Council Not To Implement Consultants' Reports

THEY had paid a firm of Industrial consultants £2,500 to look into the workings of the County Council with a view to effecting economies, but the report they had now submitted contained the same plans as their Co. Engineer, Mr. Hally had suggested two years ago. So said Mr. Milo Galgey at last Monday's special meeting of Waterford County Council when after discussion it was unanimously decided not to implement the Consultants' report and discontinue their employment with the Consultants.

Mr. Galgey went on to state that the Consultants had been given a free hand to go into everything they liked but they did not do so. The Chairman (Mr. Curran) said he thought they should at least have done so.

Mr. Thomas Lannon said employing the Consultants had cost them £2,500 up to this and what was to come would cost them another £4000.

Mr. Curran said it was the people that asked to have them employed including the N.F.A. Mr. Lannon said, as he saw it, the Consultants wanted to sack men and employ more engineers. One engineer would cost £40 a week and that would keep four or five men on the road. He proposed they scrap the report.

Mr. Norman Walsh seconded. Mr. Lannon said it was time they called a halt to this kind of thing. Did they want to add further to the rates. When no amendment was forthcoming the Chairman said this meant they would not employ the consultants. He asked the Co. Engineer if he could learn anything from the reports to-date with regard to efficiency.

Mr. Lannon—Stand on the bridge and you will see what time they are going to work in the Council offices. See the hours that are being wasted by Council employees going late to work. That is not efficiency.

Deputy John Fahey asked had they been foolish enough to throw £2,500 down the drain just because of a request by the N.F.A. to employ the Consultants.

Mr. Galgey—Yes. Mr. Fahey—We should have had more sense. Should we throw money away just like that. Can we get any use from the reports they have submitted to-date. The discussion then ended.

By seven votes to six, Waterford County Council, at a special meeting on Monday last turned down a proposal to appoint an additional engineer to deal specially with Main Road grants. The appointment was to be in a whole-time capacity.

The Co. Engineer (Mr. Hally) said their Main Road grants had increased this year from £30,000 to £90,000. Supervision and design would represent a substantial increase in the volume of work and he was looking for an additional permanent engineer to look after the grants.

Replying to Mr. Lannon, Mr. Hally said that would cost £11750.

Mr. Lannon said he felt they had had enough engineers at present. Mr. Kennelly said that in view of what Mr. Hally had said he would propose it.

LATE MISS MARY J. ENGLISH

O'CONNELL ST. DUNGARVAN

It is our sad duty to chronicle the passing of Miss Mary Josephine English, which occurred on Saturday night, May 1st, after a duration of protracted illness, at St. Joseph's Hospital, Dungarvan. The deceased lady was a member of a very old Dungarvan family and her jovial and friendly manner won her many lasting friendships. She was a deeply religious person and attended daily Mass all her life. She was a sister of the late Very Rev. Thomas F. English, P.P., U.S.A.

The greatest condolence is extended to her sisters, nephews and nieces on this sad occasion. The removal of her remains took place on Sunday evening to St. Mary's Parish Church, followed by a cortege of great proportions and her coffin was blessed and received by Rev. D. O'Byrne, C.C., assisted by Rev. Fr. O'Brien, O.S.A., Dungarvan. Requiem Mass was celebrated on Monday morning for the repose of her gentle soul and the interment took place later in the day in the adjoining family plot. Rev. D. O'Byrne, C.C., officiated at the graveside, assisted by Rev. R. O'Shaughnessy, O.S.A., Dungarvan, Rev. J. Gough, O.S.A., Nierera, and Rev. J. Murphy, C.C., Dungarvan. Another large concourse of relatives, friends and neighbours were present to pay their respects to her relatives, and to pray for the departed one.

Large sheaves of spiritual tributes were received. The chief mourners were: Mrs. Michael Whelan, St. Garvan's, Dungarvan; Mrs. Angela Crowe, O'Connell St., do.; Mrs. May Waller, England (sisters); Gerard Whelan, Killossera, Joseph Whelan, U.S.A., Desmond Crowe, Manchester, John Waller, Canada, Thomas Waller, Eireland, Richard Waller, do., Patrick Keane, England, Theodore Keane, do. SALMON FISHING

Last week there was still no noticeable improvement in catches of salmon by the various forms of netting in Youghal and surrounding district. Again a few boats had only fair catches, while the majority are still having a very lean season, which is now passing the half way mark. According to reports the same applies in the Cork, Kerry and Waterford fishery districts.

On the opening day this week there was a slight improvement when all boats had salmon, the best boat having eight. The price last week ranged from 7/6 to 8/6.

MARCH SALMON RETURNS

For the last Meeting of the Board of Conservators, Inspector E. M. Woulfe reported that for March, salmon were on the seaward side, but not very big. The total catch for the month was 3,248 salmon, weighing 30,662 lbs. of which 2,487 of 23,469 lbs. were taken by drift, drift and snags; 341 salmon of 3,134 lbs. were taken by the stake weirs and the balance of 420 salmon of 4,059 lbs. were taken by rods. The recorded catch for the previous month was 1,431 salmon of 14,387 lbs.; and the catch for March 1964, was 1,835 salmon of 17,022 lbs.

LATE MISS A. M. WEAKLIAM

Deep regret was felt at the death, which took place at a Cork hospital on Sunday last, of a well known figure in the person of Miss Anna Maria Weakliam, formerly of Ashe St. Youghal, and eldest daughter of the late Mr. Charles Weakliam, a former District Court Clerk in Youghal. In former years, Miss Weakliam was a well known soprano and took part in many concerts, and was leading lady with the local C.Y.M.S. Dramatic Society.

She is survived by her brothers, Messrs. Augustine and Jack Weakliam, to whom deep sympathy is extended.

The remains were removed to St. Mary's Parish Church, where Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated on Tuesday. The funeral, which was both large and representative, took place to North Abbey Cemetery later in the day.

LATE MR. H. J. WATSON

We regret to record the death of an advanced age of Mr. Hubert James Watson, which took place on Monday last at his residence 14 North Main Street, Youghal. Proprietor of a well established hardware business in the town, the deceased was eldest son of the late Mr. Jas. Watson, and brother of Capt. C. Watson, D.S.O., Clifton, Youghal. He is survived by his widow Mrs. Theresa Watson (nee Lee) and three sons, Dr. R. Watson and Messrs. B. and R. Watson. The remains were removed to the Parish Church.

A full report on the funeral will appear in next issue.

YOUGHAL RATE INCREASED BY 8/2d.

At the estimates meeting of the Youghal U.D. Council, presided over by the Chairman, Mr. P. J. Lincchan, and following consideration of the Co. Manager's estimate calling for a rate of 60/4 in the £ as compared with 52/- in 1964, it was decided to adopt the Manager's Estimate and required rate for 1965/66. There were two amendments, one for 59/6 and the other for 60/4. The Manager, Mr. Sean Hayes said: "Before taking a vote, I think it proper to object to the proposal of 59/6 because the figure is not sufficient to meet your requirements." The first amendment of 59/6 was defeated by five votes to four, and the second amendment defeated by seven votes to two. The Chairman declared the rate to be 60/2 for the coming year.

FULL EMPLOYMENT

There is no scarcity of employment in this area. All available workers have remunerative employment in the Youghal factories—a fact which is a great boon to all concerned.

TRACTOR ACCIDENTS IN IRELAND

Together with other forms of accidents associated with them, the overturning of tractors has proved by far the more serious of fatal agricultural accidents in Ireland according to Mr. B. E. Cunneen in an article entitled "Are Safety Cabs the Answer?" in the most recent issue of Farm Research News published by An Foras Taluntais (The Agricultural Institute).

Exact figures are not easy to find but it appears that about 5 to 8 fatal accidents have occurred each year for the last 3 years and that the number is rising. The Institute has recently imported a tested Safety Cab from Sweden to try it out under Irish conditions and to verify that Safety cabs impose little restriction on the mobility of the tractor or on the scope of the driver.

The results of surveys carried out in Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Britain have classed principal causes of accidents as ignorance of the hazards involved and carelessness. Accident Prevention Programmes have been evolved which are aimed at these two factors and education in the hazards of tractor use and in the disastrous consequences of carelessness has been started but Mr. Cunneen pointed out that safety devices which have been manufactured to prevent accidents have been unsatisfactory. Various "preventive-type" devices have been tested at various testing institutes and evaluated by An Foras Taluntais, but there is general agreement that they are out of touch with reality. The alternative approach is the safety cab first developed in Sweden. Since 1959 all new tractors sold in that country must be fitted with a tested safety cab.

Farm Research News also contains an account of a new technique of applying powdered calcined magnesite to pastures before grazing which has given excellent results in the prevention of stress tetany in the Institute trials and in trials carried out in Northern Ireland. The effect of the dusting will last about 3 weeks and is not affected by rainfall.

A further news item from the Horticulture Division shows that growing cucumbers by the cordon instead of the traditional method increased yields and gross returns and reduces labour by 22%. Growing by this method gave a mean increase of 20% in yield and £274 in gross returns per house.

In an article "Soil Survey — An Important Inventory" Dr. P. Ryan examines the progress of the Institute's National Soil Survey. "With better knowledge of our soils, their nature, quality and distribution pattern, not only can we make much better use of them, but all planning involving land use is sure to be more remunerative."

The main article of this issue is devoted to a review of the economic implications of research findings on stocking rates for dairy cattle and examines the information obtained in a recent survey which showed that as stocking intensity increased from 2.8 to 1.4 acres per cow, family farm income increased 21 times. Farm income rose step by step with stocking rate and was consistent for all farm sizes.

C.E.R.T. RECRUITMENT CAMPAIGN

To-day more than ever before there are increasing opportunities for boys and girls to make a career in the hotel industry. With the continued development of tourism and the ambitious targets set for it in the Second Programme, they will enter an industry which is continually expanding.

C.E.R.T., the Council of Education, Recruitment and Training for the hotel industry, has responsibility for establishing a permanent and unified pattern of recruitment. This week sees the commencement of a national recruitment campaign for the industry which covers the length and breadth of the country.

Fifty recruitment centres have been established throughout the country. There will be an average of two to three centres in each county usually in the principal towns. Within the next four weeks two recruitment teams operating simultaneously will visit these centres according to a programme communicated in advance to the schools to select boys and girls suitable for training for the industry.

They are looking for boys and girls not less than fifteen years of age with the Intermediate or Group Certificate. Scholarships are available for selected candidates who will be placed in residential hotel schools in the autumn for training courses varying from six months to two years. At the end of their training, these boys and girls will be placed in hotels throughout the country and will be visited by technical training officers of C.E.R.T. until they are finally launched in their careers. At the same time, negotiations are in progress with the principal tourist countries of Western Europe to establish formal channels throughout which selected boys and girls can be directed to suitable centres on the Continent for further training and experience.

The key personnel in the recruitment programme are the Chief Executive Officers of Vocational Education Committees without whose co-operation and support the programme would not be possible. Centres of recruitment are normally in Vocational schools but the programme is directed at both vocational and secondary schools.

In the coming autumn there will be nine schools in the country providing hotel staff training. Of these eight will be on a residential basis and one on a non-residential basis. Training opportunities exist for over 700 boys and girls.

Mass for Old Friend

At the request of a few old friends from Abbeyside and Dungarvan, the 12 o'clock Mass on Sunday, 16th May, at Our Lady of Hal Church, Camden Town, will be celebrated for the repose of the soul of William Coleman, formerly of Dungarvan, who died recently.

CORRECTION

In last week's issue we carried a report of the monthly meeting of Co. Waterford Committee of Agriculture. Reporting on a discussion about additional Instructors, we quoted Mr. Kieran O'Ryan as saying that they lacked an adequate number of Instructors in the county.

This was incorrect as Mr. O'Ryan in fact said: "In my opinion we have enough Instructors as it is and there is no need to appoint any additional ones."

We apologise to Mr. O'Ryan for this error, and hope this correction will put matters right.

£282,000 Modeligo Water Scheme 'Scrapped' TOO COSTLY SAYS CO. COUNCIL

THE proposed mammoth Water Scheme for the Modeligo, Colligan and Kilbrien areas estimated to cost £282,000 and which was approved in principle by Waterford County Council six months ago has now been "scrapped." At last Monday's meeting of the Council the decision was unanimously taken and on the proposal of Mr. Sean Whelan seconded by Mr. Kieran O'Ryan it was decided to re-examine the question of the supply of water to these areas with a view to supplying water at the lowest possible cost by a system of well boring or by small group schemes. The Council deferred for one month a decision on the Rathgormack regional scheme estimated to cost £250,000.

Mr. Charles Curran (Chairman) said he had received a number of letters from farmers in the area stating that the envisaged scheme was far too elaborate. It was, however, a matter for the Council to decide.

Replying to questions by Mr. Norman Walsh, the County Accountant, Mr. F. J. O'Leary said stage one of the proposed Regional Scheme for Rathgormack would cost £40,000 and the over all cost of the scheme was estimated at £200,000.

Mr. J. D. Hally, Co. Engineer, said stage one of the Rathgormack scheme had been approved by the Department and had been deferred until the outcome of this meeting. No work had been carried out on it yet.

Mr. F. Roche said the Rathgormack scheme would take in quite an area and the people had been agitating for it for a long time.

Deputy T. A. Kyne said he had received over 400 forms from people in the area for the scheme.

Mr. N. Walsh said he had been told from authoritative sources that the Department would not sanction any scheme costing over £350 per house.

Mr. Richard Walsh said he believed every house in the county could be serviced with water for at least £250 a house. There was no sense in paying up to £1,000 a house for certain schemes for certain areas whilst thousands of other houses were left without water.

Mr. Thomas Lannon said eight houses just outside Dungarvan had water installed at a cost of £100.

Mr. C. Curran (Chairman) said that is a rare exception. The Co. Engineer said there was no question of any scheme costing 1,000 per house. Minor schemes on the whole had been limited as far as extension was concerned, but if it was proposed to accept these limitations then they could go ahead with these type of supplies. The reason for Regional schemes at all was to meet the overall requirements of the areas.

Mr. William Dower said that from an agricultural viewpoint it was now held that water from a bore would prove more suitable for milk cooling purposes than water from a piped regional scheme.

Mr. George Heskin said that all the Regional Schemes working on land today should be worked on the meter system. This was the fairest way of all because the people then paid for the amount of water they used. It was being used in areas with water by Regional or Minor schemes. Mr. Lannon said that surely there must be some other method whereby water could be given more cheaply than at a rate of £300 per house.

Mr. Kieran O'Ryan said Mr. Heskin's remarks that only those with water were objecting to the schemes were inaccurate. It took a long time to convince some members of this Council that the proposed Modeligo scheme was outrageous and ridiculous and out of all proportion. It had been proved, he said, that water could be given to the people of this area much cheaper than was at first stated. He challenged some members at being inconsistent and addressing the Chairman, Mr. Curran, he said: "You, too, Mr. Chairman, have been inconsistent here."

Mr. Curran: Thanks for the compliment. Your attitude here Mr. O'Ryan in the past few months has been to sling mud, right, left and centre at every member and particularly to wards the Chair. You are a genius at personalities.

Mr. O'Ryan: Your attitude during the recent General Election was not so good either, Mr. Chairman.

At this stage Mr. Hally (Co. Engineer) said Minor schemes would be quite suitable where water was required only for domestic purposes, but when required for agricultural purposes the demand could not be met by Minor schemes.

Mr. S. Whelan said that when the Deputation from the Modeligo scheme came into the Council meeting some months ago, there was a man on it representing those that had not water, but he was told coming in the door that he would not be allowed to speak. Those that spoke on that deputation were handpicked, he added.

Mr. Whelan then proposed and Mr. O'Ryan seconded, that they re-examine the question of the supply of water for the area envisaged under the Modeligo Regional Water Supply scheme with a view to have water supplied at the lowest possible cost by a system of well boring or by such other means as may suggest itself, i.e., Small Group schemes. This was carried unanimously and the proposed Regional scheme for the area was abandoned.

It was decided also to defer the Rathgormack scheme for 1 month.

The following Water Sub-Committee was then set up to deal with the water supplies of the county: Colrs. Curran, Galgey, Dower, Drohan, Fahy, O'Ryan, R. Walsh, Whelan, Heskin, Ahearne.

Jury Return Verdict at Second Attempt OUT FOR 90 MINUTES

HAVING failed to return a verdict at the first attempt on Edward Lonergan (51), farmer and Agricultural Contractor, Lackendarra, Ballinacully, whose charred remains were found in a burned out car at Garryduff early on the morning of April 13th last, an eight-man jury finally returned a verdict at a reconvened inquest in Dungarvan on Friday evening. The Jury retired for an hour and a half and when they returned their foreman, Mr. Donald Spratt said they had found that death was the result of the following: a heart attack or lack of oxygen and shock induced by fire, or a combination of both.

The jury first met on Tuesday evening of last week to consider verdicts on Lonergan and Dominic Doyle, Garrylyne, whose charred body was also found in the car with Lonergan. The jury on that occasion returned a verdict on Doyle, but because of legal submissions by Mr. Maher (representing the car insurers) and Mr. King (representing the next of kin of Lonergan) it was decided to adjourn the inquest until further evidence was given by Dr. Thomas Leahy, M.O., Ballymacarby who carried out post mortems on both bodies.

In further evidence, Dr. Leahy said it would appear Lonergan had got a heart attack that could have caused his death. That could have been the sole cause of death but if there was contributory cause it could have been lack of oxygen and shock induced by the fire.

Dr. Leahy said the problem was if they could state if the man was alive or not when the fire started. There was nothing by which he could ascertain that. Lonergan did however, get a heart attack that was fairly severe, prior to the fire, and if he did not die from that he could then have died from the fire. It could have been one or the other or a combination of both. He believed the heart attack was severe and if it was not treated immediately would have been fatal. If treated he could not say he would not have recovered.

Supt. S. Fanning at this stage said he did not think the solicitors were entitled to ask Dr. Leahy any further questions. It was now to be decided by the Jury.

At this stage, the Jury, without retiring, deliberated for a short time.

Replying to the foreman, Mr. Spratt, Dr. Leahy said the findings in Lonergan's case were very definite and there was no doubt but that he got a heart attack. Neither did he think the heart attack was caused by the fire.

Mr. J. A. Power (member of the jury)—Is there any possibility that shock and fire brought on the heart attack?

Dr. Leahy—I think it is pretty definite that the heart attack was not brought on by the fire. I would be quite happy to state that the attack occurred before the accident or fire at all.

The Coroner (Dr. D. Healy)

(Lismore) then gave permission to Mr. Maher, solr., to address Dr. Leahy through him (Coroner).

Supt. Fanning asked Mr. Maher to declare who he represented in this inquest and if they had an interest in it.

Mr. Maher said he represented the motor insurers who had Mr. Lonergan's car covered.

The Coroner said they had an interest in it and he would allow the question. But from Dr. Leahy's evidence the heart attack in fact may not have caused death.

Mr. Maher—Would Dr. Leahy then be prepared to discount the heart attack altogether?

Coroner—No. The actual cause of death has not been halusinated at all.

Supt. Fanning said it was now a question of argument between the solicitors Mr. Maher and Mr. King, on what he would say was a question of civil liability. The medical evidence had been given and he did not think it should be pursued any further by the solicitors who were arguing the case for the purpose of civil liability.

Mr. King—How can you assume that. We are here trying to get all the evidence we can.

Mr. Maher—This all hinges now on a choice of words.

Dr. Leahy said there were two theories to be considered. One that he got the heart attack and died before the fire started and two that he got the heart attack but did not die until the fire had started. Thus in returning a verdict the two alternatives as he saw it were he died from a heart attack or from a heart attack combined with lack of oxygen and shock induced by the fire.

Mr. King said in his opinion he died from one or the other and not a combination of the two things. In this case it was perfectly obvious that Lonergan could have died from a heart attack, in which event the question of fire did not arise. Assuming he did not die before being engulfed in flames he must then have died from lack of oxygen.

Dr. Leahy said that when there were two causes that could have been fatal, one could not place one cause above the other. In his opinion Lonergan either died from a heart attack or a combination of that and lack of oxygen induced by fire.

Replying to Mr. James Ducey (member of the jury), Dr. Leahy said the fragrant fluid substance found in Lonergan's remains would not have been there unless he had got a heart attack.

The Jury then retired to consider their verdict, and after being out for seventy minutes, their foreman Mr. L. D. Spratt, returned and asked the Coroner what would happen if the members of the jury disagreed on a verdict.

Dr. Healy said the verdict would then be decided by a simple majority. If, however, it resulted in a tie, 4-4, it would be regarded as a disagreement and the jury would be discharged and a new inquest held.

The jury remained out for another twenty minutes and when they returned Mr. Spratt said they were unanimously returning a verdict that death was the result of either a heart attack or lack of oxygen and shock induced by the fire, or a combination of both.

Dr. Healy (Coroner) then thanked the jury for the great care and dedication they had given in returning a verdict that would be agreeable to all.

The foreman of the jury, Mr. Spratt, thanked Dr. Leahy for coming back to give further evidence which was most helpful to the jury.

N.F.A. NEWS

N.F.A. WANTS UNITY

The N.F.A. Central Executive Committee at a meeting in Dublin has noted with regret the text of a statement issued by the I.C.M.S.A., on 24th April. The N.F.A. is surprised at the content of the statement, which is obviously intended to put an end to the negotiations which were in progress between the two Associations. This latest outburst by the I.C.M.S.A. cannot but destroy the goodwill which was established between the two Associations and must inevitably delay farmer unity.

The N.F.A. initiated the negotiations with I.C.M.S.A. over a year ago. These negotiations were to prepare the way towards unity. It was also because of the desire of Irish farmers for one organisation that N.F.A. offered to "sink its identity so that an united farmers' organisation may grace the Irish scene."

The following are our replies to the questions asked in the I.C.M.S.A. Press Release:—
Question 1—Does this mean the disbanding of all existing organisations?
Reply—The N.F.A. has working arrangements with all farming organisations, other than I.C.M.S.A. in this country. The negotiations which have been in progress for many months concerned only the N.F.A. and the I.C.M.S.A. as "the two major farming organisations in the country." It is obvious that any proposals made by N.F.A. to I.C.M.S.A. referred to these two organisations.
Question 2—What steps do you envisage will be necessary to establish this new united farmers' organisation?
Reply—We have envisaged that disbanding the National Councils of both Organisations; the members of both would have been given an opportunity of electing a single new National Council which would be the supreme authority in the new organisation. We did not consider that any insuperable obstacles would have been encountered in making all other necessary arrangements presuming that goodwill and sincerity on both sides was not lacking.
Question 3—Has the proposed establishment of an united farmers' organisation and the sinking of your National Council?
Reply—A very definite yes. It is difficult to understand why the Administrative Council of I.C.M.S.A. are so irate at the idea of N.F.A. being ready to disband in the interests of unity. In this they are way out of step with the vast majority of their own members, who, like their counterparts in N.F.A. want an end to dissension and acrimony.
The N.F.A. will continue its efforts to achieve farming unity and in this we are confident that we will have the full support of dairy farmers who comprise the bulk of our membership and who continue to swell the ranks of N.F.A.
It is to be regretted that the President and Administrative Council of I.C.M.S.A. have slammed the door on our recent negotiations.
CLOSING THE GAP
The Government, through its Expansion Programme, is committed to the closing of the gap between urban and rural incomes but it cannot look to 1965 as holding out any prospects of a "bonus" from increased prices on the export market. The Government is, therefore, obliged to instruct a price policy for agriculture.
The 1964 increase in farm-family income of £15 million was particularly welcome following the lean year of 1963 in which farmers' incomes were stagnant. On average, this means that people engaged in farming got an increase in income of roughly £1 per week in 1964 over 1963 bringing their income up to approximately £370. However, despite this increase, the net result of the first four years of the Second Programme for Economic Expansion is that there has been no closing of the gap between urban and rural incomes.
At this time every year, when the Estimate for the Department of Agriculture is presented in the Dail and following the publication by the Central Statistics Office of the Preliminary Estimates of Agricultural Output for the previous year, the public is left with a misconception as to what the true figure for net farm income is. This arises from the confusion between net agricultural output and agricultural income.
The figure for net agricultural output in 1964 was £188 million which represents an increase of £19 million over 1963. In the case of net farm-family income the figure was £130m., an increase of £15 million over the previous year. While the £15 million increase was welcome and long overdue, it is a far cry from the £21 million which was bandied about as the increase in farm income during the recent General Election campaign.
Another recurring misinterpretation is the inclusion of the value of increased livestock numbers on farms as an increase in farm income, when normally this is investment from production which in no way increases the farmers' spending income.
The increase in the value of net output during 1964 was due largely to the increased prices for livestock on the export market. It is practically certain at this stage that we cannot look forward to a similar "bonus" this year.

Tipp. Hope To Restore Confidence

Waterford Seek Place In League Final

GAME WITH CHAMPIONS WIDE OPEN

TIPPERARY, All-Ireland, Oireachtas and National League champions, whose dominance in major competition during 1964 was virtually unchallenged, put the latter title in the melting pot on Sunday against rejuvenated Waterford at Croke Park. Labelled not so long ago with the tag of invincibility, Tipp. have found in recent times that they no longer stand unchallenged and aloof from all others, and Waterford, steadily regaining in stature stand an excellent chance of qualifying to meet Kilkenny in the Home final on May 23rd.

There is, of course, the added incentive of a trip to America next September for the winners of the Home decider, and that glittering prize makes the prospects of a battle royal all the brighter on Sunday next. The other semi-final on Sunday last fell completely flat with Wexford offering but token resistance to the Kilkenny men, but this all-Munster clash has all the ingredients of a hurling thriller.

Were this semi-final played some few months ago then Tipp. would have been regarded as certain to prevail by a clear margin. Then it was that they were riding on the crest of a hurling wave, brushing aside all opposition with contemptuous ease. Waterford's stock on the other hand was but moderately favourable having established an unblemished record in their section of the league without ever impressing.

Why then the change in thinking, with it now being almost unanimously agreed that Sunday's tie is an open book? Well of late the gloss and polish of Tipp.'s repertoire seems to have faded more than somewhat and even ardent Premier County followers must admit that some degree of staleness seems to have set in. In Waterford's case there has been a complete contrast—poor form being replaced by good—as was so strikingly emphasised in that recent Tramore tournament final against Kilkenny. Is it any wonder then that this game has been freely quoted as an "even money bet" whatever one's choice. This of course is not to say that the triple champions have "gone over the hill." It has long been an accepted maxim so applicable to Tipp. that never are they seen at their best until the chips are down. Well, Sunday is such an occasion, and with a fortnight's solid training behind them, I confidently expect to see a refreshed and more potent Tipp. side than we have seen at any other time this year. Thus they will be extremely formidable opponents—perhaps the most formidable of all opposition, and if Waterford hope to succeed where so many others have failed, then all fifteen must star from beginning to end.

In winning their section of the league, Waterford main tained a 100% record right through. Yet, their form was not as impressive as so unblemished a record might suggest. In fact when beating Limerick in their final game at Dungarvan, they looked anything but prospective league champions, and Limerick could with justification argue that they were unlucky to lose. But then came the game against Kilkenny when Waterford showed improvement out of all recognition. One may say it was nothing more than a tournament but two near full strength teams made it quite obvious that this was a prestige game, and though victory went to the

PHIL GRIMES

Leinster men, Waterford did not play so effectively for a long time.

NOT ENCOURAGING

Tipp's passage also to this stage of the league has been anything but encouraging for their supporters. They mastered Clare and Galway with ease but only scraped home by two points against Cork after the Leesiders had built up an eleven point interval lead.

Then came the final game with Kilkenny when admittedly defeat made no difference to either side and Tipp. could even consider themselves somewhat fortunate to have escaped with only a nine points defeat.

The last meeting of these Counties was in the Munster final of '63 when Waterford scored an 0-11 to 0-8 victory in a game in which Tipp. enjoyed a vast territorial advantage. Sunday's sides are practically the same as did duty on that occasion—in fact each will parade no fewer than 12 of the men that played in that Provincial final.

Both teams have had the benefit of a fortnight's intensive training, that ensures their being at peak fitness. For Waterford, Tom Cunningham and John Meaney who missed the game at Tramore, return, and are included now on a team generally regarded as the strongest the selectors can field.

BOMBHELL

The Tipp. selectors dropped something of a bombshell by demoting Babs Keating to the subs., but it is felt Keating will not be left long inactive if things are not going according to plan. Mick Murphy, still recovering from a cartilage operation is a continued absentee, so under 21 star Len Gaynor continues at left half-back. Back on to their side for the first time since the Oireachtas final last October comes the Holy Cross veteran Mick Maher, replacing Noel Gorman, who as yet lack experience of the big occasion. When I saw Maher in action against Abbeyside in a club game in Tallow some weeks ago, he looked anything but in good shape, but this fortnight's training is bound to have done him good and he will be a big bulwark to the Waterford attack.

The Waterford selectors not surprisingly, after the Kilkenny game, decided that half-back was Joe Condon's best position, and he now teams up with Larry Guinan and Martin Og.

Back at midfield comes John Meaney as Tom Hearne's partner and this pairing is really up against it in the Theo English-Mick Roche partnership. A division of the spoils in this sector is imperative if Tipp. are to be beaten.

Likewise the Waterford half backs must fulfil key roles in this game. The Tipp. half forward trio of Jimmy Doyle, Larry Kiely and Liam Devaney can be all match-winners in their own right and if not carefully policed could run up a winning total.

But the most intriguing duels will undoubtedly be between the Tipp. full backs and Waterford's full forwards. Here a

JOHN MEANEY

LATE MRS. ANNIE WEDDING WYLEY BELLS

CANTY, CAPPAGH

It is with feelings of deep and sincere regret that we record the death of Mrs. Annie Wyley, Canty, Cappagh, which occurred at her residence on Monday, April 28th, at a good age. Although she had been ailing for some time, she was up and about and death finally came somewhat unexpectedly.

An ex-National Teacher, she taught in Villierstown and Ballinacoola.

A native of Canty, she was one of Waterford's most celebrated lady personalities in the fight for freedom. She was a member of Cumann na mBan, and it was appropriate indeed that her coffin was draped with the tricolour. A kind, gentle and extremely charitable lady, she was a general favourite with all sections of the Community. She was a devoted wife and loving mother, and her passing will be regretted by all who had the privilege of making her acquaintance.

The remains were removed to Ballinacoola Parish Church on Tuesday, 27th inst., followed by a large and representative cortege, and were received and blessed by Rev. Fr. Carey, C.C.

Requiem Masses were offered for the happy repose of her soul on Wednesday morning, 28th inst., and the interment took place in the adjoining cemetery later in the day, again in the presence of a large concourse, testifying to the immense popularity of the deceased. Rev. P. Moloney, C.S.S.P. (nephew of deceased) officiated at the graveside, assisted by Rev. Fr. Quinlan, P.P., Rev. J. Morrissey, C.C., and Rev. Fr. Carey, C.C.

The chief mourners were: Patrick Wyley, (husband); Rory Wyley, Dungarvan (son); Mrs. L. Hayes, Aghlish (sister); nephews and nieces.

To them, deepest sympathy is extended in their great loss.

LATE JAS. HARTY

BALLINACOURTY, RING

It is with deep regret we record the death of James Harty, Ballinacourty, Ring, which occurred at his daughter's residence Ballinacourty, Ring, on Friday, 30th April, after a period of illness. His passing is deeply mourned, especially in the Ring area, where he was a general favourite, and very well known for his charming manner.

To his heartbroken family we extend our deepest condolences. The removal of his remains took place on Saturday evening to Ring Church, followed by a cortege of very large dimensions and were blessed and received by Rev. M. Kennedy, C.C.

Requiem Mass was celebrated on Sunday morning for the repose of his soul and the interment took place in the adjoining family plot. Very Rev. J. O'Donnell, P.P., was celebrant of the Mass and also imparted the final absolution at the graveside.

Very many Mass cards were received by his relatives.

The chief mourners were: Willie, and John, Ring, James, England (sons); Mrs. M. Veale, Dublin, Mrs. Thomas Walsh, Ballingoul (daughters); Thomas Harty, England, Nicholas Harty, U.S.A., John Harty, do. (brothers); Julia Harty, U.S.A. (sister); Thomas Walsh and Michael Veale (sons-in-law); Mrs. Eileen Harty, Mrs. M. Harty, Mr. Theresa Harty (daughters-in-law); large circle of grandchildren, nephews and nieces.

(Funeral arrangements by J. Kiely & Sons, Undertakers, Dungarvan.)

Whit Road Safety Campaign

A meeting in connection with above, will be held on to-night (Friday) 8th May (as already advertised, at 8.30. Pres. Fr. Kennedy, S.J., President of the Safety First Association of Ireland will address the meeting. The public are invited.

GAELIC JOTTINGS

THE ROCKY ROAD TO DUBLIN

The Dublin Metropolis holds the stage in quite a big way on Sunday next. Waterford, whose last appearance at Croke Park was in late '63—an occasion best forgotten, when Dublin whipped them in the National League, return to Headquarters to do battle with triple champions, Tipperary, for the right to meet Kilkenny in the Home Final of the National League on May 23rd. The importance of this game for Waterford—and indeed Tipp.—needs no stressing. No longer are Tipp the invincibles of the hurling world, and in fact such has been their recent decline that Sunday's semi-final is wide open. Waterford, in their Tramore tournament, against Kilkenny fairly sparkled and they must, on that form at any rate stand an excellent chance of success on Sunday.

It promises to be a great game between these Munster rivals, and win who may, victory is likely to be earned the hard way.

KILROSSANTY G.A.A. CLUB

A bus will leave Leamybrien on Thursday June 3rd at 5.15 p.m., sharp, for Mallow, in connection with Munster senior (Club Championship) semi-final between Kilrossanty and the winners of Kerry v. Limerick game, which has yet to be played. Return fare 10/-.

Cash and names to be handed in to Sean Crotty, Jimmy Veale or Pa Walsh, not later than 23rd May. No names taken after this date.

LAST SUNDAY'S GAMES "WASHED OUT"

The torrential rain of Sunday last and the days previous took its toll on every playing pitch in the County, with the result that all games listed for last Sunday had to be called off. These included Sargent and Phelan Cup games at Dungarvan, a Phelan Cup game at Cappoquin, and a Western junior hurling championship tie also at Cappoquin between Ballinacoola and Ballysaggart. No refixtures have been made yet.

UNDER 21 HURLERS ... BEATEN

Fielding a team inferior in many sectors to the side that represented the County in the grade twelve months ago, Waterford's under 21 hurlers made their championship exit in the first round at Limerick on Sunday last, going under to Galway on a score of 7-5 to 4-3.

It was by no means a great Galway team, but in truth to tell they had little or nothing to beat in a Waterford side that seldom looked like ending the game winners.

From the very start it was Galway who took up the running, and so great was their mastery in vital sectors, that the Waterford boys were invariably toiling. Except for them.

the elusive Stephen Green (Mt. Sion) in attack the Galway defence had little to contend with and the team's all round display was poorer than anyone could possibly have envisaged before the start.

In last week's issue I stated that the best fifteen had not been selected and after this debacle that conviction is fully borne out. There were at least five or six non-included players in the County more talented than some of those selected and who knows but their inclusion might well have meant the difference between victory and defeat.

GET YOUR COLOURS

That old Dungarvan Gael, Johnny Murphy, will be selling Waterford badges which will carry photographs of the Waterford players on Friday and Saturday of this week. So if you are making the trip to Dublin on Sunday make sure you get your "Colours" before going.

MITCHELS CAN WIN PHELAN CUP

The eagerly awaited second replay of the 1963 Phelan Cup final takes place at Dungarvan on Sunday night next (7.30) between John Mitchels and Ardmore, and this most definitely is a game not to be missed if at all possible.

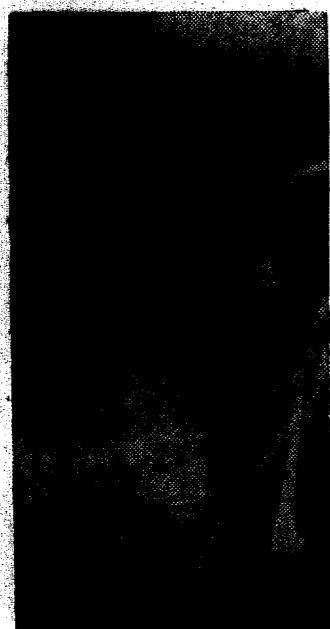

Twice already these sides have met to decide this final and on each occasion the game ended level after a thrilling hour. They were fitting results as neither of these splendid sides deserved to taste defeat. Now they do battle for the third time with the outcome just as open, and the only thing certain is that spectators will get more than their money's worth.

Both these rivals prefer to play an open brand of football that is highly attractive to watch. For both drawn games the conditions were all against this type of football, so given favourable weather conditions on Sunday night a feast of football thrills should be served up.

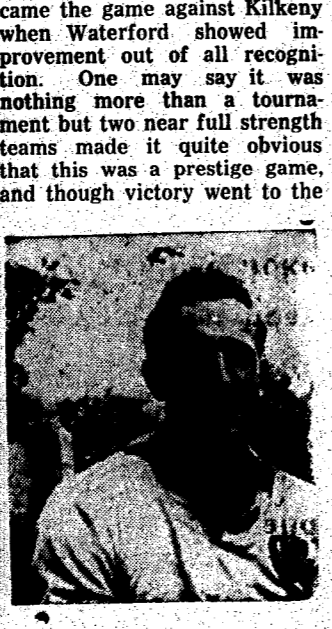

Both teams hope to field at full strength, and this means the Mitchels will have the services of Tom and Pete Gough. Their defence has become an even more solid sector since the transfer of Sean Power to the full line and he, together with Michael Kirwan, Wally Connors and Seamus Keany, will not give away any soft scores.

Ardmore too, will be fielding at full strength, but whilst their defence and midfield give no cause for alarm, the stark but bitter fact is that their forwards have not been proving up to the mark. Weaknesses up front cost them a county championship last year, and they just cannot depend entirely on the efforts of Fin Hallahan and Jim Rooney to head the Mitchels attack spear-headed by Billy and Tommy Kirwan strikes me as being superior to that of Ardmore's, and I have a slight preference for them.

Successful Dance at Clonea

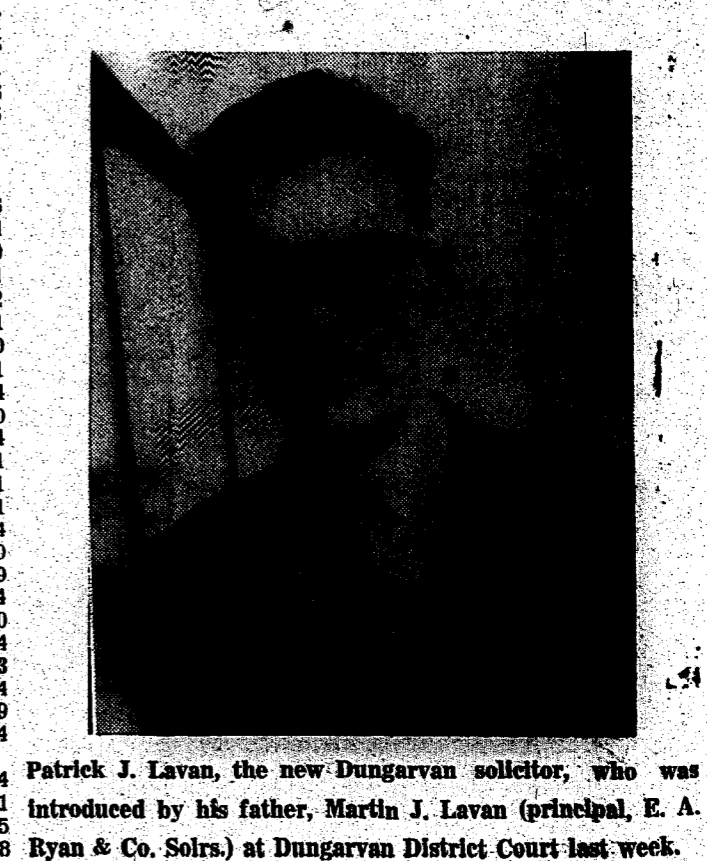

The first-ever visit of the famous Graduates Showband to Clonea, on Wednesday night last proved a tremendous success, and the big crowd present gave them a great reception. The dance itself also proved to be a highly successful one.

Certainly after this success, the dancing public will be eagerly looking forward to a return visit by the "Grads," and also proved that the top line bands will draw in the crowds locally.
