Clean-Up For Graveyards

WATERFORD COUNTY COUNCIL decided on Monday last to improve the standard of caretaking in graveyards throughout the County and increase the amount being paid to caretakers.

Mr. John Fahey said the graveyards of County Waterford were very neglected. The only way to solve the problem was to employ caretakers and give them a salary. He would like to see the work being done by the community effort but he did not think that would work. The caretaker system had many advantages and would put an end to all trespassing of every kind. The caretaker would have a key to the graveyard and he would be in a position to point out graves to visitors. If the present caretakers got a substantial increase it might solve the problem. At the moment they should be ashamed to meet the caretakers they were getting so little.

DREDGING OF HELVICK PIER

Waterford Co. Council is seeking a bigger grant from the Gaeltacht Department for the dredging of Helvick Pier. The entrance to the pier is silted up and the lifeboat cannot be launched at low tide.

A letter from the Gaeltacht Department stated that a grant of £1,200 or 50 per cent of the cost of the work would be made available.

The Co. Engineer, Mr. J. D. Hally, said in a report, that the amount of the grant was less than he expected. He suggested that the Council write back and ask for 75%.

Mr. M. Harty said that a very serious situation existed at the pier. The lifeboat could not be launched at low tide and other boats were being obstructed.

Mr. Norman Walsh said a number of graveyards up and down the county were being neglected and the County Council should do its duty. The amount of money was not very much and they should do their duty like Catholics and Christians.

Mr. G. Heskin said a terrific job had been done by Rev. Fr. P. Farrell, P.P., Ballyduff Upper and his parishioners in keeping the local churchyard tidy.

Mr. K. O'Ryan said that everyone should look after their own dead. It was not a matter for the County Council.

Mr. M. Harty said the famine graveyard in Ring was in a very bad condition. A monument that had been erected in the graveyard was now nearly covered over.

The Council decided to ask the County Engineer the remuneration being paid to caretakers with a view to increasing their salaries.

Mr. F. Roche said he visited an old graveyard near Portlaw and he found animals grazing there. There was another graveyard near the town that had also gone wild. The graveyards were not being kept like they should and an interest should be taken in old graveyards. He felt it was the responsibility of the Co. Council.

WATERFORD CO. COUNCIL'S BIG OVERDRAFT

A statement was made at a meeting of Waterford County Council in Dungarvan on Monday on the overall financial position of Waterford County Council.

The County Accountant, Mr. F. O'Leary, said that the financial position of the County Council had deteriorated and the overdraft at the present time was £219,000 compared with £125,000 for the same period last year. He was quite concerned with the position as the overdraft limit was £250,000.

Approximately £30,000 was due to the Council for building of cottages for which no loan had so far been received from the Department. He said that he was watching the position very closely.

Mr. N. Walsh said that the County Council had suffered because of the Department's attitude. This was a county-wide affair and the Department should wake up. The ratepayers were loving money because of red tape.

Toilet Facilities For Bonmahon

At the request of the local Development Association, Waterford County Council is to provide toilets at Bonmahon. It was also decided to provide life belts on the beach.

A letter from the Development Association read at last Monday's County Council meeting stated that the mine shafts in the areas should be filled in and toilets provided on the beach.

The Acting County Secretary (Mr. F. O'Leary) said the Co. Engineer reported that the mine shafts could be dealt with under a special act and the site for toilets seemed suitable and could be incorporated into the proposed sewerage scheme for the area. He did not consider the beach dangerous enough or frequented enough for a life guard.

Mr. F. Roche said a water supply had been supplied for Kill and Bonmahon but there was no sewerage system. Recently he saw at least 20 cars at Bonmahon and there was no toilet facilities available. That situation would not be tolerated anywhere. In his opinion it was a very dangerous beach because there was a steep drop and two girls were rescued whilst bathing there recently. The amenities being sought by the Bonmahon Development Association were not before their time.

The Acting County Engineer (Mr. J. Ormonde) said the contract documents for Bonmahon sewerage scheme had been submitted to the Dept. Mr. M. Galgey said that sanitary arrangements along the coast were badly neglected. More strands were being used and on Sunday last 1500 people travelled to Woodstown where there were no sanitary arrangements whatever.

DISCOUNT FOR EARLY RATEPAYERS

In future ratepayers who pay their rates early will get a discount from Waterford Co. Council. This was decided at a meeting of the Council in Dungarvan on Monday last.

The County Accountant, Mr. F. J. O'Leary said he was in favour of giving discount to ratepayers who paid up early. The Council had to raise an overdraft and if the rates were paid early there would be no overdraft interest to pay.

Mr. M. Galgey said he thought it was a very good proposition and the ratepayers who paid early would get the interest instead of the Bank.

Passing a resolution that the ratepayers get the discount the Council also decided that the rate of discount should be equivalent to the Bank overdraft interest.

Student Sought Scholarship Increase

A suggestion that all Council scholarships be increased by 12% was made at a meeting of Waterford County Council on Monday last. Before the meeting was a letter from University College, Cork.

An application also came before the meeting from Patrick O'Grady, a student at Kilmacothomas, for an increase in his County Council scholarship from £225 to £250. His application states that his lodgings, college fees, instruments had increased and taking into account a "modest sum for entertainment," his costs exceeded the scholarship.

Mr. M. Galgey said the Council had always been generous with scholarships but this was too much and the students were beginning to map back. If a proper letter had been written they would be happy to grant the increase. He thought that students needed a little education in good manners.

The application was referred to the Scholarships Sub-Committee.

Deputy Kynne said that not much entertainment would be done for £10 a year.

Dungarvan Man Loses Life in Accident

INQUEST OPENED AND ADJOURNED

AN inquest on 22 year-old William Drummy, Ballyneety, Dungarvan, who lost his life following an accident on Saturday last, was opened and adjourned before Dr. D. Healy, Coroner, at Dungarvan on Tuesday. Drummy, an employe of Yougal Carpets Ltd., was killed instantly when his motor-cycle was in collision with a creamery lorry.

Dr. M. K. Cusack, Dungarvan, said he was called to the scene of a traffic accident at Ballyneety, Dungarvan, on August 8th and found the dead body of a man lying on the roadway. It was identified to him as William Drummy. He arranged for the transfer of the body to the District Hospital and at about 7.30 p.m. that evening made a post mortem examination on the body. On examination he found the right side of the face and forehead and right temporal region extensively crushed.

The base of the skull in the right interior portion was crushed and the brain itself was also extensively crushed. There were abrasions on the front and upper parts of the chest and the rest of the body seemed to be free from injury. In his opinion, death was due to extensive haemorrhage and damage to the brain and the injuries were consistent with being hit by a big motor lorry.

Replying to Mr. A. R. Farrell, Solr., witness said the injuries would be consistent with his head having been crushed by the wheel of a lorry. Mr. Patrick Drummy, father of the deceased, said he last saw his son alive at 4.25 p.m.

LATE WILLIAM DRUMMY

on Saturday last at home at Ballyneety, Dungarvan. He was then in good health. He was going into Dungarvan on his motor cycle for a message for his mother. Later that day he saw a dead body at Dungarvan District Hospital and identified it as his son, William.

Sergeant John Browne said on the 8th August, he visited the morgue at Dungarvan District Hospital and saw the dead body of William Drummy. It was identified to him by Mrs. Drummy, Shandon, Dungarvan.

At this stage, Supt. J. Fanning asked for an adjournment as he would be reporting the facts to the Attorney General.

Dr. D. Healy, Coroner for West Waterford, offered sympathy to the deceased's relatives on Mr. Drummy's very early and tragic death.

Mr. A. R. Farrell, Solr., on behalf of Dungarvan Co-Operative Creamery and Barrowdale Co-Op. Co. Kilkenny, and the driver of the lorry, James Brennan, extended sympathy to the deceased's relatives. The roads to-day were becoming more dangerous and everyone should try as much as possible to see that these accidents do not occur.

Mr. John O'Flynn, on behalf of the jury, and Supt. J. Fanning, on behalf of the Gardaí, were associated with the expressions of sympathy. The members of the Jury were: John O'Flynn (foreman), D. Fleming, P. O'Driscoll, J. Ryan, M. Begley, T. Power, M. Landers

Mother and Two Sons Killed in Aircrash

A mother, her two sons and the pilot of a light aircraft, were killed when their plane crashed on a take-off at Cork Airport at 5 o'clock on Saturday last when they were on a 15 minutes joyride over the airport. The dead were Mrs. Maureen Gaule (50) wife of P. J. Gaule, Manager of Youghal Branch of the Provincial Bank, her two sons, Brian (25) and John (12) and the pilot Mr. J. F. Coupe (32) a married man with two children, from Southampton. According to an eye-witness account the plane took off and rose in the air clearing the runway. When about 100 feet up something must have gone wrong and it appeared that the plane turned left with the view to returning to the airfield. The banked a little, the engine seemed to cut out and she plunged into a tilled field and ploughed the ground for 50 yards. The fuselage was intact but the wings and tail had been torn away. The cash was witnessed by about 20 people including Mrs. Gaule's husband from the airport observation platform. Immediately the bodies were removed from the wreck they were brought in the fire brigade ambulances to St. Finbarr's Hospital and later the remains of Mrs. Gaule and her two sons were removed to St. Patrick's Church, Cork.
When the sad news reached Youghal on Saturday, a gloom was cast over the town and district where the Gaule family were well known and held in very high esteem. The remaining member of the family is Miss Phyllis Gaule (23) who is a member of the clerical staff of Seaford Fabrics in Dublin, and to her and her bereaved father deepest sympathy is extended in their great sorrow. Mrs. Gaule was daughter of Mrs. O'Hanlon, of Blackrock Road, Cork, and the late Mr. F. H. O'Hanlon of the firm of Messrs. F. H. O'Hanlon & Co., Auditors and Accountants, Cork. The son Brian, was a dentist practising in London and qualified at U.C.C. three years ago.

The removal to St. Patrick's Church was the largest seen in the city for some time and the remains were received by Rev. W. Riordan, C.C., and Very Rev. Canon Sheehan, P.P., Youghal.
After solemn Requiem Mass on Monday morning the funeral took place to St. Finbarr's cemetery followed by a large and very representative cortege.
Amongst the relatives present were the bereaved husband Mr. P. J. Gaule, his daughter, Miss Phyllis Gaule, his brother, Rev. J. J. Gaule, P.P., Iowa, U.S.; his sisters Mrs. A. Lundy, Tramore; Mrs. P. J. McGrath, Dublin; Mrs. Joan Reeves, a sister of Mrs. Gaule; Mr. Moe Gaule, Limerick; Mrs. Lee Gaule, Misses Ann and Joan Gaule; Andrew Gaule; Mr. P. J. McGrath and family; Mr. T. J. Blair; Mr. Frank O'Hanlon and his two sons, Frank junr. and M.L.
The body of the pilot, Mr. Coupe, was flown back to London for burial on Tuesday. His young wife, mother and brother, flew into Cork on Sunday to make arrangements for the removal.
An investigation as to the cause of the accident is being carried out at the airport by Capt. J. McCabe, Inspector of Aircraft Accidents, Department of Transport and Power, assisted by Mr. Ed. Dempsey of that Department. Two officials of the British Ministry of Aviation flew into Cork on Sunday from London to assist in inquiries. This was the first crash at Cork Airport since it opened on October, 1961.

GOLD MEDAL TOURNAMENT REPLAY

The eagerly awaited replay in the semi-final of the gold medal tournament sponsored by the Cappoquin G.A.A. Club takes place on Thursday night next, August 20th, between Mount Sion and Blackrock. These star-studded sides played a thrilling drawn game several weeks ago and their second meeting should be a pulsating affair. The game is timed to start at 7.30.

ing welcomed those present he recalled his first meeting with Father Walsh, when he (Mr. Moloney) was but a child. He then referred to the various parishes he taught in and in which Fr. Walsh served as curate and he said that their relations had always been most cordial. He concluded by wishing his Reverence many more years of health and happiness in the united parishes of Touraneena and the Nire.

Very Rev. John Flynn P.P., Bristol, a native of Touraneena spoke highly of Fr. Walsh's kindness to him on every occasion on which he visited him and said he looked forward with joy to his annual vacation which afforded them both an opportunity of renewing their acquaintance.

Rev. Fr. Griffin, C.C., said that he is only in the Parish for the past three months but before he was there three days, he realised how Fr. Walsh was loved and respected by one and all. He said it was a pleasure to work with him and both he and Fr. Walsh enjoyed to live and serve among people who were natural and homey and who still cherished their Gaelic culture in spite of foreign influences.

Mr. Michael Morrissey, P.C., speaking on behalf of the people of the Nire said that apart from his devotion to his great calling, Fr. Walsh's greatest gift was his wonderful sense of humour and he received loud applause as he retold some of the Parish Priests favourite yarns.

Rev. Fr. Griffin then presented Fr. Walsh with a magnificent Television Set as a gift from the people of the United Parishes.

The Very Rev. P.P. who received a wonderful ovation, spoke feelingly of his great love for the people of Touraneena and the Nire and said he hoped that whether his time on earth was long or short he and his flock would live in harmony and peace until he was laid to rest amongst them. He thanked them very sincerely and asked them to remember him in their prayers. A very enjoyable social followed the presentation and a memorable night in the history of St. Mary's Club drew to a close.

DEFENDANT GETS P.O.A. IN UNUSUAL CASE

A most unusual case came before Judge Skinner at Dungarvan District Court on Wednesday, when Catherine Hickey, Lackendarra, Ballinamult, appeared as defendant. Miss Hickey was charged with sending a Postal Order for 3/6 representing the purchase price of a chance in a lottery or a prize won in a lottery at the "Postal Bingo Club" Durham, contrary to the gaming and Lotteries Act.

Sup't. J. Fanning said the defendant had been listening to Radio Luxembourg when the announcer asked listeners to join the Postal Bingo Club. She sent away a P.O. for 3/6 and the coupons. They were intercepted in the post and handed over to the Gardaí for investigation. Garda Feeney interviewed the defendant on July 18th and he produced the P.O. and coupons. She admitted sending them away.

In a statement she said she was listening to Luxembourg and the announcer asked listeners to join the "Postal Bingo Club". She sent off the P.O. for 3/6 and the coupons but did not know there was anything wrong in doing so. She would not do it again.

Sup't. Fanning said he did believe that the defendant did not know it was an offence. However it was becoming a common offence in Dungarvan and this case was brought as a warning. He asked the Justice to deal leniently with the defendant.

The Judge applied the P.O.A. and made an order for the return of the 3/6.

CASE DISMISSED

Judge Skinner at Dungarvan Court on Wednesday, dismissed charges of drunken and dangerous driving against Patrick Dee, Carrigeenageragh, Leamybrien, at 3 a.m. on the main Waterford-Dungarvan road on July 29th.

FINED £1

David Murray, Ballinroad, was fined £1 by Judge Skinner at Dungarvan Court on Wednesday when pleading guilty to a charge of careless driving at Ballinahassery on June 26th.

Ardmore Shock Mitchels

ARDMORE 3-2; JOHN MITCHELS 0-10

THE favourites are out! John Mitchels, Kilrossanty's offspring and the general fancy to capture the senior football championship title for the first time this year, had their hopes blown sky high at Dungarvan's Fraher Field on Sunday last. Their conquerors were the men of Ardmore who are now but one hour away from their first ever appearance in a senior decider.

ARDMORE... IN LINE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP AND CUP DOUBLE

It was a game punctuated at times by exhilarating passages, yet overall failed to come up to general expectations. However with never more than a score or two between the sides, the issue remained in doubt for the hour and there was a pulsating finish as Mitchels despairingly sought the elusive point that would give them another chance.

Territorially, Mitchels dominated this game to a considerable degree but they will forever bemoan the opportunities they failed to turn to account throughout the game. Nor was it to their advantage that their attack seemed obsessed with the ideal of walking the ball to the net when points were literally there for the taking.

On the other hand the Ardmore attack played an open and more direct type of game and even though helped considerably by a laxity in the Mitchels' defence at times, fared much better on the whole than their counterpart.

It must indeed have been galling for the losers to turn over a point in arrears after having dominated the opening half practically without interruption. Ardmore led by 2-0 to 0-5 at the interval, their goals coming in the first and final minutes of the half.

Again on the change of ends, it was a case of taking what came their way with Ardmore and after only eight minutes they had established an invaluable four point advantage. But to the Mitchels credit they piled on the pressure relentlessly but time and a solid Ardmore rearguard deprived them of snatching the equalising or winning scores.

While some may term Mitchels unlucky to have lost, this to my mind tends to be somewhat ungracious to an Ardmore side that will take a deal of beating now. True, they had far fewer opportunities than the Mitchels, but made maximum use of those that came their way, and for that reason alone are worthy of their place in the semi-final.

Mitchels, in marked contrast, seemed indifferent at times and the air of nonchalance that manifested itself in their play departed only in the closing stages when it was obvious they were in grave danger of defeat. Once again their defence was too prone to vulnerability, and two of the goals conceded might well have been prevented by a tighter defending rearguard.

THE SCORING

The game was only two minutes old when Ardmore had the first of their goals by Jim Rooney from a centre by Thomas Hallahan. In the fifth minute Mitchels opened their account when Noel Kirwan placed his brother Tommy for a point. From that point onwards it was Mitchels who set the pace and minors by Sean Power (free), Billy Kirwan, Tommy Kirwan and Sean Power again, left them leading deservedly by 0-5 to 1-0 by the 25th minute. But practically on the stroke of half-time Ardmore struck yet another decisive blow when a move involving Jim Rooney and in and Thomas Hallahan was finished to the net by the latter.

Mitchels restarted with a flourish and within three minutes Billy Kirwan dummed his way through for the equalising point. Two minutes later Ardmore regained the lead with a Fin Hallahan point and the same player scored the third and final goal in the eight minute when judiciously placed by Bertie Hallahan.

Then came the Mitchels fight back that all but saved the day. Tommy Kirwan had a brace of minors (one from a free), but four minutes from time J. J. Carlton soloed through for a well-taken point. Again Mitchels piled on the pressure and Rogie Connors lofted over a point in the 28th minute. Another minute had elapsed and a pointed free by Noel Kirwan left only the minimum margin between them. Upfield came the entire Mitchels team with the exception of goalkeeper Charlie Crowley in quest of the equaliser but it was not to be and Ardmore grimly held on to earn their place in the last four.

HONOURS GO TO DEFENCE

It is the winners' defence that earned the greatest share of the honour in this victory, and I have particularly in mind wing halves Tommy Power, and Bertie Hallahan. Both gave impeccable displays all through and thwarted many dangerous Mitchels raids towards the close. Others to star in defence were Noel Power and Eddie Mooney.

John Joe Carlton was the better of the midfield pairing that more often than not had to concede second best, and up front honours rested with Fin Hallahan, Jim Rooney and Thomas Hallahan.

For Mitchels, Mitchels Kirwan, Seamus Kenny and Tony Kirwan starred in defence. Tom Gough was prominent all through at midfield and in attack, Tommy Kirwan, Rogie Connors and Billie Kirwan were best.

Mitchels—C. Crowley, T. Kirwan, W. Connors, W. Boland; S. Kenny, M. Kirwan, D. Anderson; M. Mullan, T. Gough; S. Power, R. Connors, N. Kirwan; T. Kirwan, P. Gough, B. Kirwan.

Ardmore—J. Colbert, J. Mulcahy, E. Mooney, N. Power, T. Power, P. Carlton, B. Hallahan; J. J. Carlton, D. Lenane; J. Rooney, M. Carlton, F. Hallahan; A. Flavin, P. Pender, T. Hallahan.

'Sion Fall To Resurgent Blues

Dungarvan Sweep To Semi Final

DUNGARVAN 4-3; MOUNT SION 2-0

AFTER almost a decade in a comparative wilderness, Dungarvan's senior footballers are back in the "big time" with a bang. On Sunday last on the soil of their own Fraher Field they confounded the entire county by decisively defeating Mt.

Sion to qualify for the championship semi-final for the first time in many years. It was a shock result to say the least but there wasn't a trace of a fluke about it, as these resurgent Blues simply ran riot against the famed championship battlers from the "Monastery."

By standards it was not a great game, but there was certainly plenty of excitement as Dungarvan successfully strove to wipe out an early two goal deficit. In doing so they produced the best brand of football seen from the club standard bearers for many a day, and the experience gained from this encounter is bound to have advantageous repercussions for their tilt with Ardmore in the penultimate round.

FIGHTING SPIRIT

Then it was that Dungarvan's fighting spirit admirably pervaded the scene and dramatically altered the entire complexion of the game. With centre back Tom Cunningham again proving beyond reasonable argument that he remains the finest exponent of the code in the county to-day, the remainder of the team took their "cue" from Cunn and the Mount Sion mastery became "no more." Gradually midfield control was gained by a rampant Jim Byrne and his industrious partner John Moylan and at the break the Blues only trailed by four points—2-0 to 0-2.

But it is surely an indication of how clear-cut Dungarvan's second half superiority was that Sion failed to raise a solitary flag throughout that thirty-minute moiety. They were utterly outclassed in all departments by a superior footballing force and four well-executed goals sent them reeling with shattering unexpectedness from the championship.

During the second half Dungarvan really played some vintage football. Their forwards in particular were first to every ball, leading the Sion defence a merry dance whilst the men in the rear clamped down on their opposing attackers, well and truly sealing all roads to goal.

For 'Sion it was not a game that will recall happy memories. They may, it is true have suffered somewhat from overconfidence, but when one considers that Dungarvan fielded without a few of their long serving regulars including team captain Eamonn McCarthy, it must be conceded that the better side unquestionably prevailed.

'CUNN'S DISPLAY

Whilst every man in the Dungarvan jersey played a noble part in victory, none can deny Tom Cunningham the right to stellar rating. Cunningham's vast experience took the defence out of many troublesome situations early on and throughout looked and played like the footballer supreme. But if Cunningham was the star defender, he was backed to the hilt by the remainder of his defensive colleagues. Wing halves Tony Mountain and Conor Curran tackled tenaciously and effectively, whilst the stalwart full back trio of Ivan Hayden, Mick Fitzgerald and Donal O'Brien gave a very vigilant Matt Hayes in goal ample protection.

At midfield Jim Byrne mastered a succession of opponents with consummate ease and John Moylan did likewise in less spectacular manner. It took the attack some time to get moving properly but completely outmanoeuvred the Sion defence in the second half.

Tom and Brendan Crowley and Michael Tobin formed a probing half line whilst the towering Mike Walsh on the fringe of the square, flanked by Pat Curran and Jim Walsh all had their moments of glory. It is indeed significant that all three full forwards scored a goal apiece.

What of Mount Sion? Well, for once they failed to click as expected, and only flattered to deceive by their early mastery. For them it was a case of having too many square pegs in round holes and they sadly missed the services of Frankie and 'Doc' Walsh.

Their stars were few and far between and only centre back Larry Guinan, midfielder Mick Flannell and Martin O'Morrissey earned any credit

DUNGARVAN GUN CLUB

Saturday, 1st August, will long be remembered as a real gala day for the Club. On that day some of the finest shots in Ireland were seen in action. The set-up was well laid out and the site ideal. Se'dom at shoots of this kind could a comparable panorama be located; this indeed, added to the enjoyment of the day, so much so that the visitors had a 'last round-up' at the seagulls on the beach ere the day closed.

Some of the oldest members of our Club competed and gave a creditable account of themselves, even though they had no opportunity of practice over a long period. The shoot was so keen that it had to be shot off, thus continuing extra time. Yet another day has to come to complete the programme and we are assured of another nice occasion. The Guinness trophies were much prized by the winners and the Club publicly desire to thank them. With the success attached to this event perhaps Guinness may donate a 32-County trophy next year, thus enabling all Irishmen to compete together in armed sport. We in Dungarvan will facilitate all comers with a hearty welcome.

Next meeting on Saturday night next, the 15th inst, at 8 p.m. at Faddy Foley's Lounge, Grattan Square, Dungarvan. It is of the utmost importance that all members attend and so contribute to the important matters for discussion. — Secretary.

N.F.A. NEWS Serious Defects In Milking Machines

The Dairy Section of our policy document "Farm Income and Agricultural Development 1964-1970," we stated that there was simple evidence that a significant proportion of our milking machines are not operating as satisfactorily as they should be. We recommend that a specialist advisory service on milking machine operation be established to be operated either by the Department of Agriculture or through the Agricultural Institute. We were concerned at the effect of poor mechanical operation of milking machines both on the health of the dairy cow and on milk yield.

Our fears have been borne out by the results of surveys carried out by the Dairy Research Centre of the Agricultural Institute which revealed that 75% of our milking machines are not operating properly. Mr. Michael Cowlhie of the Agricultural Institute has pointed out that the most serious deficiencies of the machines examined were a lack of sufficient 'reserve air' capacity and the poor condition of some of the rubber parts. One-third of the machines tested in the survey had no 'reserve air' capacity. This was a very serious defect as it made milking more difficult for the milker due to falling test-cups and resulted in cows getting mastitis.

A good vacuum regulator is also essential to control the entry of the 'reserve air' to the milking machine. In some of the machines surveyed the vacuum pumps installed had not got sufficient capacity, but in other cases the pumps suffered from a lack of maintenance and in some cases the vacuum pumps were installed in such a manner that it was very difficult to carry out any maintenance. Instructions on maintenance of the pumps were not always in evidence and some instructions were difficult to interpret.

Very few of the vacuum regulators were doing the job as well as they were supposed to do it. The reasons for failure here are design and lack of maintenance. The best type of vacuum regulator was the "deadweight" type.

Such a serious situation would warrant urgent measures being taken to assist in remedying the position. A specialist advisory service on milking machine operation would be well justified.

SUCCESSION BILL BEING EXAMINED

The Succession Bill 1964, which will be before Dail Eireann on the resumption of business after the summer recess, is being studied by the N.F.A. Oireachtas Committee. The purpose of the Bill is to amend and consolidate the law relating to the devolution, administration, disposition by will and distribution on intestacy of the property of deceased persons. It includes significant new provisions in relation to the making of wills.

A preliminary examination of the Bill indicates that in some respects it seems to contradict the Land Bill. While we disagree with some sections of the Land Bill, it had in its favour the fact that it would prevent undesirable fragmentation of holdings. The Succession Bill in its present form appears to make fragmentation almost inevitable in certain circumstances.

However, there is still time for the Minister for Justice, who introduced the Bill, to clarify his intentions and to bring in amendments.

STATE AID TO FARMERS? FIGURES CAN MISLEAD

It has been claimed that State Aid to Agriculture will amount to £43 million for the year 1963/64 and it is implied that all this money will go into the farmers' pockets. This claim does not stand up to serious examination because the figure mentioned includes some items which should not be charged to the account of agriculture at all. It also includes several forms of expenditure, the effect of which on farm income is very remote. Included in the published breakdown of the £43 million are grants for industry, grants for education, expenditure on social services and remission of tax. On the other hand when State aid to industry is mentioned, there is no reference to grants towards industrial education or to the remission of income tax or profits tax. An accurate comparison between State Aid to Agriculture and Industry respectively would show that if we are to accept the figure of 43 million for agriculture the corresponding figure for industry would be at least £300 million. When we examine the headings under which agricultural aid is allocated, some interesting facts come to light.

Subsidies of Final Products (10.7 million)—The amounts given for bacon, butter and other milk products are not paid as a bonus to farmers but are used to enable these products to be sold on export markets where they had to compete with dumped produce from other countries. It must not be forgotten that prices received by Irish farmers for their produce are far below the levels obtained in other European countries.

Subsidies to reduce production costs (£5,540,000)—The ground limestone subsidy is paid to C.L.I. and not to farmers. The subsidy on phosphate fertiliser is to a great extent a subsidy to the Irish fertiliser industry to enable that industry to remain in production.

Drainage, Land Reclamation and general improvement Schemes (£5,425,000)—Arterial drainage, Land Project and other improvement schemes listed under the heading are obviously a long-term capital investment which is very necessary but has no immediate effect on farmers' income. In fact, in the course of the Land Project we can take it that farmers have had to put up at least a pound for pound out of their own resources or by borrowing, thus actually reducing the amount available to them for current expenditure. To get value from reclamation work, farmers have to invest heavily in fertilisers, stock, machinery and buildings.

Expenditure on the Gaeltacht and Congested districts is, of course, a social subsidy and not an agricultural subsidy. Yet it is officially classified as State Aid to Agriculture.

Elimination of disease, livestock improvement etc. (£2,324,000)—Under this heading also the figures which are put down as State Aid to agriculture merely signify that farmers themselves have had to incur heavy expenditure in connection with these schemes, which are of a long-term nature. By no stretch of the imagination could it be said that this money goes to farmers in the form of a free hand-out. A substantial share of the amount shown under this heading goes on administration costs. The same arguments apply to grants for Farm Buildings etc. (£2,053,000).

Education, Research, Advisory and Technical Services (£2,583,000)—We have already mentioned above the corresponding and much more extensive facilities of this nature which are available to industry and which are not officially classified as subsidies to industry. Consequently it is unreasonable that these items should be called a subsidy to agriculture.

Relief of Rates (£10.8 million)—The relief which is given to industry in the form of tax exemption is far greater than the figure for relief of agricultural rates.

Rural Electrification (£1.1 million)—The entire amount of Government assistance towards Rural Electrification is charged to agriculture. Yet, town and villages and industries throughout the country also benefit from rural electrification.

Capital for Agricultural Credit Corporation Limited (£1,100,000)—By no stretch of the imagination can this sum be regarded as a subsidy to agriculture. It represents the anticipated amount which will be made available to the A.C.C. by the Minister for Finance either in the form of repayable advances or by taking up additional share capital in the Corporation. Since the money will be lent to farmers at current Bank interest rates, it is quite clear that no element of subsidy is involved. Apart also together from the beneficial effects on the whole economy as a result of borrowing by farmers for productive purposes, investment by the State in the A.C.C. is a very sound business proposition.

Finally, let us not forget that farmers costs would be substantially lower were it not for the existence of import duties and quota restrictions on many of their requirements. When account is also taken of the higher costs and lower efficiency which transport restrictions impose on Irish farmers, the obvious question is "just who is subsidising whom?" All evidence points to the conclusion that on balance farmers are certainly not at the receiving end.

LOYALTY TO OUR ORGANISATIONS

The founders of the N.F.A. never imagined that, once they had a national organisation firmly established, the problems of the country's farmers would be over. They knew that the organisation could only achieve its aims if it were fully supported by its members, year in and year out — in bad times as well as good.

There are always plenty of people with other axes to grind who are eagerly looking for opportunities to run down and weaken our organisation. It is inescapably true that whatever the organisation, be it statutory board or farmers co-operative, to promote farmers' interests, its ability to succeed in its task for the good of our industry depends upon intelligent and loyal support from the producers.

Clearly this steady support is all the more necessary when times are difficult and particularly when attacks are made by people outside our ranks.

There is always the need for constructive views from within our industry. Always there will be different points of view, and it is the right of the individual producer to express his own point of view and to state his policies of astutery to any other organisation in any particular respect.

It is however, essential that we should not lose sight of the overall value to us of these organisations or allow particular criticisms to blur the whole picture. Loyalty must be at its strongest when things are most difficult and we must work constructively to overcome problems.

There is no place in N.F.A. for those who would endeavour to divide our ranks.

MUTILATED SHEEP

Our national sheep and wool committee have received a report that rewards of £5 are to be given by Lincolnshire Farmers' Union for information which leads to the conviction of owners of dogs that attack sheep. A poster campaign is also to be launched showing mutilated sheep.

Our committee is very concerned about the position here and is seeking reports from other countries on the measures adopted to control this trade. The main market for these increased sales was again Britain and Northern Ireland.

WHO SAID WHAT?

"Our farm produce is, at its best, unmatched for quality and flavour, which is a natural asset of which we have yet to take the fullest advantage" — An Teisceach, Mr. S. Lemass, T.B. — Banagher, 27th July, 1964.

"For years he had found Co. Committees of Agriculture and the Advisory Services somewhat disappointing and he thought they could do more and better. Strange to say he would not like to see the Advisory Services organised around the Department and the Department responsible for them. He knew that Departments were and he would not accept a proposal of centralisation of these services." — Mr. P. Smith, T.D., Minister for Agriculture — Mastra Summer Gathering — Cavan, 27th July, 1964.

"They in the N.F.A. were glad that Macra was going from strength to strength — the N.F.A. recommended that every farm family should take an active part in Macra." — Mr. Sean Healy, General Secretary, N.F.A., Mastra Summer Gathering, Cavan, 27th July, 1964.

EXAGGERATED PRESS REPORT

At a recent meeting of the Youghal Urban Council the members condemned a recent press report in relation to what occurred in Youghal over the Bank holiday weekend which was grossly exaggerated. The Chairman stated that he was surprised to read the report on August Monday. The "Examiner" phoned him as to how the tourist season was. He was asked about the reported disturbance and stated that he had heard nothing about it. Having fully investigated the matter, it was quite obvious that what occurred was trivial and that the report gave an entirely exaggerated impression. He further stated that over the weekend over 25,000 visitors came to Youghal and enjoyed themselves. What did occur was four youths who were engaged in fistfights. There was no damage to property, no injuries and no accidents whatever. He paid a well deserved tribute to the Garda who handled the exceptionally heavy traffic with efficiency and courtesy.

FARM INFORMATION SERVICE

Q.—Can I grow Lucerne in a field which has been cut for hay this year? Would it be possible to take two cuts from this crop next season?

A.—Lucerne is an excellent crop to produce a large amount of green material to cut for silage or hay. For the crop to succeed, the ground must be very clean, free from perennial weeds and remains of old grass. This could be achieved by using a suitable spray to kill all the old grass and weeds. Lucerne establishes best after a bare fallow during the summer months. provided the pH or lime status of the soil is high. I would suggest that you grow a good cleaning crop such as early potatoes before sowing Lucerne. Unless you think that you can provide the necessary clean conditions and high lime soil for the Lucerne crop you would be well advised to plough and direct seed, as soon as possible, with a good grass and clover mixture. With adequate fertilizer this grass will give you plenty of green material for grazing, silage or hay next season.

Q.—This year I could not use my white turnips as they were brown and hard in the centre when cut open. They looked quite sound on the outside. Could you please tell me what was wrong with them? The garden was well limed last year and I used dung and potato manure.

A.—Your turnips suffered from Hestri Rot caused by a deficiency of Boron in the soil. This trouble often arises on naturally limy soils or following a heavy liming and many vegetables such as sweetcurns, turnips, beetroot, celeri and cabbage type crops are subject to it. It may be prevented by applying about 20 lb. Borax per statute acre or 1 oz. to 15 square yards, before sowing the crop. The most convenient method of applying this very small quantity evenly is to use a compound fertilizer containing boron. For sweetcurns and turnips boronated 47.14 compound used at about 8 oz. per statute acre or 3 oz. per square yard is very suitable.

Q.—Would you advise early weaning of bonhams, that is at about 10 days old? I had hoped to get five liters born in 2 years.

A.—I certainly think for best results it is wiser to allow the sow to rear the bonhams up to seven or eight weeks. This is certainly in evidence where early weanings has been tried. A few pig breeders may have had satisfactory results but the old system still works well. The bonhams fed on the sow, provided she gets sufficient suitable food, will prove more healthy and thrive after weaning. Quite often there is difficulty in getting the sow in pig again, after early weaning and so you lose the time you are endeavouring to save.

TO-DATE the senior football championship has been literally strewn with shock results. No later than Sunday last at the Fraher Field, John Mitchels and Mount Sion, regarded as near certainties to overcome Ardmore and Dungarvan respectively were forced to bite the dust. And now the football spotlight beams brightly on the Dungarvan venue again this coming

Of the two the game that has greatest appeal is the meeting of Kill and Valley Rovers. This could well be a football spectacle par excellence between sides that not too quietly fancy their championship chances.

The Rovers have thus far proved themselves the mighty giant killers. In this their first year in senior ranks the Derriaur men were pitted against reigning titleholders Brickey Rangers in the opening round. Few outside the Valley Camp gave them even a remote chance of toppling the Brickeys, but giving a vintage display of quality football they coasted to a most impressive victory. Three clear goals they had to spare at the end and are petition on Sunday must leave them with a great chance of advancing to the semi-final.

SHEET ANCHOR

The sheet anchor of the side is undoubtedly their half-back line of Jimmy Hewitt, Mick Connolly and Bill Acheson, which is without peer in the county at present. This trio in particular, will be expected to bear the brunt of Kill's attacks on Sunday, and the issue could well depend on the outcome of their duels with their opposite numbers. Nearer goal the veteran Johnny Walsh is playing as well as ever, whilst goalkeeper Bobbie Hewitt, has been performing without blemish between the posts.

At midfield the Valleys have a towering partnership in Pat Cleary and Kieran Ryan. Cleary's advent has made a world of difference to the team and it will take all the brilliance of Martin Kennedy if the rampaging Valley pair are to be reasonably subdued.

Against the Brickeys their attack, after an inconspicuous start, found their form and some of their scores were masterly efforts. Oliver Nugent and Sean Cleary are the key men in the half-line and Liam Bradshaw and Eddie Hewitt will take a deal of watching in the full line.

And what of Kill? Personally, I do not rate them as good a side as two years ago, but now that Mitchels and Brickeys are out of this championship they are the fancied ones in many eyes to regain the title.

The personnel of their side has changed but little over the past two years and their vast championship experience is bound to stand them in good stead. This year they have decided that full-forward is Noel Power's best position, and should the former midfield star play as well as he did against Stradbally in the opening round on the fringe of the square, then Johnny Walsh can be prepared for an arduous hour.

Kill mentors also hope that

Achill Lannon who missed the Stradbally game because of injury, will be fit to resume, and his presence would add considerably to the all round strength of the defence. Up front Monty Guiry should have a rare personal duel with Mick Connolly, the outcome of which should also have a vital bearing on the issue.

Whatever line of thought one takes it can be readily appreciated how difficult a tie it is to give an outright forecast on. Kill's greater experience plus a more all round distribution of good material makes them favourites and may just about shade what should be a thrilling battle. Then again, one cannot forget the Valleys display against the Brickeys, and if they repeat that form they could well continue on their successful championship march. Certainly it all adds up to an intriguing encounter that should not be missed.

KILROSSANTY FANCIED

The second game at the Old Boro' venue brings Kilrossanty and Emmetts into opposition for the right to meet Kill or Valley Rovers in the semi-final. Normally a championship encounter between these clubs would be regarded as nothing more than a formality for the Comeragh men and whilst they are given the vote again on Sunday, the issue is far from being a cut and dried one.

For quite frankly the present Kilrossanty standard bearers are not on a par with past club combinations and their displays of late have been giving justifiable cause for concern. In their first round championship game against Gaultier they laboured to an unconvincing victory, that should never have been had Gaultier possessed even one worthwhile forward. Then in the Phean Cup semi-final against Ardmore they struck rock bottom and failed to qualify for the decider against parish rivals John Mitchels.

I have heard whispers of some trouble at the selectoral end of the camp which could not possibly do the side any good and for the sake of this great club one hopes that if such trouble does exist it will be cleared by all round common sense.

I have been assured however, that it is a different Kilrossanty that will do duty on Sunday. They have, I am told awakened to their shortcomings and it is expected that a spell of intensive training will have sharpened them for the occasion.

They are adequately served as far as midfield, but their attack has not measured up to standard. It is difficult to understand how the Kilmac-based Garda, M. Cronin can't command a berth in an attack which is so very obviously carrying passengers and I expect to see him included on Sunday.

Emmetts did well in beating Ring without some of their regulars and are confident of causing another upset at the Comeragh men's expense. They have some fine footballers in Paddy Walsh, Colum Eannon, Jack Kiely, Jim Cliffe and the Tobins but it is not their advantage that they must field without Christy Dower and Jim Ahearne both of whom are presently under suspension.

Be that as it may I expect Emmetts to put up a sterling performance and whilst not ruling out their chances of victory, the vote must be given to the tradition steeped Kilrossanty men.

Sunday, with a two-game programme that could well give yet another upheaval to the form book. Kill, it is true are the general fancy to overcome Valley Rovers, just as Kilrossanty can hardly be opposed against Emmetts, but following the unexpected happenings of Sunday last both would want to tread warily if they hope to justify their favouritism.

GAELIC TOTTINGS

BALLYDUFF QUALIFY FOR WESTERN FINAL

In a hard fought but somewhat disappointing game Ballyduff qualified for yet another Western final when scoring a five point victory over Geraldines in the Intermediate hurling championship at Cappoquin on Sunday last. By Intermediate standards in fact the hurling was below par, and this game which was expected to provide a feast of thrills seldom reached any great heights. True the issue could just as easily have gone the other way, but the closeness of the exchanges apart the game as a spectacle had little to offer.

Over the hour, however, Ballyduff just about deserved to prevail. They had the more penetrative set of forwards who notched the vital scores at crucial periods.

Geraldines, on the other hand let some gilt edged opportunities go waste, whilst the utter futility of going for goals from close in frees only dawned on them too late. It was of course, a cruel blow for them that they should lose star defender Jim Hallahan through injury in the second half. Up to the time of his departure Hallahan had lorded it over all comers but the defence lost much of its solidity when he retired.

It is understandable that after the game Ballyduff should hail all their players as heroes, but in the now somewhat sober aftermath they will realise that their team's display was not flawless. However, the Reds are really on the march now and they will undoubtedly take a deal of beating in the Divisional decider.

The man behind their victory on Sunday was midfielder John O'Gorman who hurled superbly throughout. Their defence defended stoutly when Geraldines piled on the pressure and best in attack were Liam Canning and full forward Mikey Quirke.

Geraldines never seemed to get moving and loss of form by some key players did not help their cause. Jim Hallahan stood out in their ranks and others to hurl themselves to a standstill were Bunny Ronayne, Stylo Rioridan, Johnny Grady and Jim Kiely.

LISMORE JUNIOR HURLERS MARCH ON

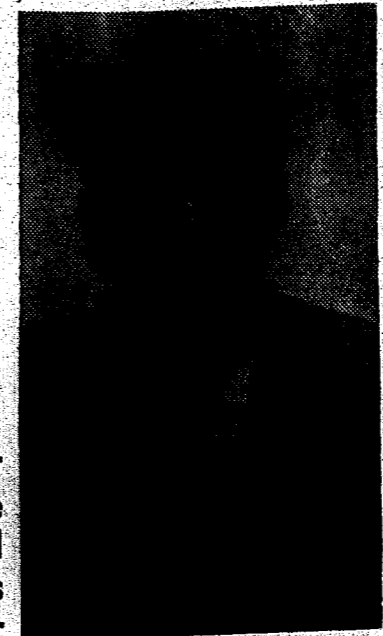

Lismore advanced to the semi-final of the Western junior hurling championship by defeating Shamrocks second string 4-6 to 1-4 at Lismore on Sunday. This was yet another stellar performance by the Cathedral town side, who must strongly fancy their own chances of emerging from the West.

For half an hour Shamrocks were in this game with a real chance, and Lismore only led by 0-4 to 0-3 at the interval. There was no doubting the winners' superiority on the change-over however, and inspired by a brilliant Tommy Hickey, they surged to a most impressive victory.

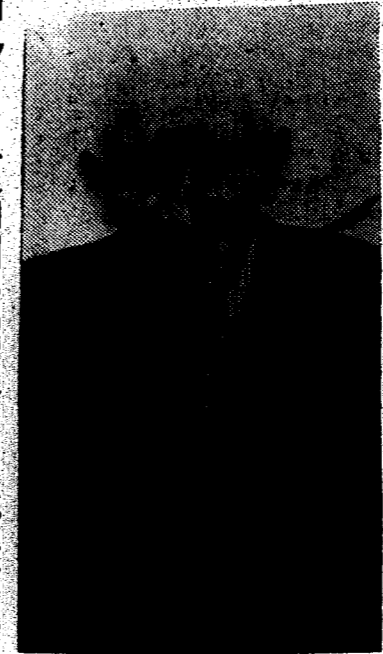

All round this was a good Lismore side that had top class performers in many sectors. The attack in particular moved well in the second half despite being without goal snatcher Dick Canning who is presently out with an injured hand.

Their man of the match was undoubtedly Tommy Hickey who gave a really magnificent exhibition of hurling and others to star were the
