

SPANISH DECREE.

Official Article communicated to the First Secretary of State and Despatch, Madrid, Feb. 1.

Our Lord the King has been pleased, under the date of the 14th of the present month, to address to the Royal Council and other Superior Authorities of this Court, and to the Deputation of the Kingdoms, the following Royal Decree:—

The love of his Family, the interest of his Crown, and the happiness of his People, induced my august grandfather, Charles III., of glorious memory, to wish to see my beloved sister, the Infanta Dona Carlota Joaquina, united in marriage with the Infante Don Juan, now Prince of Brazil, and my uncle, the Infant Don Gabriel, with the Infanta Dona Mariana Victoria, the latter and the said Don Juan being children of their Most Faithful Majesties of Portugal.

Animated by the same commendable views, and desirous of augmenting and drawing closer this relationship by new and stronger ties, I have treated with the Prince of Brazil, Regent of the Kingdom of Portugal, that I also may unite myself in matrimony with his second daughter and my niece, the Infanta Dona Maria Isabel Francisca, and that the Infant Don Carlos may, in the manner, unite himself with the third daughter, the Infanta Dona Maria Francisca de Assis. And we have given our full powers for settling and concluding the respective matrimonial capitulations and contracts, which have been completed with the best understanding and harmony by both the contracting parties; and consequently these contracts, and the other acts which ought to precede the two marriages, are to be duly celebrated with the usual solemnities and the solemnity which their grandeur requires. I inform the Council thereof, which will participate in the satisfaction caused by unions from which I promise myself the most favourable results for the Catholic religion, for my Crown, and for my faithful and beloved vassals.

Signed by the King's own hand.

LONDON.

SATURDAY, MARCH 2.

We received this morning some American Papers to the 1st of last month. From the National Intelligencer, of the 27th January, we have extracted the following more particular account of the demands made by Spain upon the American Government:—

RELATIONS WITH SPAIN.

The President of the United States yesterday transmitted to the House of Representatives three documents, comprising the information called for, on the motion of Mr. Robertson, respecting the recent demands by Spain. They consist of two letters from the Spanish Minister to the Secretary, the last of which is dated the 4th inst. and a reply to these letters by the Secretary of State, dated the 9th inst. The hour at which these letters were read was so late, it was impossible to obtain copies of them in time for this day's paper.

Substantially, the Spanish Minister makes the following demands, under the express commands of the King his master:

1. That the portion of the territory west of the Pacific, which the United States have claimed and held under the Louisiana treaty, should be delivered up; after which, he intimates, that the two Governments may discuss the right to it.
2. That the Government will take measures to punish and disperse a "factious band of insurgents in Louisiana, and especially New Orleans," who, as the Minister alleges, continue with impunity to raise arms, and to light the flame of revolution in the Spanish provinces, &c.
3. That orders be given to collectors not to admit vessels under the revolutionary flags of South America, either to land or sell the shameful produce of their piracy, as it is termed, much less to equip and arm.

The Minister states, that for seven years, a gang of adventurers have assailed Spain from the beyond the Republic. In his second note, he intimates, that he would suspend his gratuitous expedition until the expected arrival of a large number of Kentuckians, and a less number of Tennesseeans, to join him, and adds, that, if this gang of desperadoes are permitted to go, the King, his master, is bound to suspect, that the Government of that country, at, if it does not sanction them.

In a reply to the Secretary of State expressing the regret of the Government, that Spain should have preferred to make use of its money in restoring a disaffected colony, if not to redress the injuries we have sustained, which are recapitulated. The Secretary of State has the same right to ask for the return of territory on the same previous to the return of claims to it. He does not admit the validity of the statements of the Minister, and demands proof of the specific injuries. He demands proof of excluding the flag of the revolted colonies, it is answered, that our Government has already, by a general act, authorized the admission of all flags except those of Spain, and, of course, that it is not inclined to prohibit the admission of the flag of the colonies, who have established independent Governments.

The fourth, we hear from undoubted authority, that a Physician in Suffolk, of the name of Wilcock, has at length discovered a specific remedy for that afflicting malady, the Glanders, which it speedily and effectually cures, without any of those violent effects which have been ascribed to many other popular medicines. It will be gratifying to the public to be informed, that Dr. Wilcock, at the particular request of some of his table characters who have experienced its utility, has been induced to offer it as a public medicine at a moderate price.

MONDAY, MARCH 4.

The discussions in the French Chamber of Deputies upon the Law of Elections have not yet terminated, and the French Papers are condemned to the necessity of printing, what we however will not fatigue ourselves or our readers by translating, the several speeches of those Masters in the science of Election, the Members of the Chamber of Deputies. The fact is, that they are not speeches, but pamphlets. Each man has his pamphlet, and this is read from the Tribune; so that no Member answers another forthwith. The pamphlet read on Monday will probably be answered on Saturday by another pamphlet, after the one to which it is a reply is forgotten and consigned to the family vault of all the Capulets.

The Budget has not yet been reported, and that will occasion another discussion as long and amusing probably as the Law of Election. These Papers allude to the disorders at Tarascon, and announce the arrests of some persons in the department of the Seine for seditious actions or incendiary pamphlets. Yet the public mind appears to be settling rapidly into tranquillity and perfect confidence in the Government.

Amiens, Bourvais, and all the other places on the Paris side of the Somme, have been evacuated by our troops.

The Budget and the Election Law have been the sources of great division between the Ministry and the Chamber of Deputies. It is even said, that a new project of an Administration was submitted to the Ministry the beginning of last week. But we can hardly suppose any serious intentions can be entertained of appointing M. Billard to the post of Minister of Justice, or M. Robichon to the Finance. Is this the M. Robichon that wrote a very poor work upon this country?

Lord Castlereagh's and Lord Liverpool's speeches, on the opening of the Session, have given great satisfaction to the friends of order and stability in France, particularly those parts in which the common interest which Europe takes in supporting the principle of legitimacy in France is avowed. In proportion to the satisfaction produced by those who speeches, is the disgust excited by the declamations of the Opposition.

Nothing has yet been decided with respect to the trial of Sir Robert Wilson and his friends; though the Juge d'Instruction was expected to make his report last Thursday, which would determine the Court by which the Gentleman shall be tried.

Lord Kinross's letter is said to have produced more strictness in the examination of the baggage and papers of Englishmen arriving in France. We regret this, because his Lordship's letter was considered by the majority of those who read it in this country as making out an excellent case for the French Government. M. Pozzo di Borgo is said to have written a very severe and bitter reply to it—La Chose ne vaat pas la Penne. The letter was fast falling from our sight and recollection. The Russian Ambassador's reply, however, may keep the truth fluttering before the public eye a day or two longer.—Courier.

The French Funds, which on the 27th were 64½ left off on the next day at 63½, and the 6th Act on the 10th day.

We understand that there is no foundation for the report mentioned in the Morning Chronicle, of a Message to be brought down to Parliament, days, announcing the intended marriage of the Princess Charlotte to the Prince of Saxe-Coburg.

Dutch and Flemish Mails arrived this morning. The only article of Intelligence they contain is the announcement of the arrival of a Messenger at the Hague from St. Petersburg, with an account that the marriage of the Prince of Orange and the Grand Duchess Paulowna was to be celebrated on the 21st of last month.

BRIGHTON, MARCH 3.—It is said that every arrangement connected with the intended royal marriage was decided upon on Thursday afternoon, at the Pavilion, when the Prince Regent, her Majesty, the Princess Charlotte, his Serene Highness, the Princesses, and the Duke of Clarence, were in close conference upon this interesting discussion. A new state library for Prince Leopold of Saxe-Coburg and the Princess Charlotte's establishment has been examined and approved. Tuesday next, the Archduke John and Lewis of Austria will come to the Pavilion, on a visit to the Prince Regent and Prince Leopold, to take their leave, previous to their intended departure for the Continent. Friday night the Right Hon. John M'Mahon arrived at the Pavilion. Count Munster left here for London the same night, in order to dispatch a courier to the Viceroy of Hungary. Prince Leopold enjoys his varied daily excursions in our neighbourhood.

WINSDOR, MARCH 3.—The Princess Charlotte came from Cranbourn Lodge to her carriage yesterday, and spent the morning with the Queen and Princesses. Her Royal Highness returned to Cranbourn to dinner.

CORN-EXCHANGE, MARCH 4.—Our Market was pretty well supplied with Wheat this morning, and last Monday's prices were obtained, but sales were rather heavy. Barley, unless of fine quality, is 1s. per quarter cheaper. Oats are 1s. per quarter lower, having very large arrivals of that article. In Peas, Beans, and other Grains, there is little or no alteration.
