N.F.A. SLAMS REGIONAL WATER SCHEMES

BUSY TOURIST SEASON IN WATERFORD

The month of July was an extremely busy one in the Tourist Information Offices in the region. In Waterford, at Reginald's Tower, there were 11,603 enquiries. From sample tests taken there is an average of just under three persons in each group which makes an enquiry and thus 31,000 visitors called to the office during the month.

The information offices at County Waterford resorts were also extended. At Tramore, 2,462 enquiries were handled while at Dungarvan, 1,891 enquiries were dealt with.

About what were the tourist seeking information? Accommodation, suggestions for scenic drives, route directions, train and bus services, tours of the Waterford Glass Factory, camping and caravan sites, were all high on the list.

The lack of entertainment, especially during inclement weather, was much commented upon. Nevertheless, many visitors felt that Waterford and Tramore were good centres to spend a holiday in and were particularly well served with Coach Tours—a CIE Tour being available every day of the week.

Fishing, especially sea fishing, was much in demand in Dunmore East, Tramore and Dungarvan. Several anglers mentioned the reliable boat service at Dungarvan and the excellent deep sea fishing there.

The room reservation service was used very widely throughout the South-East during the month and many compliments were paid to the efficiency of the service by visitors. Figures for the month show that 4,023 bed nights were booked through the service. As the efficiency of this service depends largely on the co-operation of hotels, guesthouses, etc. in telephoning the information offices daily, giving details of their vacancies, their continued co-operation is earnestly solicited by the South-Eastern Regional Tourism Organisation during the month of August which is the peak holiday season.

Council Adjourns as Mark of Respect

The quarterly meeting of Waterford County Council was adjourned on Monday last as a mark of respect to the late Mr. Jack Whelan, Knockboy, Ballinacull, whose son Sean is a member of the County Council. The vote of sympathy and the adjournment was proposed by the Chairman, Mr. C. Curran and seconded by Mr. M. Hart.

Paying tribute to the late Mr. Whelan, Mr. Curran said he had been one of nature's gentlemen. He was a kind, gentle and decent man, who had played his part nobly in the fight for freedom.

Mr. Hart extended his personal sympathy to the bereaved family. The other members present also joined in the expressions of sympathy.

YOUGHAL TRAGEDY
The Council also passed a vote of sympathy to the Murray family, Youghal, on the double tragedy which shocked the town last week.

Mr. Curran said the Murray family, as building contractors, had a long association with County Waterford dating back over 50 years. It was a terrible tragedy, and one at which he was deeply shocked. Mr. M. Hart seconded. The other Council members also expressed sympathy with the Murray family.

Votes of sympathy were also extended to the relatives of the late Dan Phelan, Main Street, Dungarvan; to the relatives of the late John Joseph O'Connor, Knockboy, to the Walsh family, Derrinlaur; and to the family of the late Paddy Portl, Belaheen, Kilrossanty.

NFA has called on the Government to put more emphasis on solving the rural water supply problem through the schemes of grants to groups and individuals which are administered by the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Local Government. This view was put forward at a recent meeting with the Minister for Finance and the Minister for Agriculture and Fisheries when the Association pointed out that for many reasons such a course of action would be preferable to the provision of elaborate and costly regional schemes by local authorities.

Considerable emphasis is at present being placed on the need for channelling capital expenditure into the most productive schemes. Some of the Regional water schemes which have been proposed in this country are about the most wasteful form of public capital expenditure that one could think of. The average cost of providing a private water supply, through individual installations or group schemes is approximately £120 per house.

This compares with a freely permitted level of expenditure of £350 per house in regional water schemes and it is noteworthy that regional schemes which would work out at approximately £1,000 per house had reached quite an advanced stage of planning and would have gone even further were it not for the intervention of N.F.A. county Executives in certain areas.

The many unsatisfactory aspects of regional water schemes to which N.F.A. has been referring for the past five or six years are now becoming more and more apparent. It is now beyond question that they would constitute a very heavy burden on rates and would benefit a relatively small proportion of the ratepayers in any county. Another unfortunate feature is that proposed regional schemes have had a dampening effect on the enthusiasm of many groups of farmers and other householders who would otherwise have gone ahead with their own regional schemes.

The present quality milk campaign has underlined a very serious drawback where regional water schemes are concerned. It has been proved conclusively that water from public mains is completely ineffective for milk cooling purposes. For this purpose it is essential to have cold water fresh out of a well.

N.F.A. appreciates that there are a few areas in the country where geographical conditions are such that water is just not obtainable in the area. In these limited cases regional schemes can provide the solution, but apart from these exceptions N.F.A. is convinced that group schemes or private individual installations provide the quickest, most economical and most efficient means of tackling the rural water supply situation.

Charged With Dangerous Driving

Liam Byrne, 155 Ballyroan Road, Templeogue, Rathfarnham, Co. Dublin, was charged at Dungarvan District Court, on Wednesday, with dangerous driving at Ballinacull, Dungarvan, on 12th June last.

Garda P. Feeney said he was driving the Official car at Ballinacull on the date in question. At a dangerous bend where there was a continuous white line, he was overtaken by the defendant, driving at 50 or 55 miles an hour. He followed him and some distance further on he saw the defendant completely cut a corner and at another bend he overtook a milk lorry. He was travelling at 40 miles an hour in the 30 miles speed limit zone at Shandon. When he spoke to the defendant he admitted breaking the speed limit.

Mr. A. V. Maher, Solr., defending, said this was his client's first offence.

Supt. M. English said the defendant was a very respectable man. He was in Ardkeen at present.

Judge Skinner said he would have to convict him of dangerous driving and fined him £1. He would allow him however, to keep his licence in view of what the Supt. had said. The Justice also imposed a £1 fine for breaking the speed limit.

GIVEN BENEFIT OF P.O.A.

A Defendant who pleaded guilty to the larceny of 187 empty sacks and 4 wool rappers, with a total value of £10-7-0, the property of Mr. Thomas Lannon, Harbour View, Dungarvan, was given the benefit of the P.O.A. at Wednesday's district Court, before Judge L. B. Skinner. He was Wm. Ryan, Ballinacull, Slieverue, Co. Kilkenny, and the offence was committed at Ballinacull, on 24th June.

Supt. M. English outlining the facts of the case, said the defendant stole 187 empty sacks valued 1/- each, and four wool rappers valued 5/- each from the store where Mr. Lannon kept them. Mr. Lannon was an extensive hide merchant and on this date he saw a pick up truck owned by the defendant coming from his premises. He got suspicious and followed him. He also notified the Garda. When caught, the defendant admitted taking them and said he did not think they were of any value.

Mr. A. V. Maher, solr., defending, said the defendant was a married man with three children. There was no previous conviction against him, and they had all been returned since to Mr. Lannon.

Judge Skinner said that Ryan had been very foolish, but he would give him the P.A.O. on this occasion.

PASSING OF NOTED LOCAL PERSONALITY

LATE DANIEL PHELAN
Main Street, Dungarvan

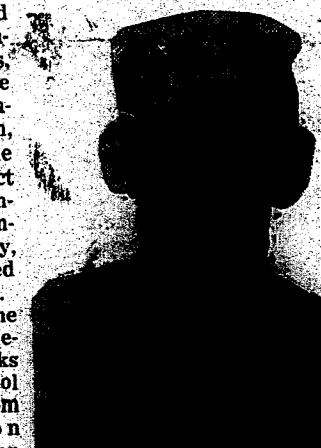

It is our sad duty to record the death of Mr. Daniel Phelan, Main Street, Dungarvan, which sad event took place at Dungarvan hospital on Thursday, August 5th, after a comparatively short illness. Dan, as he was so affectionately known to his many friends, was undoubtedly one of the town's most popular figures. He was kind and gentle and was the possessor of many fine qualities. He had a good word to say for everyone and it is doubtful if he ever made an enemy for himself in his entire life's span.

By occupation he was a gent's hairdresser and an accomplished one at that. He carried on business in the family residence with his brother Ned right up to the time of his last illness.

He was too a well-known part-time journalist and up to his death was his native town's correspondent for a Waterford City paper. A keen lover of photography, he supplied photographs to several newspapers and even had his own developing studio.

A keen music lover, he always played the double-bass in the local Choral and Musical Society's many performances.

Men of Dan Phelan's qualities are rare in this present-day world, but so unassuming and likeable was he, that even though now dead and gone he will always be remembered by those fortunate enough to have known him.

The remains were removed to St. Mary's Parish Church on Saturday, August 7th and were received and blessed by Rev. Fr. Power, C.C., assisted by Right Rev. Mons. George Keyes Alabama; Rev. Fr. Byrne, C.C., Rev. Fr. Flavin, C.C., Rev. Fr. O'Shaughnessy, O.S.A.

The burial took place in the family plot in Stradbally cemetery on Sunday last in the presence of a large and representative gathering. Rev. Fr. Fennell, C.C. officiated at the graveside. The last Mass in the Parish Church on Sunday was celebrated for the happy repose of his soul.

The chief mourners, to whom we extend our deepest sympathy, were Miss Nellie Phelan, Main St., Dungarvan (sister); Eddie Phelan, do. and Willie Phelan, Armagh (brothers).

(Funeral arrangements by John Phelan, Dungarvan).

LOCAL MAN GETS P.O.A.

Terence O'Sullivan, 23 Boreenstra, Dungarvan, was charged at the local district court, on Wednesday, with being drunk and disorderly at Mitchell Street, on August 6th last. O'Sullivan pleaded guilty to the charge.

Supt. M. English said that Garda Daly, having received a complaint from Mr. Michael O'Doherty, went to his shop at Mitchell St. Mr. O'Doherty told him there was disorderly behaviour in his shop. He was told that O'Sullivan went into the shop and kicked up a bit of trouble. Garda Daly saw a glass broken there. Mr. O'Doherty did not want compensation, but wanted an undertaking from the defendant that he would not frequent his premises again. O'Sullivan, who was not legally represented, said he would give that undertaking. Judge Skinner then applied the P.O.A.

County Waterford Committee of Agriculture SHEEP BREEDING SCHEME, 1965

For the purpose of improving the breeds of mountain sheep in County Waterford, the County Waterford Committee of Agriculture are prepared, subject to the approval of the Department of Agriculture, to locate a limited number of high-grade blackface rams on the commonage areas of the Comeragh and Knockmealdown Mountains on the following conditions:—

(1)—The Committee shall grant 4 premiums of maximum £30 each towards the cost of Scotch Imported rams and 40 premiums of maximum £8 each in all other cases, within the limits of the allocation. The value of the premium in each case shall be less by £5 than the cost price of the ram.

(2)—In the allocation of rams preference will be given to applicants who apply on behalf of sheep owners who are prepared to mate the rams to selected ewes.

(3)—The Committee will endeavour to secure that only rams of a high standard of quality will be supplied, but they cannot undertake responsibility in case any animal should subsequently prove unfruitful or unsatisfactory for breeding purposes.

(4)—The ram must be maintained in good and healthy condition and retained in the flock for two breeding seasons.

(5)—Each applicant shall be required to lodge with his application a deposit of £5. Of the amount so lodged one half may be retained by the Committee where, a sufficient supply of rams being available, a selected applicant fails to procure a ram.

(6)—In all cases of dispute in matters connected with this Scheme, the decision of the Minister for Agriculture shall be final.

Application Forms, which must be returned on or before the 15th September, 1965, may be had from the undersigned.

SPECIAL NOTICE:—In the case of the high-value premiums mentioned at No. 1 above, applications for same must be received at the Committee's office not later than Wednesday, 25th August, 1965.

WILLIAM VINCENT WALLACE CENTENARY

William Vincent Wallace, whose centenary is celebrated this year, was born in a house at the corner of Colbeck St., Lady Lane, Waterford, on March 11th, 1812. It is of interest to add that young Wallace first saw the light in the self same house in which Charles Keane, the great actor's father, was born a year previously. His father, a Scot, being bandmaster of the 29th or Worcester Regiment and a Bassoon player in the orchestra of the Theatre Royal, Dublin, in which his sons Wellington and Vincent played second flute and violin respectively. In his childhood Vincent Wallace composed many marches and fantasias, in fact he was a masterly player on the Piano-forte, clarinet, guitar and violin.

1827 the family migrated to Dublin. They consisted of the father, who was bought out of the army for twenty pounds in 1825, his wife, William junior, his eldest son, who took the name of Vincent on being received into the Roman Catholic Church just before his first marriage in that church; Wellington, born in 1813, and Eliza, born 1814, who later became a soprano and married an Australian singer by the name of John Bushelle.

At the age of sixteen, Vincent was organist of the Thurles Cathedral and was also Professor of Music at the Ursuline Convent in Thurles, where, incidentally, he met his first wife Isobella Kelly, a daughter of Kelly of Blackrock. He deputised on occasions for James Barton, leader of the Dublin Theatre Royal Orchestra and one of Balfe's early teachers. He appeared as violinist in a public concert at Dublin in 1829 and in 1831 at a musical festival there, where he heard Paganini.

He then married Isobella Kelly and in 1834 he began to weary of the limited musical possibilities of the Irish Capital. The following year he set out for Australia, arriving—Hobart from Liverpool—on October 31st, 1835 on the good ship "Rachel" with wife and son William Vincent Jr. It is said that he went straight into the Bush and almost abandoned his music to take up "sheep farming." Once when visiting Sydney, he attended an evening party, took part casually in a performance of a quartet by Mozart and so captivated the audience that the Governor, Sir John Burke induced him to give a concert, he himself contributing a present of a hundred sheep by way of payment for his seats. Unfortunately, he separated from his wife, whom he never saw again. While in Australia he gave lucrative concerts with his sister Eliza and was acclaimed as "Australia's Paganini."

He then began his wanderings an account of part which the French composer "Berlioz" tells in the second epilogue of his "Soiree de l'Ochestre." He visited New Zealand, where he narrowly escaped assassination at the hands of savages. However, he was saved under the romantic circumstances of the "Chief's daughter." While on a whaling cruise in the South Seas on the "Good Intent," the crew of semi-savages, mutinied and murdered all the Europeans but three, of whom Wallace was one. Proceeding to India, Wallace was highly honoured by the Begum of Oude, and after wandering there for some time and visiting Nepal and Kashmir he went to Valparaiso at a day's notice, crossed the Andes on a mule and visited Buenos Aires, thence to Santiago, where, among the receipts of a concert he was given some "gamecocks." For a concert at Lima he realised 1000L. In Mexico he wrote a "Grand Mass" for a musical fete, which was many times repeated. He invested his considerable savings in Piano-forte and Tobacco Factories in America, which became bankrupt.

In 1845 Wallace was back in London, where at Hanover Sq. Rooms he made his English debut as a pianist, on the 3rd of May that year. In London he revisited his acquaintance with Heyward, the result being "Maritana," which ran for fifty consecutive performances at Drury Lane.

From overwork on a commission to write for the "Grand Opera at Paris," he became almost blind and to obtain relief he went on a voyage to America. He immediately filed his declaration of intention to become an American citizen. On the 1st October 1850 he married Helen Shoepel, an American pianist, although Isobella was still alive and there had been no divorce. He had counsel's opinion and was advised that his first marriage was "Ab Inito" illegal, as at that time he was under 20 years and was brought up a Protestant. While in America he gave many concerts with good success.

In 1853 he returned to England and on 23rd February 1850 "Loraine" was produced at Covent Garden with a success surpassing that of "Maritana." Although he was at this stage a prolific composer, his earnings from 1852 to '59 were less than £200 per year. He composed others after this with varying success.

Wallace had been suffering from heart attacks since 1854. In 1864 he made the sea voyage to Boulogne from London. He was immediately stricken with illness, which at Christmas culminated in an attack of Dropsy; this was at his home at Passy. Here he was visited by "Rossini" and "Thulberg," C. A. Osborne, H. B. Farnie and others. Thence he was moved to Chateau de Bager in the pyrenees, where his American wife nursed him to the end, which came on the 12th October, 1865, his funeral being attended by some of the most famous musicians and men of letters of his day. After some time his wife and two children returned to America. She died in 1885 and the two children, both sons, committed suicide there. His brother Wellington died a poor brother of the Charterhouse on the 31st December, 1909.

The above are extracts from the following: (1) "Grove's Dictionary of Music and Musicians"; (2) Dictionary of National Biography.

Footnote: Research on the foregoing was carried out by Mr. M. J. Brophy of the Waterfordmen's Association (London) and he adds the following points of interest:—

(1) Up to 100 of Wallace's compositions fill the British Musical Catalogue in the British Museum.

(2) Other literature on Wallace: (a) W. H. Gratton Flood, "Memoir of William Vincent Wallace (Waterford 1812)"; (b) Cicil Forsyth, "Music and Nationalism" (London 1911), containing criticism of Wallace's operas; (c) Richard Northcott, "Opera Charter" (London, 1921); (d) J. R. Planche, "Recollections and Reflections" (London 1872); (e) A. Pouglin, "William Vincent Wallace" (Paris 1866).

(3) It is of extreme interest to note that the famous Irishman Michael William Balfe (1806-'70) best known for his opera "The Bohemian Girl" lies buried behind William Vincent Wallace's grave at Kensal Green.

The exact location of last resting place of William Vincent Wallace is: Grave No. 19408, Section 74; Row: Road Side; Kensal Green Cemetery, Harrow Road, W.10.

The visit was arranged for members of the fertiliser trade by Shell and Albacross (Agriculture) Ltd.

WATERFORD MEN'S ASSOCIATION LONDON

As already announced, our new flag was presented to the Association by Mr. Michael Brazil (private secretary to the Irish Ambassador) at a dinner at the Irish Centre on Saturday, 18th June. This beautiful flag will be displayed at all our public functions. Our sincere thanks is extended to Mr. Walter J. Walsh, Managing Director, Messrs. Harne & Co., The Quay, for his generous gift. I would like to take this opportunity of thanking all those who attended the presentation and to the Waterford and National papers for their publicity and especially to Mr. M. Brazil and Mai O'Higgins.

I am sure all members would like to congratulate Willie Barron on being elected Vice-President of the County Associations. Willie needs no introduction to members. He was Chairman and is now Vice-Chairman of the Association and it is through his efforts that our Association is in such a healthy position today.

Quiz Competition: Our team competed against Offaly Association at The Lord High Admiral on the 3rd July. Our team scored a great victory having been behind until the six mark questions; they showed their worth. I wish to congratulate them on their victory; we now meet the Galway Association in the semi-final. I wish to apologise to members at the late announcement of the date of the contest. This is due to the fact that I was ill.

Tuesday, 12th October, 1965, will mark the centenary of the death of William Vincent Wallace—famous composer of the Opera, "Maritana" etc. The late Mr. Wallace is buried at Kensal Green Cemetery, London, W.10. Our Association is asked by the committee of The Waterford Grand Opera Society to cooperate with them in honouring his memory. I have written to the B.C.C. requesting them to pay tribute to him by putting on a programme of his songs and music. Full details of arrangements that the Committee will make will be sent to members through the Press or by Newsletter. The Council of Irish County Associations have promised to support the Committee to honour his memory.

Kilrossanty's Shock Defeat

MOUNT SION 2-4; KILROSSANTY 1-5
IN sensational fashion, reigning senior football champions Kilrossanty, surrendered their crown to an unfancied Mount Sion fifteen in the opening round at Dungarvan on Sunday last. Few could possibly have envisaged such a result, but whilst all credit must be given to the Monastery men for once again tearing the form book to shreds, the champions can blame no one but themselves for this defeat.

It was in the truest sense of the word a catastrophe for the champions. They were good enough to have won this game by the proverbial mile, as 'Sion, even in victory, failed miserably to strike even moderate form. And that surely glaringly emphasises the ineptness of Kilrossanty on Sunday last. They sorely missed also their star midfielder Tom Flynn, if only for his free-taking ability, for in this respect they really flopped on Sunday.

In fact up to the time that Mount Sion scored their two second half goals, they gave the impression that they weren't even interested in winning the game, but once they snatched the goals, both typical Mount Sion efforts, they shook themselves to vibrant life and withstood all Kilrossanty efforts to recover in the closing minutes. Throughout the first half Kilrossanty dominated to an extent that tended to border on boredom. But even at this early stage one could sense that their forwards were not moving as smoothly as mentors and supporters would wish, and many fine chances were literally abused. In fact it was the veteran Jimmy Whyte who was causing most anxiety to the Sion defence. He scored a great first-half goal, later added a point and this was the major contributor to their 13 to 0-0 interval lead.

And without exerting themselves in the opening stages they still led by 1-5 to 0-2. But then with the game in its closing quarter came those decisive Mount Sion goals—both the essence of simplicity, and Kilrossanty were as good as out of the championship. They tried valiantly to retrieve their position as masters, but against a team now sensing victory this was a mighty task indeed. And as events turned out it was a task they found to be beyond them. True they launched attack after attack but the Monastery defence, inspired by full back Seamus Power, held firm and recorded yet another of those against the run of play successes.

And if Kilrossanty were greatly hampered by Tom Flynn's absence, it is but right that it should be mentioned that Sion had to play without Mick Flannely. In fact they had some difficulty in even fielding a team, but not for the first time they truly confounded Gaeldom. In victory however, they were far from impressive, but one can rest assured that they will be a vastly improved side in the second round. There can be no denying the fact that they caught the champions napping, and Seamus Power, "Taylor" O'Brien, Frankie Walsh, goalkeeper Dick Cullen and Danny Mahon all starred.

What of Kilrossanty? They had enough chances to have won this game twice over, but dearly paid the penalty for not availing of them. Their defence, until the concession of these goals, was sound, and in the sector, Noel Walsh, the great Jimineen Power and Tony Baldwin gave all they had. Tom Walsh and Tom Rioridan starred for long periods at midfield but it was the attack more than any other sector that "fell down on the job." The veteran Jimmy Whyte, and Tom "Gort" Walsh alone emerged with distinction and their gambit of playing Matty Lonergan at full-forward completely misfired.

Defeat was undoubtedly the very last thing the Reds or their supporters envisaged. Whilst reigning champions they were worthy ones, and this year they were absolutely money-on favourites to retain their titles. They contributed regally, it is true, to making this a good final, but that, I'm sure is poor consolation for the unexpected loss of their western and county crowns.

The body of Thomas O'Donoghue, Fernville, Lismore, was taken from the river Blackwater at Lismore on Wednesday at 2 p.m. approx. All day on Tuesday, dragging operations went on in the river, and three skin divers from Cork searched the river but without success. Again on Wednesday morning the divers, assisted by Gardaí under Sergt. Daly, Lismore, and many locals continued the search for the body and just before two o'clock it was recovered.

Mr. O'Donoghue was a native of Lismore, hailing from one of the town's most respected families. A National Teacher, he had been teaching in New Ross for a long number of years and only recently bought a house in his home town. He leaves a wife (nee O'Sullivan), another member of an esteemed local family, a son and daughter. To them, and his brothers and sisters, sympathy is extended in their tragic bereavement.

One of the biggest ever dancing attractions has been arranged for the CSM Ballroom, Clonea, on Wednesday Sept. 8, when Dungarvan Coursing Club presents the mighty Victors Showband from Cork. Watch the coming issues for more details of this fabulous night.

A charge of dangerous driving against Oliver Condon, Avondale House, Youghal, was reduced to one of careless driving and a fine of £1 imposed at Dungarvan District Court on Wednesday. He was also fined £3 for failing to report an accident and £1 for failing to keep his vehicle at the scene of an accident for a reasonable length of time.

Mr. Bernard Walsh, Main Street, Dungarvan, said that early on Friday morning, July 2nd, he was standing outside his house talking to a friend. He saw a car going up Main Street and hit a parked car on the same side of the road as he was standing. The driver reversed a few feet and asked him and his friend if they had seen what had happened. They said that they did and that it should be reported. He then drove away but he (witness) got the number of the car.

Replying to Mr. P. Lavan, snr., defending, witness said there were two cars parked opposite each other on the Main Street at the time. Sergt. Hurley said on receipt of a report he went to a house at Pulla and saw a car parked there, with a number of men around it. He asked who was the driver and the defendant said he was. He denied driving the car in Dungarvan that night but later admitted it. He said it was involved in an accident. The right front lamp was completely smashed in. The Justice then imposed the above-mentioned fines and dismissed a further charge of failing to stop.

STRADBALLY SENSATIONALLY LOSE MINOR TITLE

ARDMORE — — — 2-4; STRADBALLY — — — 1-5.

THE shock result of the nineteen sixties. That in brief, sums up this Western minor football final, played at Dungarvan's Fraher Field, on Sunday night last. Ardmore, unfancied even within the confines of their own parish, brought about the downfall of the reigning Western and county champions, and lest there be any doubts about it, it must be stated that this victory—sensational though it may have been, was fully merited.

Even yet Stradbally do not know what hit them—or what in the name of heavens went wrong. With six county minors on their panel, and a host of other accomplished footballers to back them up, they looked as near to being invincible as made no difference. But this Ardmore team, showing tremendous determination, obviously cared nothing for the reputation of their opponents, and each and every member of their side played himself into the ground in the cause of a victory that must be the sweetest ever recorded by the Seaside club in any grade to-date.

Territorially, the losers had the edge, and they were unlucky on a number of occasions with scoring efforts that brought no reward. But the stark and bitter truth of the matter is that they did not treat this Ardmore challenge with the respect it deserved, and for that foolhardy approach and for that important an encounter they paid the supreme penalty. Late in the game also they struck the Ardmore upright, but so well did the rank outsiders perform in this final that it would have been a gross miscarriage of justice had they been belatedly deprived of victory.

GUINNESS BLACKWATER CUP

The Guinness Blackwater Cup final will be held in Youghal to-night (Friday) when some prime performances are expected. To date, the preliminary heats have produced some excellent racing from all dogs involved, and the times have been so close that the final is bound to be exciting.

This competition, the only nominator event in Irish greyhound racing, produces a total prize money of £910. On to-night (Friday) 13th August, Mr. J. W. O'Callaghan, Guinness Area Manager in Cork, will present the winner with the trophy and the cheque for £400.

Other prizes will be: 2nd, £150; 3rd £50; three beaten finalists, £25 each; twelve beaten semi finalists, £10 each; eighteen greyhounds eliminated in the second round, £5 each. The nominator of the winner receives a special prize of £25. The draw for to-night (Friday) is as follows:—

Trap 1—Captain M. Murrugh First round heat, 1st in 30.15 secs; 2nd round, 1st in 30.50; semi-final, first in 30.25.
 Trap 2—In Sen. Deed heat in 30.60; 2nd 30.50; 2nd 30.25.
 Trap 3—Brenda's Bank—2nd 30.30; 3rd 30.30; 1st 30.45.
 Trap 4—Fishes—3rd in 30.30; 3rd in 30.50; 2nd in 30.45.
 Trap 5—Am Go Loo—2nd 30.35; 1st in 30.70; 2nd in 30.15.
 Trap 6—Bve Bee Baby—1st in 30.30; 2nd in 30.20; 1st in 30.15.
 On this showing it look as if the greyhound fanciers will have a very keenly contested card to study on Friday night.

Abbeyside Pattern a Big Success

Abbeyside's annual Pattern Day was held in the Village on Sunday last and favoured with glorious sunshine, attracted its biggest ever attendance. The Pattern was officially opened by Mr. T. A. Kynce, T.D., who said that it was a great thing to see old customs still going strong. The Abbeyside Pattern, he said, was one of the oldest of its kind in Ireland and the organising committee deserved every success for keeping it going.

This year, the Dungarvan Brass and Reed Band and the Dungarvan Pipe Band added to the attractiveness of it all. And for lovers of Irish music the Ceoltas Ceoltóirí (local branch) catered well in this respect. As always too, the Halahan School of Dancing gave many skilful exhibitions of Irish dancing. The Pattern this year was something of a personal triumph for Tom Cowman (New Line). In winning the greasy pole competition, he walked the entire poll without falling, a feat not achieved for many years. He was also a member of O'Brien's team which won the tug-o-war competition, and was runner-up in "Tip the Bucket". He was a creditable second to Sean Kenneally who won the tossing of the sheaf for the second year in succession. The children's fancy dress parade was another highlight, and attracted many outstanding entries. The judges were Mrs. Eunice M. Hockin and Mrs. Tadge Lynch.

DANNY O'CONNOR . . . the hard-work Secretary/Treasurer of the Abbeyside Pattern committee.

TOM COWMAN . . . who figured successfully in several of the events.

ABBEYSIDE PATTERN—New Line in Fancy Dress Parade—Elizabeth Early (3rd); John Kenneally (1st); Pat Spillane (2nd).

NEW GUINNESS MANAGING DIRECTOR

Arthur Guinness Son & Co. announce that Dr. A. H. Hughes (above) who recently rejoined the Board of Arthur Guinness Son & Co. (Dublin) Ltd. will succeed Dr. C. K. Mill, as the Managing Director of the latter company on Dr. Mills' retirement at the end of February, 1966.

Dr. Mill, who joined Guinness in 1923, was appointed an Assistant Managing Director of the Parent Company in December, 1941, and of the Dublin Company in 1952. In 1956 he was appointed joint managing Director of the Dublin Company and in 1963 became the executive director.

Dr. Hughes who is 56, joined Guinness in 1936 and served for 18 years in Ireland, being appointed to the Board as an Assistant managing director in 1951. In 1953, on being appointed Director i/c Overseas Trade, he moved to London and has since been responsible for the expansion of brewing interests overseas, including the building of the new breweries in Nigeria and Malaysia.

Mr. F. P. Clift will succeed Dr. Hughes as Director i/c Overseas Trade, joining the Board of the Parent Company as an executive director.

Lismore Notes

MEN'S CONFRATERNITY

The monthly meeting of the men's branch of the Sacred Heart Confraternity will be held on this (Friday) evening in St. Carthage's Church at 7.30.

FESTIVAL WEEK CLOSURES

Sunday last saw the official closing of Lismore's first ever Festival Week, and straight away let it be sad what a most successful week it turned out to be. From the official opening the previous Sunday, right through the week, Lismore was frequented by hundreds of people nightly, and if the weather was not too kind for the first half of the week, it certainly brought about a welcome change for the last four days.

During the entire week the very able committee in charge, led by the brilliant secretary, Mr. P. O'Kelly-Lynch, handled everything very smoothly and had a programme laid on each night for both young and old. However, the one day that will probably be remembered most of the festival week will be the closing day, Sunday last.

From early afternoon it was quite evident that a big crowd would be present for the closing, but who ever could have forecast that by nighttime such a crowd of many hundreds of people would be present.

The takings for the dance in the Town Hall will more than likely remain an all-time record and the business carried out in the licensed premises was definitely the brisker for many a day.

So there, in brief, is the story of the most successful week in Lismore for many years, and already, eyes are being turned to Festival Week 1966.

The full results of all competitions will be given in our next issue.

SERMON AT TOOR ANNUAL MASS

In his sermon at the recent annual Mass at Toor Holy Well, Canon Kennedy, of Liverpool, took as his text "Thou shalt shine as a glorious light."

Dwelling on the life of St. Declan he said he was Baptised by St. Colman of Cloyne. He went to Rome on a pilgrimage and while there was consecrated Bishop by the Pope, to return to his own country to labour for souls. St. Declan's See was Ardmore then part of Diocese of Lismore. He was reputed for his great sanctity and famous for his many miracles. He died in the 6th century.

St. Patrick never came to Ardmore because West Waterford was already converted. It was the Golden Age of saintly men and miracle workers.

Following the death of St. Declan in the Sixth Century that Golden Age began. What was a mountain stream swelled into a mighty river. Every country in Europe had its Irish saints—Iona and Lindisfarne, Germany and Switzerland.

Cardinal Newman, referring to Ireland said "I look to a land both old and young."

In our national hymn reference is made as follows: "Thy children are exiled on many a shore, Shall love and revere Thee till time be no more The light' thou hast kindled Shall ever burn bright Its warmth undiminished Undying its light."

Far and wide Ireland became known as the Island of Saints and Scholars. The nations they gave the Faith to never lost it. Faith and fatherland are inseparable. May their strength be in meekness, in penance and in prayer.

Late Mrs. C. Barron CAPPAGH

The much-regretted death of Mrs. C. Barron, Ballynahenry, Cappagh, took place on Wednesday, 4th inst., after a comparatively short illness. News of her death was learned over a wide area with deep sorrow. She was relict of Mr. Nicholas Barron and nee Flynn, was a member of a well known family.

The remains were removed from the residence on Thursday evening to Ballinacree Church, where they were received by Very Rev. D. Quinlan, P.P., and Rev. W. Carey, C.C.

The interment took place in the adjoining cemetery after Requiem Mass, Very Rev. D. Quinlan, P.P., Rev. W. Carey, C.C., Rev. J. F. Morrissey, C.C., Rev. T. Nugent, Diocesan Examiner (cousin) officiating. There was a very large and representative attendance on both occasions.

The chief mourners were: Patrick, Ballynahenry, James, Gloucester, Roger, London (sons); Mrs. D. O'Sullivan, London, Mrs. B. Seery, Cappoquin, Mary, Cappoquin, Margaret, London, Nora, London (daughters); Patrick Flynn, Cappagh (brother). (Funeral arrangements by A. Walsh and Sons, Cappoquin.)

Defendant Drove Motor-cycle with One Hand

Thomas Cotter, Upper Dro-more, Aghish, was charged at Dungarvan District Court on Wednesday with driving a motor cycle without due care and attention at Mapstown, Dungarvan on June 5th. Judge Skinner imposed a fine of £1.

Garda P. Feeney said on the date in question he was on duty in the official car at 11.40 p.m. He observed a motor-cycle making a loud noise and going in the Villierstown direction.

He pursued it, driving behind it for about 100 yards. On four occasions the motor cycle wobbled and he observed that the defendant had his left hand in his pocket. He (witness) then overtook the motor cycle and at first the defendant denied having his hand in his pocket. He later admitted it however. He also told him that he did not think there was anything wrong with his driving.

Mr. A. V. Maher, Solr, defending—Would you not agree that it would be disturbing for a motorcyclist to have a car behind him like that.

Garda Feeney—My car was on the dim. The defendant, Thomas Cotter, said the car behind him was not passing him out and he looked behind to see why on two occasions. That caused him to wobble and the lights of the car were also causing a shadow in front of him that was distracting him. He had his left hand in his pocket but had sufficient control over the motor cycle.

NEW POSTAGE STAMP ON SEPT. 27th

The special "Europa" postage stamp sponsored by the European Conference of Postal and Telecommunications Administrations (CEPT) will be issued by member countries, including Ireland on September 27th. The Irish stamp will be in two denominations, 8d. (21 million) and 1/5d. (21 million) and will be made up in sheets of 120. The design is based on that submitted by Iceland which was selected by CEPT.

Printing will be by photogravure in multicolour on paper watermarked with the letter "e". Performations 15 x 15.

Persons who wish to have first day covers specially cancelled should hand them over the counter of a Post Office. Such covers should be already stamped at the appropriate rate and fully addressed. In Dublin, philatelic mail should be handed in at the General Post Office or St. Andrew St. Post Office.

First day covers handed in at the General Post Office or St. Andrew Street Post Office in Dublin or at the Head Offices in Cork, Dun Laoghaire, Galway, Limerick, Sligo, Waterford and Wexford, will be impressed with a special first day of issue mark.

IMPORTANT STATEMENT BY MINISTER FOR HEALTH

The following statement has been issued by the Minister for Health:—

At present persons maintained in county homes are allowed to keep 10/- a week for their own personal needs, out of whatever income they have. In future this amount will be increased to £1 per week, as promised by the Minister for Health in Dail Eireann on 1st June, 1965. The Minister has now made regulations to this effect. The new regulations will also allow such persons to retain sufficient income to meet commitments for fixed charges such as rent, rates, mortgages, hire purchase payments etc.

The Minister for Health has also made regulations increasing the present maximum infectious diseases allowances by 10/- a week for a person with an adult dependant, and by 5/- a week in the case of a person without an adult dependant, and increasing the maximum allowance payable to certain disabled persons, by ...10/- a week.

All these regulations (which are known as the Institutional Assistance Regulations, 1965, the Infectious Diseases (Maintenance) Regulations, 1965, and the Disabled Persons (Maintenance Allowances) (Amendment) Regulations, 1965) come into operation on the 1st August, 1965.

International Veterinary Education Conference

There will be three Irish representatives at the second international conference on veterinary education, organised by the Food and Agriculture Organisation and the World Health Organisation of the United Nations, which opens at Copenhagen on to-day, Thursday, August 12th. They are Professor P. McGeady, Dean of the Faculty of Veterinary Medicine of University College, Dublin; Professor J. A. Nicholson, Professor in Pre-Clinical Veterinary Science, Trinity College, Dublin, and Mr. B. O'Herlihy, Administrator of the Veterinary College of Ireland. The conference will last four days.

The first international conference on veterinary education took place in 1960, when it was decided to set up an FAO/WHO expert panel to examine the subject. This panel was set up in 1961 and the main business will be to consider its report and view them in detail and to decide which of them should be adopted for further action.

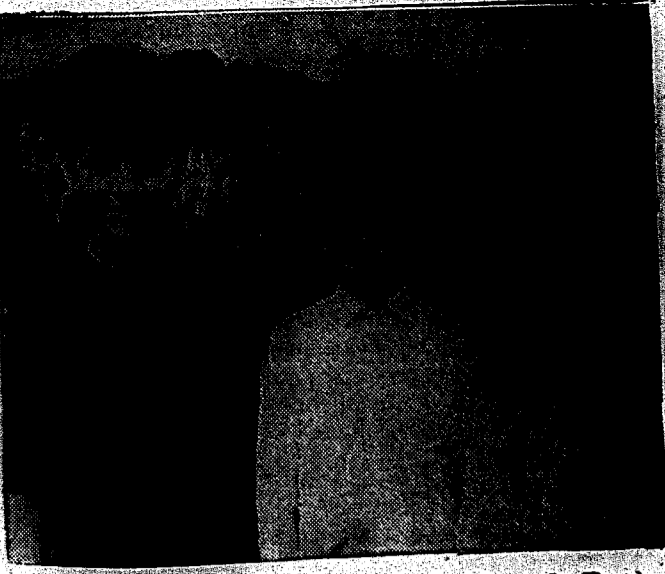

State Coach Trip for President

President de Valera will travel in the CIE State Coach to Galway on Saturday next, 14th August, for the blessing and dedication of the new Cathedral. The State Coach will be attached to the 6.50 p.m. "Cuna-Mara" train from Westland Row, which will arrive in Galway at 10.05 p.m.

The President will be accompanied in the State Coach by Mr. F. Aiken, Minister for External Affairs, Mr. and Mrs. Sean T. O'Kelly, Mrs. Eoin O'Malley, and Col. Sean Brennan, Aide de Camp.

En route the train will stop at Athlone, Ballinasloe, Attymon Junction and Athery.

The President and his party will return to Dublin on Monday, 16th August, in a special State Coach which will leave Galway at 10.25 a.m. and will run non-stop via Portlarnion arriving Kingsbridge at 1.10 p.m.

N.F.A. NEWS Vice-Presidents Report to provincial Meetings

The Fund will be used so that Irish students who wish to further their studies in Public Administration may attend the John F. Kennedy Institute of Public Affairs at Harvard University, Boston, which is being erected as a living memorial to the late U.S. President.

Following a special request to all N.F.A. Branch Secretaries to do their very best to ensure a substantial contribution to this worthy cause, many branches are working on it.

All contributions should be forwarded to the official secretaries of the Fund, Messrs. Kennedy, Crowley & Co. Public Auditors & Accountants, 4 Westmoreland St. Dublin 2.

This appeal is entirely on a voluntary basis and it is a matter for each N.F.A. branch and each individual farmer to contribute as much as they wish to this Fund.

MAHER TO REPRESENT CREAMERY SUPPLIERS
 Speaking at a meeting of Cork N.F.A. County Executive on Tuesday, 3rd August, Mr. T. J. Maher, Chairman, N.F.A. National Dairy Committee, emphasised the very important role that marketing boards must play in the marketing of Irish agricultural products. Mr. Maher stated that the N.F.A. fully believed in Boards but had at all times emphasised the importance of having such Boards properly constituted. An Bord Baine was assumed an even greater role in the marketing of products in the years ahead.

Mr. Maher is one of the N.F.A. candidates for election to An Bord Baine next month. The seat on An Bord Baine for which he is a candidate, represents cooperative societies who have creameries or cream separating stations in counties Clare, Cork, Kerry, Kilkenny, Laois, Tipperary, Waterford or Wexford. Each cooperative dairy society in the above area will have one vote in the forthcoming election. Nomination day is on September 7th and during the month previously, i.e. from 6th August, societies can nominate the candidate of their choice by making the proposal in writing to the Returning Officer for the elections, who is Mr. A. J. O'Reilly, General Manager, An Bord Baine. Voting papers will be issued on September 17th and must be returned on or before 27th Sept.

Mr. Maher emphasised that it was the obligation of the persons elected to represent producers on An Bord Baine to ensure that proper liaison existed between themselves and the producers. Mr. Maher assured all farmers that when elected he would endeavour to carry out his duties as a Board member to the best advantage of producers. There is little value, said Mr. Maher, in having so-called representatives of producers if such representatives are not answerable to farmers through their organisation. Taking into account that at present there is in excess of 80,000 dairy farmers members of N.F.A. representative. Otherwise dairy farmers would not be truly represented. Furthermore, there was no other organisation that could in any way claim to have the necessary machinery to communicate properly with milk producers. The structure of N.F.A. made it possible through branch and county meetings of ensuring that all dairy farmers were aware of what was happening on An Bord Baine and were afforded the opportunity of making recommendations to the Board. In the past producers in the Southern cooperative area have never been given the opportunity by their representative of either knowing what was happening or putting forward their views. Producers should not be denied their rights in this regard but unfortunately, we, as producers, have not been facilitated in this way.

Continuing, Mr. Maher, emphasised the great need for improving dairy farmers' income. N.F.A. was responsible for increases in milk prices but fully realised there was still a vast gap to be narrowed in order to give dairy farmers a just income for their work. He told the meeting that the N.F.A. unquestionably considered dairying as its top priority and the full resources of the Association would be used to ensure that dairy farmers received a fair crack of the whip.

The important role of dairying in the national economy was apparently being overlooked by the powers that be and it was only with a greater degree of solidarity that this position could be rectified. It was necessary at this stage that dairying received a long overdue injection if the industry was to grow sufficiently. N.F.A. firmly believed that an increase in the basic price of milk, coupled with a quality payment of a sufficient amount was needed. Furthermore, if the small dairy farmer was to survive in a fact any small farmer, it would be necessary to have preferential treatment for these people. This could and should be administered in the form of sliding scale prices and substantial grants to enable small farmers to produce the maximum from their holdings. Too many people talked about the importance of the small farmer but very little real assistance has ever been given to improve their lot. Present trends in dairying are towards expansion and such trends can be expected to continue in the years ahead. Unless the producer has a proper say in the marketing of his products, through his elected representative, prospects could indeed be gloomy. No individual has a right to consider himself representative of producers unless he is familiar with producers' problems.

Referring to the contribution that the cooperative movement had made to Irish Agriculture Mr. Maher paid a tribute to the important role that creamery managers had played in this direction. Committees of cooperative societies had also done a very fine job and had given a very considerable amount of their time and effort in the building up of co-ops. Success in the future will depend on all round co-operation and greater participation of members in their local cooperative. N.F.A., at all levels, would welcome closer working relationship with all people connected with the cooperative movement and would give assistance at any time.

Mr. P. Walsh, Chairman, Cork County Executive N.F.A., told the meeting that he felt proud that the N.F.A. had a person so capable as Mr. Maher to represent Dairy Farmers. Dairy farmers, said Mr. Walsh, could be assured that their case would be properly presented at all times by Mr. Maher. It was important that producers were represented by a person who understood the practical aspects and difficulties of dairying itself. While Mr. Maher had given endless time to organisational work on behalf of farmers he milks his own cows, morning and evening. This enables Mr. Maher to have a real understanding of dairying and impresses very fully on him the need for continual and proper liaison between An Bord Baine and the primary producers. Dairy farmers should understand the importance of this and consequently in their own interest support Mr. Maher in the election.

It was the duty and the responsibility of all dairy farmers who knew the hard facts to ensure that this information was conveyed to the members of creamery committees. Otherwise creamery committee members could be genuinely misguided and due to being misinformed, may support somebody that could not in any way be considered representative of dairy farmers. People who were fortunate to know all the facts had a moral obligation to ensure that all concerned were properly informed. Mr. Maher should be the unanimous choice of creamery societies in the Southern cooperative area and an confident, said Mr. Walsh that Creamery Societies on behalf of their producer members will not be prepared to accept a second best. Sentiment, said Mr. Walsh, should never be allowed to hinder the progress of farmers of the nation.

Mr. Buttiner, N.F.A. Vice-President for Munster, said that Mr. Maher had on many occasions very effectively represented dairy farmers at various levels. Mr. Maher has spoken on behalf of 80,000 dairy farmers at national and international meetings. The onus was now on dairy farmers to support their organisation and ensure that the dairying industry was put in its proper perspective for the years ahead. The whole future of dairying will be influenced by the type of representation producers have on An Bord Baine.

In introducing Mr. Michael Howard, the N.F.A. candidate in the Dairy Disposal Board area, Mr. Walsh stated that Mr. Howard was a genuine dairy farmer who, as a member of the N.F.A. Dairy Committee and Rural Development Committee, had a special interest in the problems of small farmers and

SELECT FIELD FOR DUNLOP TOURNAMENT

The Dunlop Masters which will be held at Portmarnock on 17th, 18th and 19th September, is one of the most important tournaments in golf and the title "Master Golfer" awarded to the winner is highly coveted.

Entrance is restricted to forty players who have satisfied the qualifying requirements and a high level of golf is an assured feature.

To date competitors who have accepted invitations to the Masters include:

Angel Miguel, Spain (Swallow-Fenfold 1965, Dutch Open 1965, Portuguese Open, 1964, Spanish Open, 1964).
 Christy O'Connor, Ireland (Dunlop Irish, 1965, Senior Service 1965, Dunlop Master Winner 1966, 1967).
 Peter Allis, Gt. Britain (Esso Golden 1964, Jeyes 1965, Schweppes 1965 (tie)).

 George Will, Great Britain (Esso Golden 1965).
 David Snell, Tommy Horton, Guy Wolstenholme, Stewart Murray, John Panton, Tony Coop, Tony Jacklin (next in P.G.A. order of merit table).

In addition the winners of the following tournaments which take place between now and September 17, are eligible to compete:

Gor-ray Assistants' Tournament; News of the World Match Play Championship; Swiss Open Championship; Scandinavian Dunlop Tournament.

An organising committee of Portmarnock Golf Club has now completed most of the preliminary arrangements for the tournament. A miniature tented town is to go up near the clubhouse and the complex organisation at a major tournament such as this, to feed, shelter and inform, players, officials and spectators, is already getting into top gear.

P.O.A. ON POTATO LARGELY CHARGE

Private Philip Daly, 30 Congress Villas, Dungarvan, was given the benefit of the P.O.A. by Judge Skinner at Dungarvan District Court on Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to the larceny of 38 lbs. of potatoes at Springmount valued 10/10 on August 9.

Supt. M. Enclish, prosecuting said that Garda M. Bowen and Sgt. Johnson met the defendant on the road and he admitted that he had taken the potatoes. They were not growing, he said, but were lying in the furrows on the ground.

Supt. Enclish said the defendant was a very respectable man. He was married with five children and had an excellent Army record.

The Justice then applied the P.O.A.

LATE WILLIAM FITZGERALD

GATES, OLD PARISH

We regret to announce the death of William Fitzgerald, which sad event occurred on Thursday, August 5th, after a rather short period of illness, at the district hospital, Dungarvan. The deceased had spent the greater part of his life in the U.S.A., and returned to his native county, on retiring, some years ago. He made many friends on both sides of the Atlantic, and was of unassuming and charming manner.

We extend our deepest condolences to his relatives, especially to his brother, Daniel Fitzgerald, of Gates, Old Parish, with whom he resided since his return to his native land. R.I.P.

His remains were removed to Friday evening to Old Parish church, followed by a cortege of very great dimensions and were blessed and received by Rev. M. Kennedy, C.C.

Requiem Mass was celebrated for the repose of his soul, and the interment took place in the adjoining cemetery. Another large concourse were present. Rev. M. Kennedy, C.C., also officiated at the graveside.

Large sheaves of Mass cards were received.

(Undertaking was by James Kiely & Sons, Dungarvan.)

Late Mrs. Sarah Mangan

LISMORE

The death occurred on Thursday night, August 5th, at St. Joseph's hospital, Dungarvan, after a rather lengthy duration of illness, but at the fullness of years. She was a very well known member of the Lismore community in which town she was extremely popular for her many outstanding qualities.

Her remains were removed from St. Joseph's Mortuary, on Friday evening to St. Mary's parish church, Dungarvan, where Requiem Mass was offered on Saturday morning for the happy and eternal repose of her soul.

The funeral took place later in the day to Lismore where her interment took place in the family plot in the local cemetery. A large concourse were present. Rev. D. Slattery, C.C., Lismore, imparted the final absolution at the graveside and recited the prayers of requiem. Holy Mass was offered in Lismore for the repose of her gentle soul.

(Undertaking was carried out by James Kiely & Sons, Shannon, Dungarvan.)

Kilmacthomas Notes

In Spain. — Misses Nuala Murphy and Patricia Beatty, St. Anne's Tce., have just left for Spain on a short holiday. Both are members of the Co. Council staff, Dungarvan.

Wedding Bells.—Miss Mary Begley, popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Begley, Kilmacthomas, was united in Holy Matrimony last week with Mr. Michael Walsh of Kerry. Mrs. Walsh is the former Miss Agnes Murphy, sister of Mr. M. C. Murphy, St. Anne's Tce.

The reception, at which more than 120 guests attended, was held in the Metropole Hotel, Kilmacthomas. It was a double wedding, as Mr. Walsh's sister got married the same day.

We wish success and happiness to both lucky couples.

Scouter King.—The Isle of Man was the mecca for all scooter-lovers last month, when the Manx Scooter Rally took place. The premier awards with the title "Scouter King" was awarded to Mr. Michael Murphy of Barnes, London, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Murphy, Kilmacthomas. During the week-long international rally, in which 320 drivers participated, Mike also notched the Tynwald Trophy, The Vespa Award, and came first in the Druidale Event. Mike is a member of the Thames Valley Vespa Club, and he lost fewer marks than the other 32 time-trial finishers of the four-lap course over partially-closed roads. A truly praiseworthy feat indeed.

Pretty Wedding.—The marriage took place, with Nuptial Mass and Papal Blessing, at the Cathedral, Waterford City, on Saturday last, of Mr. John Hamilton (Sean) Buchanell, and Miss E. Hamilton, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Hamilton, Railway View, Kilmacthomas. The best man was Mr. Paddy Buchanell (brother of the groom), and the bridesmaid was Miss Maria Hamilton (sister of the bride). Given away by her father, the bride was charmingly attired in a full-length white gown with a most attractive head-dress. The bridesmaid wore a full-length gown of champagne colour.

Many relatives and friends attended the reception held in the Majestic Hotel, Waterford. Both bride and groom were the recipients of many valuable gifts, and all their legions of friends in these parts wish them the very best in their wedded life. They will reside in Cabintealy, Co. Dublin.

Wedding Bells.—Very Rev. M. O'Donovan, P.P. Kilrossanty, assisted by Rev. J. A. Flynn, C.C., Ballylaneen, officiated at the marriage, which was solemnised with Nuptial Mass and Papal Blessing at St. Brigid's Church, Kilrossanty, of Mr. John O'Neill, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Neill, Tracey's Hill, Kilmacthomas, and Miss Breda Cheasty, daughter of Mr. Michael and the late Mrs. Cheasty, Leamybrien.

The best man was Mr. Paddy O'Neill, and the bridesmaid was Miss Marie Casey, Kill. The bride, who was given away by her father, was beautifully attired in a full-length gown of the Kippure lace, over white satin, with a flowing train. She wore a bouffant veil held in place by a pearl-studded coronet, and she carried a bouquet of red carnations. The bridesmaid wore a full-length dress of tangerine-satin, and wore a matching head-dress, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations. Little Misses Alice O'Neill and Marian Doyle, who were dressed in ballet-length lemon organdie frocks, were train-bearers. Over forty guests attended the reception held in the Hotel Ormonde, Dungarvan, and after which the happy couple left for their honeymoon which is being spent in the Isle of Wight.

Congratulations and every happiness to the young couple. Decease.—After a colourful parade through the village on Sunday night, the Seafield Pipe Band members attended the them in the Springvalley Hall, where the music was supplied by a popular showband. Kill his grace from his loving son social club are holding their annual August dance in the Atlantic Ballroom, Tramore on Thursday (Thursday) and as this is one of Tramore's successful annuals, this year's effort should be no exception.

The Horse Show.—Many local farmers and horse-breeders were successful at the Dublin Horse Show, held last week in Ballsbridge. We congratulate Messrs. Tom Lenihan, Ballyturton, Percy Dunphy, Ballylaneen, and John Linehan, Ballylaneen, for winning awards in the section for Thoroughbred yearling, gelding, or entire colt. Mr. Larry O'Byrne of the Lodge, Kilmacthomas, was successful with his hunter gelding "Silver Springs". Mr. Nicholas Connors, Park, Strabally, had some success in the section for hunter mares and for 3-yr.-old geldings to make light hunting. Rev. Fr. Cahill officiated at the marriage, with

A Year of Challenge and Achievement

In the year 1964-65 the demand for electricity increased by 339 million units or 11.7% to a total of 3,240 million units as compared with an increase of 6.8% in 1963-64, and an average increase of 9.1% over the last five years.

The accounts for the year show that in the scale of the Board's operations a balanced position was maintained between revenue and expenditure. The actual result is a deficit of £29,537, i.e., expenditure exceeded the revenue of £22,572,233 by that amount. The Board hopes it will not be necessary to increase rates of charge during the coming year.

Sales of electricity during the year totalled £22,488,000, an increase of £2,105,000 or 10.3% over the previous year.

As the total demand for electricity rises, larger generating units are being installed to avail of their lower production. During 1964-65, two MW units were put into operation; at Marina in Cork, and at Ringsend in Dublin. Six sets of similar capacity are on order, two for the extension to Ringsend Station and two for each of the new power stations at Great Island in Co. Wexford and at Tarbert Island in Co. Kerry. At the end of the year, tenders had been invited for two 120 MW sets for the proposed new Pigeon House B generating station.

Acceptance of Electric Heating. The economic operation of these larger sets is enhanced by 24-hour operation and it was encouraging to find that a wide public acceptance of electric night heating in homes results in this particular load being increased by 32% during the year.

The overall increase in demand during the year occurred amongst industrial, commercial and domestic customers and in all parts of the country, both urban and rural.

Growth of Rural Electrification. Work was completed in the 792 areas selected under the original Rural Electrification Scheme. In addition, 277 areas have been reconvened under the revised rural post development scheme, and in these 1,388 areas work has been completed or is in progress on a further 67. The deficit on the Rural Revenue Account for the year amounted to £1,216,652.

New 220kV Network. The section of the new 220 kV transmission grid between Cork and Shannonbridge completed and a 220kV transmission station at Shannonbridge was commissioned and a similar station at Cork was nearing completion.

The extension and strengthening of the distribution network imposes a heavy demand on the Board's labour and capital resources. In the year 1964-5, £2,416,000 was spent on these tasks. In the Dublin districts a special problem has been created because of the large volume of building, the increases in the domestic use of electricity and the shortage of skilled labour for network construction and improvement.

During 1964-5 102 new substations were erected in these districts and in 1965-6 it is estimated that expenditure up to £1,600,000 will be required to carry out further improvements to maintain a satisfactory supply position.

Increase in Generation Capacity. Total generation capacity during the year was increased by 160 MW bringing the total up to 1009.5 M.W. Generation of electricity from the native sources of hydro, peat and coal amounted to almost 60% of total output.

Industrial Relations. The National recommendation of January, 1964, has not succeeded in lessening the pressure of claims and disputes. The expectation of a long period of industrial peace has not been realised. Unless agreements work well and are unheld, their justification must come under serious question.

Industrial relations in the Board, providing a service vital to the needs of the individual and of the national economy, must be re-appraised. The services provided cannot be interrupted without the most serious consequences.

At the 31st March, 1965, the Board had a regular staff of 6,479 and a temporary staff of 3,240.

Fisheries. Work continued during the year in the E.S.B. programme to rebuild the fisheries affected by hydro electric development.

CAPPOQUIN NOTES

LATE MISS K. HACKETT. The much-regretted death of Miss Kate Hackett, Moonwee, took place at her residence on Tuesday, 3rd inst. She was a well-known figure in the district, where she was noted for her generosity and hospitality.

Pre-deceased by her brothers James, Michael and the Very Rev. John Hackett, Pastor, East Dubuque, she was the last surviving member of her family.

On Wednesday, the remains were removed to the parish church, where they were received by Rev. M. O'Meara and Rev. E. MacSweeney, C.S.Sp., and on Thursday morning, following Solemn Office and Requiem High Mass, the burial took place in St. Declan's Cemetery. The attendance at the obsequies was very large and representative.

The chief mourners included the members of the deceased's family.

COACHING COURSE. Mr. John Fraher, Secretary of the G.A.A. Club, is attending the coaching course on hurling at Gormanstown, being conducted by, amongst others, Donie Nealon of Tipperary.

NEXT SUNDAY. Fourmilewater and Cappoquin will meet in the Field Improvement Tournament on Sunday evening at 7.30 in intermediate hurling.

FISHING CONTEST. On Sunday last the third Angling Competition run by the local club was held on the Blackwater on the stretch adjacent to the stone bridge. Over thirty competitors took part, the majority being cross-Channel holiday-makers.

The prizes for the occasion, were presented by the following: Messrs. J. Henry, Terry Kelly and Terry Skelton of Surrey, who departed last week at the end of a fishing holiday here.

While bags on Sunday were not as heavy as on previous occasions competition was keen and participants were all satisfied with the evening's sport.

The heaviest bag was caught by Mr. E. Lane, Birmingham; 2nd, Mr. T. G. Scott, Fulham; 3rd, Mr. P. Scott, Fulham; 4th, Mr. S. Jeffries, Cappoquin. Best return by club member: Mr. John Casey, Dungarvan. Lady's Prize was won by Miss M. Jeffries.

RECORD CATCH. Fishing from Miss Murray's garden on Wednesday afternoon, four English visitors, staying at Conway's Hotel, in a three hour spell, caught a total weight of 225 lbs. of fish—coarse and otherwise. This is believed to constitute a record. The weighing was done by Mr. W. Conway, Hon. Secretary of the Cappoquin and Lismore Angling Association.

Seven specimen fish of various kinds, including a very large roach, have been sent by Mr. Conway to the Irish Specimen Fish Committee in Dublin for confirmation of weight, size, etc.

PRIESTS DEPARTURE. Fr. E. MacSweeney, C.S.Sp., has left for the African Mission Fields after a holiday here.

FESTIVAL QUEEN. We learn that at the Boat-houses on Sunday night representatives of the Waterford Operatic Society will attend to select three young ladies who will later on compete for the honour of being Festival Queen.

VILLIERSTOWN GALA DAY. Villierstown held its Annual Gala Day on Sunday and fine weather brought large crowds to patronise the many entertainments. The highlight of the programme was the water-skiing exhibition put on by Major Grubb and party and Mr. M. J. Sargent and party.

The donkey derby was won by Naddy, owned and trained by Mr. Cunningham of Ballycurran and ridden by Matt Cunningham. Second was "Parric", owned and ridden by Miss K. Evans of London and trained by Mr. Edward Wallace of London. Starter was Mr. Walter Terry.

The results of the children's fancy dress were: Groups—1st, Dungarvan Show; 2nd, Three Sheets in the Wind; 3rd, I.C.A. Group. Prizetiest—1st, "1 is Growing Up"; 2nd, Light of Other Days; 3rd, Lady of the Day. Original—1st, Irishmen's Dinner; 2nd, Departed Spirits; 3rd, Match Girl. Topical—Seamus Hayes.

An exhibition of Irish step dancing was given by a local children's group. The Tug-of-War competition was won by Villierstown. The day concluded with a social in the Hall for which the music was provided by the Ring Ceil Band.

TALLOW NOTES

DEATH OF MISS MARY TOBIN. We regret to record the death of Miss Mary Tobin, Tircullen, Tallow, which occurred at her residence on Tuesday, August 3rd following an illness of only one week's duration and at the comparatively early age of 53 years.

The late Miss Tobin was a member of a widely esteemed family and was held in high regard by all. An exemplary Catholic, she was possessed of a mild and gentle nature, and her demise is very deeply regretted. She was a valued member of Kilwatermoy Drama Group.

The remains, accompanied by an imposing cortege, were removed to the Church of the Holy Cross, Kilwatermoy, on Wednesday evening and were received and blessed by Rev. Fr. Sean Nugent, C.C., Glendine. The funeral took place following Requiem Mass, in the adjoining cemetery. Rev. Sean Nugent, C.C., assisted by Rev. Dom Murray, O.S.B., Glendine, officiated.

To her bereaved brother, sister, nieces and nephews much sympathy is extended.

The chief mourners were: Mr. James Tobin, Janeville, Tallow (brother); Mrs. Sarah Geary, non, Ballinamultina, Clashmore. Deceased, who was of a kind and amiable disposition, was popular among all sections of the community and her demise is much regretted. We join in extending sincere sympathy to her bereaved family.

The funeral to Clashmore churchyard was of large and representative proportions. Very Rev. D. Canon Power, P.P., and Rev. E. Tobin, C.C., officiated.

CLASHMORE WIN. Clashmore team had a convincing win over Ballyduff in the intermediate football championship. The winners, however, will have to show a considerable improvement if they hope to advance any further in the competition. On Sunday last numerous scoring opportunities were wasted.

DOMINICAN AUSTRIA HOME. Home from Austria is Rev. Fr. Kenneth Osborne, O.P., who is a native of Ardsallagh, Clashmore. He is staying with relatives in Piltown and his many friends are pleased to see him in excellent health. Fr. Quinlan is a well known member of the Dominican Order and has served in Houses of the Order in different parts of the world.

CLASHMORE MON ON VACATION. Accompanied by his wife and family, Mr. John O'Connell, who now resides in England, is at present enjoying a holiday in his native Clashmore. A leading gaelic footballer in his youth, Mr. O'Connell served in the R.A.F. as a Flying Officer, and saw active service in Malaya, where he was wounded. He also served in Canada, the U.S.A. and Egypt.

AN EXTRAORDINARY OMISSION. While Ardmore is included in the tourist guide, recently published by the Tourist Board, it is not indicated that it has a beach. It is very difficult to understand this extraordinary omission, as the local beach is one of the finest and safest in the country. There are also glorious beaches at Ballyvoun, Goat Island, Whiting Bay, Caliso Bay, etc.

OLD COIN FOUND. Mr. Winifred Thorne, Convent Street, Tallow, has in his possession the following coin: a George 111 coin with the date 1797. It is much larger than a penny. He also has a medallion or coin of Pome Plus XXII, dated 1868 with Latin lettering. This is of copper or bronze and is somewhat larger than a penny and much thicker. He also has a penny dated 1842 with the imprint of the Queen when she was a very young woman. All the coins are in a remarkable state of preservation.

NEW AUCTIONEER. Mr. William Pennessy, Ballylinarone, Ballyduff, has been granted an auctioneer's licence. Mr. Pennessy is also a well-known undertaker.

ON HOLIDAYS

At present spending a holiday from England at his home in Old Parish, is Mr. Willie Cahill. Prior to emigrating, Mr. Cahill was employed as barman at the "Corner House" Bar, Tallow. He visited the town during last week-end and renewed many old friendships.

Mr. James Ronan, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Ronan, New Street, is also on holidays from England. He served in the British army during the second World war.

Inspector P. Dooling, London Police Force, has concluded a holiday at the home of his mother, at Kilmore, Tallow. Mr. W. McDonnell, formerly of New Street, is also home from England on holidays. Messrs. John and Patrick Walsh, formerly of Lyreencarriga, Tallow, and now resident in the Metropolis, are spending a holiday with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leahy, Commons, Youghal.

BALLYDUFF'S BIG DAY ON SUNDAY. The village of Ballyduff will have a big day on Sunday next, 15th August, when the all Ireland tug-of-war championship will be staged there. The event is sponsored by Beamish and Carling, Ltd.

T.D.'S VISIT TO CONSTITUENTS. Mr. John Fahey, T.D., visited Tallow on Saturday last, for the convenience of his local constituents. He also visited Lismore and Melleray.

ON HOLIDAYS. Mr. John O'Connor, who is employed at a Lismore bank, is at present on holidays in his native west Cork. Mr. O'Connor served in the Irish Army from 1922 up to the close of the Emergency in 1946, when he retired on pension with the rank of Sergt. Major. During the Emergency he was Sgt. Major with the 13th (Connaught) Infantry Battalion and was stationed at Clonmel, Cahir and Kilkenny. He also served in the Anglo-Irish war with the famed West Cork Brigade.

We wish him a pleasant holiday amidst the scenes and friends of his youthful days.

Local Happenings. AN SEÁN RÓILIG. A collection is being taken up to clean the Old Graveyard at Ring. If you have relatives buried there we would be very grateful to receive a subscription. — D. O. Connaughtaigh, An Rinn; Sean O. Siotechain, Seaneill, An Rinn.

DONORS WANTED. The Cork Blood Transfusion Service will hold a donor session in the Town Hall, Dungarvan, on Tuesday, 17th August, from 8 to 9 p.m., and on Thursday, 26th August, from 8 to 9 p.m. All who possibly can should donate to this vitally important service.

CAMOGIE TOURNAMENT. FINAL. St. Patrick's Camogie Club will hold the final of their mead tournament, between Eire Og and St. Patrick's, at Gleeson's Field, Kibrien, on Tuesday night, 17th August, at 8 p.m. Admission is 2/-.

Ceili afterwards in Kibrien Hall. Dancing is from 9-1 and music will be supplied by the Dalton Ceil Band.

CHAMPIONS FALL LIKE NINE PINS

What a disaster period the past week has turned out to be for reigning champions. On Thursday night at Cappoquin, Dungarvan put the ball rolling as it were when they surrendered their Western minor hurling title to Lismore. That, let me add, was the least surprising of these shock results, but nevertheless there were many who still fancied those Old Boro minors to hold on to their title for another year at least.

But then came Sunday last, and just about the biggest upset of this present decade. In the afternoon, senior football champions, Kilrossanty stepped out on to Dungarvan's Fraher field odds-on favourites to take the Mount Sion challenge in their stride. And they seemed all set to do just that at half time when they led by a clear two goals. But in typical Monastery fashion, Sion rammed home a couple of opportunist goals late in the game, and went on to record a sensational two-point victory.

It was the third game, however—the Western minor football final on Sunday night at Dungarvan, that provided the greatest shock result of all. Here Stradbally were regarded as virtual certainties to not alone retain their Divisional title but to go on also and capture their second successive county title. But what a rude awakening this seemingly invincible fifteen got from as gallant a bunch of minors as ever left Ardmore. Unfancied even within the confines of their own Parish, they gave this final everything they possessed, and fully deserved their two points victory. The Reds missed some sitters in the closing stages, but if ever complacency ruined a team's chances this was it.

A Lismore-Mount Sion-Ardmore treble would surely have been quoted at odds of fifty— or more—to one, and this in itself is further proof of the truth of the maxim "anything can happen in the championship."

COUNTY BOARD'S CHAMPIONSHIP FIXTURES

At a meeting of the County Board in Dungarvan on Monday night last, the following championship draws were arranged: Senior Football—Geraldines v. John Mitchels at Dungarvan, 19th Sept.; Gaultier v. Ardmore at Tramore, 19th Sept.; Mount Sion v. Erin's Own at Tramore, 19th Sept.; Kill v. Stradbally at Tramore, 12th Sept.

Senior Hurling—Ballyduff/Portlaoighain v. Mount Sion, October 10th; Dunhill v. Erin's Own at Tramore, August 29th; winner v. Ballygunner on a date to be arranged.

Minor Hurling County Final—Lismore v. Ballyduff-Portlaoighain or Mount Sion on August 28th. If Lismore v. Ballyduff-Portlaoighain at Tramore; if Lismore v. Mt. Sion at Dungarvan. Mount Sion consented to Dungarvan as the venue if they are involved, in view of the heavy programme scheduled for Tramore.

Minor Football County Final—St. Declan's (Ardmore) v. Eastern winners at Dungarvan on August 29th.

All-Ireland Tickets—Waterford's allocation of All-Ireland hurling tickets this year is 564 and the distribution will be the same as last year.

AFFANE STRONGLY FANCED

Despite the suspensions imposed on the majority of their top players, Kilgobinet are fielding out against top championship contenders Affane, in the Intermediate football championship at Lismore on Sunday next. This indeed is a very commendable step by Kilgobinet and shows their determination to remain in existence. They deserve the congratulations of all.

What a pity then that this once appealing clash should now look a comparatively simple task for Affane. Had Kilgobinet been able to field at full strength this would surely have been a rip-roaring game, but weakened as they are now, Affane at full-strength must be something of a nap selection to win.

But Kilgobinet's snirit could not be better. Much will now depend on Ned Hanley and company, but they are determined to battle every inch of the way. Of that I have no doubt, but all in all one cannot but go confidently for a decisive Affane victory.

TOURIN GET THE VOTE

Although by no means a great footballing side, Tourin should nevertheless prove too strong for Ballyduff Upper's second championship at Tallow on Sunday. Ballyduff failed dismally on Sunday last in the Intermediate championship and it is extremely doubtful if they can muster a second fifteen good enough to master Tourin. The latter will of course miss the services of Steve Scanlon, but led by the stylish Ollie Wilkinson, they look altogether too powerful for the Reds.

GLEN ROVERS FACE TOUGH TASK TONIGHT (THURSDAY)

Affane, bidding for a championship double this year, will attempt to go a step nearer achieving that objective tonight (Thursday) when they face Glen Rovers in junior hurling at Cappoquin.

The Rovers are renowned championship battlers and can be fully relied on to give of their very best in this tilt with Affane. Outsiders they may be in this game but there is a quiet air of confidence among players and followers in their ability to cause an upset.

But mindful though I am of Glen Rovers ability to rise to the occasion, it would be little short of folly to oppose the affaners. If anything they must be favourites to win out this championship (with all due respects to Tallow and co.) and it is unlikely that they will fall at this hurdle.

LISMORE FACE KILROSSANTY AT DUNGARVAN

Following the splendid successes of their minor hurlers, it is not surprising that hurling should be the main topic of conversation in the Cathedral town of Lismore at present. And on to-morrow night (Friday) at Dungarvan their junior hurlers will bid to shed further lustre on the town when they oppose Kilrossanty in the championship.

Kilrossanty prestige took a terrible shattering on Sunday last when their senior footballers unexpectedly surrendered their title to unfancied Mount Sion. Now the club must pin its hopes for the remainder of the year on the hurlers and there is steely determination to reap some consolation for that football failure.

But whether or not they can overcome a club riding on the crest of a hurling wave as at present, is a moot point to say the least. I expect this Lismore side to contain some of their brilliant minors, notably Michael McGrath, Jimmy Geoghegan, Jarlath Daly and Davy Whelan.

Add to these, seasoned campaigners like Ronnie O'Donnell, who continues to defy his veteran years. Billy Hickey and the Lineans, and it can be seen Lismore will be no pushover. They will, of course, be without Tommy Hickey who is now wearing the Tourin jersey, but there is still the nucleus of a good side there.

It should be a close game, with little in it at the end. Kilrossanty will make a great bid to restore lost prestige but I feel Lismore should just about prevail.

CLASHMORE NEVER EXTENDED

As expected, Clashmore Intermediate footballers went a step nearer taking this year's Western crown when decisively defeating Ballyduff Upper at Cappoquin on Sunday last. At the end of a tough hour's football they were clear out winners on a scoreline of 2-9 to 0-3, but despite their twelve point win they were far from impressive.

Ballyduff were playing with fourteen men from midway through the first half, after one of their players had been sent to the line for striking Vin Rourke, and thereafter they completely fell away.

GERALDINES BEATEN IN TOURNAMENT FINAL

After leading by a goal at the interval, Geraldines were eventually beaten by a solitary point by Aragen in a thrilling final to the hurling tournament held in conjunction with the Lismore Festival week at the Castle Farm grounds on Sunday night last.

But if the Aglishers went under in this decider they played well enough to suggest once again that it is going to take a good side to beat them in this year's Western intermediate championship.

COLLIGAN MUST BE FANCED

But Dungarvan are quietly Confident

SUNDAY next is a comparatively quiet day on the Western Gaelic front. But one game stands out and that is the second round meeting of Dungarvan and Colligan Rockies at the Fraher Field in the Intermediate hurling championship. It is a game with all the ingredients for a rousing hour's hurling and if the Rockies summary dismissal of Kilgobinet entitles them to command the role of favourites, the Blues are also confident of repeating their winter league win over the same opposition earlier this year.

At the start of this year's championship few gave Colligan any hope of figuring in the final stages. They had many problems unsolved, commencing with the goalkeeping sector, and all in all they looked really up against it in Kilgobinet in the opening round.

But in a game that will be remembered only by the happenings after its abandonment, the Rockies reigned supreme and were 2-7 to 1-0 ahead when the game was called off twenty minutes before the official end. There can be no denying that Colligan looked a highly accomplished combination on that occasion, with the suspect sectors patched up and none more so than the net minding job at which Jim Joe Bannon fairly sparkled.

Now for Sunday next they travel into Dungarvan's own domain and it is surely a measure of their confidence that they agreed to play this game in the Fraher Field. All their casualties have reported fit including Jim Cliffe, Paddy Walsh and Jimmy Tobin and they will have a full-strength fifteen on parade.

And what of Dungarvan? Sunday next will be their first championship outing of the year, having already received a first round bye. They are eminently satisfied with their role of outsiders, but there can be no mistaking the air of confidence that pervades their camp fence in general has a more settled look about it. The return of Mickey Walsh as pivot has had a reassuring effect on the entire sector, and he together with Cyril Power, Christy Dower, Jim Cliffe and Jim Ahearne will be the key men of the sector.

Against Kilgobinet their mid-field of Colum Bannon and Maxie McGrath ruled the roost and it seems most likely that they will be given another vote of confidence by their selectors.

There may be a positional switch or two in attack, but whatever composition they may decide on, the danger men will most likely be Paddy Walsh, Dick Tobin and Tommy Byrnes.

The goalkeeping job on the Dungarvan side rests between Michael Donnelly and Jim Walsh with the probability that the former will be selected. And their defence will be marshalled by Tom Cunningham, Mick Fitzgerald and Con or Curran, with John Moylan and Ray Lannon likely to do duty on the half-way line.

The selecting of the forwards may present its problems and major hopes will be pinned on Jim Byrne, John "Riby" Mahony, Mick Bowen and M. Whelan.

Dungarvan have already mastered the Rockies in this year's winter league and are confident of repeating it now in the competition that really matters. But Colligan were short some regulars on that occasion and they attach no significance at all to that result.

They will too have benefited from that great victory over Kilgobinet, and Dungarvan are bound to be at a disadvantage in this being their first championship outing of the year.

Colligan must start favourites and on form are entitled to the vote. But a Dungarvan resurgence must come sooner or later and all connected with the team are convinced that Sunday next will help them in their fight to return to the top. We'll wait and see!

LISMORE TOPPLE CHAMPIONS

LISMORE — 1-9; DUNGARVAN — 1-2 DUNGARVAN came crashing down from their lofty pedestal of Western minor hurling champions on Thursday night when relinquishing their crown to a superb Lismore team. In a tense, thrilling and uncompromising Divisional decider, at Cappoquin. It was, as I so confidently predicted in my preview to the game, a final worthy of these great rivals, but if Dungarvan bowed out like true champions, this was Lismore's undisputed hour of glory. With a defiance that wreaked with dedication, they withstood everything the Blues had to offer, and they will, no doubt, be worthy Western ambassadors in the Co. final.

This may not have been a classic final in the strictest sense of that word. With no quarter being given or asked by either side, and with little desire to indulge in frills or fancy stuff, the hurling, not surprisingly in the circumstances, fell short of that classic variety. But what a supercharged decider it was from the moment the game was set in motion. Each and every one of the thirty participants scorned personal safety in the cause of victory, and if the exchanges at times tended to become over-robust, one must make allowances when considering the tension and electric atmosphere prevailing.

Dungarvan, as already stated, lost little caste in defeat. But let none deny Lismore the fruits of this well deserved victory. For long stages they had the holders playing second fiddle in many sectors, and at the end of a tensely fought decider they had emerged the worthiest of winners. Gamedly the champions strove to retain their crown, but as the second half wore on it became increasingly evident that there was going to be a dethronement of the holders. Lismore, buoyant, their hurling now marked by an unmistakable brand of confidence, assumed complete control, and in all sectors they had that champion look about them.

IN TROUBLE Almost from the start, Dungarvan were in trouble. They were outthrued at midfield, where a positively brilliant Michael McGrath could not be contained, whilst their attack was making little or no impression against an impregnable Lismore defence. By the 21st minutes six glorious points were sent flashing over without a Dungarvan reply, and one could be forgiven for thinking in terms of a complete rout. But the remaining nine minutes brought about quite a transformation and an invaluable goal and a point left Dungarvan a mere two points in arrears at the half way stage.

They now had the advantage of the second half breeze, whilst Lismore's hopes nosedived also in the 28th minute with the arrival of Michael McGrath through injury. But when the sides resumed second-half activities McGrath was back at midfield and his head swathed in bandages. And then commenced almost a quarter of an hour of intense Dungarvan pressure. They laid siege to the Lismore citadel, but a combination of great defensive hurling and weak forward finishing prevented a score being conceded. And having survived this crucial barrage, Lismore again took up the running to sweep to a victory as convincing as it was deserved.

Had Dungarvan succeeded in penetrating for scores during that first quarter of the second half they would undoubtedly have been in closer scoring touch at the end. But if lady luck did fail to smile on some of their efforts during that period of ascendancy, I will ever remain convinced that Lismore would still have prevailed irrespective of the happenings of early in that second half.

THE SCORING The winners drew first blood in the second minute when M. McGrath pointed a 60 yards free. Liam Canning had the first of his many points in the 4th minute and a minute later the same player flashed over another spectacular minor from almost the halfway line. Twice Dungarvan failed to capitalise on close in frees, and they fell further into arrears by the 21st minute with points by McGrath, Bernie Scanlon and Canning.

Then Dungarvan had reward from some strong pressure. First Sean Frankling pointed a free and then came the miss of the match, when Sean Flynn, having soloed right through the Lismore defence blazed wide from less than ten yards. But just on the half hour the Blues notched what could have been a very vital score. A ball that seemed to be dropping out wide was saved by goalkeeper Dinny Buckley, but Flynn was in like a flash to smash the ball to the net. But try as they might for that opening quarter of the second half, the Dungarvan forwards failed to narrow the gap. And when at the three-quarter stage a Liam Canning point put a clear goal's daylight between the sides, Lismore were firmly planked on the doorstep of victory. Eamonn Keyes replied with a Dungarvan point, but almost immediately Canning again negated with a great effort. In the 18th minute the same player pointed a close in free and ten minutes from time he finally clinched it with a spectacular goal having soloed almost half the length of the field.

A GOOD SIDE There can of course be no closing of eyes to the fact that this Lismore side contains its weaknesses — particularly in attack. But in taking this Western title each and every member of the side played himself to a stand still. True I have seen Dungarvan play much better in last year's championship, but it still took a good team to take their title from them and in victory Lismore proved to be all and sundry that they are a good side. Between the posts Dinny Buckley was confidence personified, something for which his three full backs must take considerable credit. The corner men Patsy Quinn and Tommy Hyland, without achieving any spectacular feats never made the slightest errors, and between them Jimmy Geoghan gave the display of his life. On countless occasions he came thundering out to end would-be dangerous attacks, and to my way of thinking was the best Lismore defender.

His half line too was without blemish. Mick Caples in the centre was rock solid, and it was extremely unfortunate that he and Michael Norris (two of the most exemplary players afield) should receive marching orders ten minutes from time. Caples' flankers, David McGrath and Davy Whelan were never mastered, both turning in performances of which they may well be proud.

McGRATH BRILLIANT But it was at midfield that Lismore produced their real trump card in the person of Michael McGrath. A minor of vast potential, he was well-high unbeatable and his brilliance left Dungarvan fighting a lost battle in the sector all through. And if Jarlath Daly was overshadowed by his more illustrious partner he nevertheless gave him maximum assistance for the entire hour.

Up front, however, weaknesses were glaringly evident. All six could not be found wanting on the score of endeavour. But it was the irrepressible Liam Canning on the forty that wrecked all the havoc. John Bennett and Bernie Scanlon showed some nice flashes, but the full-forward trio of Ormonde, Cahill and Brennock could never circumvent their opposite numbers.

WERE WORTHY CHAMPIONS Defeat was undoubtedly a bitter pill for Dungarvan to swallow. They were long and worthy champions, and it is I suppose inevitable that there be a victory lull. But they still have the material to go searching again next year for that title, and it is to the eternal credit of this defeated side that they accepted it with grace. They were a tough hard-hitting team, but too many weak links in attack was too great a handicap against so accomplished a team as the new titleholders.

Once again Michael Donnelly was a safe netminder, whilst all six defenders must be given credit for trojan displays. In this sector I feel obliged to make particular reference to Michael Norris who stood out as the best defender afield, whilst Sean Murphy also excelled.

Troubles stemmed in abundance from midfield despite every effort of Connie Kelleher but basically the side's greatest ills lay in attack. Here they possessed no "Liam Cannings" and of the Sextet Sean McGrath and Sean Flynn were just about best.

Lismore—D. Buckley; P. Quinn, J. Geoghan, T. Hyland; D. McGrath, M. Caples, D. Whelan, J. Daly, M. McGrath; J. Bennet, L. Canning, B. Scanlon; R. Ormonde, J. Cahill, E. Brennock. Sub.—G. McGrath for M. McGrath; M. McGrath for G. McGrath.

Dungarvan—M. Donnelly; P. Walsh, S. Murphy, N. Dwyer; M. Norris, T. Healy, T. Cariton; C. Kelleher, E. Keyes; S. Frankling, S. McGrath, J. Reilly, K. Fleming, S. Flynn, T. Kiely. Referee—Sergt. M. Whyte (Ballymacabry).

SEMI-FINAL OF CAPPOQUIN TOURNAMENT

The second semi-final of the Hickey Cup and medals tournament will take place at Cappoquin on Sunday night next with the local club meeting semi-final between Shamrocks Fourmilewater. The first and Tourin ended in a draw and the replay date is expected to be in the very near future.

Cappoquin will undoubtedly be favourites to win this other semi-final, but with Fourmilewater one never knows. This should be a good hour's hurling and the game is timed to start at 7.30.

MONTH'S SUSPENSION FOR JOE CONDON

At last Saturday's meeting of the Munster Council in Limerick, Joe Condon (Erin's Own) was given one month's suspension for having been sent off in the Waterford-Cork senior hurling championship replay. The suspension is from the date of the match, which means Condon is now eligible to play again.

ARDMORE — Western Minor Football champions, 1965

STRABALLY. Minor Footballers . . . unexpectedly beaten in the Western final.
