

ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION OF HIS MAJESTY AT BRIGHTON.

BRIGHTON, Dec. 25.—We have this week the satisfaction of announcing the arrival of our illustrious Ben Factor, the King. His Majesty was met on the pier by a numerous concourse of the inhabitants of this place, on horseback, and in carriages; and immense was the number of pedestrians extending from the palace northward to the sea.

The King, accompanied by the Queen, and the Princess of Wales, arrived at Brighton on the 25th inst. The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh. The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh. The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh. The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh. The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh. The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh. The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh. The King and Queen were met by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Norfolk, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Lieutenant-Governor, departed from this transient state of existence to enter upon that of eternal life, on Wednesday night last, the 1st, after a long and lingering suffering, to the extreme grief of his many sincere friends, as well as to the general regret of almost every member of our little community. The mild and humane character of this distinguished individual is too well known, and too generally acknowledged, to stand in need of sophisticated panegyric; let it suffice to say, that he was a true friend to Religion, Justice, and Humanity; and we believe that there is scarcely an inhabitant of this colony who is not convinced that he hath borne his faculties meritoriously in his great office, notwithstanding much violent though unmeaning opposition during his administration.

His Excellency Major Thistlethwaite, of the 2d, or Queen's, has been sworn in Acting-Governor. His Honour Henry Beard, Esq. President of the Colony of B. has been reinstated, by Proclamation, in all the respective Offices from which he had been suspended by his Excellency, the late H. W. Boscawen, Esq. his Majesty having been most graciously pleased to disapprove of such suspension.

We have received this morning the following copy of a Proclamation, issued by His Majesty after the deplorable suicide of Gustavus:— "REPUBLIC OF HAYTI.—ORDER OF THE DAY. "JOHN PETER BAYLI, PRESIDENT OF HAYTI. "The tyrant is no more: he has done himself justice.

Christophe, whose usurped authority covered with mourning and wretchedness the northern and western parts which obeyed him, terminated his days on Sunday last, the 8th instant, at half past seven o'clock in the evening, by a pistol shot, at the news of the defection of what he called his military household, which, instead of opposing, as he wished, General Richard and the troops of the garrison of the Cap, who on the 6th had declared against his despotism, embraced them, and swore, on re-uniting to the R. public, henceforward to live united, and as a nation of brothers and friends.

The President of Hayti hastens to express his satisfaction, in the name of the Country, to all the inhabitants, who, under these circumstances, have profitedly served the cause of liberty and equality, and to assure them that nothing shall be spared to mitigate their condition; the military who have delayed to yield their submission should present themselves without fear. The Republic is merciful, because she is strong; she has only children to reconcile, and not enemies to combat; the latter, alone, who shall dare to resist the wish of the People, by acting from private views, shall be delivered to the sword of the law.

The Generals, superior officers, and the military of all grades, should use their efforts to maintain good order every where. It is forbidden to shed the blood of any person; he who shall permit it shall be considered as an assassin. The President of Hayti is anxious to traverse the whole northern part, with an imposing force; not to conquer, but to conciliate and pacify. The People wish to be free; they shall be so; the Constitution alone can secure to them this precious advantage, because the Constitution of the Republic is the work of its Representatives.

Given at the national palace of Saint Mark, the 17th of October, 1820, 17th year of independence. By the President, BOYLI. By the Secretary, B. INOINAC, Secretary General.

A most fatal and melancholy event took place yesterday, the 25th inst., at Wimpole, the seat of the Earl of Hardwicke. Lord Pillington, Mr. Cooks, and Mr. H. Lindsay, with his son, being in the woods shooting, the gun of Mr. Lindsay's son went off accidentally, by which unfortunate circumstance a young man of the name of Albin, acting as game-keeper, lost his life, the contents of the gun having entered his head, which produced instant death. The Coroner's Inquest has just been held, and have returned their verdict—Accidental Death.

It is stated in a Morning Paper, that that wretched woman, Mrs. Garlick, has had another prosecution commenced against her by the Society for the Suppression of Vice. The recently-discovered planet Vesta may now be perceived with a telescope of a moderate power in the constellation Cancer; it appears like a star of the fifth or sixth magnitude.

It will surprise even the adherents of Ministers to learn that they are about to appoint a friend of Lord Castlereagh to the vacant place of Receiver-General of the Customs, with a salary of £2000 a year. Now it is a notorious fact, that the late worthy Mr. Peckell (whose lamented death has occasioned the vacancy) never once saw the inside of his office for the last twenty years of his life, the whole of the laborious duties being performed by the Clerks. Considering the depressed state of this branch of the Revenue, and that from the miserably distressed state of the Country all necessary should be abolished, we do not hesitate to pronounce this a most scandalous job. It is such acts as these that excite public discontent and disgust towards Ministers, and render a large military force necessary to keep down the effluence of popular indignation.

The Mission, which has made three voyages between this Country and the East Indies, and which was built of oak wood, ten years since, having been lately examined, is found wholly fit for a journey, and without a suspension of any of her timbers of that dreadful naval scourge, the dry rot.

UNFORTUNATE HONEY-MOON.—A marriage took place at the church of St. Lawrence without Watlington, in the vicinity of this city, on Monday last, which was succeeded by several most extraordinary and unfortunate circumstances, of which the following is a detail:—George Farley, a stone-mason, of this city, was the fortunate bridegroom, and Mrs. Priscilla Armstrong, from a neighbouring village, was the happy fair one. After the usual marriage ceremony, the newly-married pair went to an inn near the church (Mr. Clark's), for the purpose of reading themselves with tobacco and ale until the marriage certificate was prepared. They went into the kitchen of the inn, and in that kitchen was a closet, generally used as the repository of something better than the blood of St. John Bayley.

Here they remained till the landlord discovered that his guests exhibited more spirit than ale and tobacco generally excite; he therefore inquired of his own staff if the private closet was secure, and was informed that it was locked, but the key was on the chimney-piece. Apprehension of danger now being, and the servant was ordered to creep into the room; when, lo! she saw the bride also peeping into the closet above named. The landlord was informed, and, on entering, found that the happy pair had aspired to better cheer than ale and tobacco—then had taken from the closet a large jug of rum sherry, drank a considerable quantity, and, finding it very excellent, had nearly filled a bottle with it, in order to preserve it for home consumption; but the bride attempting hastily to put it in her pocket, the bottle fell into a spitting-box near hand, and ultimately was found with the jug concealed under her clothes. Resistance was now vain—the bride therefore fled through the window, and being apprehended in a neighbouring field, was, with her rum sherry loving spouse, conveyed to a watch-house immediately. Alas! how uncertain and transitory is human happiness! At eleven o'clock this unfortunate pair were married, and at the summit of their joy—at half past twelve they were both in a prison, where they were doomed to pass the first twenty-four hours of their union on a bed of straw. About noon on the following day they were examined before the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, and were committed to the House of Correction for trial the next Sessions. Thus they whom the Clergyman "joined" both the Magistrate very properly "put asunder;" and not till the trial takes place shall we be able to ascertain whether in this instance Eve tempted Adam, or Adam tempted Eve to take the forbidden fruit.—York Herald.

It was our intention to have entered considerably at large into this subject, but circumstances have compelled us to be brief. Other opportunities, however, will offer, and of these we shall avail ourselves. Mr. CLARKE has exerted himself with almost unexampled zeal and liberality in the faithful performance of all his promises to the public. He has spared neither expense nor labour to render the accommodations of the House worthy of general approbation, and his success has been proportioned to his well-accrued integrity and ardour in his professional pursuits.—These considerations entitle him to the most animated and steadfast support. But he has even still higher claims to the most public remuneration which a generous and discerning Public can possibly bestow. In the talents of the Performers whom he has selected are combined the most various, interesting, and striking sources of entertainment, while their department before the Audience is such as merits unqualified respect. Their reputation has been established by higher authority than that to which we can pretend, but we feel pleasure in joining our mere praise to that which has been elsewhere so largely accorded. Not a few of them possess by a profound knowledge of the design of the Author the Character which they represent, and all of them display great skill in the execution of their parts. They are not to be regarded in the same light as many Companies are which appear on Provincial Theatres, for there are qualifications among them which would do honour to any Stage, and some of them may be re-estimated foremost on the lists of dramatic fame. Of these observations we could afford unquestionable proof, if our leisure permit us minutely to review the Tragedy of Virginia, and the Faree of the Agreeable Surprise, performed on the evening of Thursday. These selections were received by the Audience with that enthusiastic and reiterated applause which was so admirably deserved, and which properly induced the Manager, contrary to his first intention, to have Virginia announced for this evening. We may hereafter recur to the principal characters in the Play and After-Piece. The Opera of Guy Rannering, and the Faree of Off-Stage Tomorrows, were performed yesterday evening in the same superior and excellent manner as that of which we have already spoken.

PRIMITIVE WESLEYAN METHODISTS. Extract of a letter from a friend in Dublin to his Correspondent in this City, at the opening of the Primitive Wesleyan Methodist Preaching-House, South Great George's-street:— "Dublin, Christmas Day, 1820. "I also wished to send you some account of the opening of the new House, which took place yesterday, at two o'clock. Mr. West preached to about 1500 persons, and the day's collection amounted to £125; more is expected from persons who could not attend. It was indeed a joyful day to that Society in Dublin. Amongst the Collectors were the Lord Mayor and Sheriff, in their own and chairs; Mr. Ellis, the Member for the City; and the Deputy Recorder; Alderman M'Kenny; Mr. Kingston, the Banker, &c. &c. Several Clergymen were also present. The House is elegant and convenient in the highest degree, without anything splendid or extravagant."

It is said that Sir Charles Coote has been appointed to fill the vacant situation of Third Commissioner in the Paving Board. It was stated by a contemporary, that the Third Commissioner should be abolished. This part of the Committee's Resolutions, it seems, premature.—Country Post.

Irish Stocks, Dec. 28. Gov. Deb. 3 per cent. 75 1/2. Do. Stock, 3 per cent. 73 1/2. Gov. Deb. 5 per cent. 100. Do. Stock, 5 per cent. 98. Exchange, 6 1/2.

THE WATERFORD CHRONICLE. SATURDAY, DECEMBER 30.

The Continental intelligence will be found to possess considerable interest. The affairs of Austria and Naples wear strong appearances of immediate hostilities, and these were reports, that the troops of the former Power had crossed the Po. The event was in itself probable, and the apparent precision with which the number of the divisions forming the line of march, and the names of the Generals commanding the divisions respectively, were mentioned, gave to the statement an imposing air of authenticity; but still it is not to be received with absolute belief; it prevailed in Milan on the 6th of this month, but there is in one of the Papers brought by the Dutch Mail an article from Milan, dated the 10th, which affirms, that no military movement, indicative of hostile intentions, had, up to that day, taken place, but that the Austrian troops had been concentrated in the vicinity of Mantua, where they were held in readiness to march at twenty-four hours' notice. A Ministerial Paper has said:— "It is supposed, that the five leading Powers will issue a Declaration against Revolutionary being in any case accomplished by the Military." This consideration, and the little probability which there is, that the Neapolitans will accede to the Troop Propositions, leads to the conclusion, that the dispute must be decided by the sword. Should this be the case, Austria will advance against the Neapolitans with fearful odds in her favour. The formidable force of her invading army, the tried valour of her soldiers, their admirable discipline, and her immense resources, contrasted with the contemptible state of the Neapolitan army, the want of discipline and experience, the weakness, and, perhaps, the treachery of the Government, leave little hope that the invasion can be repelled. Yet, a different view of the case may lead to the expectation of a different result to this important struggle. The Neapolitans are, by some accounts, said to be inspired with the noblest feelings of national independence, and a determination to fight to the last for the liberties of their country. The Austrians may be involved in circumstances of great danger. All power, as Home has justly observed, depends upon opinion. Soldiers have not always been indifferent to what concerns those from whom they are taking pay; and the Austrian soldiers, after the losses which have been presented to them, may come at no great distance of time to think, that the plans on which they have Government are not the most favourable to freedom which might have been chosen. Should any thing of this nature occur, or should the spirit of liberty animate the Neapolitans, and urge them on to check the progress of the Austrians, it would not be matter of surprise to find all Italy in arms, determined to vindicate her common wrongs, and to assert her natural independence. It is a title but true observation, that the calculations of statesmen are not always founded in wisdom.

The successor of Mr. CANNING is not known. All the information connected with his resignation, announced in the Treasury Journals, is of a negative character; they say he is not to be succeeded by Mr. PERCY, that he is not to succeed Lord STURGEON, and that he is not going to the Continent in a public capacity. Various rumours were abroad on this matter, but they are at present ruled out to no effect.

Monday and Tuesday were holidays on the London Exchange.—No Mail due.

THE THEATRE.

It was our intention to have entered considerably at large into this subject, but circumstances have compelled us to be brief. Other opportunities, however, will offer, and of these we shall avail ourselves. Mr. CLARKE has exerted himself with almost unexampled zeal and liberality in the faithful performance of all his promises to the public. He has spared neither expense nor labour to render the accommodations of the House worthy of general approbation, and his success has been proportioned to his well-accrued integrity and ardour in his professional pursuits.—These considerations entitle him to the most animated and steadfast support. But he has even still higher claims to the most public remuneration which a generous and discerning Public can possibly bestow. In the talents of the Performers whom he has selected are combined the most various, interesting, and striking sources of entertainment, while their department before the Audience is such as merits unqualified respect. Their reputation has been established by higher authority than that to which we can pretend, but we feel pleasure in joining our mere praise to that which has been elsewhere so largely accorded. Not a few of them possess by a profound knowledge of the design of the Author the Character which they represent, and all of them display great skill in the execution of their parts. They are not to be regarded in the same light as many Companies are which appear on Provincial Theatres, for there are qualifications among them which would do honour to any Stage, and some of them may be re-estimated foremost on the lists of dramatic fame. Of these observations we could afford unquestionable proof, if our leisure permit us minutely to review the Tragedy of Virginia, and the Faree of the Agreeable Surprise, performed on the evening of Thursday. These selections were received by the Audience with that enthusiastic and reiterated applause which was so admirably deserved, and which properly induced the Manager, contrary to his first intention, to have Virginia announced for this evening. We may hereafter recur to the principal characters in the Play and After-Piece. The Opera of Guy Rannering, and the Faree of Off-Stage Tomorrows, were performed yesterday evening in the same superior and excellent manner as that of which we have already spoken.

PRIMITIVE WESLEYAN METHODISTS. Extract of a letter from a friend in Dublin to his Correspondent in this City, at the opening of the Primitive Wesleyan Methodist Preaching-House, South Great George's-street:— "Dublin, Christmas Day, 1820. "I also wished to send you some account of the opening of the new House, which took place yesterday, at two o'clock. Mr. West preached to about 1500 persons, and the day's collection amounted to £125; more is expected from persons who could not attend. It was indeed a joyful day to that Society in Dublin. Amongst the Collectors were the Lord Mayor and Sheriff, in their own and chairs; Mr. Ellis, the Member for the City; and the Deputy Recorder; Alderman M'Kenny; Mr. Kingston, the Banker, &c. &c. Several Clergymen were also present. The House is elegant and convenient in the highest degree, without anything splendid or extravagant."

It is said that Sir Charles Coote has been appointed to fill the vacant situation of Third Commissioner in the Paving Board. It was stated by a contemporary, that the Third Commissioner should be abolished. This part of the Committee's Resolutions, it seems, premature.—Country Post.

Irish Stocks, Dec. 28. Gov. Deb. 3 per cent. 75 1/2. Do. Stock, 3 per cent. 73 1/2. Gov. Deb. 5 per cent. 100. Do. Stock, 5 per cent. 98. Exchange, 6 1/2.

THE WATERFORD CHRONICLE. SATURDAY, DECEMBER 30. The Continental intelligence will be found to possess considerable interest. The affairs of Austria and Naples wear strong appearances of immediate hostilities, and these were reports, that the troops of the former Power had crossed the Po. The event was in itself probable, and the apparent precision with which the number of the divisions forming the line of march, and the names of the Generals commanding the divisions respectively, were mentioned, gave to the statement an imposing air of authenticity; but still it is not to be received with absolute belief; it prevailed in Milan on the 6th of this month, but there is in one of the Papers brought by the Dutch Mail an article from Milan, dated the 10th, which affirms, that no military movement, indicative of hostile intentions, had, up to that day, taken place, but that the Austrian troops had been concentrated in the vicinity of Mantua, where they were held in readiness to march at twenty-four hours' notice. A Ministerial Paper has said:— "It is supposed, that the five leading Powers will issue a Declaration against Revolutionary being in any case accomplished by the Military." This consideration, and the little probability which there is, that the Neapolitans will accede to the Troop Propositions, leads to the conclusion, that the dispute must be decided by the sword. Should this be the case, Austria will advance against the Neapolitans with fearful odds in her favour. The formidable force of her invading army, the tried valour of her soldiers, their admirable discipline, and her immense resources, contrasted with the contemptible state of the Neapolitan army, the want of discipline and experience, the weakness, and, perhaps, the treachery of the Government, leave little hope that the invasion can be repelled. Yet, a different view of the case may lead to the expectation of a different result to this important struggle. The Neapolitans are, by some accounts, said to be inspired with the noblest feelings of national independence, and a determination to fight to the last for the liberties of their country. The Austrians may be involved in circumstances of great danger. All power, as Home has justly observed, depends upon opinion. Soldiers have not always been indifferent to what concerns those from whom they are taking pay; and the Austrian soldiers, after the losses which have been presented to them, may come at no great distance of time to think, that the plans on which they have Government are not the most favourable to freedom which might have been chosen. Should any thing of this nature occur, or should the spirit of liberty animate the Neapolitans, and urge them on to check the progress of the Austrians, it would not be matter of surprise to find all Italy in arms, determined to vindicate her common wrongs, and to assert her natural independence. It is a title but true observation, that the calculations of statesmen are not always founded in wisdom.

The successor of Mr. CANNING is not known. All the information connected with his resignation, announced in the Treasury Journals, is of a negative character; they say he is not to be succeeded by Mr. PERCY, that he is not to succeed Lord STURGEON, and that he is not going to the Continent in a public capacity. Various rumours were abroad on this matter, but they are at present ruled out to no effect.

MYSTERIOUS AFFAIR.

To the Editor of the Dublin Journal. Sir,—In the latter end of August last, I, in company with a friend, was shooting grouse on the mountains in the county of Down, where I have been at a gentleman's house for some time on a visit, and having in my pocket a part of my money, which I had just received, I was accompanied by the Game-keeper, and assistance to enter the mountains, and make diligent search to find out some clue by which this mysterious affair may be elucidated in the interim, I take the opportunity of a room which is going to Dublin, on whom I can depend, to drop this in your letter-box, that information may be spread as soon as possible, judging your paper an excellent medium, as I perceive it pretty much diffused through Ireland. I shall have occasion to go through Dublin as soon as able, on my return to my own residence in the County of Wexford, when I intend calling at your office, and those of the intended papers, with what further information I can procure.

He was about 5 feet 7 inches; well proportioned at that time, but extremely emaciated and pale; as I appeared, with the allowance of disguise, of a half-grown girl, &c. to be about 50. Though very pale, it was evident he was fair; his hair had been a light brown, and his eyes were light gray; his mouth rather wide; his nostrils somewhat extended; the nose rather depressed than raised; but I could not discover any mark derived from casualty, except that I am pretty confident there was a slight scar in the middle of the left eye-brow, but, without approaching too close, I could not ascertain the fact. It would have been a great means towards discovery, could I have prevailed on him to say how long since he left his residence; but surely that circumstance, and the capital crime he alluded to, is sufficiently strong to leave no doubt on the minds of those affected thereby—for which reason this narrative cannot be too extensively circulated; and seeing it in that light, I trust you will make it appear in your Saturday's publication, from whence, I hope, it will be taken up by the other prints.

I am, Sir, your obedient Servant, JAMES EVANS. Comber, Gorey, Dec. 1820.

ILLICIT DISTILLATION.

The following General Order has been received by P. C. LAYTON, Esq. Inspector-General of this District, the publication of which, we think, cannot be too widely circulated, in order to caution all persons from suffering under its penalties, which will be rigidly enforced, as the inducements to "infolmers are very great and tempting.—Limerick Chronicle.

Review Office, Dublin, 20th December, 1820. Sir.—The Board observing, from the Reports of their Officers, the rapid and almost general increase of illicit Distillation, and being of opinion, that the same is, in a great measure, to be attributed to the encouragement afforded to the Snugglers by private persons, above the ordinary rank of life, consuming in their families large quantities of illicit Spirits, which practice, from the primary attending it, it is extremely difficult to detect; for the purpose, therefore, of discovering and punishing such offenders, the Board have directed to give a sum of Ten Guineas for every detection of illicit Spirits in the possession of any person, within the meaning of this order—the same to be immediately paid by the Collector to the Seizing Officer on Judgment of the Seizer, for the sole use of the Informer, in addition to secure to the Informer the prompt payment of these rewards by the Officers, after the amount has been received from the Collector, the Board will admit of no pretext whatsoever for their detection, but will proceed forthwith to dismiss the Officers who may offend therein.

And inasmuch as the Board have frequently occasion to reduce the penalties upon persons in whose possession illicit spirits have been found, to sums so low as that the proportion coming to the Officer is not sufficient to remunerate him for the expense and trouble in detecting and prosecuting the offender to conviction; in order therefore to encourage and reward the exertions of the active Officer, the Board agree to give him in such cases a sum equal to the whole of the reduced penalty, not however to exceed what such Officer would have been entitled to, had no such reduction taken place.

But while the Board are desirous of encouraging and rewarding the Exertions of their Officers, they are also determined to hold them strictly responsible for the state of their surveys and walks, and for preventing the consumption of illicit spirits therein, by frequent examination of licensed Houses, and of Houses suspected of selling spirits without license.

By order of the Commissioners, EDWARD HARDMAN.

THE MARKETS. DUBLIN CORN EXCHANGE. DEC. 27.—Our market to-day was exceedingly dull for every kind of grain; the supply very small. Wheat may be quoted a shade lower, Oats remain without alteration. The business done in Flour was very trifling. Barley and Oatmeal much depressed. General prices were, for Wheat, per 25s. to 29s.—Oats, 10s. to 11s. 2s.—Flour, 24s. to 28s.—Malting and Grinding Barley, 10s. to 15s.—Rape-seed, from 30s. to 31s.—Oatmeal, 10s. 6d. to 12s. Dublin Whiskey, as last quoted.

almost entirely from the bones, evidently by birds of prey. I was alone—my friend being in Eogland, where he resides. I precipitately retreated—glad to escape from a scene so awful, and rendered indecisibly terrific from the ghastly violence and horror of the surrounding scenery. I have been extremely indisposed ever since, now about eight days; but when recovered, I propose bringing the Game-keeper, and assistance to enter the mountains, and make diligent search to find out some clue by which this mysterious affair may be elucidated in the interim, I take the opportunity of a room which is going to Dublin, on whom I can depend, to drop this in your letter-box, that information may be spread as soon as possible, judging your paper an excellent medium, as I perceive it pretty much diffused through Ireland. I shall have occasion to go through Dublin as soon as able, on my return to my own residence in the County of Wexford, when I intend calling at your office, and those of the intended papers, with what further information I can procure.

He was about 5 feet 7 inches; well proportioned at that time, but extremely emaciated and pale; as I appeared, with the allowance of disguise, of a half-grown girl, &c. to be about 50. Though very pale, it was evident he was fair; his hair had been a light brown, and his eyes were light gray; his mouth rather wide; his nostrils somewhat extended; the nose rather depressed than raised; but I could not discover any mark derived from casualty, except that I am pretty confident there was a slight scar in the middle of the left eye-brow, but, without approaching too close, I could not ascertain the fact. It would have been a great means towards discovery, could I have prevailed on him to say how long since he left his residence; but surely that circumstance, and the capital crime he alluded to, is sufficiently strong to leave no doubt on the minds of those affected thereby—for which reason this narrative cannot be too extensively circulated; and seeing it in that light, I trust you will make it appear in your Saturday's publication, from whence, I hope, it will be taken up by the other prints.

I am, Sir, your obedient Servant, JAMES EVANS. Comber, Gorey, Dec. 1820.

WATERFORD LIBRARY.

THE PROPRIETORS OF THE WATERFORD LIBRARY SOCIETY are requested to meet at the Library, in Lady Lane, on Monday, the 1st of January, 1821, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of considering some Alteration in the General Rules relating to LIBRARY SUBSCRIPTIONS. By order, W. PALMER, Sec. S. Librarian. Dec. 28, 1820.

CANNAL COALS. LYONS AND SON HAVE ON SALE, At their Salt Works, Wooden Bridge, A FEW TONS OF CANNAL COALS, Which will be delivered free of Carriage to Housekeepers, and as small a Complement as a Half Cwt. sold. December 30, 1820.

TO THE IRON TRADE. THE SUBSCRIBERS of the Firm of THOMAS EDINGTON and SONS beg to notify, to his Friends and the IRON-DEALERS of IRELAND, that he has COMMENCED BUSINESS, ON HIS OWN ACCOUNT, at the ENGLE FOUNDRY; and requests the Continuation of their Orders, which he trusts his long Experience in applying the IRON Market will enable him to do in a satisfactory manner. In addition to the Manufacture of CAST IRON GOODS for the IRISH MARKET, there are made, at the ENGLE FOUNDRY, all descriptions of APPARATUS for GASWORKS for LIGHTING CITIES, POWER LOOMS, of the newest construction, for WEAVING, by ENGINE or WATER POWER; and MACHINERY of all descriptions. JAMES EDINGTON. Engle Foundry, Glasgow, 10th Dec. 1820.

ESTATES TO BE SOLD. THE FEELSIMPLE ESTATE OF MOUNTROYLE and surrounding lands, including the HOUSE and DEMESNE OF CASTLE ANAGHNY, situated in the County of Wick, and containing 497 Acres, within the County of Wick, containing 2425 Plantation Acres. The DEMESNE comprises 510 Acres of excellent Meadow and Fading Ground, highly improved, and situated on the Banks of the navigable River running from Ross to WATERFORD, within One Mile of Ross and Ten of WATERFORD. The DWELLING-HOUSE, OFFICES, and FARM-YARD, are very complete, and fit for the accommodation of a respectable Family. The FEE FARM ESTATE OF BIRCHFIELD, within the Liberties and One Mile of the City of KILKENNY, containing 971 Acres. THE FEELSIMPLE ESTATE OF DONORE and KILMAYNOCK, within the County of Wick, containing 497 Acres, within One Mile of BALLYVAUGHAN and Two of LITTON, at present in Lease to one Tenant, for One Year. The Landlords of the best Quality in a highly improved County, and possessing, amongst other advantages, that of Water Carriage to DUBLIN and WATERFORD. S. B. If not Sold by PRIVATE SALE, the Lands will be Sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, at the Commercial Exchange, Dublin, on SATURDAY, the 20th of December, 1820. For Rentals and Particulars application to be made to IRON and BOKER, Waterford—or 29, Arran Quay, Dublin, December 20, 1820.

THEATRE, WATERFORD. MR. CLARKE most respectfully announces to the Public, that he has entered on the Theatre, for a Term of Years, and that the House has been entirely remodelled and fitted up with new and improved Seats, Wardrobes, &c. &c. In addition to Mr. CLARKE'S Provisional Company, he is enabled to avail himself of the opportunities afforded by the short recess at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, to engage, at a very considerable Expense, many leading Performers from that Establishment, viz.—Mr. WARD, Mr. J. RUSSELL, Mr. M'KEON, Mr. HUBBY, Mr. A. LEE, Mr. CUNNINGHAM, Mr. HUBBY, Mr. ADAM, Miss LACY, & Miss LACY, who will perform for a limited number of Nights—during which period the most successful Pieces recently produced in London will be brought forward in a style of excellence only to be equaled in the Metropolitan Theatre.—Mr. CLARKE presumes to hope, that the Arrangements he has made, and the Performances he has selected, will not only secure him that liberal Support which he on a former occasion experienced in this City, in the confident expectation of which he has formed engagements at an Expense unprecedented in any Provincial Establishment in the Kingdom.

By Permission of the Right Worshipful S. KIRK, Esq. Mayor. THIS PRESENT EVENING, SATURDAY, Dec. 30, (In consequence of the enthusiastic reception it met with on Thursday last) will be presented, positively for the last time, an Historical Play, called VIRGINIUS; OR, THE LIBERATION OF ROME. Written by J. SNEYDAS KNOWLES, Esq. and as performed at the Theatre Royal, Covent-Garden and Dublin, with unbounded applause. Virginius..... Mr. Ward. Demetrius..... Mr. Cunningham. Lucius..... Mr. Hubby. Virgilia..... Miss Lacy. (As performed by them at the Theatre Royal, Dublin) END OF THE PLAY. A PAS SEUL, BY MISS H. LACE. Principal Dancer of the Dublin Theatre, will introduce additional Songs. Mr. G. STANWELL, Musical Director of the Dublin Theatre, will preside in the Orchestra. To conclude with the Farce of THE BEE HIVE. Barnaby Rudge..... Mr. J. Russell. Ratan..... Mr. Cunningham. Golly..... Mrs. Humble. Emily..... Miss Austin. The entire of the under part of the House has been converted into Boxes. ADMISSION: Boxes..... 3s. 4d. Gallery..... 1s. 8d. Children, under Twelve Years of Age, Half-price, to the only. Tickets to be had at the Newspaper Office, of Mr. BELL, and of Mr. W. CLARKE, on the Mall, of whom Places may be taken. On account of the short period to which the Season will be confined, there will be a Performance every Night. To begin at SEVEN o'clock precisely. ON MONDAY next, the Play of THE FOUNDLING OF THE FOREST, AND THE FAREE OF YOUTH, LOVE, AND FOLLY, OR, THE LITTLE JOCKEY.

COAK MARKETS, Dec. 28.—Oats still coming in plentifully; no change in prices; 27s. the highest. Very little Wheat or Barley; 27s. has been given for some prime samples of the former, but the general price for malting quality; inferior down to 21s. The Beef season is entirely over. Little Pork coming in; highest prices, 22s. to 25s. 6d. Price of Butter at Cork on Thursday. To the Merchants, 82s.—78s.—70s.—61s.—60s. To the Country, 70s.—66s.—58s.—51s.—50s. LIMERICK MARKETS, Dec. 27.—Wheat, 18s. 2d. to 18s. 4d. per stone. Oats, 7s. 3d. to 8s. 4d. per stone. Flour, 30s. to 32s. per bag. Oatmeal, 10s. 6d. per cwt. Potatoes, 2s. per stone. Pork, 21s. per cwt. No Butter at market.

WATERFORD MARKETS. The supplies of Butter at the market-house continue to be very scanty; the number weighed there on Thursday was only 35, and yesterday but 23 fadins; the principal part of which were of inferior quality, so that the price of firsts can hardly be quoted with accuracy; 90s. per cwt. was paid for a few casks, by retailers, but merchants' prices might be considered at 88s. to 89s. for Firsts; 85s. to 87s. for Thirds; 76s. to 78s. for Fourth. Prime heavy Scotch Pig still being 30s. to 31s. per cwt. and a light Pig is in better demand, and rather higher than last week, few good Pigs of this kind being now brought under 25s. The general rate for Staged Pigs is from 30s. 6d. to 31s. 6d. per cwt.; and lots got a few pence under and over this quotation, according to circumstances. Pig's Heads, 15s. to 17s. per cwt.; Offal, fresh, 11s. to 14s.; salted, 11s. to 16s. There has been little increase within the last two days in the receipts of Grain from Farmers. Wheat continues gradually advancing; 28s. 3d. was very freely paid yesterday for prime samples, and in several instances 28s. 6d. was given, with a trifling additional allowance in a few cases. No change has occurred in Oats, the top price of which remains at 9s. 6d. generally, but rather more inquiry for parcels. Barley continues stationary, as it has been for many weeks, at 9s. 9d. to 10s. 3d. for grinding, and 10s. 6d. for good malting qualities, the former in rather a better demand. Flour may be said to have remained without any general alteration this week, except that the rise on Wheat has led holders to demand a slight advance, which, however, has been as yet realized in but few instances.—Seconds, 32s. to 34s. per bag. Thresh and Sharps, 24s. to 28s.; Fawns, 16s. to 20s.—Oatmeal still scarce, but dull, at 11s. 6d. to 12s. per cwt. Newfoundland Flax, 13s. to 15s. per cwt. Scotch Herring, heavy sale, at 24s. to 25s. 6d. per barrel, and for odd barrels, 26s. Candles nearly as last week—Newport, 3s. 8d. to 3s. 10d.—Swansea and Whitebarns, 3s. 6d. to 3s. 8d.—Liverpool, 3s. 4d. to 3s. 6d. per barrel.

SHIP NEWS. DUNDEE, Dec. 26.—The Sloop Mary, of Castle Gregory, Daniel Higgins, Master, bound to Waterford with kelp, was run ashore on the bar of this place on Saturday, and abandoned by Captain and crew, but, by the spirited exertions of the sailors from Ballycotton, she was subsequently brought into the Bay. The Queen Charlotte, which sunk in the terrible gale of the 15th inst., will exceed next Spring in the most probable to those who are assisting in the recovery of the most successful Pieces recently produced in London will be brought forward in a style of excellence only to be equaled in the Metropolitan Theatre.—Mr. CLARKE presumes to hope, that the Arrangements he has made, and the Performances he has selected, will not only secure him that liberal Support which he on a former occasion experienced in this City, in the confident expectation of which he has formed engagements at an Expense unprecedented in any Provincial Establishment in the Kingdom.

By Permission of the Right Worshipful S. KIRK, Esq. Mayor. THIS PRESENT EVENING, SATURDAY, Dec. 30, (In consequence of the enthusiastic reception it met with on Thursday last) will be presented, positively for the last time, an Historical Play, called VIRGINIUS; OR, THE LIBERATION OF ROME. Written by J. SNEYDAS KNOWLES, Esq. and as performed at the Theatre Royal, Covent-Garden and Dublin, with unbounded applause. Virginius..... Mr. Ward. Demetrius..... Mr. Cunningham. Lucius..... Mr. Hubby. Virgilia..... Miss Lacy. (As performed by them at the Theatre Royal, Dublin) END OF THE PLAY. A PAS SEUL, BY MISS H. LACE. Principal Dancer of the Dublin Theatre, will introduce additional Songs. Mr. G. STANWELL, Musical Director of the Dublin Theatre, will preside in the Orchestra. To conclude with the Farce of THE BEE HIVE. Barnaby Rudge..... Mr. J. Russell. Ratan..... Mr. Cunningham. Golly..... Mrs. Humble. Emily..... Miss Austin. The entire of the under part of the House has been converted into Boxes. ADMISSION: Boxes..... 3s. 4d. Gallery..... 1s. 8d. Children, under Twelve Years of Age, Half-price, to the only. Tickets to be had at the Newspaper Office, of Mr. BELL, and of Mr. W. CLARKE, on the Mall, of whom Places may be taken. On account of the short period to which the Season will be confined, there will be a Performance every Night. To begin at SEVEN o'clock precisely. ON MONDAY next, the Play of THE FOUNDLING OF THE FOREST, AND THE FAREE OF YOUTH, LOVE, AND FOLLY, OR, THE LITTLE JOCKEY.

COAK MARKETS, Dec. 28