GUIDE TO THE SPECIAL TREATMENT OF NERVOUSNESS.
Gives the true Cause and Cure of Nervous, Mental, and Physical Debility, Loss of Spirit, Indigestion, Premature Decline, &c., with Plain Directions for Perfect Restoration to Health in a Few Days, WITHOUT THE USE OF ELECTRICITY.
Illustrated with cases in proof of the wonderful efficacy of the
NEW SPECIAL MEDICINES.
These medicines are free from mercury, and being pure vegetable extracts are acknowledged to be the most wonderful remedy ever discovered for the cure of Nervous Diseases.
Sent free on receipt of stamped directed envelope by HENRY SMITH, M.D., of the Royal University of Jena, S. Burton Crescent, Tavistock Square, London, W.C.
N.B.—This book is printed for Free Circulation. "This is a work which every young man should read. The moral tone which pervades every page with sound advice is invaluable, especially when coming from the pen of a physician whose success has given him a place amongst the eminent specialists of the age."

BECHAM'S PATENT PILLS.
ARE admitted by thousands to be worth above A GUINEA A BOX, for Bilious and Nervous Disorders, such as Headache, Stomach, Giddiness, Fullness and Swelling after meals, Dizziness and Drowsiness, &c. &c. The first dose will give relief in twenty minutes.
This is no fiction, for they have done it in thousands of cases. The Proprietor of these Pills having obtained (at great expense) a Patent for them, he challenges the world to produce a medicine equal to them, for removing the above complaints, and restoring the patient to sound and lasting health.
Every sufferer is earnestly invited to try one box of these Pills, and they will be acknowledged to be WORTH A GUINEA A BOX.
For females of all ages these Pills are invaluable, as a few doses of them carry off all gross humours, open all obstructions, and give tone to the system. No female should be without them. There is no remedy to be found to equal BECHAM'S PILLS for removing any obstruction or irregularity of the system. If taken according to the directions given with each box, they will soon restore females of all ages to sound and robust health.
Becham's Magic Cough Pills
As a remedy for Coughs in general, Asthma, Difficulty in Breathing, Shortness of Breath, Tightness and Oppression of the Chest, Whooping, &c., these Pills stand unrivalled; and anyone labouring under any of the above complaints need only try ONE BOX, to prove that they are the best ever offered to the public for Asthma and Coughs, Croup, Hoarseness, and oppression of the Chest. They speedily remove that sense of oppression and difficulty of Breathing, which nightly deprive the patient of rest. They give almost instant relief and comfort to those afflicted with the above distressing, and when neglected dangerous complaints. Let any persons troubled with any of the above complaints give BECHAM'S COUGH PILLS a trial.
The most violent Cough will, in a short time, be removed.
Prepared only, and sold Wholesale and Retail by the Proprietor, T. BECHAM, Dispensing Chemist, 24, Holborn, London, in boxes at 1s. 11d. and 2s. 9d. each. Sent post free for 15 or 30 stamps.
Sold by all Druggists and Patent Medicine Dealers in the United Kingdom.
Facts are more persuasive than arguments, and to comment upon such facts as the above would be superfluous. The extraordinary sale of Becham's Pills prove unmistakably that they are one of the best and safest medicines at the present day, and disease and sickness will not be found in any house after taking a few doses of these excellent Pills.

FRIEND OF ALL.
HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

Let none be longer oppressed with the notion that his misery is incurable till these purifying Pills have had a fair trial. A few doses will remove the most urgent symptoms, and thereafter completely control all disordered actions, rouse the torpid liver, relieve the obstructed kidneys, cleanse impure blood, and confer on every fancied healthful vigour.
THE VIRTUES OF THE BLOOD.
These wonderful Pills are valued at the humblest hearths as well as in the Houses of comfort and wealth. They work a thorough purification throughout the whole system, without disordering the natural action of any organ, and eradicate those germs of complaint which consign tens of thousands to an early grave.
INDIGESTION, BILIOUS COMPLAINTS, AND SICK HEADACHE.

No organ in the human body is so liable to disorder as the liver, and none is more apt, when neglected, to become seriously diseased. Remember when nausea, flatulency, or acidity on the stomach warns you that digestion is not proceeding properly, that Holloway's Pills regulate every function, give strength to every organ, speedily remove all causes of indigestion, bile, and sick headache, and effect a permanent cure.
WEAKNESS AND DEBILITY.
In cases of debility, languor, and nervousness, generated by excess of any kind, whether mental or physical, the effects of these Pills in the highest degree bracing, renovating, and restorative. They drive from the system the morbid cause of disease, re-establish the digestion, regulate all the secretions, strengthen the nervous system, raise the patient's spirits, and bring back the frame to pristine health and vigour.

TURN OF LIFE AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.
The turn of life is the most distressing period in woman's existence; it destroys thousands. The whole of the gross humours collect together, and like a tide, sweep away life and health itself, if not timely and powerfully checked. The most certain antidote for all these dangers is Holloway's Pills. Armed with them the fiery ordeal is passed through, and the sufferer is once more restored to the possession of unimpaird health. It is but little known that at the so called "turn of life," man also, when verging on forty or forty five, discovers that his health is considerably deranged, and knows not the cause—a critical period in his life. All perils to both sexes are at once removed by recourse to these Pills.
THE KIDNEYS—THEIR DERANGEMENT AND CURE.
If these Pills be used according to the printed directions, and the Ointment rubbed over the region of the kidneys for at least half an hour at bed time, as salt is forced into meat, it will penetrate the kidneys, and correct any derangement. Should the affluence of the Urine be increased, it is particularly recommended that the Ointment be used at night and morning, as by its judicious application the most astounding cures may be performed.
Holloway's Pills are the best remedy known in the world for the following diseases:
Ague Headache
Asthma Gout
Bilious Complaints Indigestion
Blotches on the Skin Liver Com
Bowel Complaints Lumbago
Debility Rheumatism
Dropsy Retention of Urine
Female Irregularities Scrofula, or King's Evil
Feverishness King's Evil
The Pills and Ointment are sold at Professor Holloway's Establishment, 633, Oxford Street, London; also by nearly every respectable Vendor of Medicine throughout the Civilized World, in Boxes and Pots, at 1s. 11d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., 11s., 22s., and 33s. each. The 2s. 9d. size contains three, the 4s. 6d. size six, the 11s. size sixteen, the 22s. size thirty three, and the 33s. size fifty two times the quantity of a 1s. 11d. Box or Pot. The smallest Box of Pills contains four dozen; and the smallest Pot of Ointment one ounce.
Full printed directions are affixed to each Box and Pot, and can be had in any language, even in Turkish, Arabic, Armenian, Persian or Chinese.

NATIONAL TESTIMONIAL TO MR. MAGUIRE, M.P.

On the completion of the Twentieth Year of his Parliamentary Services.

A MEETING of some of Mr Maguire's Constituents, convened by the Mayor's Circular, and held at the Chamber of Commerce, Cork, on Thursday, the 15th February last, it was Proposed by WILLIAM SHAW, M.P., Seconded by JOHN NICHOLAS MURPHY, D.L. and unanimously resolved:—

"That for the greater part of a generation Mr Maguire's time, talents, and energies, have been almost exclusively devoted to the public service, with a zeal that never flagged, a fidelity that never failed, and an ability that did honor to his country, and largely contributed to every legislative amelioration.

"That, it is therefore, desirable on public grounds to give practical evidence that his constituents and his country appreciate and reward such distinguished and long-continued public services.

"That with this view a National Testimonial be set on foot, and a Subscription List for the purpose now opened.

"That subscription to the proposed Testimonial is not to be considered to imply adhesion to any special, political, or religious views, the intention of the promoters being to include in the list every man who has, in a useful, honest, and consistent public man."

Since the above Meeting was held over Four Thousand Pounds have been subscribed in various parts of Ireland; and subscriptions are now being organised in the chief cities of Ireland, as well as in England, Scotland, America, and Australia.

The following are Extracts from Letters received from Catholic Prelates in commendation of the project:—

(From the Cardinal Archbishop of Dublin). "In my opinion a national debt of gratitude is due to Mr Maguire for distinguished services, rendered in and out of Parliament, to our Country and to our Church."

(From the Archbishop of Westminster). "I have great pleasure in uniting with the Bishops and faithful Clergy in a powerful and glowing expression of our gratitude, for his long and faithful services."

(From the Archbishop of Cashel). "Through, to their great credit it has been set on foot by his fellow-citizens in Cork, we may trust that Irishmen at home and abroad, will cordially join in this Testimonial to their distinguished countryman, as a recognition of public services, not confined to the City or County of Cork, but rendered to the Nation at large."

(From the Bishop of Cork). "A Member of Parliament is not a mere delegate to watch over the interests of a restricted locality. His higher functions are of a national character, and he is called upon to represent the representatives of the nation, to promote the general welfare of his country. To this object Mr Maguire has devoted more than twenty years of his manhood and prime, with abilities that might have realised a fortune in his profession. During that time the broad principles of truly liberal government have been inculcated in his constituents, and when the subject admitted of it, as in the case of the Grovia Islands, the spirit of liberty breathed through his words in graceful and classical form. In addition to his long Parliamentary career, Mr Maguire has established another claim on the gratitude of his countrymen by his admirable vindication of the Irish character in America."

(From the Bishop of Cloyne). "A National recognition, and a national reward are due to Mr Maguire for his long and useful Parliamentary services."

"Ireland is not ungrateful. Other public men may be convinced that if, at a future time, they give to her the benefit of their talent, their eloquence, and their zeal, she will not forget her duty to them."

(From the Bishop of Ross). "Any word of approval from the most useful Parliamentary career of Mr Maguire would be in the slightest degree added to the well-deserved compliment inaugurated to him so successfully in the City and in the County of Cork, and which cannot but find a hearty response throughout the length and breadth of Ireland, for in him we have the advocate of Catholic Ireland in Parliament."

"May we be permitted to enclose five pounds as my subscription towards the well-merited National Testimonial to Mr Maguire."

(From the Bishop of Down and Connor). "No man has behaved, during his long lengthened Parliamentary career, with greater zeal and ability, with more disinterestedness and unflinching labour, or with greater personal independence and effective influence among all creeds and classes, and, I may add, too, with the best results to others, than he has done."

"He is deservedly popular far beyond the city, he so worthily represents, and I am sure that many people will be glad to take some part in sending this testimonial to him, as a mark of their sense of the high honour, the splendid talents, and public confidence, as well as private worth of an Irish representative in whom all have confidence."

(From the Bishop of Elphin). "It is not in Cork only, nor in every part of Ireland, but in every County where the Irish language is spoken, that the public career of Mr Maguire, is admired, and his public services gratefully appreciated. For a quarter of a century he has been the model of an earnest, upright, and consistent politician, in the Press as well as in Parliament; and throughout that long period he has exhibited a generous self-sacrifice, which has done more to raise the moral character of a debilitated and unjust than of gratitude."

(From the Bishop of Kilmore). "I consider no man deserves better of Ireland than Mr Maguire."

Published by order of Cork Committee. JOHN DALY, Mayor of Cork, Chairman. PATRICK J. FORDE, Secretaries. Maguire Testimonial Committee, Cork, 70, South Wall, April, 1872.

THE EDUCATION DIFFICULTY.

THE defeat of the Government last week by a majority of 216 to 209, upon Mr Gordon's instruction to the Committee on the Scotch Education Bill, is another exemplification of the difficulty of dealing with the subject of education in different parts of the United Kingdom.

On the whole, perhaps Mr. Gladstone's Ministry have had no greater difficulty to contend with, not even excepting that of the American "indirect claims." Two sessions ago they began to experience this difficulty when they sought to pass an Education Bill for England. They had then considerably to remodel their measure, and tried to effect a compromise between contending educational parties by granting an increased subsidy to denominational schools partly supported by voluntary contributions, while excluding denominational teaching from rate-supported schools to be established under the Bill. This compromise was not accepted by the English Radicals, and was only carried by the aid of Conservative votes.

Since then the Government have had considerable controversy with local school-boards respecting the manner in which some details of the Act should be carried out, and the Radicals during this session made an attack on the measure which was only defeated again by the aid of Conservative votes. Meanwhile, to show the complication of this education question, we may point to the University Testa Bill of this same Ministry, which they carried through the Commons against Conservative opposition by the aid of Radical votes. In either case the Government played off one extreme party against the other in order to pass a moderate measure. But when the Irish phase of the education question was thrust upon the attention of Parliament by Mr. Fawcett, in his Dublin University Bill, the Ministry, who still desired to steer a middle course, found the two extremes of Parliamentary parties meeting. The Conservatives and the Radicals, the one party because they particularly objected to any State endowment, or countenance to Roman Catholicism, and the other because they opposed the endowment of religion altogether, were equally in favour of Mr Fawcett's measure for practically secularizing the University of Dublin; and it is pretty clearly understood that the Government only avoided defeat on that question by refusing to afford the Member for Brighton a special opportunity for bringing on his measure. As there are tactics known in the House of Commons by which without such special opportunity of discussion, any private Member's Bill may be indefinitely postponed, the Government were able to shirk a difficulty not of their own raising in reference to education in Ireland, and to go on with their programme of legislation while practically ignoring Mr Fawcett's measure. But in this programme of legislation the education question turns up again, this time in its Scotch phase. In their Bill for amending the system of primary education in Scotland, Ministers sought to follow the precedent of the English Bill, to exclude denominational education from rate-supported schools; but as rate-supported schools would form a much larger proportion of the total number of schools in Scotland than in England, the compromise established by the English Act would have a very different effect in the former country from what it would in the latter. In one case it would make denominational schools the exception, while in the other it had left them as the rule. Naturally the Conservative vote was against the Government measure—that is, in favour of Mr Gordon's instruction—while, though Ministers could depend on the Radicals this time, they had to endure a defection of English Liberal Churchmen and Irish Members (the latter anxious to establish a precedent of denominationalism for their own country) sufficient to turn the scale against them by seven votes in a House of 425 Members. Briefly the position of the Government is this—It is helped by Conservatives and Irish Members to preserve and encourage denominationalism in England, and by Radicals to mollify the strict rigour of denominationalism; it is threatened by both Conservatives and Radicals in respect to denominational education in Ireland; and it is defeated by Conservatives, moderate Liberals and Irish Members when it attempts to carry a measure which would make denominational schools the rule in Scotland. The difficulty in each of the three countries is to propose such a system of education as will at once command a majority in Parliament and satisfy the people of the country concerned. Mr Gladstone has failed in legislating for Scotland; and he will find his difficulty infinitely increased if ever he comes to legislate on primary education in Ireland.

"A ONE-SIDED COMPLIMENT."

We are glad to find by an article in the Waterford News, under the above heading, that our contemporary has adopted the same views which we took of the mistake made by the committee of management, or rather mis-management, in reference to the exclusion of a portion of the local Press from the Banquet given by the members of the Carraghmore Hunt to the Marquis of Waterford on the occasion of the closing of the hunting season. The committee—or, for ought we know, an individual member, who would do well to exercise a little more judgment and tact,—committed, to say the least of it, a blunder, which the great Napoleon treated as worse than a crime, by inviting the representatives of the two Conservative journals of Waterford, and studiously ignoring the Liberal Press, on the occasion of an entertainment subscribed for by gentlemen of every shade of politics, and different religious persuasions, one-fourth of whom, in all probability, were not members of the Conservative party. This political bias is the more apparent, as, not content with inviting the local Conservative Press—and as if to place their animus beyond doubt—they actually invited a Reporter from a Conservative paper in Tipperary. We will charitably suppose that the whole thing was an oversight—an error of judgment it certainly was,—but it has left a very unpleasant impression on the public mind. We are also of opinion that the intended Banquet did not receive sufficient publicity. Had such been given we are sure that the large district of country over which Lord Waterford hunted would have furnished a far larger number of guests than the forty or fifty gentlemen who did assemble. We care very little, indeed, about the matter ourselves, but we feel that an insult has been offered, perhaps unintentionally, to those Liberal members of the Hunt who would be glad to do honour to a young nobleman who had incurred considerable expense in promoting sport for those who took a pleasure in the chase. We are informed that a local correspondent of a Dublin journal, not having been invited, resolved to have a report, and quietly sent up his Lordship's speech of last year, besides making speeches for absent members, and having, in the list of those present, the names of men who were dead. All these things will, we trust, teach the committee—or whoever took charge of the affair—that they made more than one mistake on this occasion, which they would do well to avoid in the future. On this subject the News says:—"All classes of the community are thoroughly satisfied that any compliment which could be paid by the people of this city, county, and neighbourhood, to the young and high-spirited head of Carraghmore, the Marquis of Waterford, would be nothing more than he deserves as a resident nobleman, promoting industry as well as sport, and looking after the wants and wishes of his tenantry; and when it was arranged to entertain him at a dinner, at the close of the hunting season, it was a pity the management did not get into the hands of competent parties, who would show themselves equal to the great occasion, and who could lay aside those prejudices in which they were cradled, the introduction of which at such a time shows their narrow-minded bigotry, and detracts from the value of the compliment intended to be paid to a very worthy recipient. We are sure that the last wish of the Marquis of Waterford would be that the entertainment should bear the smallest tinge of political or religious feeling; yet, will it be believed, that the invitations to the local press were confined exclusively to three Conservative journals, whose names appear in the list which we have copied elsewhere from one of them? It was, of course, entirely an optional matter with those who took upon themselves the management of the dinner whether or not the press should be at all present, but it being decided on having the proceedings reported, the political bias is too apparent in the selection of the journals to allow the matter to pass without calling attention to a glaring fact, which in the hands of competent management, would never have occurred, if they had due respect for their noble guest, and the mixed company who assembled to compliment him as far as possible. The manner, too, in which the circulars were sent out to 'the select' has given dissatisfaction, as by the means adopted many veteran sportsmen, who, like the noble Chairman, have retired from the chase, but love its memory, and would be glad in aiding in complimenting Lord Waterford, were excluded. This would have been avoided had a public advertisement been issued, and in place of fifty, one hundred or more gentlemen would have come forward to join in the festivities. The managing committee—or did one individual take upon himself the performance of a duty he was incapable of adequately fulfilling?—for into whose hands the matter was entrusted we know not—was not only one-sided and prejudiced, but was defective in detail—a state of things not complimentary or pleasing, we are sure, to the young nobleman it was intended to honor."

THE MAGUIRE TESTIMONIAL.

In another column we publish an address issued by the Maguire Testimonial Committee and we commend its careful perusal to our readers of every class and creed. The letters from distinguished prelates are in themselves valuable testimonials to the sterling worth of Mr Maguire, and will, we are sure, be valued by him accordingly. But the recognition of his merits are not left to the dignitaries of the Roman Catholic Church. Irish laymen of every creed, and dwelling in every region of the earth—in Ireland, England, Scotland, America, Australia and the Islands of the Sea. Wherever an Irish heart beats from the Equator to the pole, there it beats warmly at the name of Mr Maguire, the pure and patriotic member for Cork. Many of them may differ from him in religion and even in politics, but he has won the hearts and the confidence as well as the respect and esteem of all, by twenty years of public life in the service of his country, and during all that time, which is nearly a generation, he has acted with uprightness and consistency, and now stands without fear and without reproach, before the world. The testimonial, then, to such worth, is truly a national one, and we rejoice to learn that the sum of £4,000 has already been subscribed; but we look with confidence to a far larger sum ere the subscription list closes. The following resolution fully embodies our views—"That subscription to the proposed Testimonial is not to be considered to imply adhesion to any special, political, or religious views, the intention of the promoters being to include all who wish to pay a compliment to a useful, honest, and consistent public man. We earnestly advocate a Testimonial worthy of the man who, for a quarter of a century, refused place and honors, which would have been showered upon him, in order to remain the unshakable advocate of his country's cause.

REPRESENTATION OF MALLOW.

The Cork Examiner says:—A vacancy in the representation of Mallow gives to an urban constituency at this moment an opportunity that ought, and we feel confident will, be eagerly availed of. Home Rule is now the question of questions for Irishmen. We do not say that there does not exist a good many other of considerable magnitude and deep interest, but that is the one which surpasses because it includes all the others. Mallow is a town at one with the nation in its aspirations, and is we make no doubt, anxious to identify itself not merely in sentiment but in act with the national movement, and to lend its such practical aid as is in its power. That aid, fortunately, it can give, and with peculiar effect now. Mr. John George MacCarthy is a candidate for the suffrages of the people of Mallow. If there be one man more than another whose selection as representative would be an emphatic pronouncement in favour of Home Rule, Mr. MacCarthy is that man. Of course we know he has other claims on public confidence and esteem. He has been active in every movement wherein the people's interest was at stake, whether it took the form of religious equality, freedom of education, the independence of the tenant, or as Thomas Davis would say "any good cause at all." But that which has just of late been peculiarly identified is the Home Government of Ireland. His "Plea" on the subject has been universally declared one of the most efficacious arguments made in behalf of the legislative independence which Ireland seeks, and has been recommended from the Central Association as the hand-book to be used by those who study the question or propose to aid in the movement. It is now important that Irish representatives in the House of Commons should be masters of the question as well as sympathetic with the popular views upon it. All the knowledge and all the ability the country can command will be needed for the country's work in this affair. It is not to be supposed that because the formal debate upon Home Rule it is not to be taken this session that there may not arise at any hour the necessity for men vindicating the principle and is it quite as much the duty of constituencies now as it would be at the next general election to seek for the most efficient advocates of the principles they espouse. For this reason amongst many others Mr. MacCarthy is the man emphatically for Mallow. He is not only thoroughly versed in the question, but he has the gifts which enable a man to impress his convictions upon others. A powerful speaker as well as an earnest and deep thinker, Mr. MacCarthy's presence in the House of Commons would add no small strength to the as yet comparatively small band who represent the national movement in Parliament. We trust that Mallow will see its duty in the present crisis.

COUNTY WATERFORD INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS.

In another column we publish an advertisement for tenders for the erection of Industrial Schools for the county of Waterford, and the subject itself is one of the most important which can occupy the attention of philanthropists. Lord Stuart de Decles, seeing that the committee could not obtain a proper place for the Industrial School at Boreenra, where it was at first intended to be erected, at once came forward, and with that magnificence and public spirit which distinguish himself and his family, granted a suitable site as part of his property at Ring for the purpose. The committee on Thursday passed a well deserved resolution of thanks to the noble Lord for his kindness and patriotism.

THE ALABAMA CLAIMS.

In the House of Lords last night, Earl Granville made a statement with regard to the present stage of the negotiation with the United States. A proposal for a joint note, which, it is understood, will declare inadmissible all claims for indirect damages, contrary to international law, has been forwarded to President Grant, and has been submitted by him to the Senate. The statement was followed by a brief conversational discussion. The House of Commons was crowded to hear Mr. Gladstone's statement, the King of the Belgians being amongst those present. Lord Granville was also present during part of the time. Mr. Gladstone spoke for nearly half an hour, and in the course of his speech made a warm appeal to the American Senate. He also claimed the same for the Government of the House. Mr. Daniel said he considered they were bound to continue the forbearance which they had steadily shown. He must express a hope, however, that all papers would be laid before the House without unnecessary delay. The matter then dropped.

THE PRESIDENCY OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Morning Post says the leaders of the Democratic party in the United States have been unable to resist the temptation which the nomination of Mr. Greeley at Cincinnati placed before them, and have resolved to make a nomination of their own. This determination was arrived at the day before yesterday by the National Committee of the Democratic party, which assembled on that day in New York. The committee consists of one member from each State, 37 in all. They have issued a call for the assembling of the National Convention of their party at Baltimore on the 17th of June, when the nomination will be made. There will consequently be a quadrilateral fight for the Presidency next November—the four conflicting armies being the Regular Republicans, led by Mr. Grant; the Liberal Republicans, with Mr. Greeley as their candidate; the Labor Reformers, whose candidate, Judge David Davis, was nominated some time ago; and the Democrats, whose candidate is yet unknown. The Labor Reformers have no great strength, but as they are almost wholly Republicans, the Republican vote of the country will be divided between Davis, Greeley, and Grant, while the Democrats will be united upon their own candidate, whoever he may be. Their success, under these circumstances, is very probable. Their greatest difficulty will be in the selection of a candidate; those spoken of are General McClellan, General Hancock (who is very popular in the South), Governor Hoffman, of New York; Senator Thurman, of Ohio; and Mr. Seymour, of New York. There is also a disposition manifested by some of the leaders of the party to go outside of their own organization for a candidate, and to give the nomination to Chief Justice Chase, or to Mr. Charles Francis Adams.

THE BALLOT BILL.

The Times says the Ballot is a confession of the weakness and dependence of large numbers among the British electors. This is a question of fact upon which people may and must differ, but we suppose it will be conceded that, however dependent voters may be now, they are much less dependent than they ever have been before. Large numbers of voters have been encouraged and are now fixed in the belief that they will be exposed to unknown evils if they have not the power of screening their votes in darkness, and legislation must take account of this state of feeling. We are prepared to give voters the veil they desire; but we are bound to take care that we do not go beyond the reason of the case as laid down by themselves; and that in securing the free exercise of the franchise to honest voters, we do not increase the means of fraud for the dishonest. The House of Commons has done much to bring the Ballot Bill into harmony with these principles; but the amendments it has introduced have not always been co-terminous with the arguments by which they have been supported, and before the bill is finally approved by the Legislature it will be necessary to make it consistent with itself. The House of Lords will discharge its proper function as a revising and correcting body, if it accepts the principle now asserted and re-asserted by the House of Commons, that timid voters should be prevented from the evil they dread, even though they are imaginary. But while screening the timid from danger, the Lords may leave means open for them to emerge gradually from this provisional stage of secrecy; as the terrors which induce them to seek it are seen to disappear.

"NATIONAL ECHOES."

We are gratified to find that Dr. White's new work, "National Echoes," promises to prove a very great success from the numerous communications of encouragement with which the author is being honoured by men of the highest social and literary distinction, requesting their names to be inscribed as subscribers to a work from the perusal of which they expect a great treat, coming as those "Echoes" do from the brain and pen of one who has already made his impression on Irish music and Irish literature.

The learned and refined scholar, Dr. Cleary, of St. John's College, thus communicates with the author:—"The College, April 23, 1872. 'DEAR DOCTOR.—Ever since my return I have been away in the country, and since my return I have been sick. By all means do me the honor of placing my name on the list of subscribers to your new work. Wishing you a great success, I am, dear Doctor, yours, &c., 'J. V. CLARY.'"

Colonel Tottenham, of Talbot Hall, County Waterford, writes to the author:—"I am a great admirer of your work, and I am glad to see that you are so well supported. I am, dear Sir, yours faithfully, 'W. GUENNEY.'"

From Edmond Maxwell Dillon, Esq., B.A., the distinguished and learned Professor, and former President of Bishop Stortford College, Cambridge:—"19, West Brixton, London, May 11, '72. 'MY DEAR FRIEND.—I shall feel truly pleased to hail another gem from your setting, and am glad that you do not mean to rest upon your past exploits. PATRICK'S HALL PETTY SESSIONS.

These sessions were held on Saturday last, in the County Court House, Waterford, before J. Kearney, P. Barron Newell, and C. Rogers, Esqrs. SUPPORT OF A CHILD.—Constable Duffy summoned Laurence Lyons for the support of his child who is at an industrial school. Lyons said he was caretaker to Mr. Strangman and had only 12s a week. He had a wife and five children to support. Constable Duffy: I understand that he is put to extra expense as he has to take one of his meals in town. Lyons: And the schooling of the children costs me about 6d a week. Mr. Kearney: You should support your child if you had her at home. Lyons: But she would be able to earn something now. Ordered to pay 6d a week for the support of the child. Lyons: I would rather take her out than pay that money. Mr. Cadfield, S.I.: You cannot take her out for four years, and then she will be some use to you. COLLISION BETWEEN CARRS.—Michael Walsh, Grannagh Castle, summoned Michael Walsh, of Ballinacree, for an assault. Mr. Strangman appeared for the defendant. Complainant swore he was going home on Tuesday week with a coffin in his cart, when Walsh ran his horse and cart against him, and knocked him out of his cart. Defendant struck him with the shaft of his car in the side, and he was idle for eleven days. Mr. Rogers: Did he say anything? Witness: He stepped his car and picked me up. Mr. Rogers: Was it accidental or intentional? Witness: I don't know; but he had plenty of room at his own side. Mr. Strangman: The horse of my client shied at the whistle of a steam engine, and that caused the accident. Mr. Rogers: Was there any dispute between you before? Witness: I never saw him before. Mr. Newell: Was he not civil to you after? Witness: Yes; but he got that was poor satisfaction to me. To Mr. Strangman: The occurrence took place at Newrath; had not time to cry out when he was coming on me; did not hear anything about an engine; he ran down against me; want nothing but something for my loss. Defendant: I gave my name to the Ferrybank police. The defendant offered £1 compensation, which the magistrates recommended the complainant to accept. After some demur, this was accepted. John Ryan and Thomas Power pleaded guilty to a breach of the peace by fighting at Newrath on the 5th inst. Constable Walsh: The railway officials were present and never interfered. Fined 1s each, and costs. EJECTMENTS.—A number of decrees for ejectments from small houses in the purlieus of the city were granted. Thomas Grant objected to pay a license for a dog which was simply a visitor, and divided his attention equally between several houses. Fined 6d, and ordered to take out a license. DISTURBANCES.—John Ryan was charged with being drunk and disorderly on the night of Sunday week. The constable who arrested him said that he was very drunk, and was shouting for some one to fight with. When he was arrested he offered some insolence to the police. The man pleaded guilty, and was fined 5s and costs. The court then adjourned.

NEW ROSS UNION.—The weekly meeting of the guardians was held on Saturday. M. F. SWEETMAN, Esq., J.P., Chairman, and subsequently E. H. O'FARRELL, Esq., V.C., occupied the chair. CONDUCTOR'S REPORT.—Dr. Rosier wrote, stating, in reply to a query of the commissioners, that the man John Conway, who died within five hundred yards of the workhouse, had been removed by his (doctor's) order. A petition from the County Wexford Independent Club, condemnatory of the Grand Jury System (and which we will publish in our next) was read and adopted. The commissioners wrote, stating that it did not appear from guardians' minutes whether or not the man John Conway had been in receipt of outdoor or medical relief previous to his admission; nor did it appear therefrom upon what division he was charged on these points. The commissioners also requested to be informed of any further proceedings taken with regard to the neglect of the late Mr. Thos. Frizelle, K.O., to obtain the sanction of the guardians to the expenditure of a sum of £14 3s 6d in outdoor relief. The commissioners did not consider the explanation of Dr. Mullin, in the matter of the complaint preferred against him by a man named Aylward, satisfactory, and wished the same to be communicated to the doctor. Referring to minutes of guardians' last meeting, the commissioners desired to call attention to the subject of taking stock of provisions, clothing, &c. in the workhouse, which subject it appeared had been brought before the guardians, but gave no direction thereon. A committee was then appointed for the purpose named in the letter. Another letter from the commissioners referred to a letter, contained in minutes of 4th inst., from Mr. Berney, sanitary inspector, in which he suggested that a sewer should be constructed, with a view to the prevention of a nuisance in the locality referred to in his previous report on the subject; and the commissioners request the guardians' attention to Mr. Berney's suggestion. No order made. The commissioners approved of the appointment of Miss Anne Hunt as schoolmistress of the workhouse, at the specified salary of £20 per annum, with RATE OF THE HOUSE.—Remaining from previous Saturday, 465; born, 1; admitted, 16; died; 2; discharged, 19; remaining on Saturday, 4th May, 461; corresponding week 1871, 459; in infirmary, 117; corresponding week 1871, 115; in fever hospital, 20; corresponding week 1871, 18; general average cost of an inmate, 2s 11d; cost of provisions received, £65 10s 4d; do. consumed, £71 0s 4d; received by treasurer; £66 1s 0d; paid by do., £44 9s 8d; balance in favor, £120s 10s 7d; outdoor relief for the week, £31 2s 6d. THE NEW BELIEVING OFFICERS.—When the admissions were being considered, it was found that the "application book" of Mr. Tierney, the new relieving officer, contained an erroneous entry, and that the names were inserted therein of parties who had not made due application to the relieving officer. Some discussion ensued, and finally, the chairman refused to sanction certain payments that had been made by the new officer [no doubt in error], and for which the chairman would be liable by placing his signature in the book. The matter dropped. There were no other matters of any public interest before the guardians, and the board adjourned at an early hour.

NEW ROSS BOROUGH COURT.—FRIDAY.—The magistrates who attended were JOHN HOWLER (presiding), and J. E. GALAVAN, Esq. Sub-Inspector Fullon was also present. Patrick Finn was called upon to answer to a charge of having been riotous at Rosbercon, within the borough, at a recent date. Fined 10s. William Lacey, for being uproarious whilst "under the influence," was invited to pay half-a-crown. Miss Anty Cotton summoned Miss Elizabeth Doherty for having upbraided her, in the public street, in a manner quite out of union with the sentiments which were becoming to one of the "gender" portion of creation. The court, considering that both ladies were equally at fault, dismissed the case. Adjourned.

PETTY SESSIONS.—The weekly sessions were held on Friday, immediately after the Borough Court. With the addition of E. A. Byrne, Esq., the same bench as that present at the Borough Court assembled. Mr. Jones, of New Ross, summoned Michael Walsh, for having, without notice, left his employment on the 4th inst. Walsh was fined 1d, 1s compensation, and 2s 6d costs. Thomas Sullivan summoned Michael Fitzhenry for having assaulted him at Knockroos on the 6th inst. Mr. Hinson appeared for complainant. It appeared that a dispute as to whether a horse belonging to the one, had, or had not, been feeding in an out-field belonging to the other, was sought to be closed by the defendant dealing the complainant a stroke of a stone, the missile wounding the latter in the neighbourhood of the eyes. The bench fined defendant £2 10s, or, in default, two months' imprisonment. This concluded the business.

WE learn that the proprietors of the saddlery and harness-making establishments of Waterford have concurred to the request of their employees to reduce the hours of labour. We understand that the Waterford Harmonic Society will give their last concert for the season towards the end of May, and that Mr. J. S. Mitchell intends giving a grand concert in the Town Hall, Waterford, early in June.

In the late debate on the land question in the House of Commons, Mr. Wren Hoskins said it was a great misfortune that lawyers looked upon land as being intended only for settlement; they resembled a famous surgeon, who felt a strong anxiety for the amputation of every nicely-rounded arm and well-shaped leg which came under his notice.

APPOINTMENT.—We are glad to learn that the intelligence and efficiency of our young and promising fellow-citizen, Mr. J. J. Murphy, has been so highly appreciated by the directors of the Waterford and Limerick Railway Company that they have unanimously promoted him to the post of accountant, which office we feel confident he will fill to their entire satisfaction.

The Reason Why.—A little girl, when her father's table was honoured with the presence of an esteemed friend, began talking very earnestly at the first pause in the conversation. Her father checked her rather shortly, sharply saying, "Why is it that you, always talk so much?" "Tausie I've dot somesint' to say," was the innocent reply.

Mr. G. H. Lewis tells a story of a gentleman who, under the sun, said something about his thinning looks being caused by the development of his brains. "Excuse me said the barber, 'but you are labouring under a mistake. The brains permeate the skull, and encourage the growth of the hair: that's what they're for.'"

Darwinism.—A mulberry leaf becomes a silk gown, a silk gown becomes a woman.

THE GALWAY ELECTION.—CAPT. TRENCH'S PRINTING ACCOUNT.—The recent Galway Election was a rather profitable affair for the newspaper proprietors of that county. We learn from the evidence given on Friday that Captain Trench's friends had no fewer than 94,000 placards printed and published against Captain Nolan. The "Galway Express" accounts amounted to £411 10s; the "Galway Vindicator" to £313 13s; and the "Western Star" to £237. Capt. Nolan's printing account was far heavier, one paper, the "Tuam News," having charged him £1019.

WATERFORD HARBOUR.—The Waterford Harbour Commissioners yesterday adopted the provisional order of the Board of Trade, for the removal of the bar at this harbour. Report in our next.

BODY WASHED ASHORE.—The body of a man, with the initials "W.L.," was washed ashore on Sunday night on the Waterford coast, a short distance from Anstowntown. The body was much decomposed. The clothing on the body would warrant the supposition that he was the master of a vessel.

PRESENTED IN CHURCH.—The congregation of Fifth Avenue, New York (Rev. Dr. Hall's), have sold their present place of worship for £100,000, and have purchased another site in the same neighbourhood, one of the most fashionable localities in the city, for £80,000, where they propose to erect a large and handsome church, with schools and lecture-rooms, &c.

ROBBERY.—On Monday evening last a countryman left a jar of whiskey and a sack of meal in charge of Mr. Harney, John-street, Waterford. In an hour afterwards a respectable-looking woman said she was sent for them, and, having given a "token" which she must have overheard, she obtained the goods. In a short time she countryman entered and asked for his whiskey and meal, but to his consternation he found that they had been already appropriated.

The Wonders of Dress.—A magazine of fashion lately added to the description of a lady's dress the accompanying instruction: "With this name the mouth is to be worn slightly open." We wonder what sort of ears the lady who became the lucky possessor.

In the Galway election petition case yesterday, Mr. MacDermott spoke all day on behalf of the winning member, and will resume his address this morning.

The Manchester Chamber of Commerce yesterday unanimously condemned the acquisition of railways by the State, and looked to competition as the only means of obtaining further benefits.

It is reported in financial circles in Paris that the proposal of M. Thiers for the liberation of the military consists in the immediate payment of one million of francs in consideration of the evacuation of France in departments. It is added that Prince Bismarck demands two millions.

WEXFORD ARCHERS.—On Saturday the Wexford Archers met at White's Hotel, for the purpose of making arrangements for the coming season, as well as to ballot for a committee of management and officers. Capt. Thomas Walker presided. The secretary's report and treasurer's abstract of accounts for the past year were submitted to the meeting, and the members expressed themselves well pleased at the position of the clubs affairs. The examination of the ballot list having closed, the scrutineers handed in the return, which was ordered to be entered. The following is part of the return: Lady Parmentou, Mrs. Browne Clayton, Carrickbyrne, President.—J. H. Raymond Rowe.

Holloway's Pills.—Hale Constitutions.—The experience of years, has shown when the human frame has become debilitated, these Pills will direct the mischief taken according to the directions. Holloway's Pills exercise the most powerful remedial properties in all cases of nervous depression, whereby the vital powers are weakened and the circulation is rendered languid and unsteady. They improve the appetite, strengthen the digestion, regulate the liver, and act as gentle aperients. The Pills are suited to all ages and habits. A patient writes: "Your Pills to be valued require only to be known." During many years I sought a remedy in vain, was daily coming weaker, but when I heard of your Pills, and had recourse to them they soon restored me.

THE Wonders of Dress.—A magazine of fashion lately added to the description of a lady's dress the accompanying instruction: "With this name the mouth is to be worn slightly open." We wonder what sort of ears the lady who became the lucky possessor.

Capt. Thomas Walker presided. The secretary's report and treasurer's abstract of accounts for the past year were submitted to the meeting, and the members expressed themselves well pleased at the position of the clubs affairs. The examination of the ballot list having closed, the scrutineers handed in the return, which was ordered to be entered. The following is part of the return: Lady Parmentou, Mrs. Browne Clayton, Carrickbyrne, President.—J. H. Raymond Rowe.

Holloway's Pills.—Hale Constitutions.—The experience of years, has shown when the human frame has become debilitated, these Pills will direct the mischief taken according to the directions. Holloway's Pills exercise the most powerful remedial properties in all cases of nervous depression, whereby the vital powers are weakened and the circulation is rendered languid and unsteady. They improve the appetite, strengthen the digestion, regulate the liver, and act as gentle aperients. The Pills are suited to all ages and habits. A patient writes: "Your Pills to be valued require only to be known." During many years I sought a remedy in vain, was daily coming weaker, but when I heard of your Pills, and had recourse to them they soon restored me.

THE Wonders of Dress.—A magazine of fashion lately added to the description of a lady's dress the accompanying instruction: "With this name the mouth is to be worn slightly open." We wonder what sort of ears the lady who became the lucky possessor.

In the Galway election petition case yesterday, Mr. MacDermott spoke all day on behalf of the winning member, and will resume his address this morning.

The Manchester Chamber of Commerce yesterday unanimously condemned the acquisition of railways by the State, and looked to competition as the only means of obtaining further benefits.

It is reported in financial circles in Paris that the proposal of M. Thiers for the liberation of the military consists in the immediate payment of one million of francs in consideration of the evacuation of France in departments. It is added that Prince Bismarck demands two millions.

WEXFORD ARCHERS.—On Saturday the Wexford Archers met at White's Hotel, for the purpose of making arrangements for the coming season, as well as to ballot for a committee of management and officers. Capt. Thomas Walker presided. The secretary's report and treasurer's abstract of accounts for the past year were submitted to the meeting, and the members expressed themselves well pleased at the position of the clubs affairs. TEN SHILLINGS EACH:

THE POET'S CORNER.

THE POET'S CORNER. LINES ACCOMPANYING A BOUTIQUE OF WILD FLOWERS. These sweet wild flowers of May, that I At early morn have culled for thee; Most soon their freshness lose, and die, And all their sweets and odours flee.

TO ENNINA. A sweet face, fair and tender, Is e'er before my sight, And glides my loving fancy,

TO ENNINA. A great historical character has just passed away. The last of the Gretna-Green parsons—Simon Lang—is dead. His father David was a marrying man too; and the remembrances of a couple would make a volume of romance.

AMERICA'S FUTURE PRESIDENT.—The Nation says:—The name of Horace Greeley is one which, we trust, will soon be familiar to the world as the name of the President of the United States.

THE BOOK OF CASHEL.—The Evening Telegraph says:—We do most earnestly hope that the House will give legislative sanction to the measure with reference to the famous group of ruins which crowns the Rock of Cashel.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.—It is rumored that the Lords of the Treasury intend to make it compulsory upon all gentlemen in the Irish offices who are aged sixty years and upwards, to retire from the service upon superannuation.

MARK TWAIN AS A REPORTER.—I reported on a morning newspaper three years, and it was pretty hard. But I enjoyed its attractions. Reporting is the best school in the world to get a knowledge of human beings, human nature, and human ways.

TIPPERARY PROTESTANT ORPHAN SOCIETY.—The annual meeting of this society was held in the courthouse Clonmel on Friday. The Right Rev. Maurice Fitzgerald Day, D.D., Bishop of Clonmel, presided.

THE BRITISH AND IRISH TURF COMMISSION AGENT. Offices—56, GEORGE STREET, EDINBURGH, N.B. PROPRIETORS—Messrs. J. JOHNS and Co. INVESTMENT'S NEGOTIATED to any amount on receipt of cash, on all forthcoming events.

NOTICE.—Messrs. J. JOHNS & Co.'s great DOUBLE COMBINATION SYSTEM PAMPHLET sent FREE on receipt of card of any gentleman, or to the public generally for 13 stamps to prevent application from mere curiosity.

PS.—THE WINNINGS by the GREAT DOUBLE COMBINATION SYSTEM up to present date by investing £100 only, have already amounted to the large sum of over £1800.

the ruined Cathedral, the melancholy magnificence of the Palace ruins; while, above all, the shooting towards the sky, and stamping with the purely Celtic stamp, the glorious group, stands the round tower which on twelve troubled centuries has looked down upon Cashel. And these ruins are consecrated by history as well as by art. Within the circle of the palace the Second Henry received the homage of Donald O'Brien, and met in council the prelates of Ireland. Under these grey walls Earl Strongbow lay entombed, when heralds, "bloody with spurring—fiery red with haste," came to tell him that the Irish chiefs of the West had defeated his forces at Thurles. During his romantic Irish expedition Edmund Bruce sojourned for a time in the palace, and often knelt at the altar of King Cormac's Chapel.

ALLEGED CASE OF MANSLAUGHTER.—A serious affair, involving a charge of manslaughter, is reported from the neighbourhood of Milford, in the county Donegal. Several young men were returning from Milford in March last, when a quarrel ensued. One of them, named Hugh Miller, on being separated from his antagonists, went by another road and again met the party who are brothers named Atila. Miller received a blow from a stone which fractured his skull. The piece was at the time skillfully removed by a physician, who replaced it with a plate. The patient lingered till Thursday, when he died.

REPORTED OUTRAGE IN BELFAST.—A fire occurred on Thursday at Gillyholm, near Enniskillen, on an extensive premises belonging to George Weir, Esq., a large landed proprietor. All the offices, bars, stables, cow-houses, and much valuable property, including 10 cows, were totally consumed. The beautiful dwelling house was with difficulty partially saved. Mr Weir lately evicted several tenants, and everyone believes that the outrage was perpetrated by some of the latter. It is said that Mr Weir anticipated such an outrage, for he had all his property insured during the past month. Captain Butler, R.M., has just gone to investigate the whole affair, and it is hoped, for the credit of the county, that the occurrence may prove accidental.

THE FLAX DRESSERS OF BELFAST.—The flax dressers of Belfast are not out on strike, as has been stated. A meeting has been held to take into consideration the proposal of the master-spinners at the conference held in the Chamber of Commerce on the previous day, to submit to arbitration the matter as to whether the advance in their wages should be 2s or 3s. At the meeting the other night the men came to the conclusion that the question for arbitration must be as to whether the weekly remuneration be 2s or 3s advance, and passed a resolution to the effect that on these grounds only would the men already on strike resume their work.

MARK TWAIN AS A REPORTER.—I reported on a morning newspaper three years, and it was pretty hard. But I enjoyed its attractions. Reporting is the best school in the world to get a knowledge of human beings, human nature, and human ways. A nice, gentlemanly reporter—I make no reference—is well treated by everybody. I just think of the wide range of his acquaintance, his experience of life and society. No other occupation brings a man into such familiar social relations with all the grades and classes of people. The last thing at night—when midnight he goes prowling around after items among the police and gaol birds, to the lock-up, questioning the prisoners, and making pleasant and lasting friendships among some of the worst people of the world, and the very next evening he gets himself up regardless of expense, puts on all the good clothes his friends have got goes and takes dinner with the Governor or the Commander-in-Chief of the District, the United States Senator, and some more of the upper crust of society. He is on good terms with all of them, and is present at every gathering, and has access to every variety of people. Why I breakfasted almost every morning with the Governor, and dined with the principal clergyman, and slept in the station-house.

TIPPERARY PROTESTANT ORPHAN SOCIETY.—The annual meeting of this society was held in the courthouse Clonmel on Friday. The Right Rev. Maurice Fitzgerald Day, D.D., Bishop of Clonmel, presided. It being his first visit to Clonmel, the attendance of the friends and supporters of the institution was unusually large. The annual report, which was read, represented the financial position of the society as satisfactory, the contributions and incomes from all sources amounting to £796 3s 3d, while the expenditure was £672 5s 6d. The number of orphans to be provided for in this year is 67, and last year the number was 72. The funds derived from sermons throughout the year amounted in all to £40 2s 7d, being an increase from this source of £3 10s 8d, as compared with last year. The collections made at meetings throughout the year amounted to £61 3s 6d, being about 2s 6d less than last year. Before the report was read the Bishop addressed an able exhortation to the assembly, and expressed satisfaction at having the first meeting on which he became associated with them held in Clonmel, the scene of his schoolboy days. Capt Adams read the statement of accounts, after which the adoption of the report was moved by Denis O'Brien, Esq., J.P., Cahir, seconded by the Rev. Robert Bell, D.D., Archdeacon of Cashel, and adopted. Several other speakers having addressed the meeting, Archdeacon Bell was called to the second chair, and a vote of thanks to the Bishop terminated the proceedings.

CHLORALUM. AN ODOURLESS NON-POISONOUS DISINFECTANT.—THE SALINE ANTI-SEPTIC—HARMLESS AS COMMON SALT. CHLORALUM is an active conservative of organic substances. CHLORALUM is invaluable for purifying the air. It is used in preserving articles of diet, and a few drops will keep milk, fish, or other food without imparting any deleterious property any more than would be done by the corresponding chloride of sodium, or common salt. CHLORALUM is the most active and harmless purifier for baby's feeding bottles, beer-casks, dairy utensils, &c. CHLORALUM has been found to remove bad smells, which are not readily attacked by other deodorisers. A newly painted room or house is rendered habitable by the suspension of cloths dipped in Chloralum, or the exposure of a certain quantity of the powder. More Chloralum removes the strong odour of onions, garlic, and other agents, which sometimes affect the sweetness of cupboards, meat safes, larders, and other places in dwellings.

CHLORALUM IN MEDICINE.—Chloralum is a new agent in therapeutics. There are few superficial injuries, inflammations, or discharges in which its judicious application is not attended with great advantage, and it is of equal value in many internal disorders. CHLORALUM in hospitals has been used at the Royal Infirmary, Manchester, to destroy the fœtor in cases of open cancer; at Middlesex Hospital in amputations; in fever wards elsewhere as the most pleasant and most active disinfectant. It disinfects the clothes of fever patients, and is used in an antiseptic and antiseptic applied to foul ulcers by London Surgeons, as a gargle in scarlet fever, diphtheria, and common sore throats, and has been found valuable in inflammation of the eyes, &c.

CHLORALUM POWDER. CHLORALUM POWDER.—The Best Stable Disinfectant. Chloralum Powder will be found invaluable in Hospitals, Allevs and Roads, Sewers and Gully Holes in the Dairy, and all kinds of Provision Stores, Wine and Beer Cellars, In the Kennel, and in Stables, Poultry Houses, Cowsheds, &c. &c. Chloralum Powder is not caustic, nor hurtful in any way; and although it absorbs moisture, it DOES NOT DETERIORATE BY KEEPING. It is a most elegant and powerful preparation, and a substitute for the disagreeable Disinfectants which have hitherto been placed at the disposal of the public and the medical profession. The objects aimed at in the manufacture of Chloralum Powder have been—An uniform high strength, and cheapness. Sample cases, containing about 1 cwt, for 15s, and in 6d and 1s packages.

CHLORALUM WOOL. CHLORALUM WOOL.—The New Styptic and Antiseptic Surgical Dressing. In Pound and Half-pound Packages, at 6d per lb. Also, now ready, in Shilling Packets. CHLORALUM WADDING in Sheets, one yard in width by one and a half yards in length; each Sheet enveloped in a separate parcel. Price 2s 6d. CHLORALUM WOOL and WADDING will be found very valuable for many medical and general sanitary purposes. It may be described as an absorbent and astringent antiseptic and disinfectant for use in the treatment of Wounds, Foul Ulcers, Bad Sores, Fætid Canals, Discharges of all kinds, and to Neutralise Fever Poisons in Beds or in the Sick Chamber. CHLORALUM WOOL is used extensively as a Disinfectant in Coffins. A Dead Body, when covered with Chloralum Wool, cannot convey infection.

LAWES' CELEBRATED MANURES. LAWES' BONE SUPERPHOSPHATE, OR PATENT TURNIP MANURE, LAWES' SUPERPHOSPHATE OF LIME, LAWES' SPECIAL MANURES, FOR POTATO, MANGOLD, AND CORN CROPS. THIRTY SECOND SEASON.

"Mr LAWES' MANURE" has an invariable Composition: it is dry to the touch, very easily sub-divided, and may be therefore intermixed with the soil with much facility. I may add that, in examining with a lens the insoluble Phosphate present in this Manure, I find Particles of Bones, which must augment its value. Its character as an active and certain fertilizer for a soil in which Turnips or other Green Crops are to be grown is so well established, that it is quite unnecessary for me to say anything on such a subject.—Extracted from Professor ARVON'S Report for 1872. "This is an extremely valuable Manure, carefully manufactured, and in admirable condition for applying to the soil. It is very rich in soluble Phosphates, and contains fair proportions of Ammonia and Bone Phosphate of Lime. I have so repeatedly reported in the most favorable terms as to the Composition of the Artificial Manures prepared by Mr LAWES, that I need only say of the sample now described, it is everything which a Superphosphate ought to be."—Extract from Professor CAMERON'S Report for 1872.
