DEPUTATION PROTESTS OVER CONDITION OF ROAD

A deputation, comprised of four residents on the road from Ballymarket to C.oney, came before last Monday's meeting of Waterford County Council protesting against the condition of the road. The deputation was introduced by Colrs. J. Drohan and M. Harty.

Colr. Drohan said the road was deteriorating every day and the residents were being led to believe that it was going to be done. It was in desperation that they had come before today's meeting of the Council. A member of the deputation, Mr. Denis Ryan, Ballymarket, said the road was in a very bad condition and two years ago, he said he would not pay the rates because of it. He was prosecuted. It was a two mile long road and there was thousands of pounds being spent on an adjoining road. They wanted something done about it immediately.

Colr. Harty said he wished to support what Colr. Drohan and Mr. Ryan had said. The road was in a deplorable condition.

Mr. J. D. Hally, County Engineer, said that repairs to the road would be carried out within a week.

Dromana Bridge To Be Reconstructed

VILLIERSTOWN DEPUTATION BEFORE COUNTY COUNCIL

A DEPUTATION, REPRESENTATIVE OF VILLIERSTOWN DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION, I.C.A., AND OTHER ORGANISATIONS IN THE AREA, CAME BEFORE LAST MONDAY'S MEETING OF WATERFORD COUNTY COUNCIL, ASKING THAT THE ROAD FROM VILLIERSTOWN GATE THROUGH DROMANA ESTATES VIA DROMANA BRIDGE TO THE COUNTY ROAD AT MOUNT RIVERS BE DECLARED A PUBLIC ROAD, AND THAT DROMANA BRIDGE BE REPAIRED AND RECONSTRUCTED BY THE COUNCIL.

A motion in the name of Mr. John Fahey, T.D., to this effect was finally passed unanimously, after discussion, during which Mr. N. Walsh remarked that because of the present state of Dromana Bridge the people of Villierstown had been left in splendid isolation.

Mr. Fahey, who introduced the deputation, said its members consisted of members of the local development association and the I.C.A. This problem of the road and Dromana bridge had been discussed at County Council meetings in the past without progress. The people of Villierstown were dissatisfied with the position as it was at present and the deputation had now come to this meeting to get the problem solved once and for all. The problem of the bridge and the road, he said, had become an even greater one in recent times because four more families had come to live on the estate and they were completely isolated. The bridge was linking Villierstown with Cappoquin and, if repaired, Cappoquin would only be a distance of 3 miles away for the people of Villierstown. As it was, it was seven miles away by road.

Mr. Kevin O'Sullivan, representing the local Development Association, said they were present to support the notice of motion in the name of Mr. Fahey. The immediate area served was 15 square miles and if the bridge was reconstructed, it would mean a difference of five or six miles less in getting to Cappoquin. It was great hardship on the children crossing the bridge and was also a great danger to them. C.I.E. and Bord Fáilte were very interested in this area, which was one of the most scenic in west Waterford. Grants would also be available for the reconstruction of the bridge, he added.

Replying to Mr. D. F. Madden, the Council Chairman, Mr. Charles Curran said the Land Commission at first took over this property and later handed over the bridge to an anonymous person, for a nominal sum. The bridge had now been taken over by a local farmer. Mrs. Rita Ronayne, Secretary of the Villierstown I.C.A., said their organisation formed part of this deputation. Their main objective was to improve local conditions. In the matter of schools the children of Villierstown were very much behind because of the road and bridge being closed. And the children that went to school in Cappoquin were causing great mental strain on the parents, wondering if anything would happen to them. Something should be done without delay. She thanked the members of the Council for receiving their deputation.

Mr. Cullinane, another member of the deputation, said he was before the Council before he told them the story. They were caught in a corner as it were with no way out. There were eight farmers living in this cul de sac and they could see the Cappoquin creamery just a stone's throw away from them across the river. Yet they had to go seven or eight miles round about to get to it. The person that had now purchased the bridge, was quite prepared to give it to the Co. Council.

Replying to Mr. Milo Galey, the Co. Engineer, Mr. J. D. Hally, said the reconstruction of the bridge would cost about £25,000 and repairing of the road between £500 and £600. When they had the bridge and road taken over they should be able to get the bridge reconstructed under the County Road Improvements Grant, which would be a 100% grant. They would have to find the money, however, for the repairing of the road, as there would be no grants available for that work. The bridge, in its present condition, he said, was not safe, and that was putting it mildly. Mr. Curran said the bridge was a hazard to life and should not even be used. It was a death trap and the risk to life was great. It was unprotected and even recently there was nearly loss of life when one of the standards fell, narrowly missing children that were passing.

Mr. William Dower said if the bridge was reconstructed it would serve the whole countryside around Villierstown.

Mr. Norman Walsh said that speaking as a member of the County Council who had never been too "flaithuil" with the ratepayers money, he was fully behind the people of Villierstown in this. He realised there would be considerable expenditure involved, but he believed it would be justified. There was always a national link between Cappoquin and Villierstown, but that link was at present broken because of the condition of Dromana bridge which was the link between the two places. And when that bridge would again be opened up there would be unsurpassed areas of scenic beauty. The people of Villierstown had been left in splendid isolation, he said, and it was their duty to help them. It would be money well spent on the people of West Waterford.

Mr. Fahey then proposed that the road be repaired and the bridge reconstructed and that the road be declared a public one and taken over, together with the bridge.

Mr. N. Walsh asked if, in fact, this decision would be deferred to the estimates meeting, next March, when the taking over of roads was considered.

Mr. Curran: I am afraid so. That is the regulations, but I can't foresee any snags interfering with the resolution.

Mr. Dower said if it was done by the end of 1966 they would be lucky.

Mr. Fahey said that by agreeing now to take over the road and bridge, and reconstruct them, they had taken a very definite decision that was in the right direction.

Mr. N. Walsh said they should remember that this was far more important than taking over the ordinary accommodation road.

The discussion then ended, and the members of the Deputation then withdrew.

Melleray Area Seek Water Scheme

THE urgent need for a water scheme to serve the people of section of the M. Melleray area, was stressed by members of a deputation which were introduced to last Monday's meeting of Waterford County Council, by Mr. John Fahey, T.D. The members of the deputation were: Mr. Edward Christopher, Mr. Begley and Mr. J. Tobin. The deputation sought an extension of the water supply from the Ballynoe scheme.

Mr. Fahey said they wanted this extension, or failing that, some other alternative source of supply.

Mr. Begley said a water scheme was very badly needed. One farmer had to drive his cattle on a dry day about a half mile for water and back again. Then there was the tourist problem, with visitors calling every day asking for water to make tea. There was water in Dyrick, about 300 yards up from their road. They had estimated that in their area, from a list drawn up, that there were 23 farmers and two cottiers without water, and there might even be a few more.

Mr. Christopher said he was very badly hit without water.

Colr. Fahey said that in the Melleray area it was mostly small farmers, and they were very industrious people. They had to go long distances at present for water and it was easy to imagine what hardship that entailed. It was beyond a group such as this to avail of the Local Government grants for installing their own supplies as they would not be in a position to put up a sum of money to any great extent. They only came to this meeting because they had to and he hoped they would be given very considerable sums in their quest for water.

Mr. J. D. Hally (County Engineer) said he would examine the position in the area and report back to the Council.

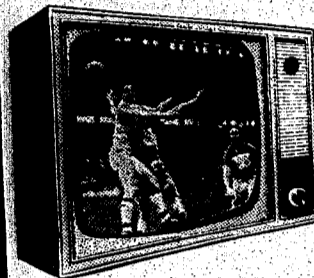

SEEKING ANNUAL INCREASE FOR GRAVEYARD CARETAKERS

A notice of motion by Mr. John Fahey, T.D., seeking that the annual amount paid to caretakers of graveyards be increased by 15% was announced for one month at last Monday's meeting of Waterford County Council.

Mr. Fahey said he had been perturbed over the neglect of graveyards, particularly rural, in the county, and this was a reflection on them all. They should pay greater respect to their dead. He thought it was very desirable to have caretakers for the graveyards who knew their jobs, but they would have to pay them a reasonable amount for the work. Up to this, some of them were being paid as little as 25 a year and this was a ridiculous amount.

Deputy T. A. Kyne seconded the motion for the 15% increase. It was then decided, after further discussion, to adjourn it for one month.

Great Honour for Dungarvan Family

The above picture was taken at the Mayoral Desk in the City Hall, Chicago, on the occasion of the visit to the city of Mr. Richard Walsh, his son John R., and his cousin, Mrs. McCarthy, of Boston. Mr. Walsh, who is the popular vice-chairman of Dungarvan U.C.C., acted as special aide to the Mayor of Chicago during his visit to Dungarvan and Old Parish last summer. He and the other members of his family were in Chicago at the invitation of the Mayor.

through you, all the people of the homeland, who helped to make that day a remarkable one. He asked especially, to be remembered to Very Rev. Fr. O'Donnell, P.P., Old Parish, and Rev. Fr. V. Power, C.C., Waterford.

As the guests of the Mayor we had a wonderful time in this great and beautiful city. We were shown all the sights and believe me, they were many and awe-inspiring. Indeed, it was wonderful to travel through this huge Metropolis, which, incidentally, is now the free world's fourth largest, with a population of over 7 millions, and increasing by 11,000 per month. It gave me a great thrill to think that this great city is ruled by a great Irish American, Mr. Richard J. Daley whose forbears came from my own parish—The Old Parish. "Chicago is, without question the most beautiful city which we visited, with its lovely fountains and parklands. There are 168 public parks. "On the Friday night we were the special guests of the Mayor and Vice-President, H. Humphries, at an all-State football game. During our chat the Vice-President expressed a great interest in the Irish system of Local Government."

GAELIC JOTTINGS

CHAMPIONSHIPS UNNECESSARILY LATE
 Once again the county and western boards are allowing their respective championships to drag on unnecessarily, necessitating, in the process, the playing of finals in the height of winter. For example, Sunday last was a day of glorious sunshine and yet not even one senior hurling or senior football fixture was arranged for the day. Come Sunday next and we have another blank afternoon whilst fixtures have already been made for as far advanced as October. This surely is not being fair with the supporters whose money is keeping the entire show going. Every year they are being asked to have the winter elements to see games that could have been played during more favourable weather months.

This year in particular, the county board have really "come the hard" on the public altogether. Throughout this month of August the way could well have been cleared for the hurling and football championships at least, but instead we are faced with the prospect of having to sit on the sidelines in most unpropitious conditions. I wish to say that the Board have been to show a little consideration for the general public, without which they could not have any. Every year now it is the paying customer who seems to be getting the thin edge of the wedge and the Board should remember that without supporters their championships could not continue to exist.

ATTRACTIONAL TOURNAMENT GAME AT CAPPOQUIN
 Ballyduff/Portlaw, led by Tom Cheasty, Jackie and Frank Whelan and John O'Donnell, meet U.C.C. in a grounds senior hurling tournament, at Cappoquin on Sunday night next at 7.30.
 This should be a real classic hour's hurling, for U.C.C. can last of several inter-county sides including Waterford man Jimmy Byrne. The College, in fact, are very strong contenders for this year's Cork championship, and it will be interesting to see Ballyduff/Portlaw in opposition against such renowned opponents.

LAST SUNDAY'S RESULTS
 Another one of the fancied sides made their exit from the intermediate hurling championship race on Sunday last, when Colligan Rockies went under to Dungarvan at the Fraher field. Although Dungarvan only earned their place in the semi-final by a last minute goal which gave them a 3-9 to 3-6 victory, they were good value for their win. They now meet Cappoquin in the semi-final, on 12th September.

SUNDAY'S LONE CHAMPIONSHIP FIXTURE
 There is only one championship fixture down for decision in the West, on Sunday next (the county finals excepted), and that is the meeting of Dungarvan and Shamrocks in junior hurling at Cappoquin. Shamrocks will be strongly

As expected, Affane had little difficulty in defeating Glen Rovers in the junior hurling championship at Cappoquin on last Thursday night, whilst Lismore experienced no difficulty either in the same game against Kiltrossanty, at Dungarvan on Friday night.

MIDLANDS GOLF Noted Professor SCRATCH CUP Home on Holidays ON SUNDAY

The Midland Scratch Cup is one of the major golfing attractions in the provincial calendar and for this year's event at Birr Golf Club, on Sunday next 22nd August, a big entry is expected to compete for the Guinness Trophy (inscribed Waterford Glass), the Midland Counties Cup and a prize fund of £100.

Revised some eight years ago the competition has enhanced its reputation in the past few seasons, and last year had a record entry of eighty-seven, representing almost every county in Ireland.

The association of Messrs. Arthur Guinness, Son & Company with this year's event augurs well for the future of the competition and to date, Hon. Secretary John Mulhern reports excellent entries from scratch and low-handicap golfers who first shot the Birr course in last year's event.

Walker Cup plans permitting, Irish Amateur Joe Carr intends competing and it is also expected that Irish internationals Rupert de Lacy-Staunton and Vincent Nevin (both of whom entered last year) will be making a return trip to Birr.

Holder, Sean Coffey (Newlands) will defend his title (won on a 2 handicap), but this year has been pulled a stroke and plays off one.

Mr. Michael Harty, a Post Graduate Professor in Anatomy in Pennsylvania University, has been spending a six week's holiday at his native home in Ballinamona, Old Parish, with his brother Thomas Harty. He is also brother of James Harty, the popular Rate Collector and Miss Mai Harty, Ballinamona. He is a first cousin of Canon J. F. Harty, Cahir, and the other members of the Harty family, Gortnadiha.

A native of Ballinamona, Mr. Harty was educated at Ring College, Dungarvan C.B.S., Rockwell College and finally at University College Cork. He graduated with first class honours from Cork.

DUNGARVAN JUVENILES RETAIN WESTERN TITLE

DUNGARVAN 6-8; TALLOW 1-1

DUNGARVAN won the Western juvenile hurling final at Cappoquin on Wednesday evening when they decisively defeated a very game Tallow fifteen. Thus, the Old Boro' have reached the Co. decider for the second year in succession and are fully determined to hold on to the trophy they won so brilliantly last year.

This is a good Dungarvan team—how good, one cannot as yet ascertain fully, for they have romped through all opposition to date. Not as big a team as last year's outstanding combination, they have nevertheless quite a reservoir of hurling ability and should be well able to meet Ferrybank on level terms. The defence is prepped up by a very strong half back line—Michael Dunford, John Clancy and Diarmuid Flynn are playing really well. One of the enigmas of the team is that those with the most experience seem to be taking second place to the new comers on the score of ability. Home followers are keeping their fingers crossed that such as Sean Franklin and Gerry Crowley will produce their true form on Sunday next.

Last evening the Blues expected on the Tallow defence from the very beginning and as things turned out the game was won and lost in the first ten minutes. When Tallow eventually settled down they produced some wonderful hurling and more than matched Dungarvan in many sectors of the field. But the damage had been done and Dungarvan held the whip hand.

Francis Woods, Michael Kiely, Jim Nagle, Martin Sandford and George Horseman always posed problems for a hard-hitting and very reliable Tallow defence. Michael Sheridan was a revelation when he came on as a sub and notched three beautiful scores.

Tallow need not feel any great disappointment at losing, for no fewer than twelve of their line-out will be juveniles again next year. If Tallow had a fault it was in physique—Their overhead striking was wonderful all through the game and a little more care in shooting by their forwards would surely have left Dungarvan a lot more uncomfortable than they were in the closing stages. Tallow should be a very big force next year. On last night's showing, however, they were no match for a Dungarvan team which is evidently bent on repeating last year's success.

Tallow need not feel any great disappointment at losing, for no fewer than twelve of their line-out will be juveniles again next year. If Tallow had a fault it was in physique—Their overhead striking was wonderful all through the game and a little more care in shooting by their forwards would surely have left Dungarvan a lot more uncomfortable than they were in the closing stages. Tallow should be a very big force next year. On last night's showing, however, they were no match for a Dungarvan team which is evidently bent on repeating last year's success.

Galway's New Cathedral Cardinal Cushing Performs Opening Ceremony

GALWAY Cathedral, one of the greatest cathedrals of our effort were crowned by the completion of this monumental structure.

On Friday evening the population of Galway turned out to give a rapturous welcome to the Pontifical Legate, His Eminence, Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston. The Feast of the Assumption was one of the greatest days in the history of this ancient city. Years of effort were crowned by the completion of this monumental structure.

On Friday evening Cardinal Cushing who has already served twice at Legate in Peru and Bolivia.

On Friday evening Cardinal Cushing was received liturgically by the Bishop of Galway in the old Pro Cathedral of St. Nicholas which enshrines the remains of Galway people for 150 years and on the following evening Cardinal Conway was received amidst the general scenes of rejoicing in a city fastoasted and beflagged.

Said Cardinal Cushing: "Never before in my 45 years of priesthood and 26 as a bishop have I experienced such a reception as you have given me this evening."

Cardinal Cushing paid his first visit to the new cathedral on Saturday when he consecrated the high altar in which was enshrined relics of St. Nicholas. It was a moving ceremony which included the procession of the relics covered in deep red cloth symbolic of martyrdom.

It is the first time in history, so far as I am aware, that a Pope assigned a personal legate to dedicate a cathedral; it just doesn't happen" said dom.

STUDY OF ROAD ACCIDENT PROBLEMS

At the request of the Minister for Local Government (Mr. Neil T. Blaney, T.D.) the problem of road accidents is one of the subjects to which the Institute is giving priority in its programme of work. The Institute has arranged that Dr. R. Smeed, B.Sc., Ph.D., F.R.S., Deputy Director, Road Research Laboratory, Harmondsworth, Middlesex, will undertake a preliminary examination of the problem and report his conclusions to the Institute, so that a recommended programme of action and a programme of research can be developed. Dr. Smeed, a leading expert in this field, is in charge of the Traffic and Safety Division of the Road Research Laboratory, which for many years has conducted a widespread programme of research in road safety. Dr. Smeed has published numerous articles and contributed to very many international conferences. The Institute is indebted to Dr. Smeed for having agreed to undertake this study, to the Director of the Road Research Laboratory for his concurrence in the arrangements and to the Ministry of Transport, London, for facilitating these arrangements.

N.F.A. NEWS A.C.C. SHOULD NOT BE SHACKLED

“Less than two months after the enactment by the Oireachtas of the Agricultural Credit Act, 1965, which made available an additional £14 million to the Agricultural Credit Corporation we have the disastrous situation in which a squeeze is being imposed on the Corporation.” This was stated by Mr. T. J. Maher, Chairman of the N.F.A. Dairy Committee at session of the Muintir na Tire Rural Week which dealt with Investment and Credit in Irish Agriculture. The main speaker at the session was Mr. J. F. Hickey, B.Agr.Sc., of the Agricultural Credit Corporation.

Mr. Maher said that it would be tragic if the credit squeeze of which we were hearing so much about were to shackle the Corporation once again. Any such squeeze would be disastrous for the agricultural industry and could not be tolerated. The confidence and security which farmers had reposed in the Corporation once broken would take many precious years to re-establish.

“NO DOUBT ABOUT CERTAIN FACTORS”
But there are some factors about the situation of which there is little doubt. Many of our ills emanate from the granting of the premature national 12% wage increase in advance of the productivity to pay for it. Everyone agrees that this step started the present cost spiral. The next nail in our economic coffin was hammered by our old friends the British with their 15% “Wilson Walllop.” However, the true picture of our economic difficulties has been cloaked to a large extent by our boom cattle trade last year—agriculture again to the rescue. But at the expense of this year's replacements.

There will be no repetition of boom conditions in the cattle trade this year—the cattle just are not there. But the Government may be taking short-term so much from the fact that many farmers will be forced to sell this year because of the credit held back until next year. Squeezecattle which should be

“The whole thing boils to the fact that the Minister for Finance says that there is no money but the extraordinary thing is that everybody else seems to be able to get whatever they want through strikes and other means of pressure. It is up to the farmers themselves to make a stronger stand for their just claims. Nobody else is going to do it for them.”

Mr. J. Nagle recalled that the last series of demonstrations had been started by Co. Westmeath. “The farmers of this country have always been called peasants and they will be living up to that tag if they fail to act in their own interests now,” he said.

“We should not,” said Mr. Nangle, “co-operate in any Government schemes, as long as the Government refuses to give us fair play. Irish farmers should be just as militant in pursuing their just claims as the farmers of France.”

Mr. O'Reilly told the meeting that demonstrations were not enough. If a demonstration was held it should only be considered as the first shot in the battle.

Mr. J. Elliott reminded those present of how farmers had supported every Government scheme in the past. “We should now withdraw all support,” he said.

GOVERNMENT'S ASSURANCE
He recalled that during the Annual Review discussions between the Government and N.F.A. earlier this year, the Government had given an assurance that adequate resources, staff, premises and other facilities would be available to the Corporation to enable it to cope speedily with present and future demands for credit. The guarantee was repeated during the passage through the Oireachtas of the Agricultural Act 1965, a measure which was given a whole-hearted welcome by N.F.A.

Mr. Maher asked how could such a complete turn-about emerge after such a short space of time. “Who is doing our economic planning; have they been slipping up? These are questions which need to be answered. Farmers cannot be expected to farm, invest and expand when a mess is made of things by our Economic Advisers at national level.”

Mr. Maher said that the present situation called for a clear statement from the Dept. of Finance. “Will the Corporation be in a position to continue to make credit available for all productive purposes and at an increasing tempo? In fact will the additional £14 million be available to the Corporation as and when required?”

FREE TRADE AREA
In the middle of all this we have the proposal for a Free Trade area with Britain—described this week by the U.S. World and News Report as “the sick man of Europe. With the first announcement of this proposal, Mr. Rickard Deasy, President, N.F.A., made the trenchant comment that such a move should not even be considered without a full appreciation of the position of agriculture. After all it is on our agricultural industry that the nation will be depending if the proposal become a reality. Mr. Deasy was plainly sceptical about the advisability of such a move. N.F.A. is still very much pro-Europe. Our economic salvation lies in the Common Market.”

It is truly a disturbing time—a time when all the stops should be pulled out to develop our basic industry of agriculture. But unfortunately, it is also a time when all the signs are that agriculture is again going to be sacrificed in a stop-gap effort to overcome our immediate difficulties. The lesson of long-term planning doesn't seem to have been learned here yet!

PRESSURE ON FARMERS
He said that pressure was now being put on farmers by some Bank Managers to sell livestock before it is ready for sale, in order to reduce overdraft accommodation. “This is rank bad business for the banks, the farmers and the nation,” he said. The banks should heed the directions of the Government not to inhibit production by calling in overdrafts prematurely.

Irish land could produce more, he said. The nation needed this extra production, but it could not be obtained without investment in stock, buildings, fertilisers and equipment. “The momentum of extra production has been slow to get underway but the machine is now rolling and any attempt to brake the pace could well do irreparable damage to the progressive spirit that prevails in the farming community at the moment.”

WHERE ARE WE GOING?
Just where is this little country of ours going? Without being an economist it is impossible to know whether we are approaching a recession, whether we are in the middle of it or whether we are “over the hump.” The latter seems to be the least likely.

If you are fortunate enough to get an Irish newspaper these days it makes dismal reading—poor trade figures, rising costs (many people seem to overlook that rising costs also hit the farmer), constant rumblings and plain discord among the trade unions, credit squeezes and plaintive appeals from the Government to curb spending, not to ask for more and to work harder. All this during a period when the Government was predicting a short time back that the economy would be booming.

In fact, so confident did the Government seem a few months ago that the economy was well and truly on the march that they granted the higher Civil Servants with a 20% status increase. Men on the £4,000 salary level by upped to nearly £5,000. Senior officials in semi-State bodies, such as E.S.B., also received lucrative increases. As stated already, it is hard for the ordinary individual to assess whether we are jumping forward or leaping back.

CHEAPER ACCREDITED SOWS, BUT THE BREEDERS SUFFER
Farmers interested in producing top class pigs should avail of the new scheme being operated by the Pigs and Bacon Commission. Up to November 1st next, pig producers will be able to buy accredited sows at a reduced rate through the Commission. This move follows agreement between the Commission and the owners of accredited pig herds.

The particulars of the scheme are as follows:—
Maiden sows by an approved boar or son of an approved boar £24 each (a reduction of £4) payable by three instalments of £8, over a period of two years, if desired.

In pig sows sired by and served by an approved boar or son of an approved boar, £40 each (a reduction of £5) payable by two instalments of £15, one instalment of £10, payable over a period of two years if desired.

The purpose of the scheme is to improve the quality of pig herds throughout the country. Only sows of first class quality are being considered for the scheme. Mr. Michael Whelehan, Secretary to the N.F.A. National Pigs and Bacon Commission, commented: “The new prices operating are very reasonable and the scheme should be availed of by all pig producers.”

NO COMPENSATION FOR E.S.B. PYLONS
The Minister for Transport & Power, Mr. E. Childers, T.D., has rejected a N.F.A. proposal that farmers should be compensated for the loss and inconvenience resulting from the placing of E.S.B. pylons and poles on their lands.

A letter received by the N.F.A. Industrial & Transport Committee states: “The question of regular compensation payments for all poles and pylons has been considered, but in present circumstances the Minister cannot see his way to recommend to the Government any change in the present arrangements.”

In taking up this matter, the N.F.A. Committee pointed out that large pylons which are used by E.S.B. create serious problems for farmers, particularly in connection with tillage and harvesting operations. It was pointed out that farmers in other countries who are affected in this way are allowed reasonable compensation. In Northern Ireland and Britain, for example, farmers are entitled to an annual rental and compensation in respect of electricity poles, stays and pylons sited on agricultural land.

A further important provision in Northern Ireland and Britain is that special additional compensation is payable in cases where extra disturbance or inconvenience is caused by multiple lines crossing a farm in close proximity to each other.

The Minister's rejection of the N.F.A. case will be considered by the Association's Industrial & Transport Committee at its next meeting.

ACTION COMMITTEE FORMED BY WESTMEATH COUNTY EXECUTIVE
A lively meeting this week of Westmeath County Executive, N.F.A., in which the Government came in for severe criticism, ended with the formation of an Action Committee. The function of the Committee will be to plan a campaign designed to bring home to the Government “the disgust” of farmers at the way in which agriculture is being treated.

The Chairman, Mr. C. V. O'Reilly reported on the utility of dealing with a Government which claimed that agricultural income would increase by £12 million this year when all the indications were, according to N.F.A. calculations, that income would drop by about £2 million. “In fact, as things are going now, the position may even be worse,” he said.

He cited as an example of the Government's attitude, the recent announcement on the price increase for pigs. N.F.A. has put a clearcut case to the Go-

DEATH OF MRS. J. O'SULLIVAN

It is with deep and sincere regret we record the death of Mrs. Josephine O'Sullivan, Chapel Street, Lismore, which sad event occurred at her residence on Monday morning, August 16th.

Deceased lady who was one of the town's most popular residents, was held in the highest esteem by all who had the pleasure of knowing her and her death at a comparatively young age but after a prolonged illness has been received with sincere regret.

To her sorrowing son, daughters and relatives deepest sympathy is extended. The remains were removed to St. Carthage's Church on Monday evening and were blessed by Very Rev. Canon Dunphy, P.P., V.F., assisted by Rev. Fr. Queally, C.C. and Rev. Fr. Slattery, C.C., and the burial took place on Wednesday in St. Carthage's Cemetery. The same clergy officiated at the graveside and a large gathering was present.

Polio and Typhoid Hits English Towns

Two promenade concerts by the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra in Blackburn, which has 19 confirmed poliomyelitis cases, with eight suspected, were postponed.

The concerts, arranged for August 19 and 26 in Blackburn's King George's Hall, were postponed after talks between the City's Medical Officer, Dr. John Ardley, and the Medical Officer of Liverpool.

Four new suspected cases reported on Monday were two boys, aged two and four, a girl of 13 and a man of 39. Ane previous suspect, a 15 year old girl was discharged.

Meanwhile thirteen cases of para-typhoid have been reported in Sheffield. All the victims had drunk unpasteurised milk in Blackpool.

Two cases of para-typhoid have been reported in Kendal, and there are several other suspects. It has been established that those involved had visited Blackpool during an epidemic in the second half of July and early August.

The Advantages of Liquid Manure

Liquid manure consists mainly of the urine of farm animals drained from byres, stalls, pigeries and manure heaps. It contains appreciable amounts of nitrogen and potassium and is a valuable manure for crops.

CROPS TO WHICH APPLIED

Liquid manure is constantly accumulating and as the facilities for storage are usually limited, it cannot, like farmyard manure, be held over for an indefinite period. It is therefore, necessary to empty the tank periodically, especially during winter and spring.

During autumn and winter when the choice of crops is limited, liquid manure can be used to advantage on first crop hay, from the time the corn is harvested until the following May. It may also be applied to pastures during winter and throughout the year, thus reducing the outlay on nitrogenous fertilisers for which it is a useful substitute. It produces a luxuriant growth of succulent herbage which is readily eaten by all classes of stock.

In February and March liberal dressings of liquid manure to autumn sown catch crops, especially Italian rye grass and kales, help to ensure large supplies of green foods in April and early May, when it is most valuable.

From the time growth commences in spring until the middle of May, liquid manure may be used on meadows with excellent results and, later in the season, can be used on catch crops, kales and root crops.

To make up for the deficiency in phosphorus, superphosphate or basic slag should be applied in addition to liquid manure. Liming may also be necessary.

Grants for the construction of liquid tanks are available under the Farm Buildings Scheme, particulars of which may be had on application to the Department of Agriculture, Dublin.

COLLECTION AND USE

Different systems of collecting and utilising liquid manure are practised throughout the country. These include:

Irrigation—Unfortunately, it is only in exceptional cases that the land near a farmyard lends itself to irrigation. Where irrigation is practised, it is necessary to have a sufficient quantity of water to dilute the liquid so as to ensure its distribution over a wide area.

Use of Peat Moss—In some districts peat moss or bog mould is used to soak up the liquid in the byres or stalls, and also round the manure heap. This is an excellent system where fairly dry moss can be obtained at a convenient distance. Where applied to light land the mould is also useful in helping to conserve moisture in dry weather.

Sea Sand—Near the coast, sea sand is used for the same purpose and in the same manner as peat moss. The sand contains lime, which is of considerable value. Its absorptive power is less than that of peat; moreover, it is very heavy to brick and plastered inside with handle. On stiff land the sand has a special mechanical value in helping to keep the soil open.

Direct Application—The liquid from byres etc., is drained into a concrete tank and is carted from the tank to the field on which it is distributed. The usual amount applied is about 10 to 15 tons tons per acre.

Except in those cases where the tank can be emptied by gravity flow, a pump is used. If pumping is to be done by hand a diaphragm pump is the most suitable type. If a pump is to be operated by electricity or internal combustion engine a centrifugal sludge type pump of bronze or other non-corroding metal should be provided. Polythene (plastic) piping is preferable to metal, particularly for such parts of the installation as are in continuous or prolonged contact with the liquid manure. After use the pump can be removed, washed out and used for water pumping operations around the farm.

DISTRIBUTION

A barrel of 100 gallons capacity fixed on the wheels, axle and shafts of a cart may be used for conveying the liquid to the fields. To ensure even distribution the liquid manure is allowed to run into a V-shaped perforated trough, attached to the end of the cart. Alternatively, a fan-shaped spreading board, on which radiating pieces of wood are nailed, may be used. The distributor should, where possible be fitted with pneumatic tyres to avoid cutting up the land.

When there are large amounts of liquid manure to be disposed of and especially where dung from pig houses passes into the tank, tractor-trailed liquid manure distributors, fitted with vacuum pumps, are used. Distribution is often done on contract.

CONSTRUCTION OF A TANK

In estimating the size of tank required, it is usual to allow a capacity of not less than 8 about 12 cubic feet per cow where the herd consists mainly of dairy cows. A tank of this capacity will hold the supply collected during several weeks. If, for example, the farm stock comprising 40 head of cattle of different ages, a tank of 320 cubic feet capacity would be necessary. The internal length multiplied by the width by the height to the joint where the inflow pipe enters, gives the capacity of the tank.

The layout includes a concrete liquid manure tank, a sedimentation tank, inspection pit, gully trap and sewer leading from the byre to the liquid manure tank.

Rain or surface water or water used in washing out byres should not be allowed into the liquid manure tank, otherwise the tank becomes quickly filled with liquid of low manurial value and requires frequent emptying.

The gully trap which is situated immediately outside the byre wall at the channel outlet may be of concrete or brick and plastered inside with cement plaster. The gully is provided with two drainage outlets and its object is to enable washing water to be diverted from entering the liquid manure tank. When the byre is being washed out, the opening valve is adjusted so that the liquid manure drain can be closed by adjusting the valves or sluices which are so constructed that when one closes the opening to the liquid manure drain, the other valve automatically uncovers the opening to the drain provided for the purpose of taking away the washing water. A perforated metal plate with a turned up flange should rest on a wall abutment round three sides of the trap so that all liquid going into the trap must pass through it. The object of the plate is to retain straws and other solids and prevent them passing into the liquid manure sewer.

The drain from the byre to the liquid manure tank should be laid with glazed earthenware pipes, and in a suitable position along its course, a sedimentation tank should be constructed. This tank may be constructed of concrete or bricks, plastered inside and covered with concrete slabs.

The purpose of such a tank or settling chamber is to trap all the solid matter carried along by the liquid manure, and thus prevent its entry into the liquid manure tank, as the accumulation of sediment in the latter tank would be liable to interfere with the proper working of the pump, and also to choke the perforations of the manure distributor. The solid matter will settle towards the bottom of the sedimentation tank, and it should be removed at regular intervals. A bowl shaped galvanised iron ladle of about half or three-quarters of a gallon capacity to which is fitted a shovel handle will be found useful for the purpose. As a further precaution against coarse material reaching the tank, a removable perforated plate of zinc, or other metal should be inserted in grooves in an upright position across the chamber towards the outflow end. The perforations should be cleaned each time the sedimentation tank is emptied.

If at any point along the course of the liquid manure drain, it is necessary to alter the direction of the drain, or to connect with drains from other buildings, an inspection pit should be provided to facilitate clearing of the drains should a stoppage occur.

should be cleaned each time the tance between the byre and the liquid manure tank should be at least 30 feet. In this connection it should be noted that farmers who sell milk for human consumption are obliged to comply with the conditions prescribed under the Milk and Dairies Regulations, 1936, regarding liquid manure, and it would be advisable for such persons to consult their local Sanitary Authority before deciding on the situation of the liquid manure tank.

The location and construction of the liquid manure tank require considerable care. In most cases it will be convenient and preferable to have the tank wholly underground, in which case, of the earth is well rammed behind the walls after they are built, little or no reinforcing is necessary. Where, however, the ground slopes away from the byre, it may be possible to utilise the slope so that the tank may be emptied by gravity (thereby obviating the installation and operation of a pump) in which case it may be desirable to have the tank wholly or partly over-ground. Where this is being done the part of the tank above the ground will require to be properly reinforced to prevent cracks developing. In specially favourable situations, it may be possible to have the tank underground, and so arranged that it can be emptied by gravity, through an outlet pipe fitted with a tap, from the tank to a point where it can empty into a liquid manure distributor.

The floor of the tank should be of concrete composed of one part of cement to not more than 8 parts clean gravel laid 6 inches deep. The walls may be of brick laid in cement mortar or of mass concrete, as for the floor, and should be plastered on the inside with cement plaster consisting of 1 part cement to 3 parts clean sand.

The tank may be covered with wooden or reinforced concrete slabs. The inlet pipe to the tank should reach to within a foot of the bottom so as to reduce to a minimum the agitation and aeration of the liquid and the consequent loss of ammonia, which is accelerated by the breaking of the scum which forms on the surface of the liquid.

MANURE FROM PIG HOUSES

Where fattening houses are constructed for a large number of pigs no bedding is used, as floors are insulated and the excrement, which is in a semi-liquid state, together with any water used occasionally for washing down dunging passages, is swept into a collecting tank sited just outside the pig house. In some houses the dunging area is slatted, allowing the dung and urine to drop into a channel with a fall of at least 1:100, where it is conveyed by gravity into a tank. Liquid manure from byres may be allowed run into this tank; a sediment tank will not be necessary but the gully trap to exclude straw, large solids and surplus water is essential.

In calculating the size of tank required allow one cubic foot per pig per week. Cows will each require three cubic feet per week for urine alone and other cattle half as much. To allow for a moderate amount of water for washing down channels, etc. provide space in the tank for double the amount calculated from the above figures. Some water is an advantage as it makes the sludge less concentrated and more easily handled.

The collecting tank is emptied once or twice a week and the sludge is spread over grassland. Specially designed tractor-trailed distributors of 300-500 gallon capacity, are used for this. They are fitted with a vacuum pump and spinning disc for distribution, both of which are operated by the tractor. There are a variety of makes available which can operate efficiently with sludge containing 30-50% solid material. If required, air from the vacuum pump can be used to stir up the material in the collecting tank. The distributor can be filled in about 5 minutes and the whole operation of emptying the tank and spreading the sludge on grassland can be completed in about one hour per week.
