WATERFORD SHIP YARD AND PATENT SLIP.

THE PROPRIETOR WILL LET this valuable Establishment, or SELL THE INTEREST therein. He deems it needless to comment on the superior advantages attached to this well known and Prospective Concern, now at full work. To a competent Person or Company, with a moderate Capital, it would be found a most and beneficial Investment.

The Ship Yard, Patent Slip, and Graving Bank, are all attached and well enclosed; also, Smiths' Forges, covered Saw Pits, Blockmakers' Workshop, Mould and Mill Lofts, all complete, with every necessary appendage for Building and Repairing of Ships on an extensive scale.

The Yard is sufficiently spacious to build three or four vessels at one time, and for an ample supply of timber, having a front to the River of 700 feet, extending from front to rear 170 feet, with depth of water to allow large vessels to float over the quay.

MORTON'S PATENT SLIP is on the best construction, in perfect order, and capable of taking up vessels of 400 Tons register, two of 300, or three smaller, can be accommodated at the same time.

It is considered that Steam Vessels can be built here, with considerable profit, several proposals for contracts have been made to the Proprietor.

The Establisher is desirous of the management of a very skillful and active Ship builder, who resides on the premises; his mode has been eminently successful, and the Ships built in this Concern maintain a character equal to any in the United Kingdom.

Application to be made to WILLIAM SMITH, at the Street; or at the Office of WILLIAM WHITE, King-Street, Waterford, 4th of 4th month, 1834.

EASTER DUTCH FAIR, ON BAZAAR AT LA PARIS.

Consisting of Three Hundred PRIZES and no Blanks, TO BE DRAWN, AT THE LONDON COMMISSION BAZAAR, WATERFORD, ON THURSDAY, the 1st day of MAY, 1834.

GEORGE CLARKE

HAVING been requested by several numerous and influential Citizens to promulgate a scheme for the holding of another DUTCH FAIR immediately, with the view of affording the Nobility, Gentry, and Inhabitants of Waterford and the adjoining Counties an opportunity of giving their young friends and dependants valuable EASTER GIFTS, from the collection of rare and costly articles, for which this Bazaar is celebrated, and attendant with the excitement and advantages peculiar to this novel system, and in responding to that request, he is highly gratified to receive to his satisfaction that he be at all times ready to render his own interest-convenience to their accommodation, and consulting the convenience of those gentlemen who intend doing him the honor of presiding on the occasion. The drawing is fixed to take place on the First Day of MAY next, without fail.

The scheme is now arranged for THREE HUNDRED PRIZES—no BLANKS, several persons who intended to adventure being disappointed on the last occasion, the Grand Prize being intrinsically worth Fifteen Guineas, and the lowest being of the value of Five Shillings, with several intermediate prizes of value and utility, and such a diversification as must render them available to all virtuous, man of fashion, sportsman, and persons of all ages, grade, and sex.

Those persons who participated in the universal satisfaction experienced at the result of the recent drawing, are particularly invited to an inspection of the Prizes on the early next week, which, besides being of rare and valuable nature, will be found to contain useful and elegant articles, of great beauty and taste, and adapted for the drawing room, boudoir, and museum; such as have not been before given as Prizes, having been collected with great care and superior judgment.

Catalogues, peculiarly descriptive can be procured at the Bazaar.

Tickets are now on Sale at 10s 6d each, for which an early application is necessary to secure them, such is the anticipated demand.

LAVI CALENDAR.
EASTER TERM—Begins April 15. Ends May 18.
Trinity Quarter Sessions—April 11.

WINES, TOBACCOES, &c.

MATTHEW CARROLL

IS this day landing, from on board the Clonmel, of DAVIS, Master, from London, a Superior Assortment of First Quality VIRGINIA TOBACCOES, which, on inspection will fully prove its determination of importance none but a superior Article. He will, as heretofore, dispose of his Stock on the most liberal and encouraging terms.

He also daily expects the FIFTY TONS of PRIME NEW CLOVER and TREFOIL SEEDS.

These have been selected with particular care, and are well worth the attention of buyers, it being a well known fact, that most of the Seeds imported into Ireland are old and bad; and which, by a particular process of drying, look so well that many of the best judges are deceived by it. Mr. Carroll, having purchased none but GENUINE NEW SEEDS, of the best description, will give an engagement with every Parcel he sells, and will dispose of it at the lowest possible price.

He begs to submit a list of his WINES, as follows:—

MOSSELLE, BARSAK, YIN DE GRAVE, BAUT SAUFERNE, BUCCELLAS.

With a Large and Superior Stock of FRENCH COGNAC BRANDY, SCHEIDT HOLLANDS, and JAMAICA RUM.

In addition to the above, he is now landing, ex Emerald, FLETCHER, Master, from Bourdeaux, 10 Hhdts, and 30 Cases PALE CHAMPAGNE BRANDIES, very Old and Fine—and ex Clonmel, 10 Hhdts, 4 Quarter Casks, FINEST WINES, and 2 Hhdts of SCHEIDTAM HOLLANDS.

He confidently submits that his WINES, on trial, will be found very superior to those usually imported to this Country, and of equal quality to any Sold by the first Importers in London. Wine Merchants are invited to inspect his WAREHOUSE, and to see a Lot of 150 Hhdts, 1st and 2d Growth, bought by 1827 in Bourdeaux; and he can satisfy his customers, by Custom House Certificates, that he does not hold a single Highland which is not 1825 Wine, and which is now very difficult to procure, no water at what price.

He highly recommends his SEAGRAVE'S SHERRIES, which, he is confident, must give satisfaction.

A CASE, (183 lbs.) of HANNAUGH CIGARS, Waterford, Custom House Quay, March 5, 1834.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY.

In fulfilment of their pledge, the Directors of the Great Western Railway Company, have applied to Parliament, for the authority to construct two portions of the Railway between London and Bristol, and they have much satisfaction in recording the division in favour of the second reading of the bill on the 10th instant, in the House of Commons.

In favour of the Bill .. 92—Majority 90.

The principle of this, as a national undertaking, having been thus firmly established, the Directors hereby announce their fixed determination to apply in the ensuing Session of Parliament, for power to complete the Line, and the purchase of their original design, upon the Subscription List being completed to the extent of 20,000 Shares, including those already subscribed.

Allotment will therefore be made of Shares, upon application to the Secretary, in London or Bristol. The Shares, so applied for, will be available indiscriminately, in conjunction with those already taken, for the general purposes of the two Sections; the Bill for which is now before Parliament, and also for the intermediate Line, so as to enable the Proprietors to a general participation in the revenue upon the whole undertaking.

Subscribers will be required to pay a Deposit of £5 on each share of £100, and no further call can be made until an Act of Parliament shall have been procured.

The liability for future calls upon Shares ceases when they are transferred—and no case can any Proprietor be responsible beyond the amount of his shares.

WEST OF ENGLAND FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

Empowered by Act of Parliament. Capital—£200,000. CHIEF OFFICE, EXETER.

THE DIRECTORS beg to announce that the Company have recently determined to adopt the following system of Life Insurance, which they confidently expect will be productive of considerable advantage to the insured.

In addition to the present REDUCED SCALE of PREMIUMS, persons effecting Insurance for £100 or upwards for the whole duration of life, will be entitled to participate in the Disposable Surplus Premiums, to be ascertained at the end of every 5th year, from Christmas, 1827, and the increase of the Surplus may be applied in either of the following ways, viz.:

By adding the same as a Bonus to the sum insured, to be payable at the death of the life, by which the amount to be received by a Policy Holder may be considerably increased; or the Surplus may be applied in REDUCTION OF THE ANNUAL PREMIUMS.

The Disposable Surplus Premiums derived from Fire Insurance will be ascertained at the end of every fifth year, and persons then insured to the extent of £200 and upwards, and whose Policies shall have been in force the two preceding years, will be entitled to participate in a Monthly Cash Surplus.

ALL POLICIES granted and purchased, CHARLES LEWIS, Secretary, THOMAS HARVEY, Agent for Waterford. FIRE POLICIES falling due at Lady-day may be renewed in Fifteen Days.

MELANCHOLY SHIPWRECK, AND LOSS OF THE BRIG ADVANTURE.

The Brig Advanture, of Ipswich, Lord, MASTER, bound from Newcastle to Ipswich, sprung a leak, when a crew laboured hard at the pumps, and after using their utmost exertions, and being worn out by fatigue, and finding the water gaining upon them, they, for the preservation of their lives, hoisted out their boat, which, unfortunately got stove by getting her over the ship's side, by reason of the tremendously heavy sea and gale of wind, which had continued from the vessel first springing the leak. They, therefore, trusted their lives, being seven in number, to a frail boat, which required to be baled constantly, under the guidance of P. accidents, and left their sinking vessel at six o'clock on Sunday night last.

In the mean time, two of the crew died from fatigue, one a lad about 16, and the other 21, when, to their infinite joy, they perceived a vessel bearing down to them, which proved to be the schooner Glasgow Merchant, John L. Duncan, MASTER, from Glasgow to Rotterdam, with goods. Captain Duncan, on his coming up with them, which was about two o'clock in the afternoon of Monday, found the remaining five in a most exhausted state, but owing to the proleptical exertions of Captain Duncan and his crew, by rubbing them with brandy, they restored them.

And we further regret to add, that the Glasgow Merchant was driven on shore by a tremendous squall of wind on Caister Ness, the same night, where they were a second time exposed to the horrors of a shipwreck. The Glasgow Merchant, we fear, will become a wreck; and most of her cargo has been landed in a damaged state.

REPEAL—TITHES—COUNTY MEETING.

We are happy to find that G. W. Galwey has more than redeemed his character; that the right spirit is embodied in his bosom. A numerous meeting is expected to be held immediately, and we be to the man who will not do his duty on this day, as the County and Ireland expected he should.—Galwey Free Press.

A long account of a deplorable murder, under the head "Horrible struggle between two Criminals ended in Death," has appeared in most of the Morning and Evening Papers. It may be sufficient to mention that the original story, as translated from a French Paper, was inserted in the Morning Journal some months since. It was subsequently copied into many Provincial Papers, and there is no doubt has travelled to Jamaica, from whence it is translated here with all its horrors.—Morning Post.

ITALY.

The Augsburg Gazette of the 31st Inst. contains the following extract of a private letter of the 13th, from Rome:—"The Budget called here Il preventivo, is no more better known, and the deficit is not so great as with good management the last year of Messrs. Rothschild will set all straight. Much is hoped from the appointment of Monsignor Tosti to the office of Treasurer; he proposes many changes to the economy in the finances, however, will avail but little, unless something is done to promote the industry of the country. The principal receipts are those which foreigners from all countries bring to Rome. On the other hand, all manufactured articles are imported from England, France, and Germany; the money was considerably flung away, and the country loses considerably. The revolution in Romagna has also cost the State a heavy sum; 347,000 dollars were expended on military equipments, which were either spoiled or embelized by the revolutionists, and have now been furnished again; 255,000 dollars fell into the hands of the anarchists at Bologna alone; the deficit in the public treasury is chiefly to be attributed to these events. The Pappal militia now cost 3,000,000, formerly it cost but 1,000,000. The Pappal Court costs only 240,000, the Cardinals 103,000 dollars, the Administration, that is the entire Ministry, only 42,000. The Pappal Nuncios cost yearly 58,000 dollars. A saving of 80,000 dollars was made last year in the payment of public officers, compared with that of former years. The Queen Dowager of Naples has visited the Pope, and was received with due honour. She has also given a brilliant assembly, to which all the Roman Principals were invited, as well as the nobility and artists of Naples. The General of the Order of Dominicans, Jabot, is dead."

CAUTION TO LADIES WHO WRITE IN CYPHER.

In the autumn of last year—September 12, was the first day—some advertisements in cypher appeared in the Morning Chronicle; they were continued at intervals till the 27th of February, in the present year, at least the one of that date is the last we have seen. A friend of ours who is skilful in deciphering, assumed characters and who thought at first that some political mystery might be concealed in this strange guise, took the trouble to examine the cypher minutely, and soon discovered its key. The advertisements turn out to refer to an amatory, and not a political intrigue. We will not be mischievous enough to publish the letters from a married lady to a person who is not her husband; but, as a salutary warning to the writer, we publish one which is of too general a nature to betray her—

"Dearest, kindest, best of men—I am in raptures with your kind presents, and were it not for the support your kind letters give me, and feeling that you do love me, I must certainly sink under the weight of your kindness; and what presses me still more is, that I shall never be able to deserve, by all that I can do, the least of your favours, I have no hope but that my future conduct, and determined duty, will be accepted and all my imperfections forgiven.—Sua."

SIR COLQUHOUN GRANT, AND BILLY MULCAHY.

The present Colonel of the 15th Hussars, being in command of a corps at Clonmel, gave offence to an honest farmer named M'cahy, who struck him on parade, in presence of the whole regiment. The officers rushed forward to seize the delinquent; Sir Colquhoun interposed, declaring that he had been the aggressor, and as the gentleman thought proper to resent his conduct in an gross manner, it remained for him to seek the usual reparation. "Oh!" exclaimed Mulcahy, "if it's for fighting with swords or pistols, nor any thing else but my two fists; and fine big mutton bastards they were sure enough." "Well, then," replied the gallant officer, "with all my heart. By assaulting you, I have put myself on a level with you, and of course cannot refuse to meet you on your own terms. Come along, Sir." The men were dismissed, and Sir Colquhoun, accompanied by his adversary, and some mutual friends, repaired to the mess-room, where he very speedily closed up Mr. Mulcahy's peepers, and sent him home perfectly satisfied. That was the proudest day of Mulcahy's life, and many a time boasted of the honour eye he got from a K.C.B. as if it were an honour emblazoned upon his escutcheon. "Ever since that morning," would he say, "let me meet Sir Colquhoun Grant where I might, in town or country, among lords or ladies, dressed in plain clothes, or dressed out in gold and scarlet, he would give me his hand and say 'How are you Billy?'"

THE UNIVERSITY OF DUBLIN.

The following new regulations, respecting Medical Degrees, have been lately agreed to:—"A Bachelor of Arts shall be entitled to a Licentia Ab Examination, for the Degree of Bachelor of Medicine, on producing certificates of his having attended the following eight courses; if the certificates show that during each of four sessions, he attended one, and not more than three, of the courses which begin in November. The degree may be conferred at the July commencement of his middle Bachelor year. The courses are:—The six courses of lectures, delivered according to act of parliament in their respective departments, by the six Professors in the School of Physic. Our year's attendance on the practice of Sir Patrick Dunn's Hospital; six months' Clinical Lectures in the same. A course of Lectures on Midwifery by the Professor of the Midwifery of the College of Physicians. The effect of those regulations will be, to shorten the length of standing and increase the amount of officers required.—Athenaeum.

ONE GOOD TURN DESERVES ANOTHER.

A fashionable lady of the west end, some time ago, engaged a foot-boy, and gave special instruction, that two days in the week all inquiries respecting her should be replied to by "not at home." The boy turned out a thief and a tippler, so that before the term she announced to him, he must quit his situation. On this he applied to her for a character, which she refused, on the ground of the impossibility of saying any thing in his favor. "Well lady," quoth the urchin, "that's too bad, may a tell I've told to please you—you might surely tell me to please me."

THE UNION—DEBATE IN THE IRISH HOUSE OF COMMONS.

FROM THE RISE AND FALL OF THE IRISH NATION, BY JOHN JOHNSON BARRINGTON.

Lord Castlereagh was greatly exhausted, and Mr. Ponsonby, turning round, audibly observed, with a frigid smile and an air of utter indifference:—"the ravings of an irritated utter—it was very natural."

This was one of the most important personal conflicts during the discussions of the Union, and it had a very powerful effect, at least on the spirit of his Lordship's followers. Truth was unimportant to him on the personal attacks, his misrepresentation might honourably be retraced at convenient opportunities. He had no public character to forfeit; and a majority of his supporters were similarly circumstanced. Prompt personal hostility, therefore, was the line he had that morning decided on; and it was the most prudent step a minister so desperately circumstanced could adopt. When various measures are irrevocably adopted, obstinate compunction must instantly be banished. He determined to reject every consideration, but that of increasing his majority; but was routed by the very course he had calculated on to ensure a victory. The foresight of Mr. Ponsonby had penetrated through his policy, and showed him that, to counteract the enemy, he should become the assailant, seize the very position his adversary had selected, and anticipate the very line on which he had determined to try the battle. This line Mr. Ponsonby acted upon, and it this he had succeeded.

The discussion now proceeded with extraordinary asperity; but the influence of the Speaker, with a few exceptions, preserved the members in tolerable order; it was often difficult to determine which side transgressed the most. Mr. Arthur Moore on this night took a decided part; and Mr. Egan trampled down the metaphorical sophistries of Mr. William Smith, as to the competence of Parliament; such reasoning he called rubbish, and such reasoners were scavengers—like a dray horse he galloped over all his opponents, plunging and kicking, and overthrowing all before him. No member on that night pronounced a more sincere, stately, powerful oration; of matter he had abundance, of language he made no election; and he was aptly compared to the Trojan horse, sounding as if he had armed men within him.

Never was there a more unfortunate quotation for the government than one made by Sergeant Stanly from Judge Blackstone.

The dictum of a plain Judge, in a British court of law, was cited to influence the opinion of 300 members in the Irish Parliament, on the subject of their own constitution.

The debate continued with undiminished animation and hostility until ten o'clock on the morning of the 24th, when Sir Laurence Parsons' (Lord Rosse) supported Mr. Ponsonby in a speech luminous, and in some parts almost sublime. He had caught the flame which his colleague had but kindled, and blazed with an eloquence of which he had shown but few examples—the impression was powerful.

Mr. Frederick Falkiner, member for Dublin County, who immediately followed, was one of the most remarkable instances of indefatigable industry in Ireland—he would have been a valuable acquisition to the Government, but nothing could corrupt him. Week after week he was effectually tempted, through his friends, by a peerage or knight might desire; he replied—"I am poor, 'tis true, but no human power, no reward, no torture, no elevation shall ever tempt me to betray my country, never mention to me again so infamous a proposal."

He was, however, afterwards treated ungenerally by the very constituents whom he had obeyed, and died a victim to poverty and patriotism.

Colonel Maxwell (Lord Farnham), Mr. Lee (Waterford), Mr. Barrington, Judge of the High Court of Admiralty, and many others, pressed forward to deliver their sentiments against the project.

Every moment the debate grew warmer, and the determination to oppose it became more obvious, the members of government were staggered, the storm increased, but Lord Castlereagh was calm; he rose and spoke with a confident assurance peculiar to himself; and particularly disavowed all corruption, though he had dismissed every man who would not promise to support him, and had never severely subverted placemen at that moment on his side.

At length Mr. Plunkett arose, and, in the ablest speech ever heard by any member in that parliament, went to the ground and decisive point—the incompetency of Parliament—he could give no further on principle, and he left nothing in his language was irresistible, and he left nothing to be urged. It was perfect in eloquence, and unanswerable in reasoning. Its effect was indescribable; and for the first time Lord Castlereagh, whom he personally assailed, seemed to shrink from the encounter. That speech was of great weight, and it proved the eloquence, the generosity and fortitude of the speaker.

But a short speech on that night, which gave a new sensation, and excited novel observations, was a maiden speech by Colonel O'Donnell, of Mayo County, the eldest son of Sir Neil O'Donnell, a man of very large fortune in that county; he was Colonel of the Mayo Regiment. He was a brave officer, and a well bred gentleman; and in all the situations of life he showed excellent qualities.—On this night, roused by Lord Castlereagh's invective, he could not contain his indignation; and by anticipation "disclaimed all future allegiance, if a Union were effected; he held it as a vicious revolution, and avowed that he would take the field at the head of his regiment, to oppose its execution, and would resist the rebels in rich clothes as he had done the rebels in rags." And for his speech in Parliament he was dismissed his regiment without further notice.

As a counterpart to the language of Colonel O'Donnell, it is curious to observe the new exhibition of Mr. Trench, of Woodlawn. He was out satisfied with the disgusting exhibition of the preceding night, but again introduced himself, a note which common modesty would have avoided. He now entered into a defence of his former tergiversation, and, most unfortunately for himself, contradicted distinctly the substance of both his former speeches. He thus solved all the doubts

EDITOR OF THE PILOT.
Cloom, 25th March, 1834.

I am one of those who think that the Bill of 1829, and the Reform Bill which have lately been passed, are the best that have yet occurred.

Miss Julia O'Leary, a most amiable lady, was buried to-day in consequence of a severe illness which she had contracted, and which she had long been suffering from.

The morning we (Limerick Chronicle of Saturday) received the following intelligence from a military friend, dated Barbadoes, 24th February, 1834.

The 76th on arrival, will go to St Lucia and Dominica, and the Royals come up here.

War-office, March 28. 8th Regiment of Light Dragoons—Lieutenant S. Hall to be Captain, by purchase, vice Posenby, who resigns.

16th Foot—Ensign G. P. Horsford, by the half pay of 21st Regiment of Foot, to be Ensign, without purchase, vice W. Ogilvie, who resigns.

EASTER DUTCH FAIR, OR BAZAAR A LA PARIS, Consisting of Three Hundred PRIZES and no Blanks, As in the LONDON COMMISSION BAZAAR, WATERFORD, On THURSDAY, the 1st day of MAY, 1834.

GEORGE CLARKE
HAVING been requested by several persons and influential Gentlemen to promulgate a scheme for the holding of another DUTCH FAIR, immediately with the view of affording the Nobility, Gentry, and Inhabitants of Waterford and the adjoining Counties an opportunity of giving their young friends and dependants valuable EASTER GIFTS, from the collection of rare and costly articles, for which the Bazaar is celebrated, and attendant with the excitement and advantages peculiar to this novel system, and in responding to that request, he is highly gratified to receive to his customer that he at all times ready to render his own interest subservient to their accommodation, and consulting the convenience of those gentlemen who intend doing him the honor of presiding on the occasion. The drawing is fixed to take place on the First Day of MAY next, without fail.

The scheme is now arranged for THREE HUNDRED PRIZES—no BLANKS, several persons who intended to adventure being disappointed on the last occasion, the Grand Priz being intrinsically worth Fifteen Guineas, and the lowest being of the value of Five Shillings, with several intermediate prizes of value and utility, and such a diversification as must render them available to the virtuous, man of fashion, sportsman, and persons of all ages, grade, and sex.

Those persons who participated in the recent drawing, particularly invited to an inspection of the Prizes on view early next week, which, besides being of rare and foreign design, will be found to contain useful and elegant articles, of various kinds, and taste, adapted for the drawing room, boudoir, and museum, such as have not been before given as Prizes, having been collected with great care and superior judgment.

Tickets are now on Sale at 10s 6d each, for which an early application is necessary to secure them, such is the anticipated demand.
Waterford, March 29, 1834.
