DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND FISHERIES FISHERIES ACTS, 1959-1964 BASS AND MULLET FISHING
The Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister for Agriculture and Fisheries has under consideration the making of a bye-law governing fishing for bass and mullet providing for—

(1) a minimum size limit of 15" for bass and mullet measured from tip of the snout to the fork of the tail
(2) a prohibition on the use of nets and weirs for bass and mullet fishing between 6.00 a.m. on Saturday and 6.00 a.m. of the next following Monday;
(3) a complete prohibition of the netting of bass and mullet in defined areas of Clonakilly and Rosscarbery Bays, Co. Cork, which are regarded as sanctuaries;
(4) a prohibition on the use of any fixed net or any draft net with a mesh size of less than 1½" knot to knot, subject to the following exceptions:
(a) any net duly licensed for the capture of salmon and trout in any river or water in which a mesh size of less than 1½" knot to knot, is permitted by bye-law; (b) any trammel net with three or more walls; and
(c) any net used in conjunction with a legal sorat weir;

(5) a prohibition on the use, in any part of any estuary, inlet, creek, pill or lagoon, of any net which extends from shore to shore or which effectively blocks the passage of fish through the channel; and
(6) a prohibition on the shooting or setting, in any part of any estuary, inlet, creek, pill or lagoon, of a net within 100 yards of another net.
These provisions will regulate the provisions of the Bass Fishing Conservation Bye-Law No. 550, 1970. It is proposed that the new bye-law will operate for a period of 5 years.
The Parliamentary Secretary is prepared to receive at any time during one month after the publication of this notice, any objections or representations made to him in writing in regard to these proposals.

Secretary.

These provisions will regulate the provisions of the Bass Fishing Conservation Bye-Law No. 550, 1970. It is proposed that the new bye-law will operate for a period of 5 years.
The Parliamentary Secretary is prepared to receive at any time during one month after the publication of this notice, any objections or representations made to him in writing in regard to these proposals.

Secretary.

KILROSSANTY CONCERT
AUGUST 24th, 1914
UNDER the auspices of the Volunteers of Kilrossanty a most successful concert and very enjoyable dance were brought off in the Old Creamery, Kilrossanty, on Sunday night last. The proceeds went towards the building of a suitable drill hall for the local corps, and the attendance at the entertainment was extremely large. An energetic local committee had charge of the arrangements, and one and all worked with a will to see to the comforts of the artists and audience. In this respect special mention must be made of Messrs. Tom Power, James Walsh, Michael Connors, David Connors, P.
White, J. Bergin, M. Walsh, A. Kirwan, John Keating, Kilrossanty, and Michael Power, Adramone.

The concert opened to a crowded house at 8 p.m. with the chorus 'O't in the Stilly Night' which was nicely sung by Misses M. Neiland, J. Dev-ereux, M. O'Sullivan, Greav Phelan, O'Grady, Kenny and Burke, and Messrs. P. Bergin, Connors, Power, Keohan Drea and Crotty. Miss Rosie O'Grady next delivered a recitation entitled 'The Bachelor's Auction' which was heartily applauded. Mr. Jack Drea Dungarvan, then came on and gave 'A Farewell' in splendid voice, and, responding to encore, stirred up the audience with 'Phil the Flute's Ball', which was equally appreciated.
In the second part of the concert Mr. Drea gave a fine interpretation of that lovely song, 'Rory Darlin', and his encore song, 'My Old Shake', also took the house. Miss Kathleen Fitzgerald charmed the audience with a splendently danced hornpipe. Mr. Eddie Phelan Dungarvan - Mun-ster's premier baritone who was very popularly received sang 'Queen of Connemara' in excellent style and his encore song 'The Irish Emigrant' was received with loud applause.
Later on Mr. E. Phelan gave a beautiful rendering of 'She is Far from the Land', and as an encore 'Mother Machree' and pleased his audience immensely. Mr. John Power, Kil-rossanty, who is a violinist of much merit, played the 'Mis-ere' from 'Il Trovatore', which was very favourably received. The appearance of Mr.
Paddy Keohan, Dungarvan was the signal for a great ovation and he simply took down the house with his own imitable rendering (in character) of 'The Ould Boreen'.
As a second song he sang 'Off to Philadelphia' in great style. His appearance in Part II was equally looked forward to, and cheers greeted his splendid singing of 'I wonder Why', and his encore song, 'I am One of the Boys'.
Miss Katie Greaney, Dungarvan who possesses a beautiful rich voice, next contributed 'Juanita' in exquisite fashion, and was warmly applauded. She subsequently came on, and was heard to equal advantage in 'Come Back to Erin', the audience showing their appreciation of her singing by harmonising each chorus. Miss Babs Phelan, Kil-rossanty a talented violinist, next evoked rounds of applause for a faultlessly executed selection of Irish Airs.
Before the concert concluded Miss Phelan, by request played a further selection in an accomplished style. The next item was Mr. Connors' song, 'The Mountains of Mour-ne', which was received with loud applause and responding to a well-merited encore, he gave a splendid rendering of 'Mary's Reply' to the same song. Mr. John Crotty, Dungarvan, next danced a hornpipe in splendid style, and finished amid ringing cheers.

Mr. Dan Phelan, Dungarvan who is gifted with a magnificent voice and a well-conceived idea of proper interpretation, rendered 'Sweet Spirit Tear My Prayer' in taking style, and as an encore gave a very fine rendering of 'A Father's Love', which the audience loudly applauded.
Mr. Thomas Power, The Square, Dungarvan had the house in roars of laughter, while he delivered that popular comic recitation, 'How Paddy Got To Heaven'. A very popular local vocalist next appeared in the person of Mr.
Davy Connors, Kilrossanty, to sing 'Mary'. He pleased the audience so much that he was vociferously re-called and sang 'In Friendships Name', with fine voice and much feeling. Mr. Fred Phelan, Dungarvan was much appreciated for his fine singing of that favourite number, 'Molly Bawn'.
An exquisite exhibition of Irish step-dancing was then given by Miss Ellen O'Grady, who was well received.

At the conclusion of the concert Mr. Thomas Power, on behalf of the Kilrossanty Volunteers, thanked Mr. Maurice Power, on behalf of the patriotically placing the hall at their disposal, the artists who at such great inconvenience came such a long distance that night to make the concert a success, and lastly the people of the district who had given the Volunteer movement in Kilrossanty such generous support.

The concert then concluded by the singing of 'A Nation Once Again' by Mr. Eddie Phelan, chorused by all the artists. A special word of praise is due to Miss Babs Phelan and MISS Foley, who played the accompaniments so splendidly for the various singers, to Mr. John Power, who supplied the music for the dancers at the concert and to Mr. Tom Power who made an efficient stage manager.

The dance was then started at 11 p.m. when upwards of forty couples were in attendance. The music was faultlessly rendered by Professor M. Day, Johns Avenue, Waterford, assisted by Mr. John Power, Kilrossanty. Andrew Kirwan made an efficient M.
C. assisted by Messrs Michael and Davy Connors, James Walsh, and Thomas Power.
The catering was in the hands of Mrs. Ann Miss Power, Kil-rossanty, who dispensed hospitably on a lavish scale.

The programme embraced all the latest dances, interspersed by songs from the Dungarvan artists.

The energetic committee deserve the highest congratulations for the splendid success of their efforts and the thanks of all who attended, for the hospitable manner in which they were received.

These are NOT DIAMONDS But you'll swear they are!!

Incredible spaceage break-genuine diamonds for sure!

... So beautiful, even jewflawless that few genuine

THE ONLY DIFFERENCE
Genuine diamonds are pro-heat! So are Diagems!

Genuine diamonds have a cubic molecular structure.
So do Diagems! Genuine diamonds have a fire and do Diagems. Genuine diamonds are cut by expert diamond cutters. So are Diagems!

What is the difference then? Simply this ... A Diamond which is the hardest substance in the world, is harder than a Diagem.

This is the basic difference between a genuine diamond and a Diagem.
Don't confuse with zircons are vastly superior ...

The deceased was a member of a most popular and widely connected family. She was very popular over a wide area especially in the Kibrien district where she was deeply appreciated by her pupils and parents alike.

DROMANA

By Octogenarian JOHN O'REGAN

It is at the siege of Troy that the first traces of the Fitzgeralds or Geraldines, from whom the Dromana Fitzgeralds are descended. They evidently were a lawless race, overfond of the theory that might is right, and it is fitting that we should first hear of them amid the noise and stir of a great camp. This is what the Geraldine historian says in his quaintly-worded chronicle: The Fitzgeralds of Ireland men of approved valor, were without question descended from the ancient Trojans, when that ancient city of Pergamum being utterly layed waste after ten years siege, and all her princes slain in battles. Prince Aeneas only surviving Historians go on to tell of the banishment of Aeneas and his followers and how the "Ancestors of the Fitzgeralds were of them who followed him in his exile." Then we are told of his wars and how he became sole monarch of Italy and married Lavinia, daughter of King Latinus, and, finally how he assigned part of Italy "to the rest of the Trojans to inhabit." Among others, the ancestors of the Fitzgeralds did set down their rest in that part of Tuscany where now the noble city of Florence stands. The name Geraldine Gherardini was certainly extant in Italy at least as late as the 17th century for in possession of Dr. Ronayne, of Youghal, was a letter written by the then Doge of Venice to a certain Marchese di Gherardini of Verona dated 1652. It appears that in 1067, a younger brother of the house of Fitzgerald hearing that William, Duke of Normandy was crossing to England, with the intention of relieving Harold of his Crown, offered his services to William and being well followed was accepted by the said Duke and charge given him in the Army. After the battle of Hastings was fought and won, the Fitzgeralds obtained, as their share of the spoils, the Castle and Lordships of Windsor which they enjoyed until the time of Walter, the son of Otterus. This Walter had three sons "and his third son, Gerald of Windsor, married the daughter of Diu Ye Grate, Prince of Wales" and their son, Maurice Fitzgerald it was, who, as one of the leaders of the expeditions under Strongbow, set out for Ireland in 1169. For the reason of this expedition we must as usual "Chercher Le Femme." This story has, I'm afraid no moral, for the villain was decidedly victorious. This is what happened - "Dermott Mac Morroghue, King of Leinster, having stolen away the married wife of O'Melaghlin, King of Meath, weaved a web of destruction of the other kings of Ireland and of his own also, to bear the rest company. The King of Meath, craving aid from the other Irish Lords, as well as to recover his lady, as to revenge the wrongs done to him and having their assistance made sharp and cruel wars against King Dermott. Dermott was not able to withstand the joint forces because his own followers, fearing the danger of civil war, utterly forsook him." Forced at length to fly from Ireland, he sought help from Henry, King of England, then engaged in fighting the French. Henry, seeing an opportunity of further conquest, received him ambush for Thomas Fitzgerald, the head of the family, who was at that time Lord Justice of Ireland, they brought their plot to a successful issue, and after much fighting Fitz-Gerald and his son were both killed and it seems an aggravation of outrage when we learn that the ambush was "layed" by Sir Cartye More, Fitzgerald's own son-in-law. "At this time the whole race of the Geraldines of Munster were utterly destroyed, an infant of one year old remaining." This child was the grandson of the Lord Justice and being nursed and magie. He also "left the Earl-good to his brother, John as good a pennyworth as he received from his father." Thomas, the Sixth Earl, does not seem to have been as wise as "his noble and illustrious progenitors in the Earl-dom of Desmond for he fell into a forgetfulness of his duty and allegiance to the Crown of England. Being held by the State as a dangerous man, he was apprehended and compelled to enter very good and sufficient security for his future loyalty. Twelve lords of the English pale became bound for him and his forthcoming." However he rebelled a 2nd time "and not daring to appear to justify himself the Bonds were forfeited to the general undoing of most of these Lords who were bound for his appearance. The Earl himself after many trials and tribulations up and down the realm and having neither friends or means he left the land and fled to France where he died in banishment in 1446." All his possessions were confiscated by an Act of Parliament but afterwards restored to his nephew James who became Seventh Earl. "James had two sons, the eldest Thomas succeeded him in 1457. To his younger son, Gerald, he granted the territory of the Decies. This territory came to the house of Desmond by marriage among its very oldest acquisitions. In 1190 while King John was "Lord of Ireland" he added to the possessions the Desmonds had acquired from Henry II, by grants of some districts in Munster. This grant of land was made to Thomas Fitz-Maurice with full baronial powers as may be seen by the Charter at the Tower of London. This Thomas died sixteen years afterwards in 1215 and the wardship and marriage of John Fitz-Thomas, his heir, was given for 600 marks to Thomas Fitz-Anthony "Kings Seneschal of Leinster, Custos of Waterford and Lord of the Manor of Decies and Castle of Dungarvan." Fitz-Anthony, according to the usages of these times had the power of disposing of his ward's hand if not his heart and he forthwith married him to his daughter and coheiress, Margery. By so doing he secured for his grand-children the nurse sitting by the cradle, gave her a sound box on the ear, as it is thought thereby warning and admonishing her to look after her charge better in the future. You may be sure this is no fable, for he ever after during his life time bore the name of Thomas An Ape. It is a curious of story and it is satisfactory to learn that it was "no fable." I suppose at among all the vicissitudes the at happened to the Fitzgeralds, their fortunes were never at so low an ebb as when the monkey, personifying fate tood on the castle roof, brandishing the last hope of the family in his arms, one jerk, one incautious movement and the family must have become extinct and this history would never have been written. It is satisfactory to note that the hero of the monkey story grew up worthy of the kindly Providence which had guarded his early years from harm. He was, we learn, a very noble man and very fortunate in pursuing revenge for the death of his parents and raising his house in great honours, it being almost utterly extinguished."

When he died he left a son, Maurice Fitz-Thomas who in 1328, was created by Edward III, first Earl of Desmond. The First Earl was feared by his enemies and loved by his friends that, having charge from the King, he went with an army to the Kingdom of Scotland, where having committed infinite harm and laden with the spoils, he returned, bringing from thence great booty." He was also granted "supreme command of a fleet at sea, scoured the Irish Ocean at that time much infested with merciless pirates-also in that time he kept the Irish in due subjection to the Crown of England." He died in 1380 and the Earl-dom passed to his son, Maurice Fitzgerald.

Concerning the second, third and fourth Earls, there is not much outstanding history to record. Gerald, the second, is said to have some skill in

The records of the Decies property at this early date are very scanty. We can trace in 1232 John Fitz-Thomas in the compute rolls Henry III paying "reliefs" and crown debts due for the inheritance of his wife Margery Fitz-Anthony and in subsequent public documents we find entries of "the rent of the Decies" as payable to the Crown. The land of the Decies acquired by marriage continued attached to the inheritance of the Desmonds for several generations until in 1457 they were given by James, the Seventh Earl, "as has been already said" to his young son Gerald, who thus became Lord of the Decies and founder of the Dromana family.

LISMORE NEWS
Lismore junior soccer team scored a deserved 2gls. all draw with Ballinroad in the Sean Tracey Cup played in Modeligo on Saturday night last. In their first appearance for many weeks the Lismore side must feel well satisfied with their performance as they had to field without many of their regulars. However their replacements were well up to the grade and impressed. Scorers for Lismore were Cunningham and Pat Terry. Team: M. Savage, A. Cahill, Wade, O'Sullivan, Mason Landers, T. Savage, Foley, Cunningham, Terry, & O'Connell.
The replay goes on at the same venue on Saturday night, with the kick-off at 7.30 pm. While the juniors were out of town the Under 16 Eads stole the show at home with a most deserved and unexpected win over Youghal league favourites North End by 5gls. to 4gls. For the winners Butler, Daly, Whelan & Coleman were outstanding. Lismore cricketers had to give best to Limerick in their Munster Junior Cup game at Lismore on Sunday last when dropped catches proved vital. Lismore scored 89 in reply to the visitors 122 runs. Results of Art competition: Age 6 and under, 1st Liam Ryan, 2nd Valerie Howard, 3rd Bill Lee. Age 9 and Under 1st Deirdre O'Shea, 2nd, Michael McCarthy, Senior, joint 1st Tina Scanlon & Marian Kennedy. Verse speaking competition — Choirs for the Lee Cup, 1st Cappoquin Mercy Convent. Under 9's 1st John Campion, 2nd Mary Houlihan. Very highly Commended- Caroline Bolger. We extend our sympathy to Mr. Jim Crowley, Castle lodge on the recent death of his father and to the Canning family, Chapel St. on the death of their brother in law Mr. J. Greehy, formerly of Kilworth and who died in England.
In a very poor and ill tempered display of football at the Lismore venue on Sunday last Affane and Stradbally played a draw on the score of 1gl. Spts. to 0pts.

Stradbally and Affane must meet again

STRADBALLY 0-6
AFFANE 1-3

Stradbally senior footballers reduced to fourteen players with twelve minutes of the second half played and rocked further still by an Affane goal from the penalty spot, stayed a determined and spirited last quarter rally to deservedly earn a replay in last Sunday's championship quarter final game at Lismore.

THE PLAY.

This was a game which produced little in the way of good and constructive football and the exchanges all through were tough and ill tempered. Affane were first to attack and Bill Dunford was kept busy between two Stradbally posts, then Tom Ahearn missed a good chance when his shot for goal went straight for "keeper" Michael Phelan. Pat Clancy came on for Stradbally and Sean Ahearn opened their account with a point from a free, and the same player was again on target from a placed ball a few minutes later. Then Michael Hackett came close to scoring a goal for Affane, but again Bill Dunford thwarted his efforts. Generally Stradbally dominated the first half exchanges, indeed their attack shot a total of eight wides in this period, and their only other score in a lifeless first half was a point which came from a free by S. Ahearn. Pat Denn replied with a point to leave the position at half time Stradbally 0-3 Affane 0-1.

PENALTY

Pat Deen reduced the leeway when he pointed a free in the third minute. Then Stradbally again took control and M. Coffey and T. Ahearn shot wides. S. Ahearn and Pat Clancy combined in a good movement but D. Flynn cleared the Affane lines. S. Ahearn's shot came back off the upright, and Affane came away and Jim Joe Landers was grounded in possession on the fourteen yard line. The resulting free was charged down by one of the Stradbally defenders and to everyone's surprise including yours truly referee V. Mulligan awarded a penalty to Affane which Pat Denn crashed to the net.

CORRECT DECISION

The facts of the matter are however quite clear as under rule (14) which deals with free kicks, it states that should a player change 'illegally' from within the parallelogram, a penalty kick is to be given, defenders would be well advised to note this fact.

SECOND BLOW

One minute later Stradbally's hopes received a second body blow when, following an incident centre forward, Tom Ahearn was sent to the line and when Pat Denn pointed a free to stretch Affane's lead to three points Stradbally appeared to be in serious trouble however it was they and not Affane who now took the initiative and Michael Coffey broke through for a point in the sixteenth minute. Sean Ahearn added another with eight minutes remaining to be played and for the first time the excitement mounted.

Affane came back and Bill Dunford saved a pile driver from J. J. Landers. At the other end S. Ahearn's shot was deflected off the upright by keeper M. Phelan. Stradbally received the equaliser with two minutes remaining when substitute John Hennessey kicked over all the important point. Affane had their last attack when Paddy McGrath soloed 60 yards and was fouled 30 yards out on the left wing and Pat Denn's free kick dropped short and so both teams had lived to fight another day.

As I have stated at the outset this game produced little good football. Affane's best were Larry Denn, Danny Flynn, John Coughlan, Michael Hackett, Pat Denn, and Jim Joe Landers. While Stradbally were served by goalkeeper Bill Dunford, defenders Paddy Power, Alo Curran, Jim Moloney, and especially Robin Ahearn. Michael Coffey had a good game at centre field and in attack Sean Ahearn and substitute Pat Clancy were best. An amazing feature of the game was that only two scores came from play, while in fact all Affane's scores came from placed balls. Let's hope for a better game in the replay.

Scorers - Stradbally : S. Ahearn (0-4), M. Coffey (0-1), J. Hennessey (0-1). Affane P. Denn (1-3).

GAELIC JOTTINGS

NIRE v. GERALDINES The minor football championship resumes on Sunday next when Nire and Geraldines meet at the Brickey venue in the Losers Cup section in the first round proper and Nire were defeated by Geraldines lost to Ballyduff Ring and there should be little between these team and our vote goes to the Nire to advance. GERALDINES WIN. Geraldines 2-5, Kingdom 2-4 As we go to press we learn that Geraldines scored a hard-earned but fully deserved one point win over Kingdom at Portlaoine on Sunday evening. The Aglish side will now go forward to play Kill on Sunday, 9th July.

GAME IN DOUBT We hear that Sunday's I.H.C. game between Cappoquin and Clashmore is in doubt. It is scheduled to be played at Cappoquin on Sunday evening. CHANGE OF VENUE Sunday's football league game between Ardmore and Lismore has been switched to the Lismore venue and it will now go on at 3 p.m. CHAMPIONS OUT. Reigning Western and Co under-14 hurling champions, Tallow, were defeated in this year's Western semi-final at Cappoquin on Tuesday evening by a very strong Lismore team by 3-2 to 2-4. This game was a real thriller. While Lismore, who also have the assistance of players from the Ballyduff and Ballysgarratt area are new virtually certainities to bring off the Divisional double, it is only fair to state that the Tallow boys went out with colours flying. OBJECTION. The Dunganarvan Club have objected to Stradbally being awarded the U-14 football championship game which Stradbally won by a point recently. The objection will be heard at a specially convened Bord na nOg meeting in Dunganarvan on to-night, Thursday.

B.L.E. ATHLETIC NEWS

Congratulations to Ray Treacy of St. Nicholas A.C. on winning the silver medal in the U-18 3000 metres championship at Newtown School, Waterford, on Saturday night. The race was won by Eddie McCarthy of Leevale A.C. and in following him home Ray Treacy gave one of his best displays ever. In fact, he recovered from a speedy start in his own ability he could have won but he allowed the Cork boy to make the vital A.C. carries the hopes of never closed the gap after 1500 metres championship to St. Nicholas A.C. finished 4th in the U-18 100 metres final having finished 2nd in her heat. This was a very encouraging performance as Linda is still eligible for the U-16 grade and should do well in the Munster juvenile championships. Pat Byrne of Waterford A.C. won the U-18 1500 metres Munster title and Tom Connors of Waterford A.C. finished 2nd in the Ml. Enright.

Gaelic Jottings

CAPPOQUIN FOR SECOND ROUND. Cappoquin Intermediate hurlers face Clashmore at Cappoquin on Sunday evening at 7.30 in the first round of the championship and they must be rated as firm favourites to advance to the second round. Clashmore, who captured the Junior title in 1969, have failed to make any real impression in the Intermediate grade. Two years ago they gave Collihan Rookies quite a game of it. However, last year they failed to field out for their first round game which was also against Collihan, due to a mix up in their travelling arrangements and Liam, Pat, Pablo and Vinny O'Rourke, D. Murray, P. Whyte, the McGraths, Hurton, O'Neill, Claude Fitzgerald etc. will have to step up on recent form if they hope to cause an upset here.

On the other hand Cappoquin are a club with wealth of talent, at their disposal, two years ago they won the Divisional Title in this grade. Last year they won the Western U-21 title and three years ago they captured the Divisional minor hurling title in each occasion they failed in the county final. We can feel certain that the "Cornerstone" Club will not make any slip up on this occasion as their recent form in league and challenge outings has been impressive. Mickey Fraher, Jim Joe Landers, Pat Egan, Frank McCarthy, Michael Hackett, Ger Mason, Pat Denn, Denis McCarthy, Pat Morrissey, Paddy McGrath, Mick Landers and company are I feel, going to be strong contenders for the Divisional Crown this year.

U-16 CHAMPIONSHIPS The Western Board commences its U-16 championship this week-end at Cappoquin. Dunganarvan who will include lads like Jimmy Sullivan, "Gully" Healy, P. Flynn etc. should account for Shamrocks in the hurling championship. This game goes on at 2 p.m. on Sunday next. On Tuesday next, 4th July, Affane and Stradbally clash in the football championship at Abbeyside and this could be one of the best games of the entire championship. Affane are going great guns this year while Stradbally who the U-14 title two years ago, are confident that they repeat their success this year. On the same evening at the Cappoquin venue, Nire who are reputed to be strong in this grade, could upset reigning county champions, Abbeyside, who have shown very poor form in this grade to date this year. On Wednesday, 5th July at Tallow, Lismore get the vote to account for Shamrocks. All in all these games should provide us with a good guide line as to which clubs will emerge as strongest contenders for the Divisional titles.

ST. MOLLERAN'S v. DUNHILL The senior hurling championship campaign resumes on Sunday next when last year's county finalists, St. Mollerans face Dunhill at Portlaoine in the semi-final of the Rose's Group. Last year it was Mollerans who shocked Dunhill in the county semi-final after the latter had accounted for Mount Sion and now that Dunhill have made their exit from the football championship, they will be all out to regain prestige. It should be quite a set-to.

FERRYBANK v. ARDMORE v. LISMORE In the second semi-final of the Losers Group, Ferrybank take on last year's Intermediate champions, Butlers-town at Walsh Park and while Ferrybank have the edge in experience, Butlers-town could cause an upset here.

FOOTBALL LEAGUE: ARDMORE v. LISMORE Current league champions, Ardmore, should ensure their passage to yet another league final when they play Lismore at the Brickey venue on Sunday evening next. It will be interesting to see how the Lismore men who play Eire Oge in the championship semi-final fare against such strong opposition. Of course, their sights are firmly set on the senior hurling championship semi-final at present.

PLAYER OF THE DAY Last Sunday we were in Lismore for the Stradbally-Affane senior football championship game and our player of the day award goes to Stradbally's centre-half back Robin Ahearne who gave a masterly display of football and it is to him more than any other player that Stradbally owe their second chance. Indeed, his brand of fair, honest-to-goodness football, is one which many others would do well to emulate.

BACK AGAIN Back in action again is well known local G.A.A. worker, Liam Comerford and it is good to see this valued member of the Western Board gate staff back in action.

BOARD GRANTS One of the big successes of last year was Waterford's first ever Year Book which in the main was the work of Jim Brennan who despite all the difficulties which he had to face, produced a really grand book. What is not generally known is that he had to bear the entire financial cost of their mother, Mrs. Mary Murthe undertaking himself and personally I feel that this is one undertaking that is worthy of a grant from each of the three Boards.

BALLINAMEELA HURLERS WIN Ballinameela 2-3 Kilrossanty 1-4 Ballinameela junior hurlers scored a two point victory over Kilrossanty after a most exciting hour's hurling at Abbeyside on Sunday last. This was a game which kept the rival supporters in a welter of excitement right up to the final whistle and all in all, Ballinameela just about deserved their hard earned win. They of the championship at Abbeyside will now play Kilgobbin in the quarter final.

WALK OVER. One of the big disappointments of last Sunday's programme was the fact that the eagerly awaited Ardmore-Ring intermediate football championship game which was to have been played at Cappoquin, failed to take place, the Ring Club had requested a postponement due to the bereavement suffered by the Murray family, three of whom are members of the Ring team, but their application was refused whereupon the Ring Club notified the Board that they were conceding a walk over. It's not for us to comment on the rights or wrongs of this particular issue but it would be a great pity if this important fixture were to be lost to the Board.

I.H.C. TOURIN v. STRADBALLY. On Sunday next at Cappoquin, Stradbally and Tourin Intermediate hurlers meet in the second round of the championship and while either of these teams are not rated among the top contenders for the Divisional title, nevertheless this game will command a fair amount of interest as the winners will go on to meet the winners of the Shamrocks/Eire Oge game in the Western semifinal. A few year back, Tourin were close to the top but despite a couple of successful seasons at football, their hurling fortunes have declined. Last year they were well beaten by Shamrocks in the second round and Frank McGrath, Oly Wilkinson, Peter Aherne, Matt Enright, Jim Bennett, Jimmy O'Gorman, Tommy Ducey, Bernie, Pe'er and John Joe Scanlon etc. will have to step up on recent form if they hope to come out on top as the loss of Tom Landers and Patsy Quinn to Lismore has left a big gap in their ranks. Stradbally, of course, are quite fit at present and Tom Cunningham, Tobin, Ahearn, Michael Coffey, Alo Curran, Bill Dunford, Tom Halpin etc. could cause an upset a over the past few years Stradbally hurlers have upset the odds more than once. Remember Lismore in 1968.

U-12 LEAGUE FINAL. On Sunday night last at the C.B.S. Grounds a fine exhibition of football was given by the finalists of the under-12 7aside teams, 'Dunganarvan' and 'Kilrossanty' which the latter won. Captain of the winners was George Hamilton, a lad who shows great promise of having a bright football future. The losers were captained by James McCarthy, another fine footballer. Those to shine for the winners were Niall Flynn, Mattie Curran and the Regan brothers. Best for the losers were Rd. Gough, E. Meehan, N. McGregor and goalie A. Murphy. EASY FOR DUNARVAN. Dunganarvan junior footballers had the easiest of tasks on Sunday last when they accounted for Clashmore's sameameela just about deserved their hard earned win. They of the championship at Abbeyside will now play Kilgobbin in the quarter final.

CHAMPIONS ADVANCE As expected, Western champions, Tallow, defeated Collihan Rookies at Cappoquin on Sunday last in the first round of the championship. Tallow dominated the first half exchanges and they were in front at half-time on the score of 3-6 to 0-1. However, the fact that they could only manage to score a single point in the second half must be a cause of concern to their mentors. Collihan battled gamely to the end with Flerie Ahearne and Martin Crotty playing good games.

SUNDAY WEEK — On Sunday week at Cappoquin Eire Oge Intermediate hurlers will be in action against Shamrocks in the championship and the local side who face what many believe as an impossible task, are busy preparing themselves for a tilt at the fancied Knockmore men.
