Patient Says Guts Were Served With Fish ALLEGATION DENIED BY HOSPITAL R.M.S.

THERE was a somewhat stormy meeting of Waterford Health Authority on Monday last when the alleged serving of fish with guts to a patient in Ardkeen was fully discussed. Present at the meeting were Dr. F. L. Corrigan, R.M.S., Ardkeen, and Miss E. Brennock, Matron of the hospital, whilst during the discussion, Mr. T. Lannon, who first raised the matter, introduced the patient who alleged the guts had been served.

At one stage the discussion became very heated and Mr. John Griffin said that the man who made the allegation was being intimidated and brow-beaten and treated without courtesy.

The Anon. (Mr. J. A. Griffin) at the outset said he had received the following anonymous letter: "Dear Sir, I wish to withdraw the complaint I made a few months ago to Mr. T. Lannon, a member of the Board of Health, that I was served with fish with the guts in them in Ardkeen. I have so informed Mr. Lannon. Signed, 'Ex-patient,' Ardkeen."

Mr. E. Brennock said this was to prove that the thing never happened in the first place.

Mr. Milo Galgey said Mr. Lannon was quite right in what he did. The complaint was made to him.

Mr. T. Gallagher said it was he who proposed at the last meeting that the patient be brought before the meeting. He proposed that to clear the air.

Mr. F. Browne said it would be just as well if they did not discuss the matter further in view of the statement already made. They hoped it would now get the same publicity as the original complaint had got. He had experience where a patient was supposed to have been put in a coffin when he was not dead at all and they could get his witness. Mr. C. Curran said that Mr. Lannon acted in good faith. Mr. Lannon then left the meeting and returned some minutes later with the patient who made the allegation.

The patient, addressing the meeting said "I got guts in the fish, I saw them in it. That is all I have to say."

The Chairman (Mr. Walsh) said a letter had been received by them during the week denying the allegation. He asked the patient had he any knowledge of that letter. Referring to Dr. Corrigan, the patient said he did not complain to any member of the hospital staff, but he did not eat it. He was standing over his statement. He did not complain because had had "French Leave" often.

Dr. Corrigan—There have been no complaints in the hospital from you or anyone else. There was a complaint made by a member of the nursing staff and they were shown to be the roes of the fish. Could you be certain what you saw were not roes?

Mr. W. Foran said the Health Authority had received an anonymous letter. Did this man deny he wrote it?

The Chairman said this was a very serious matter where two hospitals were concerned. Rarely if ever do their Visiting Committees get complaints. The Health Authority had received an anonymous letter during the week and he wanted to know if the patient in question knew anything about it.

Mr. T. Lannon said the guts could be quite easily left inside.

Dr. Corrigan said they were gutted for them and he considered it a very expert business.

MR. NORMAN WALSH

STORMY SESSION AT ELECTION OF CHAIRMAN

'Vicious Political Act'

Verbal exchanges between members marked the election of Mr. P. Browne (F.F.) as the new Chairman of Waterford Health Authority on Monday last. He succeeds the late Alderman William Kenneally (F.F.) and he was elected following a draw from a hat after he and Mr. N. Walsh (F.G.), the Vice-Chairman had received eight votes each. One member, Mr. William Foran said he was shocked beyond words to hear of a proposal to oppose Mr. Walsh, which was the most vicious act a Political Party could use.

Proposing Mr. Browne at the outset, Mr. James Power said the Mayor of Waterford would make a good chairman. Mr. E. Browne seconded.

Mr. Foran, proposing Mr. N. Walsh, said: "No words of mine could paint a picture of Mr. Walsh's calibre. I am shocked beyond words to hear of a proposal to oppose him as Chairman of this Health Authority. No words can describe how low I feel that the present Vice-Chairman should have been proposed for the few party months that remain before the next local elections next June. It is a shocking and disgraceful attitude by Public people that are not responsible to represent any Health Authority."

Mr. J. Power: I am asking him to withdraw that statement. I am a fit and responsible person, probably fitter than he is.

Mr. Foran went on: "It is a great shock to me that the chairmanship is being contested. Surely, during the term of our late Chairman, he would have been against any opposition to Mr. N. Walsh for so short a period. This is the most vicious act that a political party could use."

Mr. Walsh said he would prefer if politics were left out of it.

Mr. Foran: We are showing disrespect to our late Chairman. In Mr. Walsh we have a man that is respected irrespective of party, creed or class. He has carried out his duties whilst in the chair without fear or favour and we should elect him as our chairman.

Mr. D. F. Madden seconded Mr. Walsh for the chair.

Mr. E. Browne said he resented Mr. Foran's remarks about them being irresponsible. He believed that by electing the Mayor they would be respecting their late chairman.

Mr. Charles Curran then proposed Mr. John Fahey (F.F.) and Mr. P. Cahill seconded.

Mr. Fahey said he was very grateful to his proposer and seconded, but he was not going forward. He had no intention of opposing either Mr. Walsh or Mr. Browne, both of whom would make an excellent chairman for the Bertram Mills Circus, chairman. He did not think Booking at Casey's. DOG RESCUED FROM MINE SHAFT

An old disused mine shaft at Knocktree, Ballymacarby, was the scene of a dramatic rescue of a cockle dog by a number of gallant young men from the Ballymacarby area, last week.

Mr. Paddy Ormoye, Benettchurch, who resides within a short distance of the old mine, heard the wailing cry of the dog and on investigation discovered that the animal was down the shaft. He reported the matter to Guard Doolin and a rescue party.

The hero of the party was recovered.

WEST WATERFORD NOTES

DEATH OF MISS M. J. RUSSELL, CLASHMORE

We regret to announce the death of Miss Margaret J. Russell, Clashmore. Deceased was a member of one of the best known families in the area and was a popular and respected figure, noted for her many amiable characteristics. Despite the fact that she spent the greater part of her life in England, she had a great love for her native land and took an immense pride in its achievements. On numerous occasions she used her trenchant pen to rebut criticisms of the Irish way of life.

On her retirement from business a few years ago she threw herself heartily into efforts to better her native district and she became President and later Hon. Secretary of the local I.C.A. Guild.

Her death has occasioned deep regret and widespread sympathy is extended to her bereaved brother, sisters, nephews and other relatives.

RETURNED TO U.S.A.

Having spent an enjoyable holiday in her native Clashmore, Miss Bridie O'Connell returned to Chicago on Sunday last. During her stay here, Miss O'Connell, who is very popular in her native area, toured the entire country accompanied by her fiancé, who is a native of Claremorris, and is at present serving with the U.S. Forces in Germany. She flew out from Shannon and was seen off by her parents, brothers, sister and numerous friends.

WREN BOYS' COMPETITION?

One of the big events of the year in this area is the annual St. Stephen's Day joint meet of the West Waterford and Dungarvan Harriers at Clashmore. The meet is always patronised by big numbers of Wren Boys who add to the gaiety of the occasion. It has been suggested that this year a Wren Boys' competition should be held. This is prompted by the very successful competition recently held at Listowel.

TIDY TOWNS

Villierstown will be a competitor next year. There are also some prospects that Clashmore will compete.

ARMORE HOUSES

The County Engineer has written to Mr. C. Curran, M.C.C., as follows:—Re: Water and Sewerage, Council Houses, Armore—

I refer to your letter in connection with above. The position is that all the tenants of the non-municipal houses at Duffcarrick have applied to have water installed and have indicated that they propose to avail of the Departments grants to do the work themselves. In most cases, the grant has already been allocated and the tenants should be in a position to go ahead immediately. I take it that in the cases where the grants have not yet been allocated, it is only a matter of time before they will be allocated.

POPULAR CLASHMORE STUDENT

Miss C. O'Rourke, Clashmore, who was successful in this year's Leaving Certificate Examination, is very popular in this area. She has been a student of Youghal Presentation Convent School.

DEATH OF SERGT. O'LEARY

The death occurred recently of Sgt. James O'Leary, G.S., Kilkelly, Co. Mayo, deceased, who served for a number of years at Clashmore, was a native of Cahir, Bantry. His wife (nee Cunningham) is a member of a well known Clashmore family and to her and their bereaved family, deep sympathy is extended. The funeral took place from St. Joseph's Church, Mayfield, Cork, to Rathcooney Cemetery.

TRIBUTES TO POPULAR PRIEST

The people of Clashmore joined this week to pay striking tributes to Rev. M. J. Russell, C.C., whose transfer is deeply regretted by all. On all sides one hears unstinted praise of Fr. Russell's many outstanding qualities: his devoted attention to the poor, the sick and the infirm; his special interest in the youth, and his unbounded charity and sincere goodwill towards all.

The people of Clashmore will forever treasure happy memories of a great priest and sincere friend, and they join in wishing him long life and happiness in the sacred calling.

Speaking at Mass on Sunday last, Fr. Russell bid good-bye to the people of Clashmore and thanked them for their kindness to him. He praised them for their loyalty to the Faith and their devotion to the Blessed Sacrament and to the Holy Rosary.

NEW REGIONAL MANAGER

A new Regional Manager has been appointed to the South Eastern Regional Tourist Organisation. He is Arthur Cusack, Raheny, Dublin, who is the present Secretary of A.C.E.C. Enterprises Ltd.

Late Mrs. Bridget Downey

Congress Villas, Dungarvan. It is with deep regret we record the death of Mrs. Bridget Downey, which sad event occurred at her residence on Saturday, October 3rd, after a prolonged and protracted illness, and at a comparatively early age. She was a native of Youghal and wife of Jack Downey, very well known Dungarvan personality and an employee of Messrs. A. McInerney & Sons. The deceased was a most charming lady and was of a gentle and retiring disposition, and a deeply religious person.

We express our very sincere sympathy to her husband, family and relatives on their irreparable loss.

The removal of her remains took place on Sunday evening, 20th October, 1964, followed by a huge and most representative cortege, which consisted of all sections of the community. Rev. D. O'Byrne, C.C., blessed and received the coffin.

Requiem Mass was celebrated on Monday morning for the intentions of her gentle soul, and subsequently, the funeral took place to North Abbey Cemetery, Youghal, where the interment took place in the family plot. Very Rev. Canon Sheehan, P.P., Youghal, officiated at the graveside. Another very large concourse were present, and some beautiful floral wreaths were placed on the grave.

Large sheaves of Mass cards, telegrams and letters of sympathy were received by her husband, family and relatives.

The chief mourners were: Jack Downey, Congress Villas (husband); Seamus, Tony, Michael and Thomas, London (sons); Mrs. Helen Healy, Congress Villas, Mrs. Ann Convey, Australia (daughters); Mrs. H. Gleeson, Youghal (mother); Mrs. M. Convey, London, Mrs. J. Doyle, U.S.A., Miss Mary Margaret McCarthy, Canada (sisters); John and Michael Convey, Australia (grandchildren).

(American and Canadian papers please copy).

Funeral arrangements were by James Kiely & Sons, Shannon, Dungarvan.

Late Mrs. Margaret Burke

Ballyvolke, Dungarvan. The death occurred on Tuesday, September 29th, at Ardkeen General Hospital, after a period of protracted illness, but at the allotted span, of Mrs. Margaret Burke, Ballyvolke, Dungarvan. She was a very well known personality in her native parish and was the possessor of many outstanding qualities, which won for her very many true friends. She was a true Irish wife and mother and she left a family who are an example of the best Catholic guidance one could get.

We extend our deepest sympathy to her family, and relatives at this sad time. May she rest in peace.

Major Surgery to Late Patk. Keane Continue in Dungarvan

Waterford Health Authority will strongly recommend to the Minister for Health that the Surgery Department attached to Dungarvan hospital remain in operation. At last Monday's meeting, a letter was read from the Minister stating that it was considered in the best interest of the patients that all major surgery work be done in Ardkeen. It was suggested that the Health Authority consider discontinuance of major surgery in Dungarvan.

Mr. Thomas Lannon said they had their own town in which there was a lot of industry. To close down Dungarvan for surgery could mean loss of life to West Waterford patients who might be dead before they reached Ardkeen. The people were paying dearly for the Health services and they were entitled to get them.

Replying to Mr. Lannon, The Secretary (Mr. J. A. Hynes) said it was costing £1,200 a year in Dungarvan. They were performing roughly two a week.

Mr. Lannon—And they want to run that out of town. I propose Dungarvan hospital retain its surgery department.

Mr. Norman Walsh said he supported Mr. Lannon. If the surgery department was removed it would virtually mean the closing down of the hospital and they could not stand for that. The far West of the county was fifty miles from Waterford City and major operations could be done by the eminent surgeon that was attached to the Dungarvan hospital. They could not tolerate having it removed to Ardkeen.

Mr. W. Dower said they had an excellent surgeon and staff in Dungarvan and they were capable of the biggest surgery. Patients could be dead before they reached Waterford.

Mr. Lannon—We can't fiddle around with people's health by trying to economise in the

Ballygully, Dungarvan
We regret to record the death of Patrick Keane, which sad event took place on Friday night, October 2nd, at St. Joseph's Hospital, Dungarvan, after a period of protracted illness, but at the fullness of years. He was a most industrious member of the farming community up to the time of his illness. He was a popular personality and his gentle and unassuming disposition made him a friend of rich and poor alike. The deceased was a founder playing member of the Brickey Rangers Club, and he continued to keep a keen interest in G.A.A. affairs.

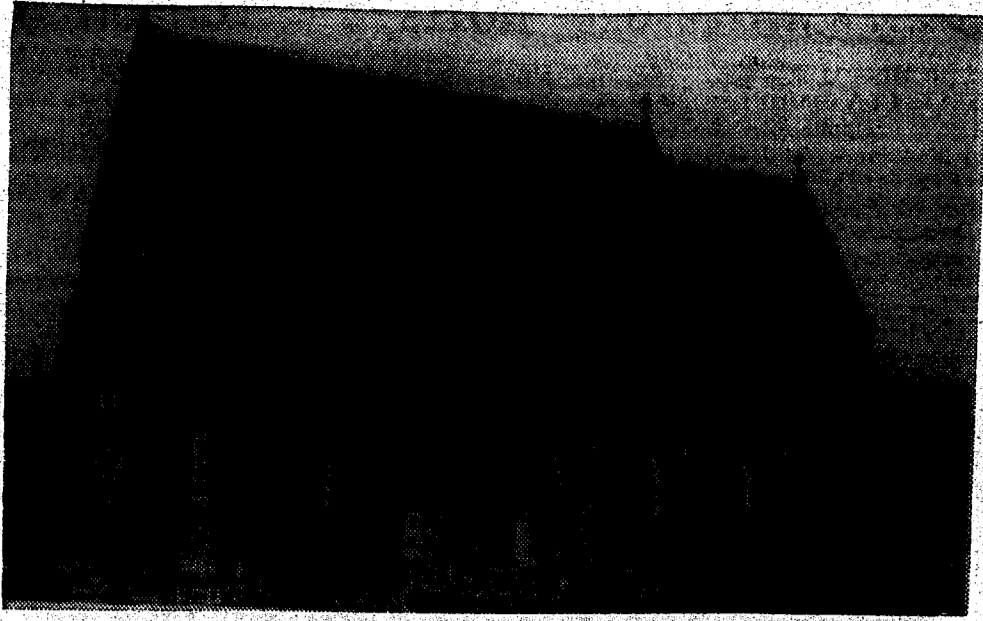

Our deepest sympathy is extended to his family and other relatives.

The removal of the remains took place on Saturday evening at Mountstuart Church, followed by a very large cortege, and the coffin was blessed and received by Rev. E. Tobin, C.C. Requiem Masses were celebrated in the churches of the parish on Sunday morning, for the eternal repose of his soul and the interment took place immediately after 9.30 Mass at Mountstuart in the adjoining Cemetery. Another large concourse of relatives, neighbours and friends were present to sympathise with his nearest and dearest. Rev. E. Tobin, C.C., officiated at the graveside.

Large sheaves of Mass cards were received by his family. The chief mourners were: Patrick J. Keane, Ballygully, John Keane, England (sons); Mrs. Nora Barry, Ballintaylor, Mrs. Sheila Dunne, Mountstuart, Miss Joan Keane, Ballygully (daughters).

(Funeral arrangements were by James Kieley and Sons, Dungarvan.)

Dungarvan Are Champions

Thrilling one point victory at third attempt

DUNGARVAN 3-1; ABBEYSIDE 1-6

ONE of the greatest minor hurling marathons in Hurling championship history ended in glorious and thoroughly deserved triumph for Dungarvan at the Fraher Field on Sunday last. At the third attempt they ousted their Village rivals Abbeyside by the minimum of margins and were crowned Western champions after an hour that even surpassed the thrills and drama of their two unforgettable drawn ties. It was a decider in which fortunes fluctuated to a nerve-racking degree, a game in fact which posterity will surely forever accord a cherished place whenever the hurling highlights of 1964 are reminisced.

This was truly a final that had everything. It was closely fought, with possessions from both sides cut to the bare minimum. The razor keen rivalry that exists between them added further to the spectacle, but above all it was the quality of the hurling—and this, I stress, that made it such an enchanting hour. And just how great an extent public imagination was captured by these talented minors was well and truly reflected in the record attendance that filled through the turnstiles. And believe me, they were amply rewarded, by as suspense-filled a final as one could wish to see.

It is almost incredible that only a solitary point should separate these rivals after three such enthralling hours. But that is an accurate indication of how evenly matched they were, and it was something of a tragedy in fact that there had to be a loser at all.

TOUGH
The exchanges were tough and uncompromising, and on a few occasions this local derby threatened to boil over. But fortunately it never came to that, although fervent dedication ensured that there was to be no let up even for the briefest moments. Each and every player played himself to a veritable stupor in this thrill packed decider, and to victors and vanquished go the heartfelt thanks of all who luckily opted for the Dungarvan venue on Sunday last.

As already stated, it is regrettable that either side should have had to lose, but with equal conviction I state that Dungarvan fully merited their hard won laurels on Sunday. They triumphed by sheer hurling ability, and made light of the fact that they conceded height, weight and years to their opponents. They led from the 13th minute when full-forward Sean Flynn crashed home their first goal, and although their lead was threatened many times thereafter, they clung tenaciously to it right through a pulsating second moiety.

MET WITH ADVERSITY
And throughout that hour they met with repeated adversity that would have dampened the spirit and enthusiasm of many another side. I have particularly in mind the second half injury that forced a brilliant Sean Daly to retire, and minutes later "Foggy" Walsh was hampered greatly by a leg injury that obviously impaired his mobility. To add further to their troubles, a highly questionable decision by referee Eddie Cunningham resulted in Abbeyside securing their only goal, a score that threw the whole issue wide open again.

gained a lead they never relinquished with a goal by Peter Hayes. A scorching drive by Johnny Reilly was only parried by Village keeper Jimmy Needham and Hayes was on hand to tap the ball to the net.

Within two minutes of the restart Enright pointed an Abbeyside free and nine minutes later he repeated the dose. Then in the 16th minute came the third and decisive Dungarvan goal scored by Johnny Reilly and the Blues were a clear four points to the good.

ABBESIDE FIGHT BACK
But tradition dies hard in the village and they accepted the mighty challenge for its true worth. In the 20th minute Donnelly had to call on all his goalkeeping skills to avert a major score, and as he soved clear with the ball was well and truly fouled. But to the surprise of more than a few, the free was awarded to Abbeyside and from the melee that followed Enright's effort the ball was forced to the net. But for the ten minutes that remained neither side conceded further scores. But the thrills continued and as the Villagers laid siege to the winners goals, Donnelly drew gasps of admiration with his fantastic goalkeeping.

CAME WITHIN INCHES OF A DRAW
But in defeat the Villagers proved to all and sundry that they are also made "of the right stuff." At the interval they trailed by three points, after having enjoyed the advantages of a great start and in that memorable second half came literally within inches of another draw.

To the writer it is a near impossibility to adequately describe the ever-increasing drama of the closing stages. Ten minutes remained and Abbeyside's lone goal of the game left only a point between them. To use a racing parlance the whites were out in no uncertain fashion, and the stage quite obviously was set for a fitting climax, and the followed attack, both goals had relieving escapes in the face of severe pressure and Michael Donnelly, between the Dungarvan posts was proving a frustrating barrier to Abbeyside as they sought the equalising point. Mere seconds remained as the Villagers launched their last desperate onslaught. Michael Morrissey unmarked near goal lost a golden opportunity through seconds of hesitancy and the ball was swept farther outfield. Pat Enright gained possession despite the challenge of three opponents but from almost sixty yards his drive sailed narrowly wide of the uprights. Almost from the puck-out came the final whistle and the Blues were champions after a hurling hour supreme.

THE SCORING
And now the story of the scoring. Dungarvan had first use of the breeze but it was the Villagers who enjoyed the early territorial advantage. They surprisingly started with Pat Enright in attack and in the fifth minute it was he who edged them into the lead with a point. Three minutes later Enright pointed a free and almost immediately only the brilliance of Donnelly prevented the Dungarvan net from falling. In the 9th minute, Sean Franklin from a free had the winners only point of the game and in the 13th they took the lead for the first time when Sean Flynn slammed home a goal. Again the Villagers hit back and Val Curran had a really superb point within a minute and a like score by Enright from a free put the sides level for the first time. But three minutes before the break Dungarvan received him shouter high from the pitch at the end of the game. In the full-line of defence, Foggy Walsh had the game of his life, overshadowing both Johnny Egan and Sean Murphy, both of whom however, left nothing to be desired. Until the time of his injury which forced him to retire Sean Daly had been playing masterfully at right half back. Timmy Healy held the middle of the line well, and Michael Norris on the other flank looked every inch the polished and complete defender.

The midfield pairing of Sean McGrath and Michael Tobin had the better of matters over the hour. McGrath linking his hurling tough, outplayed several opponents and Michael Tobin held his own with danger man Pat Enright. That in itself is a mighty compliment to the Dungarvan lad.

FLEMING BEST
There were few loop-holes in that Abbeyside defence, yet the unceasing Old Boro forwards worked through for three vital goals. Top man in the sector was undoubtedly Kevin Fleming as he roamed all over the field to good effect. He was meted out robust treatment at times but shrugged it off without thought and ended high up on the role of honour.

Sean Franklin on the forty to the tee and the determination he imbued into every one of them was a decisive factor in their victory. Undoubtedly every blue-shirted player will be hailed as a hero but before paying tribute to the players who etched out this victory one cannot forget the invaluable contribution by their trainer and adviser, Rev. Bro. O'Looney. He had them trained to the tee and the determination he imbued into every one of them was a decisive factor in their victory.

GOALKEEPER STARS
Dungarvan supporters could well pride any one of five or six players for the honour of men of the match. But to the writer at any rate none is more deserving of that honour than goalkeeper Michael Donnelly. His was a super display of net minding, defying on several occasions Abbeyside goal-scoring attempts with saves that were out of the top drawer. One in particular from Pat Enright late in the second half had to be seen to be fully appreciated, and so well might followers have carried him shoulder high from the pitch at the end of the game.

PLAYED A PROUD PART
What of Abbeyside? Even in defeat they earned quite a share of glory and played a proud part in making this a minor year to be remembered. Their defence as a whole played well and can hardly be burdened with any blame for defeat. Centre-back Joe Power gave a great display and was well assisted by Bernard Shields, Liam Waters and Anthony Duggan.

They surprising omitted Pat Enright from midfield but he was soon operating there in an effort to break the Dungarvan stranglehold. As expected he was their big man although not nearly to the same extent as in the previous two games. John "Ruby" Mahony, when placed at centre-forward was often a threat, but of the others only Val Curran and Jimmy O'Dea succeeded in proving dangerous.

Dungarvan's star goalkeeper, making one of his many brilliant saves.

EARLY POTATO GROWERS...

THIS IS THE SEED YOU NEED

Get the biggest possible return from your potato crop next year — use fluorescent lighting to control the sprouting of your seed. This ensures:

- * Earlier and heavier yields of early potatoes
- * Up to 2 tons per acre MORE in main crop varieties
- * More flexibility in planting-out time
- * Reduced losses from early potato blight
- * A more uniform crop with fewer misses
- * Better operation in mechanical planters

Fluorescent lighting provides the PROVEN answer to the problem of correct potato sprouting.

Fluorescent lighting fittings are hung in the alleys between stacked sprouting boxes and are switched on for twelve hours a day. Any farm building which can be made frost proof may be used. One fitting is sufficient for the controlled sprouting of a ton of seed potatoes. Purchase price is £10 and running costs are low—certainly no more than 7s. 6d. per ton.

N.F.A. NEWS SUCCESSION BILL — GOOD AND BAD

The reforms aimed at in the Succession Bill on the present law relating to wills, executors and administrators, distribution on intestacy, etc., were favourably commented upon by delegates from all over the country at a special meeting of the N.F.A. National last week. The general opinion in relation to Part VI, for example, which introduces new rules for distribution on intestacy was that the new provisions had much to recommend them. Section 37 was also regarded as a progressive move on the part of our legislators. It provides a new scheme for obtaining grants of representation (taking our administration or obtaining probit of will) cheaply through the County Registrar for small estates up to £2,000 in value. For the purpose of this scheme, the value of agricultural land comprised in the estate of a deceased person will be calculated at twenty-five times the rateable valuation. It is expected that grants of representation may henceforth be obtained through the County Registrar much more more quickly than they can at present be obtained. The Oireachtas Committee is to recommend to the Minister that the upper limit should be raised to £5,000. Following the Council Meeting a press release was issued stating that many sections of the Bill were excellent but that the Council was convinced that the stability of Irish agriculture depends on the right of a farmer to dispose of his own property by will or otherwise, within the family circle in the light of his special knowledge of the particular circumstances and requirements of his own family and farm. Parts IX and X of the Succession Bill do not conform to this view. In the opinion of the National Council these sections must therefore be deleted. Part IX appears to raise at least as many new problems as it purports to solve. The effect of it is to restrict the right of a testator to dispose of his property by will in the manner he himself considers most appropriate. His will could be set aside if it did not conform to the provisions of the Bill. Under the Bill, the following arrangements would apply, irrespective of what allocation made in his will: Relatives/ Surviving Share as legal right Spouse and issue. Spouse takes one-third of estate. Issue takes one-third of estate. Spouse and no issue. Spouse takes half the estate. Issue only. Issue takes half the estate (in equal shares).

ABBEYSIDE ATTEMPT TO MAKE HURLING HISTORY

But Mt. Sion Remain Firm Favourites

DUNGARVAN CAN TAKE MINOR CROWN

SUNDAY next is hurling final day in the County, and reigning champions Mount Sion, having almost "harvested" the title during the past decade, will attempt to become champions for the 19th time in the club's illustrious history. At Dungarvan's Fraher Field they do battle with Western standard-bearers, Abbeyside, whose third final appearance this will be, but who will be bidding to annex the title for the first time.

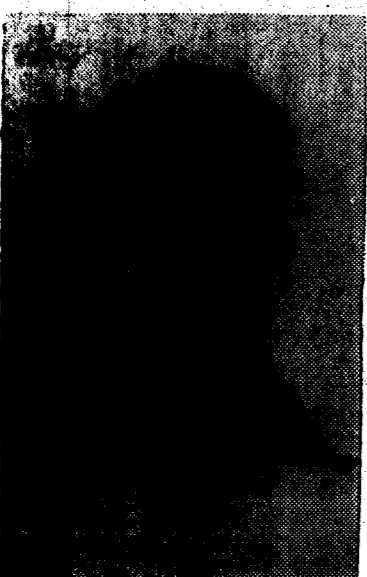

As a curtain raiser to the senior decider the Monastery's under eighteens meet the newly crowned Divisional champions, Dungarvan, in a minor final that should set quite an example for the "big guns." This undoubtedly is a game few will want to pass over and certain it is that a battle royal is in store before new champions have been hailed.

But however attractive the minor pairing may be, pride of place must undoubtedly go to the senior tie as 'Sion and the Villagers vie for the county's blue ribbon of hurling. There are many who all too readily discount Abbeyside's chances but the championship has long been the graveyard of the fancied ones and these dedicated Villagers are determined to make this a year to remember.

As a championship battler they need concede top-rating to none. On Sunday they will be firmly hoping that it will be a case of third time lucky, and coincidentally their opponents on their two previous ill-fated appearances, were Mount Sion.

'55 DECIDER

But few can ever forget that '55 decider in particular when a Village side, skippered by JOHNNY HOGAN . . . skips the Villagers in their big for their first senior title.

Noelie McGovern won everywhere except where it matters—on the scoreboard. That was a heart-breaking experience for them, as a seven-point advantage was disastrously turned into a cruel three-point deficit in a truly sensational final ten minutes. Two years later Abbeyside returned for yet another final tilt with their conquerors of '55, but this time it proved something of an anti-climax, and 'Sion almost unextended, romped to a facile 2-10 to 1-2 victory.

It is inevitable that sooner or later fortune must turn full cycle for the Villagers. The odds and current form suggest that Sunday will not be the day, but mindful of the impressive manner in which they blighted Erin's Own's hopes in the opening round, who can honestly say they are in without a chance.

TRAINED HARD

Never before has an Abbeyside team trained so hard for any game. Since disposing of the Briceys in the semi-final they have been diligently going through their paces and will not be found wanting on the score of fitness at least.

Good news is that both John McGrath and Tony Mansfield have recovered from injuries that curtailed their training sessions and will be seen in their defensive and attacking berths respectively. McGrath however, is likely to move from centre-back to the wing with Mick Kiely taking over the vital pivotal role.

At the time of writing I have been furnished with only the Village selection but the actual team will not be selected until later in the week. However mentors are expected to make few changes and the side should be along customary lines.

Likewise Mount Sion have not announced their first fifteen but we can rest assured that nothing will be left to chance. The memories of '55 still remain and having to take on the Villagers in what is practically their own den will undoubtedly make them even more cautious. They have put in several nights of preparation and their side will contain its full galaxy of stars.

PATH TO THE FINAL

Their respective paths to the final make interesting comparisons. Abbeyside—just as on Sunday next were ranked outsiders when they faced Erin's Own at Sunday's venue but their superlative display overpowered the city men and there wasn't the slightest trace of fluke about their eight-point victory. However, the Villagers failed to reproduce that form in the semi-final and it was only in the closing stages that they exerted any noticeable superiority over Brickey Rangers, and were highly flattered by their final winning margin.

Wherein, therefore, lies their real worth? Personally I am inclined to overlook that semi-final display, as quite obviously they were more than a little thrown out of gear by the Rangers crude but effective choice for a midfield position and in all probability he will be partnered by the Ballinacorney man D. Barry. This pair will be ready up against it, and an even break at least is essential in the sector. They both possess the hurling ability to match up to any formation, now they will be expected to utilise it for the entire 60 minutes.

My advice to intending Fraher Field patrons on Sunday is is to be there before 1.30 when the county minor hurling final between Mount Sion and Dungarvan will be staged. This I confidently predict will be one of the hurling highlights of the year and even if Mount Sion are strongly fancied to prevail in certain quarters, they can expect a mighty battle from the boys in blue. Hardened as it were by their three superlative games with Abbeyside in the Western final, Dungarvan could not be better prepared for a final. Even this week their appetite for hurling has not been satisfied and under the careful eye of Bro. O'Looney they have got in a few nights "work." The report from their camp reveals that all players are fully recovered from knocks received in last Sunday's tilt able task. Yet they tore wide open a much-wanted Erin's Own rearguard which is proof positive that they possess scoring forwards. However, they are unlikely to be as plentifully supplied as their counter-parts, and all chances will have to be turned to profitable account.

The return of Mansfield will in all probability mean the half-line reading Mansfield, Duck Whelan and Pat McGovern. Ned Moore will again stand on the fringe of the square flanked by team captain and championship veteran Johnny Hogan. Hogan it was that sent Erin's Own reeling from the championship with four golden goals, and followers will have their fingers crossed that similar scoring chances come his way again. If they do he is not a forward to abuse them.

The filling of the remaining corner forward berth is certain to be made only after lengthy deliberation, but it seems to rest between Jack Eisteal and Tommy Donovan. DETERMINED What of Mount Sion? Title bedeviled though they are, their urgency and determination hasn't lessened one whit. When I spoke to Pat Fanning last week he assured me there would be no over-confidence and that the Abbeyside challenge would be treated with the utmost respect.

A glance through their line-up however, reveals the real strength of the champions. In goal they have Michael Foley who has already worn the county jersey and a defence that contains such men as Larry Guinan, Martin O'Grady, Freddie O'Brien and Mickie Walsh must command respect. Every midfield pairing they opt for it is certain to be formidable, but as I see it the greatest onus will rest with the Abbeyside defenders who must try and blot out Phil Grimes, Seamus Power, Frankie Walsh, Mick Flannelly and company. It is imperative also that Abbeyside avoid a bad start. Early Mount Sion goals could well have disastrous repercussions and turn the entire de-decider into nothing more than a formality from an early stage. Few, including the writer, expect a Mount Sion defeat, but with precious little to lose and everything in the world to gain we can expect the underdogs to "give it everything."

IT MUST BE 'SION Yes, although the heart rules otherwise, it is impossible to predict other than a Mount Sion victory. Fore and aft they appear better equipped, and must be a strong fancy to carry off that 19th title. However, the Villagers—now that they have come so far—are not going to give up easily. They themselves fully realise that they are the outsiders and are aware that in some quarters they are not given even the remotest chance. Could there possibly be a better incentive to tear the form book to shreds? And should they do it they will be acclaimed in the four corners of the county.

A MINOR THRILLER

My advice to intending Fraher Field patrons on Sunday is to be there before 1.30 when the county minor hurling final between Mount Sion and Dungarvan will be staged. This I confidently predict will be one of the hurling highlights of the year and even if Mount Sion are strongly fancied to prevail in certain quarters, they can expect a mighty battle from the boys in blue.

Football Rivals Must Meet Again

AFFANE 1-6; CAPPOQUIN 0-9

THE Western Intermediate football final lived up to all expectations at Cappoquin on Sunday last when Affane and Cappoquin finished level after a really exciting hour's football.

Both could claim to have been unlucky with more than a little justification, but whilst conscious of the fact that first Cappoquin and then Affane squandered match-winning chances, the writer firmly believes that in all the circumstances a draw was the most equitable result.

For this tilt between neighbouring rivals a huge crowd converged on the Cornerstone venue, and they were certainly given their money's worth, as both strove to exert the supremacy that would give them that Divisional title. The exchanges were tough, with little time for the frills and niceties of the code, but except for an early flare-up the standard of play was of a high order. The opening half undoubtedly saw Cappoquin enjoy the better of the exchanges. Their defence clamped down on the Affane attack, where full-forward Jimmy McGrath was given precious little scope, whilst farther outfield they also enjoyed a noticeable superiority.

Abbeyside Panel for Sunday

The Abbeyside team will be selected from: John Hogan (capt.), Danny Barry, John Browne, Rogie Cashin, Tom Donovan, Pat Enright, Liam Enright, Jack Eisteal, Assin Flynn, Denis Flynn, Sean Fitzgerald, Mick Kiely, Pat Langan, John McGrath, Eddie Moore, Tony Mansfield, Joe Power, Pat McGovern, Bernard Shields, Donal Whelan, Peadar Wall.
