Stiff Fishery Fine

Nicholas Queally, Barrackee, Ballinamult, was fined a total of £90 and ordered to pay £15 expenses at Dungarvan District Court on Wednesday last when he pleaded guilty to six charges arising out of the unlawful spearing of salmon during the close season on December 20 last.

A second defendant who was similarly charged, pleaded not guilty. He was Seamus Kirwan, Colliganbeg, Dungarvan, and Justice B. J. Carroll said that while he had strong suspicions that wasn't enough on which to convict the defendant.

John Doyle, waterkeeper with the prosecuting Lismore Board of Fishery Conservators said he was on duty on the river Colligan. He saw lights moving up river near to where he was and he saw a man out in the river with a spear. Witness recognised the man as Nicholas Queally and he made a number of attempts to spear salmon. He was also able to positively identify Kirwan standing on the opposite bank of the river. He heard Kirwan telling Queally where the fish were and also to spear them.

Seamus Kirwan told the court that he had tea around 7 p.m. and never left the house between that and 10 p.m. He was never near the river bank that night.

Mrs. Mairead Kirwan, wife of the defendant and his father, James Kirwan, corroborated his evidence that he was at home all that night. His brother Patrick said he saw him twice that night in his home.

Dismissing the charges against Kirwan, Justice Carroll said he had to decide the case on the evidence and not on suspicion.

The Justice fined Queally £25 on each of three charges and £5 each on the other three charges and ordered him to pay £15 expenses. He also allowed Kirwan's £10.50 costs.

in the dismissed charges. On the application of Mr. F. Power, Solr., prosecuting, Justice Carroll fixed recognisances in the event of an appeal in Kirwan's case.

Mr. E. P. King, solr., represented both defendants.

AGRICULTURE ESTIMATE OF £61,735

A total estimate of expenditure of £61,735 for the coming financial year, was unanimously adopted by the members of Co. Waterford Committee of Agriculture at Monday's meetings in Dungarvan. This estimate will mean that the agricultural services will cost 27 old pence of the total county rate in 1972-73 which represents an increase of 14 old pence on the current year's demand.

The Chairman Mr. K. O'Ryan said that considering the huge rate they are likely to be confronted with in the coming year, this agricultural estimate was a very modest one. An amount of excellent work was being done in the agricultural sphere and viewed against the increased estimate of the various other bodies, they had succeeded in containing the running costs very well. The C.A.O. and his staff were to be congratulated he said.

Mr. M. Henneby said that unlike other committees they were simply living within their means. That was the kernel of the situation, he added.

The C.A.O., Mr. G. Frost, replying to members said in law they could have adopted an estimate that would have represented 36 old pence.

Finally, on the proposal of Mr. Henneby, seconded by Mr. P. Kenneally, the estimate of £61,735 was adopted.

Larceny of Whiskey

At Dungarvan Court on Wednesday, Robert Jowett, 154 Willison, Bradford was given a sentence of one month, made suspensory, when he paid £40.66 to cover loss and expenses, for the larceny of 12 bottles of whiskey from "Minnie's" Licensed Premises at Abbeyside, valued £43.85.

Defendant who pleaded guilty said he was truck driver on the ferry services and was driving from Cork to Wexford.

Call for Regional Government

Speaking at meetings in An Rinn and Dungarvan, Sean O'Bradaigh, Sinn Fein, said that Republicans were not the only people who thought that we were now engaged in the final round of the long struggle for Irish freedom.

The world, he said, was watching the fight in the Six Counties with interest and admiration. Nowhere was support greater than among the Irish in America. The support of all Irish people was necessary at this critical stage.

Late Mrs. Mary Curran (ex-N.T.)

Ballinamona, Old Parish
It is with deep regret we record the passing of Mrs. Mary Curran, ex-N.T., Ballinamona, Old Parish, who died on Tuesday evening, February 29, at her residence, after a very short illness, as she had been in her usual good health and had been out and about the previous evening.

The late Mrs. Mary Curran was a lady of many charming and wonderful characteristics, especially in the field of education in which capacity she excelled as a teacher and had taught in Old Parish National School for forty-four years, where she enjoyed wide popularity with pupils and parents alike.

She was mother of Rev. Fr. Patrick Curran, C.S.Sp., Sierre Leone, where he is teaching the Gospel and doing wonderful missionary work. To her sorrowing sons, daughters, sister and relatives we tender our deepest and sincere sympathy.

Her remains were removed on Wednesday evening to Old Parish Church, followed by a huge cortege and were blessed and received by V. Rev. James Canon Hart, P.P., Cahir, assisted by Rev. M. Enright, C.C. Requiem Mass was offered on arrival, celebrant being Fr. Enright.

Concelebrated Mass was offered on Thursday morning for the repose of her soul. The chief celebrant was Fr. John Gannon, C.S.Sp., Kimmage and co-celebrants were Rev. R. O'Dwyer, C.S.Sp., Sierre Leone, Rev. John O'Reilly, C.S.Sp., do., Rev. Joseph Begg, C.S.Sp., do., Rev. John Nugent, C.S.Sp., do., Rev. J. Cooper, C.S.Sp., do., Rev. Roddy Curran, C.S.Sp., do., Rev. Michael Corbett, C.S.Sp., do., Rev. Bernard Flynn, C.S.Sp., Kimmage and Rev. R. Madigan, C.S.Sp., Kimmage.

The interment took place after the Requiem Mass in the adjoining family plot. The above clergy officiated at the graveside, assisted by V. Rev. P. Flavin, P.P., Old Parish, Rev. M. Enright, C.C., and Rev. W. J. Hart, C.C., Newtown, Kilmacthomas. Another very large concourse were present.

Many Mass cards, telegrams and letters of sympathy were received.

The chief mourners: Rev. P. Curran, C.S.Sp., Sierre Leone, Michael Curran, Gortnadhia, Ring, Thomas Curran, Ballinamona, Old Parish (sons); Mrs. Mary Robertson, Liverpool, Miss Peggy Curran, do. (daughters); Mrs. Nora Kennedy, Dungarvan, (sister); Mrs. Maureen Curran and Mrs. Rita Curran (daughters-in-law); Mr. Ted Robertson (son-in-law), and a large circle of grandchildren, relatives and friends.

(Funeral arrangements by Jas. Kicly and Sons, Undertakers, Dungarvan.)

By Octogenarian JOHN REGAN
CAPPOQUIN nestling at the foot of the Knockmeal-down Mountains and built on the left bank of the River Blackwater, also known as the "Irish Rhine" is noted amongst other things for the beauty of its scenery which in the writer's view is unsurpassed, and also by famous scholars of the past, one of whom, Michael Kavanagh, the famous Cappoquin poet and scholar, wrote:—

Of all the rivers that son or daughter
Of Eire prizes, the world within
The palm for beauty you bear Blackwater
Twixt Youghal Harbour and Cappoquin

Cappoquin in the olden days was noted for its abundance of poets and scholars. In passing, I might mention there are a few smart clients around still. A few of the most notable scholars of the past included Edward Walsh and John Walsh; also Patrick Denn, to whom a plaque is erected behind the Grotto in the R.C. Church grounds. One of the Walsh's is buried on the Rock of Cashel. I paid a visit to his grave on one of my trips to Thurles in bygone days.

Cappoquin was in the Desmond Stronghold and the country around bears evidence with all the old castle ruins. Not being able to visit the Archives in Dublin a lot of dates I won't try to relate. Cappoquin itself is a very old town and at one time could boast of 1,750 inhabitants. About the second last census it was down to about 700. At one time it boasted an iron works known as the Foundry, part of which is now the Knockmeal Co-Op. The Foundry employed several hundred workers and as there was no age limit for school leaving, boys of 12 and 13 years went to work there and became fitters, moulders, painters etc. That closed down at the end of the 19th century and a lot of workers went to Wexford and to Loughborough in England. Several more went to the United States and made good. A wagon and wheel works operated where the Cappoquin Bacon Factory now flourishes. That also gave a lot of employment—thirty five blacksmiths and the same amount of carpenters, not to mention the usual amount of clerical workers and labourer. Railway carriages were made there and the old "get rich quick" trick operated and unseasoned native timber was used in some of the carriages and of course they warped and the next thing happened wagon and wheels concerned. In far off days a cotton mill operated down in Quarter. The site was opposite The Quay on the banks of the Finisk, next to Tobins. It was owned by Coates, now of Paisley in Scotland, who control one of the biggest cotton firms in the world. Their grave is in Affane at the right-hand side going up to where the Church was. One of the Coates visited here a few years ago looking for some information. He had left before I heard about him. I actually worked under one of the months over 50 years ago. It was at the cotton mill the last major battle in Ireland was fought between the Earl of Desmond and the Earl of Ormond.

The Earl of Desmond was apparently of a truculent nature and he used a lot of jungle law to get what he wanted. He journeyed south and made claim on Sir Maurice Fitzgerald's land, Dromana, etc., saying Sir Maurice was only a sub-ordinate Irish Chief and demanded various dues and rents due to him as the head of the family. Sir Maurice refused to pay saying he held his estates from the Crow by Feudal Tenure Sir Maurice heard that Desmond was coming and he sent word to the Earl of Ormond who was his father-in-law. The Earl also thinking that Desmond's advance was in fact against his own territory in Tipperary, set out from Clonmel and crossed the mountains into Sir Maurice's country through the pass at Knockliffy. Here another message reached him begging him to hurry as Desmond was only a few miles from Dromana. Meanwhile Desmond was ravishing Sir Maurice's land. Desmond sent one of his captains to Sir Maurice demanding his submission. He replied he was satisfied to submit to arbitration but Desmond wouldn't. He wanted his own judge. In the meantime Ormond and his men were travelling down Bothar Garbh and the battle started between Bhothar a Mhaire and the Finisk. Desmond's forces were eventually routed and when he saw the day was lost he charged with some followers into Ormond's Horse and they were overpowered and taken prisoner or slain. Desmond himself encountered Sir Edmond Butler, Ormond's brother, who broke his thigh with a shot from a pistol and took him prisoner. When the Butler's were bearing him on their shoulders from the field, one of them tauntingly asked "Where now is the proud Earl of Desmond?" "Where he always was," came the reply, "on the necks of the Butler's." Some of Desmond's men tried to escape by swimming the Blackwater but were intercepted and slain by boatloads of armed men. Reaction to the affair was swift and both Earls were summoned to London. Ormond was cleared but Desmond was detained in London until the following year. Desmond was declared a traitor but he fought bravely for four year and was eventually caught in a little hut near Kilarney and beheaded.

I have in my possession a drawing of the old Timber Bridge which crossed the Blackwater at the point where the river turns high-handed on its way to the sea. It is said that Cromwell during his rampage through the country actually tied 200 of the inhabitants back to back and threw them in the river to drown. The new Stone Bridge is one of the finest structures of its kind in the country, being all of cut stone. It was opened by Sir Richard eKane in 1847—the year of the Famine. I don't know what the tradesmen's wages were but I do know the labourers got 4d. a day.

Cromwell had his headquarters in Youghal and burned all the castles on his way up the Blackwater. He didn't spare Strancally, Dromana or even Belmont Castles which had the distinction of being burned three times—once by Cromwell, by the Two Black Hounds and later during the last fifty years.

At one time a smelting works was situated between what is now known as The Rectory and the Blackwater. This factory was managed by a Mr. Cooke and the road at the southern end of the town was called Cook Street. It is also interesting to note that Cappoquin was one of the first three places in Ireland where the Christian Brothers taught. They did not have a Community here as the one that taught had a difference with the Bishop at that time and left the Order. The Cappoquin School was the big building which was at the place known as "The Pike," and was recently knocked down and is now a series of stables belonging to Mr. Michael O'Connor.

In passing I might mention that I was a spectator at the famous county football final between The Hopes and The Rovers. The teams were captained by Dungarvan man Dan Fraher and Cappoquin man Jim Wall. The result that day was a draw. The replay took place in Clonmel. Incidentally both teams were from Dungarvan. The match was played two fields away from Mr. M. O'Connor's new residence, owned by a Mr. Jack McGrath whose descendants now live in Lismore and are prominent in the business and sporting life of that town.

As I am still in the Lefanta area I would like to point out that in our old history books of the Art McMurrugh, Strongbow and Raymond Le Gros era, Raymond forded the Blackwater down at Mount Rivers and crossed to the Drumrue side where one of the Desmond's castles existed.

I couldn't let Drumrue pass without mentioning St. Declan. Eric Mac Trein, father of St. Declan and his wife Deithin went on a visit to the house of his kinsman (brother) Dohhran who lived in Drumrue, in the Parish of Lismore and while there Declan was born, around 373 A.D. The place was known as Dohhran's Place and herein was erected a primitive church 14' x 8' which is still fairly traceable within a small circular graveyard, two miles south west of Cappoquin on the land owned by Mr. Willie Walsh and situated about a 100 yards in off the road at the right hand side between what is known as 'Fives' Cross and the Round Hill and is surrounded by a clump of trees. Dohhran presented his homestead to Declan and in after years when Declan became a bishop, he erected there a Celebrated Cell in honour of God. He was fostered to Dohhran for seven years and sent to study to Dioma, Patron of Cill Dioma, in the Diocese of Limerick. He remained a long time here and in 395 went to Rome. After a number of years of study he was ordained and sent back to Ireland in 403 A.D. Coming back from Rome he landed at what was then called "High Sheep Island," now known as Ardmore and for the next forty years he ministered to the Faithful, mainly based in Ardmore but often returned to his primitive Church in Drumrue for peace and quietness. He is said to be buried in Ardmore but there is much uncertainty regarding the date of his death.

Up to 1750 Cappoquin was part of the Parish of Lismore and when it became a distinct parish its church was about 50 yards up the Feadawagga at the left hand side of the road. It wasn't an imposing structure and in Father John Walsh's pastorate a new church was built in 1822 and even now, at 150 year old, it is one of the most up-to-date churches in the Diocese. It was recently renovated at considerable expense which debt is now cleared. Fr. John Walsh P.P. is buried before the High Altar.

THE COMMITTEE MEMBERS

The Seventieth Installation of Officers of the County Waterford S.B. & P. Association of New York was held on January 23, at Gaelic Park Casino.

The Chairman of the affair Frank Murphy opened the proceedings with a hearty welcome to all present and introduced the Installing Officer, the Honorable Christopher McGrath, Judge of the City of New York.

The Judge, after installing the officers, addressed the audience. He praised the officers and the members for maintaining a strong Association at a time when so many fraternal organisations are failing. He also spoke of his many enjoyable visits to his family home, Dungarvan. Mr. McGrath then spoke about the trouble in the North of Ireland. He denounced the terrible injustice being suffered by our brothers in Northern Ireland and called on everyone, Irish and Irish-American to voice and demonstrate in every way possible their support for a united Ireland.

New York State Senator John Flynn also gave a brief address in which he echoed Judge McGrath's remarks and again solicited everyone's help and support for a united Ireland.

The Chairman then introduced the new Officers for 1972 beginning with the Vice-President, Tim O'Rourke, Lismore. Then came the Treasurer, Bridie Sullivan from Melleray, who was absent due to her husband's death; Financial Secretary, Ann McGovern, from Modello; Recording Secretary, Marge Halpin of New York; Corresponding Secretary, Joan Power, Waterford by marriage; and three trustees, Madge Cribbin, Melleray, Chris Hicks, Waterford City and Patrick Murphy, do.; and the Chaplain, Rev. Fr. James Murphy, Waterford.

The Chairman called for a minute of silent prayer for the late Michael J. Sullivan, who was to have been re-installed as Sgt.-at-Arms.

The Chairman then introduced the new President, John Powers, a native New Yorker whose parents came from Kilrossanty. His mother, the former Alice Comyn, who is a very active member of the Association, was present. In his very inspiring address, Mr. Powers thanked the members for the honour and trust they had vested in him. He called for greater participation by all in the workings of the Association. He pledged his fullest efforts to give vigour to a more active Association in 1972. At the end of his address, the new President got a standing ovation from all present.

Augustinians In Dungarvan 1292 - 1972

(By REV. T. C. BUTLER, O.S.A.)

THE ABBEY AND ITS SURROUNDINGS

At the time when the Abbey was built, all the country round about was covered with woods (1). The Norman settlers, with their flair for filage, generally made extensive clearings in the woods, but, strangely enough, this did not happen to any great extent in West Waterford. Great tracts of forest still remained untouched from the Comerghs to the sea.

The Abbey buildings consisted of a church with a sixty foot tower in the middle, the Priory attached to the church, together with extensive out-offices, granary, bakery, chapter-house, etc. If we are to judge by some of the abbey's of the Order which still remain with their church walls almost intact, e.g. Callan, Adare, Dunmore (Co. Galway), Augustinian architecture had a distinctiveness all its own. The tower was central to the church; on one side were the choir for the brethren and the sanctuary, on the other side the main nave. Branching off from the tower were the community buildings, viz. kitchen, refectory, cellars, and overhead the cells which were the sleeping quarters, infirmary and library. The present Parish Church of Abbeyside is built on the foundations of the original Priory, the stones of which have been incorporated in the walls.

What an imposing sight the Abbey buildings must have presented to anyone approaching by sea. One first saw the magnificent East window (now pathetically disfigured and irreparably ruined) with its beautiful stained glass, the strong tower soaring above the roof of the church, the great two-storey Priory with its surrounding buildings, its cloister garth, well-kept lawns and gardens, the woods stretching away to the north and east, affording a shelter-belt of many shades of green to the Abbey and its grounds. Immediately behind it was soon to rise the sturdy Castle of the McGraths, that—

"Sentient for centuries long
The Abbey's peaceful shade,
And saw the young, the old,
and strong
Beneath its shadows
Laid." (2)

The reputed builder of this castle was Donald McGrath, whose tomb can still be seen near the site of the altar under the North window of the ruined church. According to the inscription on the tomb, he was buried there in 1400. Some few of the order inhabitants of Abbeyside will remember the ruins of that castle, part of which collapsed in 1888 and again in 1915. A cloistered walk led from the Abbey along by the seaside (hence Friars' Walk, or Bother na Manach as it was called.) The Hermitage may have been the site of a gate-lodge to the castle. This setting was to be the habitat of the friars for almost 250 years; here they remained undisturbed from intruders by land or sea until the Dissolution. 1295-1539

Scant indeed are the records of those uneventful years when the friars carried on their quiet ministry of prayer and sacrifice. It was, for the most part, a period of peace. "The most prominent effect of the Norman occupation was not, as has often been represented, an increase of turmoil, but rather the introduction of a measure of peace and prosperity quite unknown before" (3). Having become quickly assimilated into the stream of Gaelic culture, the Normans became, in the immortal words of Gerald Barry, "more Irish than the Irish themselves." The picture that most historians leave us is that of a land of peace, dotted with small villages, manors, castles, churches, abbeys and friaries. "A common religion laid the foundation for further commingling of the two peoples" (4), and ensured for Gaelic native and Norman settler alike the peaceful practice of their faith.

In such an atmosphere the Abbey ministered to the people of the countryside. The Friars wore, then, as now, their black habit and cincture with the cowl (or capouche) to protect their heads against the elements. There were many priests and some lay-brothers. Ministering to the people's spiritual needs was not their only task, however. They were expected to make their monastery a place of education for the young; to be skilled in medicine and the treatment of fevers; to be exponents of Church music, art and painting for the sons of the nobility. They were expected to keep an open house for travellers and pilgrims and to supply the poor with the means of life. The barns of the Friars served as granaries for the people's corn and wool against the coming of traders and as protection against marauders. They took an interest in methods of farming. "Now the first time Ireland knew systematic agriculture and estate management," says F. X. Martin, O.S.A., in "The Course of Irish History." The Abbey, then, was the source of religious life, it was school, a hospital, a model farm, a sanctuary and a hostel for pilgrims and travellers.

Later persecution has obliterated almost all the memories and documents of the brethren of those far-off days, and it is only here and there that we get a passing reference to them. One such reference was the following:—

"Roger (McGrath) was Prior in the year 1312 when he was sued by Adam Brown for seven acres of land situated in Ballony, Co. Waterford. The land was granted by Brown in free alms for the support of a chantry in the Friary Church, but was afterwards alienated by Prior Roger to John Tyrrell and Petitia, his wife, contrary to the form the grant" (5). There is also a reference to the Abbey in the Augustinian General Archives for December 1488, where it mentions Thomas McGrath as Prior of Dungarvan (6).

SUPPRESSION (1539-1603)

Henry VIII had decreed the suppression of the monasteries in 1536, but Dungarvan was too far removed from direct contact with the English government to immediately feel the effects of this impious decree. However, it was a seaport and the monastery there could not hope to escape, as did the Augustinian houses in Connaught and Munster. At present, we have even in more remote parts of no document which explicitly dates the suppression of the monastery, but its suppression either in the reign of Henry or in the early years of Edward VI, is evident from a reference in a State document of the year 1553. This deals with the confiscation of the Friary at Dungarvan. It is:

"A Letter from the Lord Protector and Council of England to the Lord Deputy: Whereas with our advice the King's Majesty hath appointed James Walsh to be Constable of Dungarvan for the term of his life, and as we understand the Parsonage of Dungarvan and the late house of Friars are now in the King's Majesty's hands, his Royal Highness please with assent, for the better victualling and maintenance of the said James in that behalf, is, that you cause a survey to be made of the said Parsonage and house of Friars, and standing charged with an annual rent according to the same survey, thereupon you do make to the said James and his assign a sufficient lease thereof under the King's seal for a term of 21 years. (Signed) Edward VI. 1553 (7)."

It appears from the words "the late house of Friars" that the Augustinians had already been ejected from their dwelling. A report made in 1541 on the "Priory or House of Friars of the town of Dungarvan" by the Civil Commissioners, mentions Philip Fitzwilliam as "late Prior of the house," and says:—

"The buildings on the site are still standing as at the time of the dissolution: none is superfluous, but all are suitable for the farmer. The church is the parish church. The buildings, with small cemetery, comprise two acres"

(8). It also mentions 3 parks or closes, containing 63 acres, with acres adjacent, and 22 acres with 3 gardens adjacent, etc. One must presume that the church was being used by the Reformed clergy.

It is most likely that after the death of Edward VI the Friars again took possession of their Abbey (which was still intact), only to be again ejected on the accession of the ambitious Elizabeth. We next find mention of the much-bartered property of the Dungarvan friars in a grant of the year 1594:—

"Grant to Robert Bestocke 4 messuages (or dwellings), 30 acres arable, of great measure in Ballinrode, in the county of Waterford, parcel of the possessions or house of Friars in Dungarvan." (9).

Again, in 1595, "a lease of the Friary, with sundry other lands, was granted for 21 years to Roger Dalton, at the annual rent of ten shillings" (10). Here, an interesting point arises. The Prior at the time was also a Roger Dalton. Were they both the same person? In "A History of Irish Catholicism," Fr. Canice Mooney, O.F.M., writes: "In some cases, the Friars, who had stayed on in environments of their ancient foundations, succeeded in buyin back part of the property, or in receiving it on lease, or as a gift, with the connivance of friendly landlords and neighbours" (11). This, I think, speaks for itself.

The final act in this trafficking in religious possessions was reached in the year 1603, when all the Friars' properties were made over to Sir William Taaffe. This was one of the last acts of Elizabeth for she died two months later. The property was granted in fee to Taaffe.

THE COMMITTEE MEMBERS

The Seventieth Installation of Officers of the County Waterford S.B. & P. Association of New York was held on January 23, at Gaelic Park Casino.

The Chairman of the affair Frank Murphy opened the proceedings with a hearty welcome to all present and introduced the Installing Officer, the Honorable Christopher McGrath, Judge of the City of New York.

The Judge, after installing the officers, addressed the audience. He praised the officers and the members for maintaining a strong Association at a time when so many fraternal organizations are failing. He also spoke of his many enjoyable visits to his family home, Dungarvan. Mr. McGrath then spoke about the trouble in the North of Ireland. He denounced the terrible injustice being suffered by our brothers in Northern Ireland and called on everyone, Irish and Irish-American by voice and demonstrate in every way possible their support for a united Ireland.

New York State Senator John Flynn also gave a brief address in which he echoed Judge McGrath's remarks and again solicited everyone's help and support for a united Ireland.

The Chairman then introduced the new Officers for 1972 beginning with the Vice-President, Tim O'Rourke, Lismore. # Augustinians In Dungarvan 1292 - 1972

(By REV. T. C. BUTLER, O.S.A.)

THE ABBEY AND ITS SURROUNDINGS

At the time when the Abbey was built, all the country round about was covered with woods (1). The Norman settlers, with their flair for tillage, generally made extensive clearings in the woods, but, strangely enough, this did not happen to any great extent in West Waterford. Great tracts of forest still remained untouched from the Comeraghs to the sea.

The Abbey buildings consisted of a church with a six-foot tower in the middle, the Priory attached to the church, together with extensive out-offices, granary, bakery, chapter-house, etc. If we are to judge by some of the abbots of the Order which still remain with their church walls almost intact, e.g. Callan, Adare, Dunmore (Co. Galway), Augustinian architecture had a distinctiveness all its own. The tower was central to the church; on one side were the choir for the brethren and the sanctuary, on the other side the main nave. Branching off from the tower were the community buildings, viz. kitchen, refectory, cellars, and overhead the cells which were the sleeping quarters, infirmary and library. The present Parish Church of Abbeyside is built on the foundations of the original Priory, the stones of which have been incorporated in the walls.

What an imposing sight the Abbey buildings must have presented to anyone approaching by sea. One first saw the magnificent East window (now pathetically disfigured and irreparably ruined) with its beautiful stained glass, the strong tower soaring above the roof of the church, the great two-storey Priory with its surrounding buildings, its cloister garden, well-kept lawns and grounds, the woods stretching away to the north and east, affording a shelter-belt of many shades of green to the Abbey and its grounds. Immediately behind it was soon to rise the sturdy Castle of the McGraths, that—

"Sentilled for centuries long
The Abbey's peaceful shade,
And saw the young, the old,
And strong
Beneath its shadows
Laid." (2)

The reputed builder of this castle was Donald McGrath whose tomb can still be seen near the site of the altar under the North window of the ruined church. According to the inscription on the tomb, he was buried there in 1400. Some few of the order inhabitants of Abbeyside will remember the ruins of that castle, part of which collapsed in 1886 and again in 1915. A cloistered walk led from the Abbey along by the seaside (hence Friars' Walk, or Bothernanach as it was called). The Hermitage may have been the site of a gate-lodge to the castle. This setting was to be the habitat of the friars for almost 250 years; here they remained undisturbed from intruders by land or sea until the Dissolution, 1295-1539.

BEACH ORDER MISUNDERSTOOD

It is clear that the County Council Order to control the removal of beach materials from along the West Waterford coast is entirely misunderstood by local residents. It should be made clear that it is not proposed to interfere with the traditional right with people to remove sand and gravel, etc., for their own needs. The order is directed entirely against "outsiders" who remove thousands of tons of beach materials and thus cause coast erosion, which is a major problem at Ardmore, Ballyquin, Whiting Bay, etc.

HARRIERS DINNER

Kinsalebeg-Clashmore Harriers held their annual Dinner/Dance at Monatrea Hotel. The function was a great success from every point of view. There was large attendance and all arrangements were perfect, in the capable hands of Mr. James Fitzgerald (Master) and a hard working committee.

DEATH OF POPULAR VILLIERS TOWN MAN

The news of the death of Mr. Thomas Crowe, Villiers town, which occurred at his residence on Saturday evening March 4, was received with profound shock and deep regret by the people of his native village and indeed all west Waterford.

The remains were removed to Aghlish Church on Sunday evening, where the coffin was received and blessed by Rev. P. Fitzgerald, C.C., Rev. D. Ormonde, O.S.A.

The deceased, who was in his 70th year, had been attached to the Postal Service for the last 40 years. Tommy was a very prominent member of the Old I.R.A. West Waterford Brigade and had been interned in Ballykinlar and Spike Island. He was also a prominent member of the L.D.F. during the Emergency. A lover of all things "Gaelach," Tommy played a major role in the erection of the I.R.A. Monument outside Cappoquin. He was deeply involved in the political life of the country up to the time of his unexpected death.

He was buried with full military honours, the Firing Party being from Kichham Barracks Clonmel, and the coffin was draped with the tri-colour. There were immense corteges on both occasions, fully testifying to the popularity of the deceased. Large numbers of Mass cards, telegrams and letters of sympathy were received.

The interment took place on Monday, March 6 in the adjoining cemetery after Requiem Masses by Rev. D. McGrath, P.P., Rev. P. Fitzgerald, C.C., and Fr. D. Ormonde, O.S.A., officiated.

The chief mourners: Mary (wife); Helen and Mrs. B. Clancy (daughters); Mary, England (sister); Michael Clancy (son-in-law), niece and nephew.

N.A.C.A. MEETING

Cappoquin G.A.A. grounds and adjoining lawn is the venue for the N.A.C.A. meeting on Sunday next, March 12. Competitions include girls and boys Munster championships under 10 and 12 years; senior and junior open; and confined events in U-17, 15, 13, 10 and 8 years.

DARTS

The semi-finals of the West Waterford Dart League "Doubles" played on Tuesday night last resulted in Maddens and Morrisseys qualifying for the final.

ON IRISH SCHOOLS TEAM

We congratulate Ray Treacy Villiers town, on his selection on the Irish Schools Cross Country boys team, who will compete in Glasgow on March 28. This is a great honour for Ray and a deserving reward for his dedication and training for the sport he loves. Ray is son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Treacy.

BOWLING

The final of the Affane G.A.A. Bowling tournament was held on Sunday last and the winner was Jimmy Whelan with Joe Murphy 2nd and John Foley 3rd.

LATE WM. HARTERY

We record with deep regret the death of Mr. William Hartery, which occurred at Lismore District Hospital on Monday, February 28. The remains were removed to Aghlish Church on Tuesday and were blessed and received by Rev. P. Fitzgerald, C.C. The deceased, who spent most of his years in the U.S., was a man of quiet disposition. He had retired some years back and returned to live in his native locality. He died after a short illness. The burial took place on Wednesday, in the adjoining cemetery, in the family plot.

He is survived by Raymond, Mount Rivers, and John, England (brothers); Cissie, England (sister); nephew, nieces and other relatives.

SINN FEIN

A public meeting will be held at the Square, Cappoquin on Sunday, March 12, at 7.30 p.m. Speakers: Tomas MacGiolla (President) and Maire De Burca (Renai.)

Late James Barron

Ardmoyle, Crosshaven and O'Connell St., Dungarvan. It is with feelings of deep sorrow that we place on record the death of James (Jim) Barron, late of Ardmoyle, Crosshaven and formerly of O'Connell St., Dungarvan, who died at St. Finbarr's Hospital, Cork, on Thursday, March 2, after a rather short duration of illness, but at the fullness of years.

The deceased was a very well-known and popular gentleman, especially in his native districts of Old Parish and Dungarvan. He had been in the tobacco trade at his life and had conducted a most lucrative business at his well-known and old established premises in O'Connell Street. On retiring he transferred his abode to Crosshaven where he also enjoyed wide popularity.

The late James Barron was a friend of all and a wonderfully charitable man, who willingly helped those requiring his assistance, and those of unfortunate circumstances were known that kind friend was always at hand in the person of Jim Barron.

To his sorrowing son, daughter, sister, daughter-in-law and young grandchildren we tender our deepest condolences.

His remains were removed on Saturday evening to Mary's Parish Church, Dungarvan and were followed by a very large and most representative cortege and were blessed and received by Rev. V. Callan, C.C., assisted by Rev. T. C. Butler, O.S.A. Prior, and Rev. J. Griffin, C.C., Stradbally.

The last Mass on Sunday morning was offered for the repose of his soul and the interment took place in the adjoining family plot, when another very large concourse were present. Rev. W. Carey, C.C., assisted by Rev. J. Griffin, C.C., and Fr. Hourihane, O.S.A., imparted the final absolution at the graveside.

Very many Mass cards, telegrams and letters of condolence were received. Floral tributes from his grandnieces Cora were placed on his grave.

The chief mourners: Thomas Barron, England (son); Miss Peggy Barron, Crosshaven (daughter); Mrs. T. Barron (daughter-in-law); Mrs. Bridget Veale, Ballinaharda, Old Parish (sister), and a large circle of grandchildren, nieces and relatives.

(Funeral arrangements by Jas. Kiely and Sons, Undertakers, Dungarvan.)

Late John O'Neill

GRAIGUE, AGLISH. The death occurred on Friday morning, March 3, of John O'Neill, Graigue, Aghlish, at St. Joseph's Hospital, Dungarvan, after a period of illness, but at the allotted span. The deceased was a general favourite over a wide area and was a member of a most esteemed family who are attached to the farming community. He was of a gentle and retiring nature, which endeared him to his wide circle of life long friends.

To his sorrowing brother Patrick, nephew Thomas and relatives, we tender our deep sympathy.

His remains were removed on Saturday evening to Aghlish Church and were followed by a very large cortege and were blessed and received by Rev. P. Fitzgerald, C.C.

The last Mass on Sunday morning was offered for the repose of his soul and the interment took place in the adjoining family plot, when another large and representative concourse was present. Rev. P. Fitzgerald, C.C., assisted by Rev. V. Callan, C.C., officiated at the graveside.

The chief mourners: Patrick, Graigue (brother), and a large circle of nephews, nieces and relatives.

"In the cauldron of a delightful fairytale you will find humour, local and universal, skilfully blended with solos and duets to suit all tastes and served on a platter of exhilarating choral display—a delightfully complete presentation." "Jack & the Beanstalk" is the title of the current production by Michael Riordan with the Inch (Killeagh) Panantomime Group.

Public support to-date makes it quite clear that the high standard set by last year's production "Goody Two Shoes" not only has been maintained but has in fact been surpassed. As well as producing the pantomime, Michael Riordan effortlessly portrays "The Dame" with Charlie Flavin as bashful "Basil" always in close attendance, ably supported by Anthony Flavin as "Sopey" and John Keniry as his sidekick "Mopey." The sophisticated ignorance, the "Dame" coupled with the absurd brilliance of "Sopey" and "Mopey" alone make this a show well worth seeing. But there is more to it than this!

In the title role we find Mary O'Donovan, who is complemented by her sister Margaret as "Rosemary" giving a delightful performance including some memorable solos and duets. Both of these are newcomers to the cast. So also is Martha Budas, who plays the part of the Witch. In this very demanding role she moves gracefully from the harsh and inhuman cackles of the Witch to the haunting strains of Brahms' Lullaby.

In between we find her still at ease in a duet with the Giant, brought to horrifying reality by Denis Collins.

Also worthy of mention are Mary Flavin as "Mrs. Mulligan" and Gerard Byrne as the "Gardie."

Introducing and finalising each major scene is a highly talented with professional expertise. All in all, with its highly talented cast and chorus, this magnificent production is an unqualified success. Don't miss it.

"ALL HAIL" SLIABH gCUA

The Slabh gCua Set Dancers outdressed all opposition in the Scor 72 Competition, held at Dromkeen, Co. Limerick, on Friday, March 3 and were acclaimed Munster champions. They have now qualified for the all Ireland final, which will be in Dublin on March 16.

Behind this bald statement of fact is a story of high endeavour, rigorous rehearsal and careful attention to detail which crowned their efforts with success.

Two bus loads of supporters, along with several cars, left Touraneena for Dromkeen, where the sparsus hall was filled to capacity.

The Slabh gCua team were first to take the floor in the Set Dancing competition and their appearance was the signal for loud and prolonged applause, and cries of "Come on Slabh gCua" from the large Daise contingent present.

At the conclusion of their performance they were again hailed with roof-raising cheers. They were followed by dancers from Cork, Kerry and Limerick, each performing in apparently flawless fashion.

However, the judges declared Slabh gCua the winners and scenes of wild enthusiasm again prevailed.

For the benefit of those who may not be aware of the fact, the man who trained and coached the dancers to victory is the grandson of the late Pádraig O'Millea, author, Irish teacher and the greatest Gaelic poet of the present century. His loveliest poem "Slabh Gael gCua na Feile" is often heard from R.E. and is considered an Irish classic.

It is indeed fitting that the grandson of the man who kept alive the Irish language in Slabh gCua, should now be in the forefront of this great cultural revival and as traditional Irish step dancer he has appeared on television on many occasions. Cheers for Monnie Hallahan.

BUS TO FINAL

A special bus will leave Touraneena for Dublin on Thursday, March 16 for the all Ireland Set Dancing competition final. For full details see advert in this issue.

Among the gallant 15 of whom a memorial will be erected in the Square of Maynooth where the volunteers mobilised on Easter Monday, 1916, are two Ringmen, Liam O'Regan and Jack Graves.

The little party proceeded to the G.P.O. where they were received with open arms by James Connolly and were filed out through the back gate of St. Patrick's College, Maynooth. It was the evening of Easter Monday 1916.

The Maynooth Memorial will depict the blessing of the volunteers by the College President before their departure to Dublin.

CHALLENGE GAME

Dungarvan hurlers play Ballydurn in a challenge game at Ballydurn, on Sunday next. Transport from the top of Keating St., leaves at 2 p.m.

MUNSTER CHAMPIONS

The scenes of excitement at Dromkeen Co. Limerick on Friday night last when the Slabh gCua set dancing team were named 'Scor 72' Munster champions, had to be seen to be believed. Coats, hats, caps and scarfs, etc., were flung into the air and the cheering of their huge group of supporters in the capacity attendance of 4,000 literally lifted the roof. It was a great moment for all Waterford people in the hall, but particularly so for all from Slabh gCua, the set dancers themselves, their instructor Monnie Hallahan and their trio of musicians.

Since their first appearance in a special competition at Lawlors Hotel last November they have set a high standard and on Friday night produced a flawless performance to win Waterford's first-ever Munster title in these competitions and they now go forward to contest the All Ireland final at the R.D.S., on March 16. No less than five buses and many cars, carried the hundreds of Slabh gCua supporters Dromkeen and all roads will lead to Dublin on March 16.

In motion speaking Pat Walsh (Kilrossanty) earned the runner-up spot, whilst Kennedy, Martin Galvin and Humphrey Kelleher did not win any awards, nevertheless they acquitted themselves well in top class company. All in all it was a great night for Waterford and especially for Slabh gCua.

U.S. TRIPS

Arising from the recent agreement reached with the G.A.A. authorities in New York, club players travelling to that city must obtain a written permit from his Co. Secretary, which must be presented to the referee prior to the game in New York. If the permit is not presented the player will automatically stand suspended.

MUNSTER CONVENTION

Interesting items at last Saturday's Munster Convention, which was held at the magnificent new Headquarters of the Shannon Gaels club, which cost £37,000, were that gate receipts were up by £11,745 on the 1970 figure; a total of approx. £9,700 was paid out in injury grants to players in the province. The amount in injury grants to Waterford players was £1,191. Waterford Co. board chairman N. McGrath, was re-elected as vice-chairman of the Council.

CHAMPIONSHIP PREVIEW

Ardmore will start as firm favourites to win this year's Divisional intermediate title and go on to win their way back to senior ranks. In their first game they will face near neighbours and old rivals Ring. Last year Ring were decidedly unlucky to lose to the 'Seaside' and it was only the lack of a competent place kicker which cost them the game. Since that game Ardmore have improved with every outing and it's going to take a good team to stop them. Ring of course will be strengthened this year by the return of the Harty brothers, Tommy Joe and Pat who played with the Breckey Rangers last year.

Emmetts, who held last year's county champions Nire to a draw in last year's semi-final and narrowly lost the replay, will play Valley Rovers who re-entered a team last season only to lose to Eire Oge and Emmetts could be quite a force this year. Ballyduff face Old Parish and these teams would appear to be evenly matched. It's only a few years ago that Old Parish were a major force in this grade and in 1967 they were just pipped in that year's county final by Tramore, who have since contested three county finals and winning two of them.

So it would be foolhardy to underestimate Old Parish. In the top half of the draw we have a local derby game between Dungarvan and Eire Oge and this is a clash which will create great interest locally and the winners of this one will be fancied to overcome Lismore and qualify for the Western final, but of course Lismore may have other ideas.

AWARDS PRESENTED

Due to pressure on space in last week's issue we had to curtail some items. One of these was the presentation jerseys to our four top referees for 1971. The jerseys were presented by Eddie Windberry on behalf of the Waterford Sports Outfitters and they will be known as the Gallaher Awards for Referees. The first recipients of the awards were: V. Mulligan (Abbeyside/Courty), J. Landers (Cappoquin/Affane), N. Dalton (De La Salle) and J. Dunphy (Dunhill).

WILL REFEREE FINAL

Noel Dalton (De La Salle) who has been building up quite a reputation for himself as a top class referee over the past few years, will be in charge of yet another big game when he referees the Railway Cup hurling final between Munster and Leinster on St. Patrick's Day.

SPECIAL FUNCTION

As we reported last week, the Abbeyside / Ballinacourty Club are holding a special function on Saturday, March 18, at which last year's u-21 and u-16 football championship trophies will be presented, and tickets, which are limited, can be had from any members of the club committee.

TICKET PLAN

The recently answered long term ticket plan for the All Ireland finals has certainly created a stir among G.A.A. officials. The scheme, which will involve the 10,000 seats at present covered by 5 year ticket plan, is for the purpose of raising the necessary capital for the building of a new office block at Croke Park and while there seems to be general agreement that the building of the proposed office block is a very good idea and that it would bring in much-needed additional revenue each year, it is the suggested method of obtaining the necessary money for the project, which is causing the concern, as it most unlikely that the average follower can afford to pay out £100 even for a long term ticket for the finals and it's on this point that we are likely to see some heated discussion in the coming months. Our own Co. Board at their recent meeting, decided to write to Croke Park for the precise details of the plan and the matter will come up for discussion again at the March meeting of the Board.

ACCIDENT FUND

At the recent Co. Board meeting details of the improved accident fund were outlined. The scale of payments are to be increased to £10 per week for a single player and £15 per week for a married player. No benefit will go to a player who does not lose wages as a result of an accident. To help meet some of the cost of the new scheme the rates of club affiliation has been substantially increased and where most clubs in the county were paying £12 last year they will now be paying £31.50 in affiliation fees, which is an increase of over 150%. However, it will be money well spent as I doubt if any other sports body in the country looks after its players as well as the G.A.A. does, as a percentage of all major gate receipts is allocated to an additional fund which would be financed by individual contributions from players which will be circulated to the clubs in the county for their reactions.

SUPERB WIN FOR FRIARY HURLERS

The Friary senior hurling team swept convincingly aside the challenge of Cashel C.B.S. in the quarter final of Corn an Phdraig—the senior hurling (B) championship. The game was played under very wet conditions at Clonmel on Thursday last, but despite the very slippery underfoot conditions, good hurling was served up for the entire hour.

This victory has done much for hurling in the Friary and the lads are eagerly training for their clash with old enemies Templemore CBS in the semi-final.

Friary scorers were: Dan Sullivan (2-0) and Martin Foran (2-1).
Friary team: Ritchie Goode, J. O'Neill, S. English, D. Murray, W. Fitzgerald (capt.), M. Phean, S. Fox, D. Hayes, M. Foran, P. O'Riiscoll, D. P. Sullivan, T. Hayes, Subs.: J. Fitzgibbon, J. Barry, A. Mulcahy, J. Sullivan, F. McCormack.

J. FLYNN, C. TOBIN, M.

TOBIN and M. FRAHER at the VG Social at Lawlors Hotel.

SARGENT CUP

There is a full list of Sargent Cup games down for decision on Sunday next and three Western teams will be in action: Fourmilwater v. De La Salle; Lismore v. Erin's Own; and Abbeyside v. Dunhill.

U-14 FOOTBALL FINAL

It is expected that the '71 U-14 football final will take place in early April at a Western venue and it is good news to know that moves are afoot to have this long delayed final played.

HURLERS WIN

Waterford 3-4; Wicklow 1-8
Waterford senior hurlers defeated Wicklow in last Sunday's N.H.L. game which was played at Dunhill. All in all this was a most unimpressive display by Waterford. They were two goals up inside four minutes and looked set for an easy victory but in the end they found themselves fighting for dear life to take two most valuable points as it Waterford can now win their final game against Antrim then they will qualify for a place in the league quarter-finals.

ARDMORE SUPREME

Ardmore 5-11; Nire 0-4
It's a long road which has no turning and in football terms Ardmore's intermediate team reached that turning point on Sunday last when they defeated county champions Nire, in the replay of the Western Board 1971 league final.

On Sunday at Lismore Ardmore finally overcame the Nire bogey and dished out a football lesson to the county champions and emerged undisputed league champions.

Knockmeal Shareholders Decide Not To Negotiate

At an Extraordinary General Meeting of the Shareholders of Knockmeal Co-op. held at Ballinacourty on March 2, it was decided not to enter into negotiations with Waterford Co-op. with a view to amalgamation.

The total value poll was 264 and of these 178 were against negotiations of any kind and 86 were in favour of negotiations.

The meeting was convened at the request of ten shareholders asking the committee to enter into negotiations.

LANDS FLOODED— WITHELD RATES

At Dungarvan District Court on Wednesday last, Stephen Scanlan, Kilahala West, Lismore, was defendant in an action brought by the County Council, for the recovery of £243.75 due in rates by him.

Mr. Patrick Hogan, rate collector, said the money owed represented three years rates.

Scanlan said there was no question of his trying to evade paying the rates, he had even lodged cheque for the amount with his solicitor. However, he had a grievance against the Co. Council, who, in 1958, altered the course of a stream that was running along the Lismore / Youghal Road through his land into the Owbeg River. This action had resulted in his land being flooded to a depth of between 10 and 15 feet. Despite many approaches to the Co. Council about this, nothing had been done.

Justice Carroll said that while the defendant had aired his grievance and he hoped something would come from it, he would still have to pay his rates. Awarding a decree for £243.75 to the Co. Council he said Mr. Scanlan had a remedy in another Court if he felt the Council was at fault over the flooding of his property.

HORTICULTURE INSTRUCTOR APPOINTED

The appointment of temporary instructor in horticulture for a period of six months, was approved by the members of Co. Waterford Committee of Agriculture at their meeting in Dungarvan, on Monday last. But the Local Appointment's Commission is now being asked to create a permanent post so that the Committee will acquire the services of an experienced instructor.

The new temporary appointee is William J. Burke, Kennyswell Road, Kilkenny, one of two applications received for the post.

Soccer Round Up

DUNGARVAN UNIMPRESSIVE BUT CONTINUE UNBEATEN RUN

Lismore 0; Dungarvan 3
Lismore on Sunday last might yet prove to be one of their most important wins, not alone for the two points they collected but it also showed that over-confidence against any opposition can prove fatal to their league hopes.

A very wet pitch, some below par performances and strong defensive work by Lismore made it a game to remember.

From the kick-off Lismore showed it was going to be a tough test for the league leaders. Nevertheless, it was only a doubtful offside decision and a great save by home keeper Cunningham that prevented Dungarvan's Morrissey from scoring.

Dungarvan's first goal which didn't come until 15 minutes into the second half, was a disaster for Lismore. Under pressure from M. Sheidan the Lismore centre half lofted the ball over his own keeper's head. This was followed by a fine solo goal by Monnie Lennon, who, on the day, was Dungarvan's best forward.

To add to Lismore's discomfort yet 'og.' was conceded. A left wing centre was headed past the keeper by one of his defenders. Although Dungarvan continued to attack they failed to increase their lead and the game ended with M. Brett replacing J. Sandford.

Over all the Dungarvan defence took the main honours, with M. Donnelly and M. Houllihan getting star ratings. Up front Dungarvan put in a lot of hard work in very trying conditions, but team boss J. Walsh must find a remedy for Dungarvan's erratic display at midfield. At times they were very creative, but overall lacked the aggression that is needed to gain control in this sector.

Dungarvan: M. Houllihan; B. Kyme, J. Houllihan, M. Connors, M. Donnelly, A. Hayes; P. Morrissey, M. Sheidan, M. Lennon, M. Walsh, J. Sandford, Res. M. Brett.

DUNGARVAN SCHOOLBOYS NARROW DEFEAT

Dungarvan defeated by Carrick on Saturday last in the u-14 Schoolboy League in no way took from the performance of the young lads, who were playing competitive football for the first time. Therefore to go under only by the odd goal in five and at an away venue at that, was a very creditable first performance.

On the day the Dungarvan lads looked nervous for a time and this was proved when they quickly fell two goals in to arrears, but as they came on they gained in confidence and were soon fighting like tigers to get back into the game and at the end were extremely unlucky to go down 3-2. Michael Wright got both Dungarvan goals.

Dungarvan: J. Kelly; M. O'Keeffe, T. Duggan, J. McGreggor, J. Foley, P. Tutty, M. Wright, B. Sheehan, M. Hurley, A. Dwyer, J. McGrath, Res. P. Burke.

Dungarvan now have three home games in a row. The first is v. Portlaoise at Springmount on Saturday (3 p.m.).

CLUB PROMOTION

Dungarvan Club members are asked to note that booking for the "Tom & Paschal" Show is now in full swing at John Casey's, Main St., and members are requested to book early and encourage friends to do the same.

This show is being staged by the club to bring in much needed funds, now that the club is engaged in schoolboy football. Remember the club does not request these lads to pay their way and in this grade the expenses are just the same as for junior level.

Let us hope then that not only club members but townspeople in general will support the show on 25th and 26th March.

BALLINROAD END DIV 3 (B) CAMPAIGN WITH WIN

Tramore 0; Ballinroad 2
Although minus the service of six of their regulars, Ballinroad still beat Tramore at the latter's home ground on Sunday last. Already assured of a place in the semi-finals, Ballinroad decided to rest some of their key players but still took the points.

B.L.E. ATHLETIC NOTES

International Honours For Tony Ryan And Ray Treacy

Congratulations to Tony Ryan of Dungarvan A.C. and Ray Treacy of St. Nicholas A.C., on being selected to represent Ireland in the Schools Cross Country International to be held at Clydebank, Scotland on March 25. This is a well deserved honour for these two young athletes and is a reward for their consistent performances to-date. No doubt they will give a good account of themselves on March 25 and they have the best wishes of their respective clubs on the occasion of their international debuts.

With two laps go he had moved into 4th position with a tiring Eugene Meally of Cork in 3rd place. These two battled it out for half the last lap, but then Treacy made the vital break and raced away from his opponent and at the finish he was closing the gap on Phil English, who finished 2nd. Surely a day to remember for Ray Treacy on his last appearance in schools cross country competition.

The hard luck story of the day belonged to the junior boys of Dungarvan C.B.S., Michael Casey, Michael Fitzgerald, Sean Meahan and Anthony Kelly. They were beaten by one point for the All Ireland title in the team contest, the winners being Annadale Grammar School with the high total of 104 points. The conditions were definitely against the light weight Dungarvan boys, but still full credit to them for putting up a magnificent performance in their first All Ireland appearance. They came very near to completing the double and surely they can look forward to further success next year.

The full team is Desie O'Connor and Phil English of Tipperary, Eugene Meally of Cork, Mick O'Shea of Limerick, Ray Treacy and Tony Ryan of Waterford, Tom Hesketh and Peter Lawlor of Belfast, John Treacy of St. Nicholas A.C. is a non-travelling reserve, but his day is not too far away and he should be an automatic choice next year.

Tony Ryan of Dungarvan C.B.S. repeated his Munster success when winning the All Ireland intermediate cross country championship at Rockwell, on Saturday last, with John Treacy of Cappoquin Secondary School again taking second place and Peter McGowran of Malachy's College, Belfast in 3rd position.

Eddie McCarthy of Cork was the early pacemaker but he was soon joined by Tony Ryan, John Treacy and Peter McGowran and after one lap it was obvious that the ace rested between this quartet. McCarthy was the first to drop out of the running, with McGowran taking over the leadership and setting a hot pace with one lap to go. However, the two Waterford boys wore him down and then the race was reduced to another battle between Tony and John. Once again it was the amazing burst of speed, which Tony produced, at the right moment, that made all the difference and he came home a convincing winner, after a gruelling race in muddy conditions, with the gallant John Treacy having to be content with the runner-up position.

Ray Treacy of St. Nicholas A.C. gave the performance of his life and an object lesson in tactics when finishing third to Desie O'Connor and Phil English in the senior race, thus clinching his much-cherished place on the international team. Having finished 5th in Munster his chances were good, but a good position in the All Ireland was essential.

After one lap he was in 8th position and moving confidently, closing the gap on

At Middleton on Sunday last the senior athletes of St. Nicholas A.C. had their first taste of class opposition and did well to take the 6th team prize behind such famous clubs as Tullamore Harriers, St. Finbarr's A.C. and Leevale. The race was won in a common carter by Neil Cusack of Limerick A.C., who was home on holidays from East Tennessee University. He gave a polished performance of free flowing running and showed the advantage of spending some time in the States, where he more than holds his own with class opposition.

The scoring members of St. Nicholas A.C. were Ray Treacy, Seamus Drummy, Paddy Kelly, John Harty and Jimmy Walsh. In the girls u-16 race Elizabeth Treacy was a creditable 5th and led her team mates Siobhan Drummy, Kathleen Kelly, and Breda Manahan to collect the 3rd team prize behind Grange-Fermoy and Leevale. Full marks to Breda Manahan, who was standing in for Breda Moloney (we wish her a speedy recovery) and she didn't let the side down with a great display of running for one so young.

Tony Ryan and John Treacy did not run on Sunday last as they were resting for the u-16 inter-provincial contest, which takes place on Sunday next at Belfield, Dublin. Tony Ryan captains the Munster boys team and also included are John Treacy and Richard O'Donovan (Friary A.C.) Elizabeth Treacy of St. Nicholas A.C. is the only Waterford representative on the girls team. Congratulations to all these athletes on being honoured by the Munster selectors and Tony Ryan should be bringing back the cup, won in Strabane last year; to Dungarvan for another year on Sunday night. Both Munster teams are very strong and it will be a big surprise if they fail to repeat the success of last year.

Seamus Fitzpatrick of Waterford A.C. continued to show good form in the indoor trials at the Curragh on Sunday last and it was great to learn that Cyril O'Regan also of Waterford A.C., made a comeback in the long jump after a long absence.
