FEATURES OF THE "IRISH DAILY TELEGRAPH."
It is a paper of wide circulation, being the first to introduce into the South of Ireland a large Eight Page Paper, thus giving the "Telegraph" an important advantage over the other journals published in the district, an advantage that can scarcely be over-estimated, as it enables us to supply our subscribers with news and reading matter, which they cannot possibly find in the columns of our southern contemporaries. How that advantage is utilized, is the next consideration, which leads us to look at the "Telegraph" as a FAMILY PAPER.—And a more important feature in connection with a journal can scarcely be approached, its mission being one of progress, and its work to teach and guide. How carefully, therefore, must the parent or guardian study the character of the paper he admits into the household. To our aim, and to the "Irish Daily Telegraph," an acceptable visitor to every family circle, by excluding from its pages anything that could possibly offend the most fastidious; at the same time adding a new and most important feature, namely, "A Ladies' Column." Under this suggestive heading we supply Original and Selected Poetry, Fashionable Receipts, Miscellaneous Literary Reading, and an ably written story, not of flimsy or sensational nature, but thoughtful, yet interesting, at once elevating both the mind and morals of the reader. Believing in the influence of the Press—for good or for evil—we have, in catering for the public, adopted this course, feeling sure that the "Telegraph" will commend itself to all as a First Class Family Journal.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.—A speciality of "The Irish Daily Telegraph" is its devotion to Agricultural Interests. In its columns will be found the Latest Market Intelligence; Reports of all Decisions on the Land Act, Oath Shows, &c., and in short all subjects interesting to the Landed Proprietor, the Agent, or the Tenant Farmer. Commercial Intelligence. Neither expense nor trouble are spared to make the Irish Daily Telegraph the most reliable medium for every description of Commercial Intelligence, the Markets from every part of the United Kingdom being inserted daily, the "Exchange" carefully watched, and the "Funds" closely attended to. Merchants and Traders, Shopkeepers, and Farmers, will find the "Telegraph" their best guide, as its Commercial Intelligence is fresh and authentic.

ITS POLITICS.—The Politics of the "Irish Daily Telegraph" may be described as once National, Liberal, and Moderate. It is in no sense a Party journal. It teaches the great truth now so universally held, that in the union of Irishmen of all classes and creeds, lies the sole hope for the future of their country, and while conceding the fact that in recent years much has been done to promote our general interests, it is impossible, nevertheless, to deny that the growing and complicated business of the Imperial Parliament renders it unable properly to take cognizance of, or pay due attention to, Irish affairs. For no other paper, therefore, than this, and no one can remain blind to the growing belief on all sides, that Irishmen are best fitted to understand and control their own business, the "Telegraph" gives its hearty adherence to the principle of Home Rule—teaching, of course, that such movements, and all other wholesale reforms, can only prove advantageous to Ireland, when prosecuted by peaceful, orderly, and constitutional means, and that no disturbing element should be introduced or permitted whereby the strength and unity of the Empire may be endangered.

GENERAL NEWS-PAPERS.—As a General Newspaper, the "Irish Daily Telegraph" will bear comparison with the very best of its contemporaries, either Metropolitan or Provincial. Edited by gentlemen of experience and literary ability, its columns will be found to contain a vast amount of information on all important events, wherever occurring, keeping the reader apprised from day to day of everything of public interest in all parts of the world. At the same time, while taking a wide survey of Foreign and Home News, Local and District Intelligence, constitute a remarkable feature in the "Telegraph," a competent staff of experienced Reporters, and intelligent Correspondents, in every leading town in the South of Ireland, being permanently engaged to furnish reports of everything of interest. The Dublin correspondence is written by gentlemen of experience and ability, who have access to good sources of information, and give a lively and entertaining resume of leading events. We unhesitatingly, then, challenge criticism on the "Irish Daily Telegraph" in regard to those features which characterize it as a first class leading Journal, and confidently assert that it stands unrivalled either as a Family Paper, a Commercial Organ, or as a General Newspaper, in proof of which we may refer to any one of our issues, a perusal of which will at once show that the "Irish Daily Telegraph" is not only the Largest, but the Best Paper Published in the South of Ireland.

CLOSE OF THE 33d YEAR'S LIST.

THE LIFE ASSOCIATION OF SCOTLAND:
The Bonus System in Class A.

Designed with the view of Reducing the Expense of Life Assurance to the lowest sum consistent with security, has been eminently successful. Annual allocations of Profit are made in the form of Cash Bonuses, applied in part payment of the next premium of all policyholders who have paid at least six premiums. This yearly Cash Bonus has never to any policyholder been less than 25 per cent. of his annual premium, leaving him to pay only three-fourths of the premium.

According to the Carlisle 4 per Cent. Tables, a Cash Bonus of 25 per cent. of the premium is equivalent in value to a Bonus Addition to the Sum Assured of so much as from £2 10s. to £1 10s. (according to age) per annum for every £100 assured. Such Bonus Additions rank with the highest declared by other Offices, and certainly exceed the Bonuses of many.

The Bonuses in Class B. are Unusually Large, being reserved and accumulated for those policyholders who live till the average age of persons of their age at entry—that is, about one-half of the whole number. They are Bonus Additions to the Sum Assured, and have amounted at each of the past divisions to so much as £4 per annum for every £100 assured.

ENTRANTS BEFORE THE 33d ANNUAL-BALANCE will secure special advantages.

CURE FOR ALL; HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

All sufferers from coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, and irregular action of the heart are earnestly recommended to rub Holloway's searching Ointment well over the throat, breast, and back, as the case may require, twice a day. Invalids may confidently rely upon the beneficial effects resulting from the use of this Ointment—it is the most trustworthy remedy for all internal and external ailments of the throat.

BAD LEGS, BAD BRUISES, ULCERS, ABSCESSSES, WOUNDS, AND SORES OF ALL KINDS. May be thoroughly healed by the application of this Ointment to the parts affected, after they have been duly disinfected with warm water. Under the action of this powerful Ointment, aided by the Pills, the depraved nature of the body will be quickly removed; even scrofulous ulcers and sores, however old or inveterate, can thus be cured in GOVT. HOSPITALS, AND NEURALGIC PAINS.

This Ointment never fails to give relief. It very first application lessens the inflammation and diminishes both heat and pain. This soothing Ointment, by separating the blood on its route to the affected parts, and by its powerful action in the blood, and on the system generally, restores the system to its normal condition.

THE MOTHER'S FRIEND.—SKIN DISEASES, HOWEVER DEEPERATE, MAY BE RADICALLY CURED: Scald heads, itch, blotches on the skin, scrofulous sores or king's evil, and such like affections, yield to the mighty power of this fine Ointment, provided it be well rubbed around the affected parts two or three times a day and the Pills be taken according to the printed directions.

DROPSICAL SWELLINGS, PARALYSIS, AND STIFF JOINTS. Many of the worst cases of the above diseases will yield in a comparatively short time, if the Ointment be diligently applied to the affected parts, even when other remedies have failed. When ever the malady has been of long standing the Ointment should be assisted by Holloway's purifying Pills, which act upon the stomach and liver, guarding digestion against falling into that disordered state, which the pain, restlessness, and fever attending these ailments is apt to produce, and which much retards recovery, and sometimes even makes permanent the slightest case.

PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH THESE DISTRESSING AFFECTIONS will find in this wonderful Ointment, an instant means of relief, and all can effect their own cure without explaining their infirmity to anyone. The Pills, in small doses, greatly assist the Ointment, as they purify the blood, and regulate the stomach.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following complaints:

Bad Legs, Fistulas, Sore Throats, Bad Breasts, Gout, Skin Diseases, Burns, Glandular Swellings, Scrofula, Bunions, Swellings, Sore Heads, Chills, Lumbago, Tumor, Chapped Hands, Piles, Ulcers, Corns (soft), Rheumatism, Wounds, Contracted and Stiff Joints, Sore Nipples, Scalds.

The Pills and Ointment are sold at Professor Holloway's Establishment, 533, Oxford Street, London; also by nearly every respectable Vendor of Medicine throughout the Civilized World, in Boxes and Pots, at 1s 1d, 2s 6d, 4s 6d, 11s, 22s and 33s each. The 2s 6d size contains three, the 4s 6d size six, the 11s size sixteen, the 22s size thirty three, and the 33s size fifty two times the quantity of a 1s 1d Box or Pot. The smallest Box of Pills contains four dozen; and the smallest Pot of Ointment, one ounce.

Full printed directions are affixed to each Box and Pot, and can be had in any language, even in Turkish, Arabic, Armenian, Persian or Chinese.

THE LATE CHARITY CONCERT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE WATERFORD CHRONICLE. Sir,—In justice to myself and the public, I deem it necessary to reply to a letter from Mr. C. A. Jones, which first appeared in the Waterford Chronicle, and subsequently in other Waterford papers.

Mr. Jones begins—"Having sold tickets, &c. for the late concert in aid of the poor," and then characteristically omits to express his belief in the old proverb, "Charity begins at home," which he so forcibly illustrated by charging £. 13s commission on sale of tickets for the charity concert.

With regard to selling of cateris, as no commission has been demanded, it may reasonably be put down as a donation.

As to the anxiety expressed by Mr. Jones to inform his friends that by some mistake the piano was not supplied by him, I beg most emphatically to say there was no mistake in the matter.

When the concert was first projected—about December last—Mr. Jones was asked to supply a piano, which he kindly consented to do at a charge of £4 for the night. As this did not suit the views of the projectors of the concert, Mr. Jones was not supplicated to give his instrument at the late concert. Being asked by Mrs. Bennett if I would lend my piano for the occasion, I willingly agreed, not from any feeling antagonistic to Mr. Jones, but from a wish to help the cause of the poor.

I need say little about the qualities of my much-abused grand (one, by the way, from the same factory as Mr. Jones's), in having been publicly heard in Waterford on several previous occasions, and only now discovered to be "a wretched instrument, underserving the name 'piano.'"

I rely with confidence on the opinions of Mrs. Ward Bennett, Miss Gould, Mr. Bartolucci, and the other distinguished amateurs, who sang to it, all of whom expressed their entire satisfaction with the instrument.—I am, sir, your obedient servant, J. S. MURKILL.

SUNDAY SCHOOL EXCURSION.

On Thursday last the pupils of the Sunday School of Waterford took their annual trip down the river; under the most favourable auspices. The morning threatened rain, but before the hour for the starting of the excursion arrived the weather cleared up, and the day continued mild and beautiful throughout. Shortly after eleven o'clock the steamer started down the river, gaily decorated with flags and streamers, and conveyed to Dunmore over 300 pupils, with a considerable array of their friends. The young people having enjoyed the beautiful river scenery, partook of a substantial luncheon on the heights overlooking the sea, whence a beautiful prospect could be obtained. The arrangements were very successfully carried out by Mr. R. W. Cherry, who has been a zealous and indefatigable friend of the Sunday School of Waterford for nearly half a century; and he was efficiently assisted by his son, Mr. Cherry, junior, and the Misses Cherry, to whom too much praise cannot be given. The success of the excursion was in a great measure owing to the Rev. T. Gimlette, the Rev. W. E. Kerr, the Archdeacon of Lismore, the Misses Hoare, the Misses Ryland, and other ladies and gentlemen. On the return trip the guests were delighted with an impromptu concert, which was organized by the Rev. T. Gimlette, and every one returned to town delighted and refreshed with the pleasant day spent at the seaside.

SUMMARY OF NEWS.

The strike between the masters and journeymen bakers of Dublin is at an end. Three newspaper proprietors, viz—Sir John Gray, of the "Freeman's Journal," Alderman Purdon, of the "Farmers' Gazette," and Mr. Scott, of the "Evening Mail," consented to act as arbitrators.

O'Connell Hackett, Esq., Mayor of Clonmel, the talented editor and proprietor of the "Tipperary Free Press," was elected Alderman in the room of his father, whose decease we recently announced.

The riots in Belfast may be said to be at an end. There was no renewal of the disturbances on Thursday, and the excitement is rapidly dying out. The military and police are, however, still kept under arms. An inquest was held, on Thursday, on the body of a policeman who was shot. An open verdict was returned. The magistrates were occupied during the day with the trial of persons arrested for rioting and having arms in a proclaimed district.

On Wednesday night two young Germans, who lived in a respectable house in Langton, London, were found one dead the other dying, one having shot his companion, and afterwards turned his revolver upon himself. The one who was shot survives, but is sinking fast. The only assignable motive is that they had spent their money with their disorderly associates.

Miss Courtenay, of Waterford, was awarded £1000 damages, at Gloucester assizes, against Mr. Sturrips, for breach of promise of marriage.

DEATH OF ALD. MACKESY, M.D., J.P.

It is with the deepest regret that we have to record the death of our much respected and esteemed fellow-citizen, Alderman John Mackesy, M.D., J.P., which melancholy event took place on Thursday morning, at Buxton, after a few days' illness—of suppressed gout. The deceased gentleman not feeling quite well, left for England for a change, and on Tuesday a telegram was received from Buxton, stating that he was very ill, and his wife and one of his nephews immediately left. A telegram was received on Thursday morning announcing his death, which has cast quite a gloom over the city. The shipping in the river have their colours at half-mast, and several of the shops are in mourning at the sad event. Dr. Mackesy, who was once Mayor of the city, was an active Magistrate, a useful member of the Corporation, an attentive and humane Poor Law Guardian, and a highly respected citizen. The remains of the lamented deceased are expected to arrive in Waterford this day (Saturday), by the Liverpool steamer, and will be removed for interment in Ballinakill churchyard, at half-past 12 o'clock. In the evening a muffled peal will be rung upon the bells of the Cathedral, in memory of the deceased; by six members of the Waterford College Ringers.

THE REV. JOHN DONALD, D.D.

It is with a feeling of the most sincere pleasure we announce this morning that the degree of Doctor of Divinity has been conferred upon the Rev. John Donald, the deservedly-esteemed Wesleyan Minister of Waterford. We congratulate the learned Doctor upon his attainment of this much-coveted distinction, which is but an equitable recognition of the fine talents, large range of theological acquirement, and praiseworthy earnestness of this gifted preacher. We are sure his many friends in Ireland join with us in our expressions of pleasure at this pleasing acknowledgment of the undoubted talent of the Rev. John Donald, D.D.

WATERFORD HARBOUR BOARD.

A special meeting of the above body was held at one o'clock on Thursday last for the purpose of considering the ballast contract, and especially in reference to the ballast supplied to the Grand Sij.

Ald. Jacob, J.P., in the chair.

The other members present were—L. Freeman, H. F. Slattery, P. Carow, T. B. White, Ald. Commis, Ald. Reid, J. Kent, P. Manning, T. B. Prosser.

The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, the secretary read the following report, which was adopted by the general committee on the previous day.

"Pilot and Ballast Committee of the whole board, August 19th, 1872.

Present—P. A. Power, J. Kent, Henry White, T. W. Jacob, E. Clibborn, and L. Freeman.

The following is directed to be read as a report from this committee, at a special board to be summoned for Thursday, at one o'clock:—The ballasting of vessels has been undertaken by this board in order to prevent delay, and afford them every facility possible. For this purpose a contract was entered into, and for the advantage of ship owners, low-priced ballast was divided into two sorts, one shingle, at 1s 9d a ton; one mud, sand, or clay, at 1s 3d per ton free, on board.

When ordering ballast it is optional with masters of vessels to take part of each if they will, and where mud, sand, and clay ballast is used, they may, under a portion of taking mud, sand, or clay ballast would be a hardship; for the means of obtaining ballast of better quality in this port are of such a nature that the prices, necessarily high, and the quality to be obtained so loaded. That much delay would be caused if that option were not given. Of the various descriptions of ballast shipped in the year ending 31st July last, as ordered by the masters, or their agents, there were mud, sand, or clay, 18,925 tons; shingle, 7,480 tons; limestone, 18,799 tons.

In the case of the Grand Sij, the master ordered through his broker, on the 31st of July, 250 tons of mud, sand, or clay, and on the 3rd of August, after a portion, at all events, of the first order, had been shipped, and that he had an opportunity of seeing it on board 50 tons more (thus in order) mud, sand, or clay. During the time the shipment was being proceeded with no complaint whatever was made either at the harbour office or to the ballast master of either the quality or condition. If there had been, it would have been attended to. In consequence of comments which have been made on this subject, the committee think it right to add, that they have made inquiry, and find that no officer of the board is now, or has ever been, directly or indirectly, interested in the ballast contract."

Ald. Commis was strongly of opinion that the contractor should have dry mud in the ballast quays. He believed that this proviso should be in the ballast contract, and therefore he would like to see it.

The Secretary—The contract is that the contractor must have 500 tons of limestone always ready.

Ald. Commis—Where is that to be deposited?

The Secretary—At the Quay at Dunkitt.

Ald. Commis—Is he not obliged to have the ballast properly deposited on the ballast quay?

The Secretary—He is not.

Ald. Commis—I ask again must not the ballast be placed on the ballast quay?

The Secretary—I am glad that this question has been asked, so that my reply may go before the public. The contractor is obliged to have 500 tons of limestone at all times, and the Harbour Commissioners were not bound to see the ballast placed on the quay.

Mr. Kent—Have you any mud stored away on the quay at present?

The Secretary—We have not.

Ald. Jacob said that to cut the matter short he would propose a resolution. The whole difficulty arose from captains of vessels objecting to take the dear ballast owing to its increased price. In one case, of which he was aware, the master of a vessel said he did not like mud as ballast, and then the harbour master told him that he might have shingle instead. The master, however, took the cheapest thing. The question now was whether they should not prevent captains from taking mud ballast entirely, without a mixture of shingle. Perhaps it might seem despotism to do so, but still he believed it would be necessary. He thought that they should carefully consider every matter, and with this view he would lay the following proposition before them which they might accept as a resolution or as a notice of motion. He believed that they should do something to satisfy the shipowners and the public who were necessarily interested in this matter, and he would therefore lay before them the following resolution, which they might adopt as they thought proper. It was as follows:—"That in future no mud, clay, or sand ballast be supplied to any vessel in this port without her taking at least one-third of shingle or limestone ballast, which, placed underneath, will act as a drain—it having not been brought under our notice that an accident or accidents have occurred from want of this precaution."

Mr. Slattery said he had great pleasure in seconding the motion. The compelling of vessels to take one-third of shingle should not be considered a hardship in any respect, nor should it be regarded as a grievance by the contractor. He would say that most foreign vessels which came into the port took one-third shingle at least; and therefore it would not be too severe on the others. He, however, objected to the term "mud ballast."

Ald. Commis—What sort of ballast do you mean?

Mr. Slattery—I mean this: The present ballast has been supplied for forty years, and it is not simply mud, but a mixture of three-fourths mud and one-fourth gravel. If the vessels take one-third shingle so as to form a drain to the mud ballast, then there will be no danger whatever. In wet weather and in winter the harbour master has invariably told the captains to take one-third of shingle as a cargo. He did not think, considering the whole circumstances, that the masters would be subjected to any hardship by being compelled to take the third of their ballast shingle.

Mr. Manning said he saw the ballast half water. He could say that to his own knowledge.

Mr. Kent believed that no other port in Ireland gave such ballast, dangerous alike to life and property. He thought the contractor should be bound to have one-third, at least of the cargo, shingle.

Mr. Slattery said, when they dredged mud at the quays, it was left for two or three months to dry on the ballast quays.

Mr. Kent—The complaint is universal, that there is too much water in the mud. He believed that the Commissioners should not hesitate to remedy what they considered might result in loss of life and property. It certainly was a disgrace to Waterford to have given such ballast.

Ald. Commis supported the resolution. It was a disgrace to put mud and water into any vessel for ballast, for who could tell what might be the consequence. We should be cautious as to our tenders, lest they should be mud.

Mr. Kent—We should not advertise for mud tenders, but for proper tenders, one-third of the ballast at least to be shingle.

Mr. Freeman said that for the honour of the city and for their own sakes they should seek to get proper ballast.

Mr. White—If the resolution passes, can the captain demand as much mud as he wants?

Mr. Kent—We will give him two-thirds of other stuff, with one-third of shingle.

Mr. White—Can the captain come to us and say, "We will not take shingle, but mud?"

Mr. Kent—No.

Ald. Commis—Do we charge more here than in other ports?

The Secretary—Some charge higher and some lower. I will be happy to lay the different charges before you, but up to the present I have not had time to do so. I shall, however, do so as soon as I possibly can, and I think, at your next meeting I will be able to lay the returns before you.

The resolution was then put, and passed unanimously.

Ald. Commis said the ballast master should be called in and informed as to the nature of the ballast which he should give in future.

Mr. Clibborn—I saw an article in the Waterford Mail in which it was stated that water was actually pumped into the mud which was being used for ballast.

The Chairman—We have nothing to do with any newspaper articles at this meeting. The Harbour Master was then called in and said he never knew liquid mud to be given to ships as ballast.

The Chairman—Could it be done without your knowledge?

Captain Parle—It certainly could.

Mr. Clibborn—Did you see the article in the Daily Mail?

Captain Parle—I did.

The Chairman—The less we refer to newspaper articles the better.

Mr. Slattery—Has a regular plan been pursued for this purpose.

Captain Parle—Yes.

Mr. Slattery—Is it well known that you are the party to whom application is to be made?

Capt. Parle. It is well known.

Ald. Commis—Have you frequently seen ballast not fit to be put on board a ship.

Capt. Parle—I have.

Mr. Slattery—Has the ballast been taken from a same place for some years past?

Capt. Parle—Yes.

The matter then dropped.

Letters were read from Mr. Coode controverting some statements in the Waterford Mail as to the bar shoal. The letters were simply marked read.

FARMERS' COLUMN—ARTIFICIAL MANURES.

One of the manifest advantages of using concentrated manures is an economy in the carriage and distribution of the same over the land. If a farmer wishes to apply a certain quantity of soluble phosphate of lime to his land, it appears strange that in carrying home a ton of the material he requires he has also to take with it three tons of waste material which he does not want. This, however, is the fact as regards most of our artificial manures...

NEW ROSS INTELLIGENCE.

(From our own Reporter.) TOWN COMMISSIONERS—FRIDAY. WILLIAM JEFFARES, Esq., (Chairman) in the chair. Other members present—Messrs. B. P. McCormick, M. Power, W. Forristal, N. Murphy, J. Hutchinson, J. P.; J. Brown, J. R. Cullen, and W. W. Carr.

As there was no meeting on the previous Friday the weekly bill of that date amounted to £4 9s 6d, and this week £4 1s 6d. THE NEW RATE. The collector in answer to Mr Power said that Mr Dowley, solicitor, objected to pay his rate—Mr Boyd did give him a cheque for his rates.

Mr Power said that they heretofore did was to put down all the expenses and then take from them the gas rents, &c., and then strike a rate for the balance. Mr Carr suggested that any person refusing to pay this rate be processed before the Assistant-Barrister, and then the point could be decided.

Mr Power observed that Mr Dowley stated in the newspaper that the shilling rate is illegal, and he asked him how so. Mr Dowley replied that he would prove that if the commissioners would take steps to recover the rate from him. The collector in answer to a question said that in 1856, and '67 they had a shilling rate.

The clerk called attention to a summons which he had received to attend the Petty Sessions Court. It appeared that the Borough Court had held outside this place, and persons have used his name, without leave in summoning parties. A party who has now been summoned in his name has summoned him.

point was involved in parties using his name without authority, and so he thought it would be well to have their solicitor to watch the case. The present mode was a usurpation of the commissioners' functions in the Borough Court.

Mr Power said if the now overruled cases brought over to the other court, and have none brought to this place, then the commissioners would have to give up the benefit of all the fines. Mr Carr quite agreed with Mr Power, and if the fault in this present summons mentioned by the clerk, why the police will not bring on cases again in his name and therefore they will lose the fines.

Mr Power said that the commissioners had the power to hold their court where they liked, and they did appoint this room for some and their clerk to act as clerk. However, subsequently Mr Roche came there and in a hurry and most illegal manner got the court to be held in the petty sessions court.

Mr Power believed there was something done but he was not present. But the act was illegal as no notice was given. But the commissioners of '80 at no notice was given. But the act was illegal as no notice was given.

THE GAS QUESTION. A note was read from Mr Coady, Secretary of the Gas Company saying that a tender for lighting the public lamps would be sent in on that day week.

THE LONDON PRESS. [The conductors of this Journal desire it to be understood that the quotation of articles from the London papers under this head does not necessarily imply adoption of the views therein expressed.]

The Examiner thinks "it is a pity that there was not a better contest at Pontefract, and it is also a pity that the first contest did not arise on a better battle-ground than Pontefract, for the practical inauguration of the Ballot. Other trials must take place before the system can be said to be in thorough working order, or before all the merits and demerits of the new law can be seen by the light of experience."

The Saturday Review is of opinion that "before the next general election something ought to be done to surmount the obstacle to rapid voting which the illiterate electors will cause if their votes are to be taken, as they were taken, in honest compliance with the Act, at Pontefract. Otherwise there will be a great amount of dissatisfaction on the part of electors who will find themselves unable to vote during the prescribed hours. The business of counting the votes also appears to be a very long and tedious one. In this respect some improvement in the machinery of the Bill will probably be suggested by experience, and in no respect has it failed in which a remedy does not seem easily possible."

THE ATTITUDE OF THE CABINET. The general reflection forbids on the Spectator by the attitude of the Cabinet, during the session is that its members are, without exception, a little too reticent, a little too blind to the necessity of letting the electors see what their rulers are like, a little too humble about their position as leaders of opinion or Parliamentary chiefs.

Mr McCormick adverted to a case which the sanitary officer brought against a party for nuisance of pigs in Quay-street when the magistrates at petty sessions decided against the commissioners. He considered that the Town Commissioners are the custodians of the sanitary state of the town, and should be better posted up in such matters than the county magistrates.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS. Messrs Adkins and Wood, in addition to the thousands of private complimentary letters received from investors, had the following eulogy (with many others) passed on their system last season.

"We had no faith in Systematic Investments, and often questioned the veracity of the Levantine Commission Agents. At Goodwood this week, having met Messrs Adkins and Wood in the ring, and expressing my doubts, they offered to convince me if I would watch their movements, and so earnestly advised me to invest, that I acceded to their wishes, and staked a £10 Bank, though I must confess I felt somewhat dubious as to the result."

"On Tuesday I was agreeably surprised with their success, having no less than four winning investments out of the seven stakes on which I resulted in a walk over for York, including Burton for the Steward's Cup at 3 to 1. On Wednesday, they had me to invest specially on Taraban for the Goodwood Stake, but I declined, having backed Cedric the Saxon. Bothwater was also supported by them for both his Chichester Stakes and Chesterfield Cup engagements, and they realised the net winning sum of £74 on each £5 Bank, and on handing me Bank notes to the value of £148, I promised to publicly acknowledge the erroneous opinion I had hitherto possessed of their Systematic Investments."

"Extract from 'Oriente's Sporting Article,' Saturday, July 29, 1871. By reducing speculation on horse-racing to a lucrative mode of investment, Messrs. Adkins and Wood have conferred an invaluable privilege on backers of horses and the public at large."

"The Sporting Press," July 11, 1866. TURF CHARITABLES.—We have pleasure in announcing to our speculative friends the lucrative system advertised by Messrs. Adkins and Wood, proprietors of 'The Edinburgh and Newmarket Turf Investigator,' in our sporting columns for amassing at least a comfortable independence, and possibly a large fortune quickly, with little or no risk to the Investor. That many millions have already participated in this golden shower is obvious from the fact that although the advertisement has regularly appeared for some months past, yet no single complaint has reached us, nor have we heard their names questioned."

"Birmingham Daily News," Aug 19, 1872. "The Turf Commissioners may be safely forwarded to Messrs. Adkins and Wood, who are thoroughly trustworthy. Their systematic investment is an ingenious and reliable mode of turf speculation. We have never heard their name questioned."—'Barnstable Times,' August 12th, 1872.

MESSRS ADKINS AND WOOD'S SUCCESSFUL PLAN OF SYSTEMATIC POST INVESTMENTS Will be continued AT THE OXFORD MEETING (August 27th and 28th).

OXFORD EXHIBITS the Lightfield, or indeed any one of the race meetings set for decision in the ensuing week; we have therefore no hesitation in selecting the famed Post Meadow fixture for the week's investments. Oxford cannot fail to give us a continued success; the incalculable winning facilities, attainable rendering success positive, and unequalled advantages are offered for safe special winning advertisements. The meeting has always given us a fair success (see results appended), but never before did it afford such unparalleled winning advantages, as now presented, therefore we assert with confidence that SUCCESS CAN BE ENSURED.

At Oxford Meeting Last Season Each £5 received £14 0 0 Net Winnings: " 10 " 29 0 0 " " 25 " 57 0 0 " " 50 " 114 0 0 " " 100 " 228 0 0 "

And other stakes in proportion; and a safe investment of £30 and upwards realised £68 by special investments on each £5 over and above the £25 Bank Stake Deposit; special investments not being made for any investor of a less amount than £25. And this season, from the unequalled advantages given, we can honestly assert that the investments will prove even more lucrative to the investor; and as some idea may be wanted of the winnings we anticipate realising, it is with confidence we assume that a £10 stake invested at the OXFORD MEETING Will realise for the investor a clear net win of from £250 to £300.

Gentlemen who have not as yet invested in accordance with this winning mode of SYSTEMATIC INVESTMENTS are earnestly requested to do so at the Oxford Meeting. How long will infatuated backers bet recklessly for? It is beyond question of doubt that indiscriminate betting must end in loss to the deluded bettor. Therefore, in your interests, we advise you to bet on the "will of the wind" that has so often deluded you, and in lieu of the shadow grasp the substance. The winning realised this week, last week, and every week, from the beginning to the end of the season, must surely convince you of the infallible nature of the investment; and we ask you, one and all, who have backed horses without a system—Have you gain'd the winnings received by Systematic Investments?

THE ENSUING WEEK'S INVESTMENTS at Oxford will surpass even our most brilliant results, and eclipse any one of our previous successes on the open meeting that will certainly accrue. Therefore another reason why intending investors should select this meeting for a "conclusion" of their investments.

We have the working of numerous important commissions at Oxford, and being owners of horses, together with our intimate acquaintance with trainers, jockeys, and the elite of the racing world, we get an inkling as to the intentions of other owners, and ascertain the chance of success each horse in the race possesses, enabling us as past experience proves.

TO SELECT THE WINNER in nine races out of ten. Oxford is just the sort and class of meeting for heavy investments. The realisation of immense winnings is certain, it is therefore advisable for full banks of £25, £50, and £100, now that SUCCESS IS REDUCED TO A FOREGOING CONCLUSION. The above Systematic Investments are recommended by the various sporting organs as the most reliable Turf speculation advertised; and the open meeting realised weekly, together with infallibility of the system, prove the vast amount of this mode of investment over all others. We may also add that we are the originators of this highly successful winning system of backing post selections, which excels all other methods in its immense profits that are realised at every meeting, combined with the absolute security of capital employed.

Several of our most distinguished sportsmen, owners of horses, and gentlemen, who before never risked a sovereign in Turf speculation, hold full bank stakes in the system. The security and the immense winnings realised at every important RAUC MEETING, PROVE MOST CONCLUSIVELY THAT MESSRS. ADKINS AND WOOD'S SYSTEMATIC INVESTMENTS ARE THE WINNING SYSTEM! FACTS! FACTS! FACTS! Facts are stubborn things, and speak for themselves; therefore comment is unnecessary, allowing equivocally that this system stands unparalleled in the racing world, both in the ingenious and propitious mode of investment, and unquestionably lucrative nature of the system, unrivalled in the immense winnings which it realises for its supporters at each and every important gathering throughout the season. Investors who have not heavily at the York and other recent Meetings are recommended to increase their investments to a £500 bank stake, and to intending investors the proprietors advise the sum of £25, £50, to £100. As the unparalleled advantages offered now may not again be presented throughout the season, this is consequently an opportunity for heavy investments that ought not to be passed by. Those who prefer giving the investment a trial with a smaller bank, can remit us the amount they propose to invest (not less than £5), so as to reach our Edinburgh agency by Monday's post (if possible), and not later than Tuesday morning's mail, the 27th inst., which will ensure the remitter participating in the winnings realised on the entire week's investments, the amounts required as deposit capital being on the following scales—£5, £10, £15, £25, £50, £100, and not exceeding £500, unless special arrangements are made with the investor. Winnings remitted weekly, less 5 per cent. Register letters containing gold or notes, and make Post-office Orders payable, and address all communications to W. J. GUARANA: A REMEDY FOR SICK-HEADACHE. We have much pleasure in directing the attention of our readers to the following article by Samuel Wilks, M.D., F.R.C.P., Physician to Guy's Hospital, which lately appeared in the British Medical Journal, in reference to a new French preparation called Guarana, the special properties of which are described in our advertising columns to-day.

"I wish to draw the attention of the profession to Guarana as a remedy for sick-headache, and at the same time to seek for the experience of those who may already have some acquaintance with the drug. My own knowledge of it dates about two years back, when, after the appearance of a lecture of mine upon sick-headache, I received a letter from Mr. Helmcken, of British Columbia, enclosing two powders which he recommended to me with much confidence for sick-headache, and the complaint. He said that, having been much of the remedy, I resolved to try the medicine upon one of my patients who was always coming to me with sick-headache; and, sure enough, it acted like a charm; and in place of suffering for twenty hours or so, the headache had disappeared in a couple of days. This accords with what others have told me. Upon my first headache (after the receipt of Mr. Helmcken's letter), I took the powder, and, though I had a very slight effect, I therefore did not more than casually mention the medicine to my friends, but did not recommend it. A few weeks ago, after the appearance of a second communication of mine in the Journal upon the same complaint, I received a letter from Dr. Wood, of Montreal, in which he also recommended Guarana as a remedy for headache, and gave a history of his own personal sufferings and the relief which he had obtained. He says: 'By taking one of these powders, I have been enabled to get rid of the pain of sick-headache, which has been a beginning of pain always in the right temple (headache on the other side, or in any other part of the head, I never mind), I have carried off the attack; and, with the first box, absolutely put it off for two months—something which had never occurred in my life before.' Upon so good an authority, I determined to try the remedy in a more systematic manner, and requested my chemist to procure me a packet of the powder, which I have recommended to several patients and friends; and the result is so encouraging, that I have hastened to suggest their trial to my professional brethren. One lady speaks most enthusiastically of their power, as she has now, on two separate occasions had her headache arrested by their use. The drug has long been known, for mention is made of it in English and French pharmacologies, but appears never to have come into general use. It consists of the seeds of a tree growing in Brazil called Fœniculina serotina; and these, according to questions in his Chemistry of Common Life, are used as we do cocoa. The seeds are ground into powder, and contain an alkali which is said to be identical with that found in tea and coffee. The medicine is manufactured by Grimault and Co., No. 7, Rue de la Feuillade, Paris. The London agents are Messrs. Newbery and Sons, of Newgate-street."
