for infants and small children. Note that on an infant, the mouth should be placed over the child's mouth and nose. This method of artificial respiration is very suitable for treatment of the victims of electric shock or drowning. MUNSTER FINAL WAS ANTI-CLIMAX

On Sunday last, before an estimated 45,000 attendance, Tipperary became Munster senior hurling champions for the fifth time in seven years. It was a victory gained with simplicity against a Cork fifteen that must be rated one of the poorest to represent the rebel county for many years. In the strictest sense of the words, it was an anti-climax, and Cork were as outclassed as the final 3-13 to 1-8 tally against them suggests.

There wasn't even a ripple of the traditional Cork-Tipp rivalry in evidence during a fearless and thrills-decider in which the standard of hurling was incredibly below par.

Tipperary, even though claiming a facile fourteen points victory, never produced the sparkling hurling that annihilated Wexford last May but even at that were never extended by substandard opponents.

Following their one point defeat of Waterford in the semi-final, it was generally felt that Cork had at last emerged from the doldrums. But such was the extent of the hurling lesson meted out to them by a Tipp side playing only in second gear, that it is extremely doubtful if the present band will regain the county its former glory.

For quarter of an hour Cork scarcely succeeded in getting beyond their own half-way line, and Tipp, without undue exertion, led by 0-6 to 0-0. The Leewarders did some with a flashing burst for ten minutes prior to the interval, and they trooped to their dressing room only three points in arrears.

But if hopes of a battle royal in the second half were reasonably bright during that interval, they were completely blown sky-high as soon as the game restarted. Soon it was evident that Tipp were the complete masters and with Jimmy Doyle pointing balls from every angle to a degree of monotony, the game boringly ebbed to its entirety.

Indeed it surely reflects on Cork's ability that they had to wait twenty-seven minutes before recording their solitary second-half score.

It is indeed difficult to assess Tipp's real worth on Sunday's performance. As I have already stated they were not over impressive, but I also firmly believe they were content to be merely as good as the hour demanded.

Here of their side was centre-field veteran Theo English who gave a display of excellence, and outbursts by O'Sullivan and John Hayes in turn. Not far behind English in the role of honours came Jimmy Doyle, whose accuracy from play and placed balls was a treat. Rumours were rife in many quarters that Doyle might not be able to last a full hour on Sunday last because of a back injury, but he dispelled all doubts in this direction with a superb display of hurling strategy.

Others to star for Tipp were, defenders, Mick Murphy, John Doyle and Mick Burns; Mick Roche at mid-field and Babe Keating and Sean McLoughlin in attack.

Cork had few stars in what for them was a complete debacle. Goalkeeper Barry did more than his share, but Denis Murphy, Mick McCarthy and John Bennett were the only others to emerge from the best-forgotten encounter with any distinction.

EMMETTS' ADVANCE IN FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP Emmetts, even without a few of their established stars, proved too good for Ring in a first round senior football championship game at Dungarvan on Sunday night last.

The game never produced worthwhile fare, and whilst Emmetts deserved to advance to meet Kilrossanty in the second round, Ring must today be regretting the many chances they let go abegging in the first half of the game.

TOURNAMENT GAME IN ARDMORE TO-NIGHT In the Murphy Cup (senior football) tournament, five championship contenders Dungarvan meet Stradbally in Ardmore tonight (Friday), at 8 p.m.

This should be an ideal pre-championship test for the Blues, who meet Mount Sion in the championship quarter final on August 9th. They are fielding at full strength, and led by Tom Cunningham should be capable of proving themselves formidable opposition.

Stradbally, their championship dreams having been so rudely shattered by Kill, are seeking some kind of compensation and will be very anxious to return to winning form. Like Dungarvan, they are fielding their best available side and it should be a most interesting encounter.

THE ONLY SENIOR CHAMPIONSHIP game of the day down for decision on Sunday next is the meeting of county champions Mt. Sion and Ballydurn in the senior hurling championship at Tramore.

PHIL GRIMES (Mt. Sion) This is a David v. Goliath clash in the very sense of the phrase, and would surely be the sensation of the century if Willie Lenihan's men topped the holders.

Ballydurn are, however, hurling stylists in their own right, and whilst it would be really stretching one's imagination to anticipate a shock result, there is a wealth of talent in this Ballydurn side.

They are led by Joe Harney, Batty Foley, John Whelan, and the long serving Hassetts and I expect them to put up a good show.

Be that as it may, Mount Sion with a side that falls little short of inter county standard, must be near certainties to advance and they are given a confident vote to qualify for a semi-final tilt with Ballygunner.

Emmetts March On Ring Spuander Many Chances

ALTHOUGH somewhat flattered by their margin of victory. The Emmetts thoroughly deserved to advance to the second round of the senior football championship when defeating Ring at Fraher's

Field on Sunday night last. For the most part it was a disappointing game, productive of negative and featureless football for long periods and only the closeness of the scoring for the greater portion of the hour sustained interest for so long.

Ring followers will of course, forever, bemoan the first-half chances, that were shamelessly abused by forwards whose combined and individual efforts fell far short of the senior grade.

This was the period that territorially only the Gaelic football side made progress, but when it came to the all-important matter of scoring, the technique—if they possess it at all, deserted them.

During the opening half, there could be no disputing the fact that outfield Ring clearly enjoyed quite an excessive advantage. But I have long been a firm believer in the dictum that a side so plagued by an inaccurate attack as Ring were, do not, for all the other advantages they may create for themselves, deserve to taste the fruits of success.

Emmetts on the other hand, were sluggish and unimpressive for most of the opening thirty minutes. But they made a complete mockery of the losers' outfield supremacy when they turned over leading by two points, which, to put it mildly was all against the run of play.

But whereas Ring fumbled near goal, the Colligan men gratefully took what was on offer in the matter of scoring chances and that in brief but accurate assessment explains how they were the two vital points to the good

Thereafter Emmetts got well on top and in fact played remarkably well in those final fifteen minutes. Ring's challenge inexorably petered out and at the call of time the Colligan men had established a clear-cut superiority.

EXCHANGES WERE TOUGH The exchanges were at all times tough, and no less than four players, two from each side, received marching orders. In this respect, however, Ring were hardest hit as their star forward, Tommy JoeHarty, was one of those dismissed after 26 minutes. He was involved in a flare-up with Christy Dowey, and both were forced to sit out for the remainder of the hour.

The second incident which resulted in Jim Ahearne and Billy Harty receiving similar treatment was nothing more than a trivial affair and personally I could not agree with the referee's decision—a harsh one to say the least in sending them off.

The reliance on the brilliance of a few was one of Ring's main failings. They had not the all round balance of Emmetts and the brunt of their efforts had to be borne by too few on this championship, I have no doubt about their ability to step up on this form. Periodically they did show top class form on Sunday and were undoubtedly the craftier and better balanced side.

Star of their team and in fact the best footballer on the field was midfielder Pat Harty, who strove to the very last in an effort to get his side into the second round. This was a display of tour de force by Harty and defeat was certainly no fault of his. He roamed all over the field in search of work and in all accounted for his side's entire seven point total.

In defence, Sylvester Murray, Tom White and P. J. White defended stoutly whilst Liam Meagher was an industrious partner for the brilliant Harty at midfield.

But with the exception of Tommy Joe Harty, their attack did not possess a forward worthy of the name and it was a cruel blow to their hopes that they should lose his services after only twenty minutes of play. The other forwards seemed utterly incapable of scoring, a feat in fact all six of them failed to accomplish over the hour.

Emmetts—P. Fitzgerald, D. Connolly, J. Hickey, C. Dowey, C. Bannon, J. Kiely, F. Tobin; J. Ahearne, L. Ryan; D. Tobin, P. Crotty, P. Walsh, M. Walsh, J. Cliffe, J. Tobin, Ring—N. Graves, T. White, S. Kiely, P. Curran, G. Curran, S. Murray, P. J. White; P. Harty, L. Meagher; P. Murray, T. J. Harty, B. Harty; M. Keane, J. Walsh, T. Harty, Subs—J. Harty for J. Walsh, J. McGrath, for P. Murray.

RE: Strawberry Growing in the Ring Gaeltacht A Chára, It is noted that there are certain inaccuracies in the local papers on the discussions which took place at last Saturday's meeting of the Committee of Agriculture on the strawberry growing project in Ring.

In reference to the prices received by the Wexford growers, the Instructor in Horticulture stated that the prices offered by the jam manufacturers to the Wexford growers was £105 per ton for plugged strawberries and £90 per ton unplugged, as compared with £75 for plugged and £56 unplugged by the Sugar Co. The Instructor also made reference to the bonus offered by the Sugar Co. of 50% of the profit realised when the strawberries are resold. A further correction is called for in regard to the picking of the crop. This was stated to be approximately £20 per ton and not £50 as stated in the papers. The Instructor in Horticulture stated that where there is a yield of 5 tons per acre, the cost of picking the crop would be £100 per acre.

Emmetts March On Ring Spuander Many Chances

Emmetts 2-7 Ring 0-7

ALTHOUGH somewhat flattered by their margin of victory. The Emmetts thoroughly deserved to advance to the second round of the senior football championship when defeating Ring at Fraher's

Field on Sunday night last. For the most part it was a disappointing game, productive of negative and featureless football for long periods and only the closeness of the scoring for the greater portion of the hour sustained interest for so long.

Ring followers will of course, forever, bemoan the first-half chances, that were shamelessly abused by forwards whose combined and individual efforts fell far short of the senior grade.

This was the period that territorially only the Gaelic football side made progress, but when it came to the all-important matter of scoring, the technique—if they possess it at all, deserted them.

During the opening half, there could be no disputing the fact that outfield Ring clearly enjoyed quite an excessive advantage. But I have long been a firm believer in the dictum that a side so plagued by an inaccurate attack as Ring were, do not, for all the other advantages they may create for themselves, deserve to taste the fruits of success.

Emmetts on the other hand, were sluggish and unimpressive for most of the opening thirty minutes. But they made a complete mockery of the losers' outfield supremacy when they turned over leading by two points, which, to put it mildly was all against the run of play.

But whereas Ring fumbled near goal, the Colligan men gratefully took what was on offer in the matter of scoring chances and that in brief but accurate assessment explains how they were the two vital points to the good

Thereafter Emmetts got well on top and in fact played remarkably well in those final fifteen minutes. Ring's challenge inexorably petered out and at the call of time the Colligan men had established a clear-cut superiority.
